When the next piece was announced we were alarmed. Handel's chorus, "All we like sheep." This seemed preposterous. The comfortable Boston assurance seemed to have overstepped its ability. The idea of producing such an elaborate fugue by a choir of twenty thousand! Will not the whole thing fall to pieces out of sheer unwieldiness? We shall see. Here are four of the twenty thousand. They managed to keep together in the involved and perplexing music.

The conductor commands attention, and with one sweep of his baton the many-voiced choir breaks out into that abrupt phrase,

"All we like sheep."

The winding roulades follow with a curious snap and ponderous accent, sounding as if one very large man was singing, and very much in earnest. Zerrahn's long arms are flung from side to side. At each movement of his seemingly magic wand the parts spring into life, and twist into various blended runs and roulades. The basses growl in ponderous thunder,

"We have turned."

The sopranos fling it back in a deafening shout. The tenors cry from the balconies, "We have turned," and all unite in one excited rush of music:

"We have turned every one to his own way."

Nervous tenors bob their heads to the time. A thousand bonneted faces turn up at us, and the basses lift up their voices and "shake things." We examine the roof and wonder if it is safe. The organ peals and roars overhead, and the unhappy being at the piano bangs away all unknown and with much perspiration. The only silent person is the conductor, with outstretched arm, guiding all and inspiring each with his own commanding will and enthusiasm. In an overpowering rush and crash the choir reaches the end. The baton is poised in the air, and the last note is sustained with wonderful effect. It falls and a startling silence ensues.

Now for the grand mountainous climax. Slow, majestic and almost oppressive in its tremendous weight and solemnity, the basses take up the theme:

"And the Lord!"

The baton sweeps over the sopranos. With an intense and single-minded unison they shout:

"And the Lord!"

Suddenly the thousand tenors break forth with a crash:

"And the Lord!"

Another sweep of the wand, and the altos seem to thrust a great wedge of sound into the bass, and it breaks up in an earthquake shock:

"And the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all."

A motion of the baton and like one singer the mass sink down to "piano," and the chorus is ended with a softness that is as peculiar as it novel and effective. The conductor says aloud, "Good," and the lively buzz of conversation breaks out again.

—A Paris journalist tried to commit suicide by swallowing ink and failed. Every one is now aware of his ink-capacity. They say he never could do the write thing in the right way.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to direct entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

Its readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is a lighter speeder and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

By a New METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 101 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6=7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, for remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more capable and more trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents. Being thus successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. $1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unknown in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain and unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands, who know nothing, know is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual. Any one who has the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an Absolute cure for Internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. TRAGHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., are successfully treated at the Cuticular Hydropedical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

DOUGLAS AND MCDOUGAL.—I never could satisfy myself whether Stephen A. Douglas belonged to cowards or brutes. I was always reluctant to have him in either class. Some things I had heard made me respect his manhood. When I lived in the west I heard many kindly and even generous anecdotes of him. One always especially pleased me. The last year of his life he was speaking in Wisconsin. The meeting was in an open field. Procession after procession with banners and music filed in to swell the crowd. At last came a great mass of Germans. They marched in, outnumbering all that had come before. Before them was carried a painting of two boots, ten feet high, and underneath the words—"These are the boots Abraham Lincoln got at Washington as stationery and thanked home as public documents." This they steadied against the platform, and then raised three cheers for Stephen A. Douglas.

Douglas read the inscription and then whispered to the chairman "take that thing" (with an epithet before the word thing, you'll find in the dictionary,) "take that thing down." But the chairman knew that the Germans were the very cream of the democracy, made more than half the meeting—he didn't dare offend them. Waiting five minutes Douglas whispered the same words to the secretary, but he too was afraid to move. After a moment the little judge stepped to the front of the platform and cried out, "Till some one takes that cursed lie away, I won't speak a word. Abraham Lincoln never cheated the government out of a penny." A man capable of this fairness could not be wholly bad.

I lately met in Illinois a near relative of the late Senator McDougal. He was one of whose father Douglas might almost be called a protege. He told me many things of McDougal—that fearful warning to genius—the man whose choice rhetoric and scholarly culture won the admiration of Sumner—the brave ship which rode out so gallantly many a storm in the Senate—then went down so sadly in the kennel of Albany. Passing from him my informant touched on Douglas. All he told me convinced me that my half hero was morally a coward, if not physically so, still that he basely smothered whatever manhood he had, by sordid political calculations. Once this gentleman was with Douglas, McDougal, and a warm personal friend of Douglas, who chanced to be a Republican. An angry dispute grew up between McDougal and this Republican gentleman. Words grew fierce and hot. It seemed sure they were coming to blows. Douglas left the the room. He could not side with Democratic McDougal against his friend—still less with his friend against his Democratic fellow senator, so he skulked.

About midnight before the Kansas and Nebraska bill was reported to the Senate my friend was sitting in McDougal's parlor. Douglas entered in search of McDougal, who was absent. He walked nervously about the room—then sat long in silence before the grate. Impatently rising, he paced up and down. At last he burst out, "It is all wrong—cursed wrong—I never put this —— slave clause into the bill. Dixon did it. It will sink us all, and ought to—I know it is wrong—I ought to refuse to report it—my conscience tells me it's all bad. But then if I don't report it, that breaks all, and I'm ended as a Democrat." Again he paced the room, wringing his hands.

Soon he left. If some good spirit could have strengthened him in that hour to obey his conscience, how all our history might have changed! Perhaps there would have been no secession. If there were, perhaps the Emancipation Proclamation might have carried Douglas' name instead of Lincoln's down the centuries to immortality. He let the flood-tide of his opportunity go out in shallows and sold his soul for an empty chance of office.

Pondering these things, I concluded that when Douglas saw our Senator assaulted, conscience and manhood stirred him to rush to the rescue. "Miserable ambition said, "Stop, you'll risk your Democratic chances." The Senator listened and stood stock still. So he passes into history, some friendly judges kindly hoping he was a coward, as his best excuse—others obliged to believe he had pluck enough in his blood and was only a brute by calculation.—Eleanor D. Rockwood.

—The Norwich Bulletin says: "Trailing arbutus parties infest the rural districts, and the hillsides resound with their shouts of mirth and laughter. One of these returned with a peck of clams Friday."

—A disapointed lover in Tennessee avenged himself upon the false one by blowing up her pa's smoke house during the marriage ceremony, darkening the sun at mid-day with a volcanic eruption of hams, sides and shoulders.

—Dr. Petermann is of the opinion that the diamond region in Southeastern Africa is geographically identical with the ancient Ophir of the Scriptures; but it is thought he must be in error as to the terrestrial location of Solomon's diggings, for that able commentator, Dr. Watts, distinctly defines, "Ophir, a mansion in the skies."

SATURDAY, APRIL 20, 1872.

The Accident Season.

Last year was noted for the number and frightful fatality of the accidents which occurred, but the accident season has this year opened in a manner which gives promise of eclipsing in horror even the record of 1871. The Revere and Westfield disasters were appalling, and the minor, yet still terrible accidents were numerous; but this season we have already had railway trains tumbling down embankments or plunging into rivers through yielding bridges, or crashing into each other on the rails; a locomotive has exploded with fatal results; the "Oceanus" horror rivals that of the "Westfield" in everything but the number of victims, and a tug boat in New York harbor has been shattered to fragments by a rupture of her boiler from some "cause unknown," sinking two loaded canal boats and killing seven men; while of fatalities directly induced by the ignorance, carelessness or recklessness of the sufferers, in mills and factories or under car-wheels, the list for the present year is fully up to if it does not outnumber that of the first quarter of any previous year.

So far as careless or foolhardy individuals are concerned, nothing can be done to stop the numerous accidents which are almost daily reported from all parts of the country; that one man is dashed in pieces by being carried around a shaft will hardly prevent his successor from daily risking a similar fate; that a person who has jumped off and on the trains when in motion for ninety nine times, unharmed, is mangled to the death beneath the wheels on the hundredth attempt, will not in the least deter another man, whose ninety-ninth exhibition of recklessness has not resulted fatally, from trying it once again; and so long as women are women and kerosene is "non-explosive," so long will the former use the latter for kindling fires, notwithstanding the occasional burning up of a fire kindler. Laws cannot make careless or foolhardy persons careful or sensible, nor make corporations as regardful of others' lives as of their own money; more could be done in the latter direction, however, were not public opinion so strongly opposed to it.

We are quite aware that public opinion professes to desire safety to human life above all things; but we do not believe the profession. Public indignation is certainly liberally bestowed on the railroad or steam-boat company so unfortunate as to have a great accident take place on the route of either, but such indignation is almost always ill-directed and useless,—because the railroad or steamboat company which sees sorrow looming up in the shape of heavy pecuniary damages for those who have been maimed or who have lost relatives, will naturally employ every possible means to prevent a recurrence of such a state of affairs without any visitation of popular indignation; while the more fortunate (tho' perhaps no better managed) company which has met with no disaster keeps on the even tenor of its way unmolested by the "indignation" aforesaid, until a smash-up or blow-up occurs, when the "indignation meeting" serves as a safety-valve for the escape of the popular excitement.

The Revere disaster affords a fair illustration of this. Two causes of that accident were, a lack of cars (repeatedly asked for by the Superintendent) and the employment of the old hand-brake instead of the new Westinghaus air-brake; for with plenty of cars the accommodation train would have started on time and have been clear of the Pullman express, and with the Westinghaus brake the Pullman train could have been nearly or quite stopped before striking the train ahead. That accident of itself rendered it certain that the causes which led to it would be remedied, even if only as a mere matter of dollars and cents; more cars and patent improvements would cost less than destroying human life by wholesale, and we question if all the indignation meetings held in various places, at which the previously favorite Eastern Railroad was so severely denounced, added anything at all to the determination of the corporation to augment their rolling stock and adopt all safety-increasing improvements. All that has been done since the indignation meetings would have been done just the same had they never been held. Had the popular outcry extended to other railroads, which had not received such a terrible admonition as the Eastern, and compelled them to do what the latter was certain to do, more good would have resulted from it; but if other roads have profited by the Eastern's experience and taken extra precautions to guard against disaster, the fact has been kept very quiet.

The travelling public will not patronize railroad or steamboat lines which regard safety to life as the first essential—if such lines exist. After the Norwalk disaster, twenty-five years or more ago, the passenger traffic over the Connecticut railroads fell off so greatly in consequence of a Stage law requiring all trains to come to a dead stop at every draw-bridge, that the law had to be repealed; travellers would not stand the delay, though it was occasioned solely by a regard for their safety, but preferred taking a longer route between Boston and New York, though they saved not a minute of time and the only thing they gained was a higher rate of speed and fewer stoppages.

When a great accident occurs and an "indignation meeting" convenes and denounces the management which led to it, and then adjourns, the indignant participants all enquire "which is the fastest boat?" or "which road makes the best time?" before purchasing tickets for home. Not long after the Revere accident we took a ride to Boston over the Eastern Railroad, and in the seat with us was a sharp-looking Yankee whose conversation greatly interested us. He gave us a graphic account of an "indignation meeting" in which he had participated and at which the Eastern road was unsparingly denounced, one speaker advocating the immediate hanging of the then president of the road. In the middle of his story the train came to a stop, and we learned from the conductor that he was waiting for a heavy passenger train, which was behind time, to pass; the stop extended to a half-hour or more, and there was considerable grumbling among the passengers, our friend of the indignation meeting being loudest of all in proclaiming that the conductor could have taken his train ahead to the next siding as well as not, and that the Eastern was a slow old coach, anyway. But he was quite as consistent in this as travellers generally are, and we have no doubt that had the badgered and growled-at conductor heeded the passengers and a fatal accident resulted, our friend would have assisted at another indignation meeting with as clear a conscience as he carried to the first one. The "travelling public" dislikes to be killed, but prefers even death to slow travelling.

The News.

The policy of withdrawing the "indirect claims" for damages from Great Britain is receiving serious consideration at Washington, and there is a growing sentiment among members of Congress that it will be wise to satisfy the English government by acceding to its demands.

Fourteen thousand persons pass daily between Boston and Chelsea.

A dispatch from Bombay announces that the ship Maria, for Liverpool, has been wrecked and thirty-five persons lost.

Steamer Illgrain exploded in the Mersey river at Liverpool, England, Friday morning, killing four men and dangerously injuring three others.

John Maynes and wife of Boston went to their home on the 18th and separated, taking different rooms. John's brother went to Mrs. Maynes' room and returned some time afterwards, telling John he ought to be a happy man, as his wife was dead. The husband went down, and with some of the other boarders entered the room, and found the woman lying dead on the bed, with the head hanging over the side and the face in a pan of water that was placed on a chair. There were some marks on her throat, apparently caused by a pressure of fingers, bruises and discolorations of the wrists, indicative of a struggle, and a scar on the face, and other bruises on the head. William Maynes has been arrested on suspicion of murder.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—On the 18th, Cornelius Sullivan of Salem, Mass., was walking on the road-bed of the Eastern Railroad, near Beverly bridge, when he was met by the eight o'clock train for Gloucester. The engine caught him, and threw him against the rear car of the up-train from Beverly passing at the same time. This tossed him back again and under the wheels of the Gloucester train, all of which passed over him, mangling him in the most horrible manner.

EXIT CATACAZY.—Authentic information is received in Washington from St. Petersburg to the effect that Catacazy's justification of himself has been considered attentively in the Council of the Emperor. He is utterly disgraced, and left St. Petersburg for Paris, with a pension of 3000 roubles. His pension is so settled that it will be withdrawn if Catacazy makes any publication or gives new cause of offence.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. n8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

MYSTERY SOLVED.—The great secret of the wonderful success of VEGETINE. It strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood, restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous system. d

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Incepts, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are a sure remedy for all sexual complaints and may be taken by females of all ages, who are suffering from a disorganized system, or those distressing diseases in particular which frequently occur (from instruction) at the turn of life. They are so mild that the most delicate female may take them with perfect safety. 25 cents per box or pot.

PILES. The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

VEGETINE.—By its use you will prevent many of the diseases prevailing in the Spring and Summer season. d

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headache and terrible mental disturbances are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly, a tonic and alterative medicine; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength it does has left it. Salivants have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antiseptic and mild-purgative compounds. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contain every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which it involves. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it seems almost idle to repeat the statement.

The great tonic relaxes exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently restores the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The City Building.

Can you, and will you tell me, dear CHRONICLE, why our City Building—the old and substantial Jefferson Market,—should not be fitted up externally, so as to be an ornament to the chief Square of our good old city, instead of being a blemish, eye-sore, reproach and disgrace, as now? For my part, after all that has been said and sung, I can see no way in which a sum no larger than that required here, can be spent, to make so great an improvement in the looks of things. All the talk of a City Hall, however to be considered of itself, is utterly and entirely irrelevant to this matter—for few, if any, would recommend the Market location as the site for the new structure, on account of its limited area; and if a fine hall should be erected on Congress Street, as hinted at by some, it would only render the Market more unsightly by comparison, and call yet more loudly for re-dress.

The old Market is a heavy, strong, enduring structure—far too good and too valuable to be torn down; and if not destroyed by fire, will no doubt stand where it is for at least another century—therefore, where is the reason for or sense in refusing to beautify the exterior? The accommodations for City Offices therein are very good, and these, with the Police quarters below, I suppose cost the city somewhere from ten to twenty thousand dollars—and do our tax-payers, does anybody, wish to throw this money away? No, no, Messrs. Progressionists, you of all men ought not to oppose this improvement, for it will not, cannot interfere with, postpone or prevent your City Hall project. Get a new Hall, if you can, but for decency's sake—for mercy's sake, do fix up the old Jefferson Market building. At least, if there be any reason that renders this impracticable or undesirable, tell me what it is—in short, if not,

Y. KNOT?

City Council.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, it was voted, that the City Solicitor be authorized with the approval of the Mayor to employ counsel to assist in defending the city in the action of John Stack.

Leave was granted to move a building across Fleet Street.

A communication from John E. Rider, offering to contract for furnishing stone for the Stone Crusher or sell Leach's Island to the City, was accepted.

Leave was granted to Andrew P. Dodge to encumber State Street for building purposes.

Claim of John E. Rider for pay as member of Dearborn Fire Engine Co., No. 1, was referred to committee on Fire Department.

Voted, that the City Treasurer be authorized to sell any State Bonds in his possession for par and accrued interest.

Communication from Morse & Isley relative to insuring certain city property, was accepted. The subject was referred to the Committee on City Lands and Buildings with Mayor added, with power to act.

The Committee on City Lands and Buildings recommended that the overhead of the lower story of the Spring Market be sheathed with wood, and that the outside of the Market and the outside of the City Stable be painted. Voted, that the Committee on City Lands and Buildings be authorized to carry out their recommendation, and that a clause be put in the lease requiring tenants to keep the inside of the Market in repair.

Subject of Public Landing at Spring Market was referred to the Committee on City Lands and Buildings, to report.

Voted, that the Committee on Fire Department and the Mayor be requested to confer with the Aqueduct Company relative to an additional supply of water.

George L. Parks was appointed Special Policeman without pay.

Subject of defect in grade on Pleasant Street was referred to Committee on Streets, to report.

In Common Council, the only important business transacted by the three members present was to adjourn for one week, after an informal discussion of the question of a salt water pipe vs. a reservoir on Bridge Street.

Lent's New York Circus will show here on the 8th of May.

The Journal says savings bank deposits in this city have decreased since the war.

There was formerly a gentleman in this city, who kept a store on Penhallow Street—and was rather famous for not rising early. So one morning, a wag who kept opposite hung this legend on his door—"Not dead, but sleepeth!" Perhaps that is the case with our Board of Trade again—but what has become of the Richards Avenue, Noble's Island and Water questions?

The foul odor which salutes pedestrians at the corner of Congress and Vaughan Streets, comes from the sewer in that vicinity.

The "Odd Fellows' Mutual Relief Association of Rockingham County" has organized in this city, with Edmund M. Brown as President, George Annable, Secretary, and Isaac Dow, Treasurer, with a board of nine Trustees, selected from the three Lodges. The design of the Association is for the sole benefit of the widows and orphans of deceased members. On the death of a member each surviving brother represented on the roll is assessed one dollar, the sum thus paid in being then presented to his widow or orphans for her or their benefit. A large number have already joined.

Newspaper men did the first sowing in Portsmouth this year—on the 13th inst.

The eleven-foot indictment against the Gosport selectmen has proved to be too defective to hold them after the demurrer is filed.

The Concord Monitor fears there will be mourning in old Strawberry Bank one day in seven, if the ordinance forbidding the sale of cigars and liquors on Sunday is enforced.

There is a proposition before Congress to repeal the eight hour law. It may pass the Senate, but will probably be defeated in the House.

An amendment to the river and harbor appropriation bill gives $8000 for the further improvement of the Cocheco River at Dover. Not half enough, but better than nothing.

Frost's "Allegory and Tableaux of Jacob and Joseph," will again visit Portsmouth and exhibit at the Temple May 2, 3 and 4, having been invited by the young people of the Pearl Street Society.

Generous Bequests.

We learn from the Journal that among the provisions of the will of Mrs. Martha DeMeritt (late wife of our esteemed fellow citizen, S. M. DeMeritt, Esq.) are the following local bequests:—

$4000 to the Portsmouth Savings Bank in trust, the interest of said sum to be used for the education of two scholars, to be selected by the pastors of the Unitarian, Episcopal, Orthodox, Methodist, Baptist, Free-Will Baptist and Christian churches, assisted by a layman chosen by and from each of these churches. No scholar to be entitled to its benefits who uses profane or indecent language, tobacco or ardent spirits.

$1000 to the Howard Benevolent Society.
$1000 to City Missionary Society.
$500 to Unitarian Home Missionary Society.
$500 to Orthodox Home Missionary Society.
$500 to High School Committee in trust, the interest to be used for procuring books for the Library.

S. J. COURT, —Friday.—In case State vs. Manchester & Lawrence Railroad a verdict was returned against the Railroad, Frink and Marston for State.

The new docket was called and the cases on it disposed of.

No. 213, R. A. DeLancy vs. Rockingham Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Exeter, was next tried. Mr. DeLancy is a clergyman residing in Hampton. In drawing jurors for this case many were excused by reason of being insured by the company, which made them members of the same; others had expressed an opinion; the whole list of jurors was exhausted. Several talesmen was called (some of whom were excused) and after much labor a jury was empanelled. The suit is to recover upon a policy of insurance upon Mr. DeLancy's dwelling in Hampton, destroyed by fire, Jan. 18, 1871, and is resisted on the ground that other insurance was on the building. The amount claimed is $1375. Marston and Lamprey for piff., Small and Wiggin for deft. This is the last case to be tried by the jury.

GOING TO CIN.—The Liberal Republicans.

—The San Francisco Bulletin of April 2 tells this: "The silver half dollar nailed to the end of a stick driven down between the paving stones in the street at the crossing of California and Battery streets, yesterday, caused a great number of persons to stop and attempt to increase their finances, then go on with a metaphorical flea in each ear, muttering about "April fool." At length a small boy came along, kicked vigorously at the coin, comprehended the situation and walked off. He soon returned armed with a pair of blacksmith's pinchers, and seizing the head of the stick with a firm grip, pulled it up boldly and walked off with it in triumph, remarking, sotto voce, 'I guess somebody else is fooled this time.' But what is the world coming to? That half dollar was bogus."

—A cruel lady in Meriden keeps an osage orange plant in her parlor, and has recently made two full blown flowers and one half-opened bud of white wax and placed them upon the barren plant. In her callers admire the "sweet smelling" fraud, while several gentlemen have observed that the half-blown bud had opened considerably since they first called.

DIALOGUE.

Stranger. Where is the best place in this city to buy Confectionery or Fruit?

Citizen. At GILBERT'S, 27 Daniel Street, corner Penhallow Street.

St. Does he keep a bar in back?

Cit. He sells neither rum, ale, cider, tobacco or cigars.

St. Does he buy old bankrupt stock of Confectionery and damaged fruit, and sell it 15 per cent. cheaper than the regular trade sell pure articles?

Cit. No sir. He makes his candies of pure refined sugar, and his purchases are made from the purest, freshest and best goods in the market, and he sells at a fair profit.

St. Will he sell at wholesale, or less than half a pound?

Cit. Any amount from one ounce to a ton. Call and see him. m13

Morning Chronicle.

Political.

The Liberal Christian says there can be no doubt that the Liberal Republican convention will be able to boast a constituency of the highest respectability, but suspects the larger part of said constituency will be present at the convention. No doubt of it.

The liberal Republicans and Democrats of West Virginia have coalesced.

The North Carolina and Virginia Republican State Conventions endorsed President Grant.

The Golden Age hopes a noted cabinet maker of New York will go to the Cincinnati "Liberal" convention, as he is a first class bolter. He can't beat the essays of Sumner, Schurz and Trumbull in the bolting line, good as he may be; but it will need the best efforts of the lot to bolt together a platform on which Sumner and A. H. Stevens, Trumbull and Jeff Davis, Schurz and Edward A. Pollard, can indulge in loving embraces without danger of crowding each other off the edge, or falling through. The "Anything-to-beat-Grant" timber is just suited for their purpose, and will make very good sills for the "liberal" platform they propose to construct; but the free-trade, protection, one-term-for-the-President, life-tenure-for-office-holders, many-terms-for-Senators, white-man's-government and equal-rights planks will need very thorough bolting to the anti-Grant substructure, or the whole concern will tumble to pieces before it is fairly put together.

New Publications.

The Hub Budget is a new illustrated comic paper, of which the first number was issued on Saturday, April 13, in Boston; price 5 cents; to be issued fortnightly. The first number contains local hits, jokes, and a "rural engraving" which H. G. should have put in "What I know about Farming"—representing milk producers fixing milk for Boston market.

An original poet thus immortalizes the original settlers in Derryfield, the former name of Manchester:

> "It was often said that their only care,
> And their only wish and their only prayer
> For the present world and the world to come,
> Was a string of cods and a jug of rum."

—The Boston Globe talks of the cheerful hogs of Peoria.

—The Chicago Post predicts an early spring because "the bark on the north side of dogs is much thinner than usual."

—If any one asks you to believe that a Cincinnati woman, forty years of age, has forty children, you may believe it or you may not.

—At a wedding in Poughkeepsie, not long ago, the patents of the bridegroom charged the invited guests ninety cents per head for supper.

—Lazy California bar-tenders nowadays place the ingredients of a cobler in a tumbler, and then wait for an earthquake to mix them up.

—A Lancaster, Pa., man tied his dog to the rear end of a car while he went to see a man for a moment merely. When last heard from, the dog was in Illinois, and in very poor health.

—Howard Paul, says the Court Journal, is distributing among his friends in London cards bearing the following legend; "Admit the bearer, on a wet evening, to Howard Paul's Entertainment. The wetter the evening the more this order will be admitted."

—A young man of Eugene, Oregon, took a glass of whiskey the other night and shortly afterward vomited a tape worm forty-seven feet long. The whiskey was too much for the worm. The reptile died of delirium tremens, but the young man still lives.

—"What are you digging there for?" asked a loiterer of three men who were digging a trench in the street. "Money, zur," the answer came. The man watched the operation until the joke got through the roots of his hair and then moved on.

—A Bangor man was discussing the liquor law recently and strongly urged its strict enforcement. To emphasize a remark, he pulled his umbrella from under his arm, when there dropped out of it a black bottle. A crash on the pavement was followed by a diffusion of a fragrance equalled only by the best "Old Bourbon." Argument closed.

—A prestidigitateur gave an exhibition in a Texas town in which he introduced the familiar feature of pretending to load a pistol and allow one of the audience to fire it point blank at him, he catching the bullet. The spectator selected dropped a bona fide ball into the pistol and fired, killing the exhibitor immediately. The murderer has been arrested.

—The light-keeper at Castine, Me., when the ice was so thick that he was almost out of the reach of shore, recently became a happy father. At loss how to make the world aware of the fact, he finally hoisted the signal of distress. A boat's crew seeing the signal fought their way out from the shore with great difficulty, all of them being frost-bitten quite badly. They did not think it paid when they arrived there.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves the advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

☞ By a New Method of Life Assurance, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their life.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6=7.90.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. S. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of invention, and legal advice other assistance in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent in print, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

My Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, and he has been fortunate in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors who wish to have to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulin, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so universally successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the nucessing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from lingering Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are an acid or potash compound, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Corn Plaster is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the recent issues, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, W. H. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. Dr. J. BISHOP, *Pr*sident; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

"CUT 'UM TOO SHORT."—The distance between my post and Santa Fe was over 300 miles, and to facilitate matters I was ordered to survey a new and shorter route—cutting off about 70 miles. A company, numbering 80 men, was detailed for the purpose; and, as the course led partly through a wooded region, a considerable squad was required to act as axmen. Three or four lively black-and-tan terriers accompanied the command, affording no little amusement by their activity in snapping up unwary gophers, rats, mice and other vermin. The aborigines, who frequently honored us with their presence, claiming to be "Good Indian me," were excessively pleased at those performances. On a certain occasion, one stalwart fellow, who spoke a few words of English, said to me.

"Nantanh, heap good dog."

"Yes," I replied, "they are good dogs."

"Cut 'um ear, cut 'um tail, make 'um good dog?"

"Certainly; it is because their ears and tails are trimmed that they get around so lively."

"Aough! Me got good dog; cut 'um tail?"

"Yes; bring your dog; I'll have him fixed for you."

Next day, my Navajo friend appeared with a small, black, Indian fice, sporting a long tail, and ears to correspond. Unrolling this precious quadruped from his blanket, he signified a desire to have the job done without delay; so I called the two men, and bade one hold the dog while the other docked his tail with an axe. This did not suit redskin, who refused to trust his favorite to the tender mercies of a savage white man, and preferred to perform the operation himself. I therefore ordered one of the men to hold the dog's tail over a convenient log, while the other held his head and fore paws. All being ready, the Indian seized an axe, but instead of using it as any other person would have done, he swung the blade high above his head with both hands, as if the object to be separated required his whole strength. Just then the soldier who held the tail gave a sudden pull, while the one at the head gave a corresponding push. Down came the keen weapon, dividing the unfortunate "purp" just forward of the hind quarters, to the infinite disgust of the Indian, who picked up the disjointed halves, threw his blanket over his shoulders with indescribable dignity and exclaimed, in guttural accents: "Ugh! H—! D—n! Cut 'um too short."—Overland Monthly.

—They have had a great revival at Kansas City. One of the reclaimed, accompanied by the preacher, went to get a tooth pulled at the dentist's and, after a strong pull at the laughing gas, rather astonished his pious brother by shouting: "Keno! Sixty-six! that's my game!"

—The glorious anniversary of our national independence is to be celebrated in Chicago by a grand woman suffrage convention. No gunpowder will be used, as the gathering will possess a sufficiency of the blowing-up element to ensure the requisite amount of noise. Chicago Mail.

—Rev. Dr. Fulton, speaking of his new book, says: "Sometimes I have written books which I felt the world needed, although the world did not recognize the fact. This time I have written a book needed and desired by the Church and world." The modesty of the reverend gentleman is certainly something remarkable.

—The English critic, Rev. H. R. Haweis, regards the opera as "an unmixed evil," "musically and ethically," pronouncing it the most irrational and unintellectual form of music. The music of string quartets, in his opinion, is the most intellectual, and he seems to reverence the violin above all other instruments. The piano-forte in a quartet is, he says, "a sort of wasp in a beehive, a cukcoo in a hedge-sparrow's nest."

sighs the weary and exhausted one, as the languor and lassitude of Spring comes upon him. Come and receive vigor and strength from the Wonderful South American Tonic

JURUBEBA,
Long and successfully used in its native country, as a Powerful Tonic, and Potent Purifier of the Blood. It is found even beyond the anticipations founded on its great reputation. According to the Medical and Scientific periodicals of London and Paris, it possesses the MOST POWERFUL TONIC properties known to MATERIA MEDICA.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA
is a perfect remedy for all diseases of the BLOOD, ORGANIC WEAKNESS, GLANDULOUS TUMORS, DROPSY, SCROFULA, INTERNAL ABSCESSES, and will remove all obstructions of the LIVER, SPLEEN, INTESTINES, UTERINE and URINARY ORGANS.

It is strengthening and nourishing. Like nutritious food taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation, giving vigor and health.

It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and by its powerful Tonic and restoring effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system.

The News.

A tornado on Thursday night destroyed sixty-two houses in Chester, S. C., and also blew down the new market house in Columbia.

Violent shocks of earthquake continue in Inyo county, California, but are not felt on the western side of Sierra Nevada. An island is rising in Morro Lake. Horses were thrown down at Round-valley camp, Inyo county. The earth opened in many places, but no lives were lost.

Secretary Fish has induced the House committee on foreign affairs to abandon the passage of a resolution for the withdrawal of the claim for indirect damages before the Geneva tribunal.

The body of Anne Wood, one of the two girls who committed suicide by jumping into the falls at Lewiston, last November, was found Wednesday night a few miles down the river. The body of the other girl, Ada Brown, was recovered a few days ago.

State News.

The Pine Street Freewill Baptist Society of Manchester have voted to build a new church, costing $25,000.

The Lebanon Free Press advocates the re-election of Senator Patterson.

HENRY CLAY DEAN weighs 240 pounds. Wender how much he would weigh washed.

THE "GOOD OLD TIMES".—The good old times! Now-a-days the dress of a fashionable woman costs one, two thousand dollars. Such extravagance as this is sapping social morals to their centre, cry you? Softly! softly! look at Queen Elizabeth dying and leaving behind her three thousand dresses and a solemn proclamation against extravagance in dress. Social immorality of the present day? look at that elder time, even in the reign of Queen Anne, through the eyes of Thackeray or the ghastly and revolting satires of Dean Swift.

Political corruption of the present day? Look a century back and see a British King buying his Parliament by the scores. Look at the sneer expressed half a century ago in "France ought to have plenty of honor, for she has bought half of England's." Look at Sir Robert Walpole openly bribing his supporters.

Open your morning paper read the denunciations bursting upon the head of the Chief Magistrate of the nation, as a political trickster and a schemer for power, and then turn back seventy-five years and read the critism of a Philadelphia paper, the Aurora, on the retirement of Washington as a blessing and a cause for congratulation, styling him a despot and contemner of the rights which the colonies had just bought with their hearts' blood. Read this and then read your morning paper, with more tranquillity, and think that all Washington's patriotism and care for the peoples' good may not all have gone out of his successors, even though the paper does say so! The past was a good time, the present is a better, and, believe me, the future will be the best of all. How much better is it to believe with Darwin that we began as brutes and have come so far toward angels, than to believe we began as gods and have fallen so far towards devils. I always thought it better and wiser and sweeter to look with the eyes of love at the beast in our childhood's story book, and recognize therein a possible prince, than the princes in the company of Ulysses should change, under the wand of Circe, into goats and swine. Better an ape yesterday and an angel to-day, than a god yesterday and a boor to-day.

> Better fifty years of Europe,
> Than a cycle of Cathay!

THE HISTORY OF A GAMBLER.—A Kentucky gentleman of fall habit, noble front, and an impressive appearance of financial stability about him (says the Cincinnati Commercial), started in to break up a faro bank on Race street on Friday night; not by the rude and vulgar process of law, but by the more enlightened and diplomatic method of winning off the bank roll. It so happened, however, as it frequently comes to pass, it is said, that Lady Fortune did not favor his laudable enterprise. In fact luck was "agin" him. He played too many on a side, uniformly augmented and diminished his bets at the wrong time, and the "Jack" proving a "game keard," finally caught him for all he had.

When he had lost all the checks he could buy and borrow, subsoiled his depleted pockets for the thirteenth time, and was still dead broke with no prospect of winning out unless the house would play for pistols, a happy thought struck him, and with the eyes of the entire crowd fixed inquiringly upon him, he belched forth a steaming set of gold-mounted false teeth. "There," said he the colored boy in waiting, "take them teeth to some pawnbroker, and see what he will give upon them; I ain't done with this here game yet." The boy returned with a ten-dollar bill, but this revenue had barely put him in fighting trim again when the ravenous monster with which he was doing battle deprived him of his weapons at a single blow. He was "whip-sawed" on the first two cases.

"Well, it does beat all," he remarked, as he received this financial blow, "how many bets a man can lose. The dealer that made such a turn as that in Kentucky would have had to leave the State. I will now go out and do a little trading myself." He retired for a short time, and returned with a few dollars, for which he had sacrificed his overcoat. He lost the overcoat on another "game keard," and likewise his undercoat, which soon followed the former garment to the sign of the three balls. Nothing was now left him but a rough cloak, which the kind-hearted pawnbroker had loaned him until he should redeem his other articles of wearing apparel, and his vest and cravat. These were "soaked" to a far-distant money lender, and the proceeds duly disappearing from the "big square," he was adjudged a complete bankrupt, and assigned to a prominent seat among the high players of former times.

About three o'clock in the morning, when all the players had deserted the room, and the dealers were counting up the gains of the day in the dim light of the reduced gas, a dull-eyed, shrivelled old man with sunken jaws and attenuated frame sat shivering at the fatal table, intently gazing upon his last "tab," and mumbling a complaint to himself that "if he had money, and played the last deal to 'double out,' he would have had many a check now." It was the once robust and noble-looking Kentuckian. He was a total wreck, but, he thanked his Maker, still a thoroughbred.

NEWSBOYS.—Talk about the gamin of Paris, or the London Street Arab as much as you like, but you can't for a moment shake our belief in the American newsboy. He is a model of energy and independence. He is a natural outgrowth of our peculiar system of journalism, and cries his papers with a blatant voice and reckless disregard for accuracy because of his unlimited faith in American newspaperdom. He reverses everybody connected with the press, from the un-come-at-able incumbent of editorial honors to the arbitrary and autocratical genius who presides over the folding and mailing room. He knows by sight every regular newspaper man, and believes religiously in the one who last gave him a gallery ticket to the theatre.

Every newsboy has his favorite papers, and woe to any daily that shall incur his disapprobation. He will not sell it, and he'll dog any boy who does—if he's big enough. The newsboys' idea of supreme felicity is a public execution, and next to this in the order they are named, comes a seat at a cheap theatre where there's no end of indiscriminate killing, broad allusions and a questionable ballet; a street fight stirs his blood in proportion to the amount shed, and a runaway accident proves exciting if a horse is killed and a few people dangerously injured. His ideal of a street pageant is realized in a circus entree, and on general principles he prefers St. Patrick's Day to the Fourth of July.

The newsboy is entirely wanting in respect for anybody outside the newspaper profession; considers good clothes a fraud, and polite conventionalities a delusion. He estimates every man by the number of papers he buys, and every woman by the magnitude of her "chignon" and the extent of her panier. His "diwine diwinity" is the leading lady at his favorite theatre, for whom he has a chivalric regard. But the newsboy is in some respects a model member of society. He is industrious, generous and constant; a combination of characteristics that is often wanting in people who wear better clothes. Let us admit that he has a claim upon our consideration, give him a kind word, and recognize him as a faithful public servant.—Boston Globe.

THE TRAVELLERS' INSURANCE COMPANY, of Hartford, Conn., grants everything desirable in either Life or Accident Insurance. It is the only General Accident Insurance Company in America, writing yearly policies, and, since its organization, has written 234,554 policies, and has paid 14,248 claims for death or disabling injury of policy-holders, disbursing a sum equal to nearly seven hundred dollars in each day for every working day since the Company began business. In the year 1871, the Travellers issued 31,797 general accident policies, receiving $563,964.53 in premiums therefor—an increase of $98,496. in net premiums over the previous year. The cash assets of the Travelers, Jan. 1, 1872, were $1,919,891.48, all securely invested, giving $155 of assets to every $100 of liability. Ample security and low cash rates are the distinguishing features of the Travelers, in both its Life and Accident departments. James G. Batterson, President; Rodney Dennis, Secretary; Geo. B. Lester, Actuary; Chas. E. Wilson, Ass't Sec'y.

—A cheering little work has been published in England called "A Sight of Hell," which is intended for children and young persons. After mentioning all the horrible sounds he can happen at the moment to recall, the genial author says: "Listen to the tremendous, the horrible uproar of millions and millions and millions of tormented creatures mad with the fury of hell. O, the screams of fear, the groanings of horror, the yells of rage, the cries of pain, the shouts of agony, the shrieks of despair, from millions on millions. There you can hear them roaring like lions, hissing like serpents, howling like dogs, and wailing like dragons. There you hear the gnashing of teeth and the fearful blasphemies of the devils. Above all you hear the roaring of the thunder of God's anger, which shakes hell to its foundations." Is not this rather "strong meat" for babes?

—An English writer advises young ladies to look favorably upon those engaged in agricultural pursuits, giving as a reason that their mother Eve married a gardener. He forgot to add, however, that the gardener lost his situation in consequence of the match.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised nostrums put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA—A substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach aches, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

THE TENACITY OF TRUTH.—When a nation as clear-headed as the Americans once become convinced, from long experience and observation, that an article possesses superior excellence as a medicine, not all the preposterous clamor of all the worthless nostrum vendors in the universe can shake their belief in its efficiency. Truth is a very tenacious thing, as these worthies are beginning to discover. PLANTATION BITTERS has too firm a hold upon the popular esteem to be in the slightest degree effected by the cold water platitudes which the advertisers of fermented slops, "without a particle of alcohol," are so fond of launching against alcoholic preparations. The public knows very well that this peerless renovant, and tonic does contain spirits, but it also knows that they are of the purest and most wholesome description, viz: fine old St. Croix, the most active and beneficial diffuser of its remedial and invigorating properties throughout the system which could possibly be adopted.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Erysipelas and all inflammatory diseases yield to a diligent use of this powerful preparation. In the foot, hand and back, their approach should be checked at once—if suppuration ensues, danger is imminent, and the knife cannot be employed with jeopardizing life. The Ointment will remove the disorder, without cutting, pain or peril. 25 cents per box or pot.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headache and terrible mental disturbances are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly an alterative and invigorant; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength disease has left it. Salivants have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antibilious aperients and blood-purifying components. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contain every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which it involves. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it seems almost idle to repeat the statement.

The great tonic rallies exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently recruits the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

ON MARRIAGE.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Laconics.

The funeral services of the late Capt. Joseph M. Bradford, U. S. N., will take place this (Monday) forenoon at a quarter past 11 o'clock, at St. John's Church.

Mr. F. W. DeRochemont, Insurance Agent, has changed his place of business from No. 84 Market Street to No. 16 Pleasant Street.

The property known as the Webster estate, situated in the elbow of Elm Street, is advertised for sale or rent, in whole or in part. The large size of the lot of land and its immediate proximity to the depots of the Eastern and Concord & Portsmouth Railroads, make it a desirable property and it should not be long in the market.

The beautiful bouquet of wax flowers at the Congress Block Store attracts general attention. It is the handiwork of Mrs. S. Lamprey, who instead of stamping the leaves, cuts each separately by hand, and produces with exquisite taste such a perfect counterfeit in the floral line that one can easily imagine his senses regaled with delicious perfume.

On and after to-day, express trains will leave Boston and Portland for Portsmouth at 6 o'clock, P. M., arriving here at 8 P. M.

The Eastern Railroad has added a new $18,000 Pullman parlor car to its rolling stock.

The summer arrangement of running trains on the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad will go into effect June 1st.

And now the statement that deposits in Savings Banks here have decreased since the war, is contradicted.

We are informed by officer Entwistle that a pleasant little episode occurred at the Police Station on Saturday evening in the presentation of a silk hat by the several members of the police force to Mr. J. Sullivan Rand, one of the night police. We learn that the recipient of the gift is deservedly popular among his associates, and the above course of action on the part of the policemen was simply an expression of the high regard in which Mr. R. is held by them.

MEETING OF SAVINGS BANK TRUSTEES.—On Wednesday, the 17th inst., delegates from the Savings Banks of the State met at the Common Council room in this city, to consider the interests of the Saving institutions in the State. The number of banks is 55, and the amount of the deposits $25,000,000, there being 80,000 depositors. There were representatives, one or more, from a great majority of the banks, and the meeting was composed of some of the best financial talent in the State.

Ex-Governor Smyth was chosen Chairman, and C. V. Dearborn of Nashua, Secretary.

Hon. Daniel Clark, of this city, referred to the responsible position in which Trustees are placed; that the law makes them responsible to the depositors for unprofitable investments, however careful they may be. He thought they should be protected in this respect.

Mr. W. Odlin, of Concord, favored the entire repeal of the usury laws, and said it was impossible to manage banks at 6 per cent, when other corporations offered higher rates; his idea was that everybody should make the best bargain he could.

Mr. G. A. Pillsbury, of Concord, said the rate of taxation of savings bank deposits was too high,—one per cent,—while in Maine and Vermont it was only one-half as much, and only three-fourths in Massachusetts. The result was money near the borders of our State is deposited out of the State. He opposed the law which required that one-half the loans should be made in the State.

Judge Clark thought the Legislature should prescribe the character of the securities to be taken, and with that in view he offered a resolution, which, at first, was not regarded with favor. It was afterwards taken up and passed. It is as follows:

Resolved, That, in the opinion of this meeting, the action of the several Savings Banks of the State should be directed to the original design of of such institutions, to wit: the safe and prudent investment of such sums as may be deposited with them for that purpose, and to that end it is desirable that the Legislature should direct in what classes of securities such investments should be made.

There was further discussion by Dr. Kittredge of Newmarket, Mr. Shores of Portsmouth, Mr. Kidder of this city, Mr. Ramsdell of Milford, Mr. Wyatt of Dover, Mr. Roberts of Salmon Falls, Gen. Head of Hooksett, and others.

A committee, consisting of Ex-Gov. Smyth, Wyatt of Dover, Pillsbury of Concord, Roberts of Rollinsford, Kidder and Clark of Manchester, was appointed to present business to the meeting.

In the afternoon session the following resolution was presented by the committee:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the meeting the action of the several savings banks of the State should be directed to the original design of such institutions, to wit: the safe, prudent and profitable investments of such sums as may be deposited with them for that purpose; and to that end a committee of five should be appointed to inquire, and report at some future meeting, what action, if any, is necessary to secure the best interests of such institutions in connection with those of the State.

Several of the gentlemen who spoke in the morning were heard on this subject. Remarks were made by Mr. Towne of Milford, C. W. Woodman of Dover, Henry Colony of Keene, Mr. Sanborn of Franklin, Mr. Currier of Manchester, and others.

The resolution was adopted very unanimously, and the following gentlemen were appointed the committee:

John J. Bell, Exeter; Joseph Kidder, Manchester; George A. Pillsbury, Concord; Dexter Richards, Newport; Wm. Ramsdell, Milford; Oliver Wyatt, Dover; H. R. Roberts, Rollinsford.

On motion of Mr. Odlin of Concord the meeting adjourned to meet in this city on Wednesday, May 22.—Manchester Mirror.

THE CAMBRIDGE CONFESSION.—Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, the apostle Paul of Brooklyn, created one of his chronic sensations by the bold, original utterances that characterized his Sabbath morning sermon. Mr. Beecher is never so forcible, never so logical, never so eloquent, as when denouncing the follies of the present or demolishing the long-standing superstitions of the past. If he is enthusiastic and audaciously determined in the defence of his own convictions, he is uncompromising in his attacks upon what he esteems the false teaching of his opponents.

On this occasion his anathemas were directed against the Cambridge Confession of Faith, declaring among other things, that he would prefer being an atheist to following such a faith, notwithstanding he acknowledged it was the faith of his fathers, and the foundation upon which was raised the structure of the creed of the New England Congregationalist churches. The most obnoxious clause in that confession appeared to be the following, which the reverend gentleman read with a terrible emphasis: "By the decree of God, and for the manifestation of his glory, some men and some angels are predestinated to everlasting ruin and some are foreordained to everlasting death."

The painfully intense interest with which the congregation drank in the terrible words, was hardly diverted by the criticism which followed it, which was hardly simply, "That is rather rough, is it not?" He went on reading until he came to the following: "These angels and men, thus predestinated and foreordained, are fixed to an unchangeable destiny; their number is certain and defined, and cannot be increased or diminished." "That is what you may call a tight fit," said the eloquent commentator. The effect of the vernacular was instantly perceptible. The mental tension superinduced by the effort of judging if they (the Plymouth Church congregation) were among the predestinated and foreordained was agreeably relaxed into that innocent merry laughter cultivated in the Bethel. Mr. Beecher added: "If I were left to choose between absolute infidelity and atheism, and the acceptance of a God who has preordained and predestinated an innumerable host of His creatures to torments, to pains, and to eternal death for His praise and His glory, why rather than accept such an infernal deity I would be an atheist and I would glory therein."

A murmer of suppressed applause followed this bold pronunciamento. Mr. Beecher then turned to the sermons of Dr. Binney, preached from the same pulpit, in one of which Dr. Binney said that there were those sitting before him who in the eternal ages should suffer more of the torments of the damned than the volume of all that was painful, all that was dreadful to the souls then waiting inhell. Mr. Beecher said: "It is to a Being like that we say, 'Our Father.' Why, if there were one soul that was predestined by Him to such a hopeless inheritance of woe, I would say 'Our Fiend,—not Our Father." Those words coming from a man who is regarded by his congregation with almost the same trust and reverence with which the ancient prophets inspired their followers, created the most intense excitement. It would be difficult to describe the breathless interest with which every word was watched as it fell from the lips of the great preacher. The sermon seemed electric. The boldness of the words that sought to everthrow what had been formally declared to be the faith of the Calvinistic Church only ten years ago, would seem heretical if the source from which they issued did not forbid the idea.

And yet there were those in that devoted flock who trembled for the orthodoxy of their pastor. Few believed that there was ever much Calvanism in his naturo, but no one expected to see him thus contemptuously shake the dust of Congregationalist New England from his feet, and openly denounce the Confession of faith lately adopted by the holy men at Boston as the most devilish doctrine that ever emancipated from the lips of men. No doubt many were struck by the glowing picture he had painted of the consequences of such a doctrine, and all admired this splendid portraiture of the tender thoughtfulness, the ineffable consideration, and the unlimited kindness of the Father of his adoration, whose name is the God of Love. The discourse has given rise to much discussion, both in Brooklyn and New York, as have many of Mr. Beecher's former sermons, and no doubt the sensation created by it will fade away as quickly this time as it has invariably done in former instances.—Daily Globe.

Morning Chronicle.

New Publications.

In the May number of Old and New, there is a capital leader pertinent to the season. Some one unannounced contributes more "Reminiscences of Brook Farm," and some one else reveals the beautiful mystery of "The Spring Woods." Rev. James Martineau writes of "The Place of Mind in Nature and of Intuition in Man." Hon. Geo. F. Hoar gives a sketch of the progress of the effort to give national endowment to the science of public schools, and recounts some of the advantages expected to result from it. The special departments are ably filled.

The May number of The Nursery is now ready for all the little ones, who have been impatient for its appearance. It is as good as the best.

"Saxe Holm," who wrote that wonderful story, entitled "Esther Wynn's Love Letters," containing those charming Poems, "Three kisses of Farewell," "The Song of Clover," &c., in the December Scribner, has written a short Serial to be commenced in the May Scribner, entitled "Draxy Miller's Dowry."

The May number of Oliver Optic's Magazine is crowded with good things from the pen of the most popular writers for the young. Oliver Optic's Story, "Sea and Shore, or the Tramps of a Traveller," increases in interest as it reaches the denouement. Mrs. E. D. Cheney's "Sally Williams, the Mountain Girl," is continued. Elijah Kellogg's "Whispering Pine" is full of interest. The editorials detailing the Editor's adventures in the lecture field are capital; and the illustrations attractive. No better number of this Magazine has ever been issued. Lee & Shepard, Boston, publishers; $2.50 per year.

The May number of The Galaxy contains short stories by Katherine Macquoid and Edgar Fawcett, and the beginning of larger ones by Ivan Turgenief and Maria Louise Pool. A very interesting article is that by Commander Stephen B. Luce, U. S. N., entitled "Regina Dal Cin." It is an account of an Italian woman belonging to the class frequently designated "natural bone-settlers," who has become famous for her skill in the treatment of ancient lacerations and kindred ills. Albert Rhotes contributes a paper about Arabs, and ex-Secretary Welles concludes his exposition of President Johnson's reconstruction policy, and the circumstances in which it was initiated.

—The New York Standard writes about poemlets and the Tribune's Boston critic about "essaylings."

—The number of persons now residing at the Vatican, which consists of fifty separate buildings, with fourteen court-yards and twelve thousand rooms, is three thousand. It is a town without streets.

—In two instances recently, in clearing away the debris of buildings, the fire started over six months ago was found still burning—a proof of persistency under difficulties which only Chicago can show.—Mail.

—The three things which a woman cannot do are now said to be, to sharpen a pencil, tie up a bundle, and carry an umbrella. To do anything else, for which her sex does not directly incapacitate, she has proved her ability.

—The Kentucky legislature has decreed that Collins' history of the State must be placed in all the public schools. A Louisville paper demands that the Louisville directory shall be put there also, for one is as valuable as the other.

—Within a period of fourteen months two societies of iron workers in England paid out for the support of men on strike the enormous sum of $3,283,000. Half of this amount would have amply stocked an immense co-operative manufactory.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 101 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6-7.90.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of skill, attention and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of enlightened and thoughtful men and women throughout the world, have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, by its prompt use, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely precaution. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, or Sick Stomach; author absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, cleaving pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and certain, and in most of the instances they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained, and a permanent cure, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest of Ingrowing Nails, and prevent Bunions, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for relief of corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely sure for Bleeding, Internal, and Itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TEBBETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SANFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodist and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair prematurely gray. It then disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effects unsightliness and uncleanliness, or causes it to be sightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S compound is now so well known as an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR restores to the scalp the natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The composition is free from all injurious ingredients. Now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of this art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

OLD TESTAMENT LEGENDS.

Legends and traditions have a peculiar and double interest. Their external form, so often made wild and fantastic by supernatural elements, is delightful to the young, and to many and older persons who are fortunate enough to have preserved something of childhood's appetite for the marvelous. And of late years the tireless toil of the philologists and antiquarians has unearthed a new element of value much more precious, like skilled miners finding gold in the refuse of some mine of baser metal,—to wit, their hostirical or linguistic significance. The Oriental legends possess a strange grotesqueness of their own, such as occidental ones would doubtless exhibit to the Asiatics; and the Mohammedan and Talmudic traditions which cluster about the narratives of the Old Testament are perhaps the most entertaining of them all. The clumsy movement of the Rabbinic mind has invested the stories of the Talmudists with an unutterably lumbering character, as destitute of grace as a pot-bellied Japanese or Polynesian idol. Even Mr. Gould himself admits, moreover, in his preface to the volume of which we are speaking, "that but one or two of his bookful seem to have any real historic root, aside from the Bible accounts. Still the quaint old stories illustrate Eastern manners, and form a curious chapter in the history of fiction and of imagination. We give various extracts, long or short, sufficient to indicate the character of the collection, which is pretty extensive, and carefully chosen from sources but little known to the general reader.

CAIN AND ABEL.

This is how the story is told in the Midrash: Cain and Abel could not agree, for what one had the other wanted; then Abel devised a scheme that they should make a division of property, and thus remove the possibility of contention. The proposition pleased Cain. So Cain took the earth and all that is stationary, and Abel took all that is moveable. But the envy which lay in the heart of Cain gave him no rest. One day he said to his brother, "Remove thy foot, thou standest on my property; the plain is mine." Then Abel ran up upon the hills, but Cain cried, "Away, the hills are mine!" Then he climbed the mountains, but still Cain followed him, calling, "Away! the stony mountains are mine." In the book of Jasher the cause of quarrel is differently stated. One day the flock of Abel ran over the ground Cain had been ploughing; Cain rushed furiously upon him and bade him leave the spot. "Not," said Abel, "till you have paid me for the skins of my sheep and wool of their fleeces used for your clothing." Then Cain took the coulter from his plough, and with it slew his brother. The Targum of Jerusalem says the subject of contention was that Cain denied a judgment to come and eternal life, and Abel argued for both. The Rabbi Menachem, however, asserts that the point on which they strove was whether a word was written zizil, or zizis in the Parascha. "And when they were in the field together the brothers quarrelled, saying, 'Let us divide the world.' One said, 'The earth you stand on is my soil.' The other said, 'You are standing on my earth.' One said, 'The holy temple shall be on my lot,' the other said 'It shall stand on mine.' So they quarrelled. Now there were born with Abel two daughters, his sisters. Then said Cain, 'I will take the one I choose; I am the eldest.' Abel said 'They were born with me, and I will have them to wife.' And when they fought, Abel flung Cain down and was above him, and he lay on Cain. Then Cain said to Abel, 'Are we not both sons of one father; why wilt thou kill me?' And Abel had compassion and let Cain get up. And Cain fell on him and killed him. From this we learn not to render good to the evil, for, because Abel showed mercy to Cain, Cain took advantage of it to slay Abel."

JACOB'S PILLOW, THE SCOTTISH CORONATION STONE.

Five miracles were wrought for the patriarch Jacob, at the time when he went forth from Beersheba. First, the hours of the day were shortened, and the sun went down before its time, because the Word desired to speak with him; secondly, the four stones, which Jacob had set for his pillow, he found in the morning had coagulated into one stone; thirdly, the stone which, when all the flocks were assembled, the shepherds rolled from the mouth of the well, he rolled away with one of his arms; fourthly, the well overflowed, and the water continued to flow all the days he was in Haran. The fifth sign—the country was shortened before him, so that in one day he went forth and came to Haran. And he prayed in the place where he rested, and took four stones of that place, and set them for a pillow, and went asleep. Of these stones this is the history. They were twelve in number, and Adam had set them up as an altar. On them Abel had offered his sacrifice. The Deluge had thrown them down, but Noah reared them once more. They had been again overthrown, but Abraham set them in their places, and of them

TUESDAY, APRIL 23, 1872.

The News.

John Lumberg, a Swede, and Dennis Kelly, a young Irishman, were arrested in Boston on Sunday. They have for the past eight months been coining five-cent pieces of base coin in the upper story of 153 Congress Street. The evidence is complete.

John Jay Knox has been appointed controller of the currency.

In the U. S. Senate on Saturday a bill was passed authorizing the reconstruction of a bridge across the Missouri River at Brownsville, Nebraska. The Texas-Pacific Railroad bill was amended and passed.

Work is rapidly progressing on the extension of the Boston and Maine Railroad. The laying of the iron will begin by the middle of next month.

The city council of Biddeford has vetoed to exempt new manufacturing establishments from taxation for ten years, when the amount invested exceeds $5000.

A despatch from Hong Kong states that the French steamer Avato came into collision with the steamer Rona. The latter sank. Sixty persons on the Rona are missing, and it is believed that they are all lost.

The New York jury in the case of Mrs. Fanny Hyde, who shot her employer after he seduced her, could not agree. It is understood that the jury stood ten for acquittal and two for a verdict of manslaughter in the third degree. The story is also current, on the responsibility of one of the jurymen, that the ten forming the majority agreed that if the remaining two would consent to a verdick of manslaughter in the fourth degree, for which the penalty is a fine of $1000, they wold join in the verdict, and further, would contribute the sum necessary to effect her release, but the proposition was rejected.

The Boston Base Ball Club beat the Harvards on Saturday, 7 to 1.

On Saturday the Rogers Farm, situated near Little Good Harbor beach, Gloucester, was sold to Henry Souther of Boston for $46,000. Many wealthy Boston merchants attended the sale.

News from Muskagee, Indian Territory, states that a man on trial for murder at Talequah, was acquitted, whereupon a relative of the murdered man shot the defendant dead, and also the judge on the bench. An indiscriminate fight commenced, in which eleven persons were killed and many more wounded. Among the killed were three United States Marshals, named Owens, Hawkins and Wilson.

State News.

A large barn belonging to the Belknap Mills at Lake Village was burned on Saturday morning last. Loss about $1200 and partially insured.

The National State Capital Bank of Concord has received permission from the currency bureau at Washington to increase its capital stock in the sum of $50,000, and has purchased the Carroll County National Bank of Sandwich, which is to be transferred to the former bank.

The directors of the Manchester and Lawrence Railroad have appointed G. B. Chandler, treasurer, in the place of Hon. E. W. Harrington. This occasioned a vacancy in the board of directors. Mr. Chandler resigning, which was filled by choosing Hon. Nathan Parker.

The annual examination of the State Reform School will take place at Manchester, April 30th.

Mr. R. M. Bishop of Francenia means to have a carriage road to the summit of Mt. Lafayette completed in season for summer travel. The Concord Patriot says:—That man who "does" the mountains and fails to ascend Lafayette misses a far finer view than is to be had from Mt. Washington. There are few, if any, sights among the hills which even begin to compare with it.

The Mt. Vernon House, a well-known summer resort at Mt. Vernon, was burned on Saturday afternoon, with nearly all its contents; well insured.

John Conant of Jaffrey has given $1000 to the Southern freedmen, and will give another thousand. He will also give the town of Jaffrey $1000 as a fund, the interest to be spent in keeping the town house, a relic of Revolutionary times, in repair.

John Merrill, a well-to-do-farmer of Hampton Falls, aged about 45, hung himself in the woods there Saturday evening. Domestic trouble is said to have unsettled his mind. His sister died last week, leaving six children.

A Claremont young lady, named Nellie Jewett, is supposed to have committed suicide, as she was last seen on Thursday, going towards Sugar river, and her hat and other articles of clothing have been found on the bank. There is great excitement in the village and gossip connects a man whose name is given with the matter, and who, one account says, has been arrested for liquor selling. On Friday a mob visted his shop and pitched its contents into the street. The mother of Miss Jewett is said to be deranged.

Political.

A wager has been concluded between J. G. Bennett, Jr., and August Belmont in which the former bets $10,000 to $4000 that Grant will be the next President.

The Boston Times thinks Senator Patterson should be rotated.

—A New Orleans thief lately sent back the stolen clothes of an undersized citizen with a note, saying that he would wait for his victim to grow.

—A lady of Rochester, Minn., has obtained a patent for a fan, to be attached to a sewing machine, and operated by the same power.

—Who was the straightest man mentioned in the Bible? Joseph—because Pharaoh made a ruler of him.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headache and terrible mental disturbances are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly an alterative and invigorant; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength disease has left it. Cathartics have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antibilious aperients and blood-purifying components. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contain every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which it involves. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it seems almost idle to repeat the statement.

The great tonic rallies exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently recruits the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 5 BOND STREET, N.Y.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Erysipelas and all inflammatory diseases yield to a diligent use of this powerful preparation. In the foot, hand and back, their approach should be checked at once—if suppuration ensues, danger is imminent, and the knife cannot be employed with jeopardizing life. The Ointment will remove the disorder, without cutting, pain or peril. 25 cents per box or pot.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottoms of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that o any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Falling to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6-7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

The late Capt. Bradford.

Capt. Joseph M. Bradford, U. S. N., was born in Tennessee, and appointed to the Navy from the State of Alabama, January 10, 1840. He was promoted to Passed Midshipman July 11,1846,and was in active service during the Mexican war; was promoted to Master in 1855, and to Lieutenant in the same year; was commissioned Lieutenant-Commander July 15, 1862, was in active service during the rebellion, and Fleet Captain of the South Atlantic Squadron under Admiral Dahlgren; was commissioned Commander in 1866, and was retired during the present year on account of failing health, with the rank of Captain. At the time of his death he was on his way to South Carolina, and stopped to rest at Norfolk, Va., where he died in the Naval Hospital, of heart disease, on Sunday morning, April 14. His remains were brought to this city, being accompanied by Lieutenant O. Faranholt and Mate Henry Cooper of the Navy, and his funeral took place on Monday, April 22, from St. John's Church, Rev. Dr. Lambert of Charlestown, Mass., officiating, with the customary honors accorded deceased officers of the United States' service, a detachment of marines from the Navy Yard doing duty as escort, a detail of seamen bearing his flag and pennant, and the officers attached to the Station following the remains to their resting place in Ex-Gov. Goodwin's tomb in the Proprietors' Burying-ground. Capt. Bradford married Miss Georgette C. Goodwin, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Ex-Governor Goodwin, of this city; Mrs. Bradford died some years ago, leaving one child, a son, who is now living.

A Rare Wit.

Our jolly friend Joe G. is a favorite with all who know him, and many are the good things traced to his ready wit. Joe is ready at repartee and self poised at all times, being on hand for any emergency. Several years ago, while employed at the Navy Yard, his chief occupation was to hide away in one of the ship houses and spin yarns for the especial delectation of his many friends. Being there with a boon companion, the Commodore entered unobserved and was close at his heels before Joe discovered him. Retreat was impossible and both employes stood their ground. Advancing, the Commandant addressed Joe with—"Well, my man, now what is your part in the play." Looking up, Joe responded, "Helping him, sir!" pointing to his companion. "And what is he doing?" continued his questioner. "Nothing, sir," was the answer. Commodore ——— passed on and the delinquents made tracks.

As we have intimated, Joe is averse to labor. He was hired by a master builder recently to aid in taking down a chimney and to wheel the bricks out of a yard. Having disposed of two wheelbarrow loads, he was confronted by his employer, who impatiently broke out with—"I thought you would have all these bricks out by this time." Straightening up and putting his hands on his hips, the propeller of the wheelbarrow replied,—"I didn't know where to wheel 'em." "Wheel 'em to the devil," shouted his employer, and Joe quickly replied, giving emphasis to his remarks by an energetic moistening of his hands as he stooped to lift the wheelbarrow, "All right, sir; stand still and I'll have 'em there in a minute."

While the Newburyport bridge was building, Joe applied for work. Said the boss, "Have you ever worked on the Navy Yard down there at Portsmouth?" "No, sir," was the reply. "You can go to work then," and Joe was given a good job. Returning home, Saturday night, a friend asked if he succeeded in getting employment. "Yes," was the sententious reply. "Then I'll try, Monday," said the questioner. "Come on," grunted Joe, and he did "come on." Bright and early, Monday morning, both went to Newburyport, Joe to work and his friend to obtain work. In reply to the question of the latter, the boss asked if he had ever worked on the Navy Yard. "Yes, sir," was the answer. "Then I won't have you. I don't want any one to work for me who ever worked on the Navy Yard," said the boss. "Why do you employ Joe G. then?" asked the applicant; "he has worked there." Joe was summoned and asked why he told a falsehood, but was as usual equal to the emergency. "Me work on the Navy Yard! No, sir. I've been over there—but I never worked there." His usual good luck attended him and a long job was given him for his wit.

It is customary when work slackens at the Navy Yard, for workmen there to predict a coming discharge. One day, Joe was accosted by a fellow workman, who warned him that he would probably be one of the victims, being classed as a "helper," and that class being most liable to "catch it." "Don't you worry any about me," replied Joe; "I haven't helped anybody." Sure enough, Joe's luck did not desert him, and though many were called he was of the few who were chosen to remain.

Laconics.

A lonely velocipede has arrived in town.

J. Rider & Son advertise dried apples, peaches and sweet potatoes put up by the pneumatic process, and claim that they retain "the flavor of fresh fruit and are splendid as well as cheap." We have not tasted the peaches and sweet potatoes, but we have tried the dried apples and they are first-rate.

Mr. L. A. Johnson, well and favorably known to many persons as Dr. A. P. Stevens' assistant and student for several years, advertises "Celluloid," a new base for artificial teeth, which is highly commended by many eminent dentists. Mr. Johnson some months ago purchased of Dr. Stevens the artificial teeth department of his business, and is cordially endorsed by Dr. S. as a thoroughly capable and trustworthy worker in that branch of dentistry.

Frank W. Miller, Esq., in another column announces a sale of fifty house lots near Lincoln Hill, at low prices and on easy terms to actual builders—a splendid opportunity to secure a homestead in one of the pleasantest and rapidly growing suburbs of the city. Any one preferring to purchase a home ready made, though a little further off, will do well to read the advertisement concerning the late Dr. Clough's estate at Greenland.

The English company which has issued a prospectus for subscriptions for laying a cable from Milford Haven to Rye Beach proposes to charge for messages 1s. 5d. per word, with a charge in gross for the address of 3s. This rate is about one third of the present tariff.

Rev. Mr. Beebe, late of Chichester and formerly of Gosport, has entered on his duties at Littleton. The Republic says "he created a favorable impression." Mr. B. will be found well versed in theology, law and medicine, as his duties at the Shoals extended even to that wide province.

Two young men of Knoxville have had gas bills presented them by young ladies whom they visited and kept up until the "wee sma' hours." Which shows the thoughtlessness of masculines in Knoxville. Hereabouts young men turn the gas well down when they keep young ladies up late.

Messrs. Sweetser & Clark have a large assortment of refrigerators and ice-chests, garden vases, ornamental brackets and flower-pot shelves, doormats and German canary birds, which they offer for sale. Their advertisement will appear to-merrow.

We saw a young man crossing Pleasant Street to the Post-Office, Monday, on whose back was chalked the expressive words—"To Let!"

Dr. Emil Richter has sold his residence on Austin Street to Mr. C. E. Myers and has purchased an estate in Baltimore, where he will locate.

A dispatch to the Associated Press says that it is reported that Came Bros., the carriage manufacturers of this city, have purchased of Boston parties the Rockingham steam mills here for their business.

Thomas Felch, of Seabrook, was brought before Judge Page of this city on Monday, charged with using profane and abusive language in church. This unhappy man has been before the court several times; and it appearing that he had behaved in the most violent and outrageous manner on this occasion, Judge Page "sent him up." From what we hear we fancy Felch must be insane, as it seems hardly possible a sane man could act with such utter folly as he does.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from first page.

built the altar on which to sacrifice Isaac. These twelve stones Jacob now found, and he placed them under his head as a pillow. But a great wonder was wrought, and in the morning the twelve stones had melted together into one stone. Finally, this stone, so ancient and with such a history, was carried to Scotland, by whom I do not know, where it was placed at Scone, and was used for the consecration of the Scottish kings. Edward I. of England brought it to London, and it was set beneath the chair of the Confessor, as the following lines, inscribed on a tablet, announced:—

"Si quid habent veri, vel chronica cana, fideses,
Clanditur hac cathedra nobilis, ecce, lapis.
Ad caput extinta Jacob quondam patriarcha
Quem posuit cernens numina mira poli.
Quem tulit ex Scotia, spolium quasi victor herosis
Edwardus primus, Marte valet omnipotens.
Scottorum domitor, nostor validissimus Hector,
Anglorum decus, et gloria militis."

The stone may now be seen in Westminster Abbey.

EL KHOUDR, THE ORIGINAL OF THE WANDERING JEW, ZADIG, AND SIMILAR STORIES.

One day, say the Mussulmans, Moses boasted before Joshua of his wisdom. Then said God to him, "Go to the place where the sea of the Greeks joins the Persian Gulf, and there you will find one who surpasses you in wisdom." Moses therefore announced to the Hebrews, who continued their murmurs, that, in punishment for their stiff neckedness and rebellion, they were condemned by God to wander for forty years in the desert. Then having asked God how he should recognize the wise man of whom God had spoken to him, he was bidden to take a fish in a basket; "and," said God, "the fish will lead thee to my faithful servant." Moses went on his way with Joshua, having the fish in a basket. In the evening he arrived on the shore of the sea and fell asleep.

When he awoke in the morning Joshua forgot to take the fish, and Moses not regarding it, they had advanced far on their journey before they remembered that they had neglected the basket and fish. Then they returned and sought where they had slept, but they found the basket empty. As they were greatly troubled at this loss, they saw the fish before them, standing upright like a man, in the sea; and it led them, and they followed along the coast; and they did not stop till their guide suddenly vanished. Supposing that they had reached their destination, they explored the neighborhood, and found a cave, at the entrance to which were inscribed these words: "In the name of the all-powerful and all-merciful God." Joshua and Moses entering this cavern, found a man seated there, fresh and blooming, but with white hair and a long beard which descended to his feet. This was the prophet El Khoudr.

Some say he was the same as Elias, some that he was Jeremiah, some that he was Lot, and some that he was Jonah. The greatest uncertainty reigns as to who El Khoudr really is. All that is known of him is that he went to Alexander, the Two-horned, to the West, and drank of the fountain of immortality, and thenceforth he lived an undying life, ever fresh, but marked with signs of a beautiful old age. El Khoudr derives his name from the circumstance of his having sat on a bare stone, and when he rose from it the stone was green and covered with grass. In later times he was put to death for the true faith with various horrible tortures, by an idolatrous king, but he revived after each execution.

The explanation of the mystery of El Khoudr is this: He is the old Sungod Thummuz of the Sabians, and when he was dethroned by Mohammed, he sank in popular tradition to the level of a prophet, and all the old myths of the Sun-god were related of the prophet. His wandering to the west is the sun setting there; his drinking there of the well of immortality is the sun plunging into the sea. His clothing the dry rock with grass is significant of the power of the sun over vegetation. His torments are figures of the sun setting, in storm, in flames of crimson, or swallowed by the black thunder cloud; but from all his perils he rises again in glory in the eastern sky.

Moses said to El Khoudr: "Take me for thy disciple; permit me to accompany thee, and to admire the wisdom God hath given thee."

"Thou canst not understand it," answered the venerable man. "Moreover, thy stay with me is short."

"I will be patient and submissive," said Moses; "for God's sake, reject me not."

"Thou mayest follow me," said the sage. "But ask me no questions, and wait till I give thee, at my pleasure, the sense of that which thou comprehendest not."

Moses accepted the condition, and El Khoudr led him to the sea, where was a ship at anchor. The prophet took a hatchet and cut two timbers out of her side, so that she foundered.

"What art thou doing?" asked Moses; "the people on board the ship will be drowned."

"Did I not say to thee that thou wouldst not remain patient for long?" said the sage.

"Pardon me," said Moses; "I forgot what I had promised."

El Khoudr continued his course. Soon they met a beautiful child who was playing with shells on the seashore. The prophet took a knife which hung at his girdle, and cut the throat of the child.

"Wherefore hast thou killed the innocent?" asked Moses in horror.

"Did I not say to thee," repeated El Khoudr, "that thy journey with me would be short?"

"Pardon me once more," said Moses; "if I raise my voice again, drive me from thee."

After having continued their journey for some way, they arrived at a large town, hungry and tired. But no one would take them in or give them food, except for money. El Khoudr, seeing the wall of a large house, from which he had been driven away, menaced ruin, set it up firmly, and then retired. Moses was astonished, and said "Thou hast done the work of several masons for many days. Ask for a wage which will pay for our lodging."

Then answered the old man, "We must separate. But before we part, I will explain what I have done. The ship which I injured belongs to a poor family. If it had sailed it would have fallen into the hands of pirates. The injury I did can be easily repaired, and the delay will save the vessel for those worthy people who own her. The child I killed had a bad disposition, and it would have corrupted its parents. In its place God will give them pious children. The house I repaired belongs to orphans whose father was a man of substance. It has been let to unworthy people. Under the wall is hidden a treasure. Had the tenants mended the wall they would have found and kept the treasure. Now the wall will stand till its legitimate owners come into the house, when they will find the treasure. Thou seest I have not acted blindly or foolishly." Moses asked pardon of the prophet, and he returned to the people of the wilderness.

THE DEATH OF SOLOMON.

When Solomon had recovered his throne, he reigned twenty years. His whole reign was forty years, and he lived in all fifty-five years. He spent these years in prosecuting the building of the temple. Towards the end of his life he often visited the temple, and remained there one or two months plunged in prayer, without leaving it. He took his nourishment in the temple. He even remained a year thus; and when he was standing, with bowed head, in a humble attitude before God, no one ventured to approach him, man or Jinn; if a Jinn drew near, fire fell from heaven and consumed him. In the garden of Solomon grew an unknown tree. Solomon asked it, "What is thy name, and what are thy virtues?" And the tree answered him, "I am called such and such, and I serve such a purpose, either by my fruits, or by my shadow, or by my fragrance."

Then Solomon transplanted it elsewhere; and if it were a tree with medicinal properties, he wrote in books the kinds of remedies for which it served. One day Solomon saw in his garden a new tree, and he asked it, "What is thy name, and what purpose dost thou serve?" The tree replied, "I serve for the destruction of the temple. Make of me a staff whereupon to lean." Solomon said, "None can destroy the temple as long as I am alive." Then he understood that the tree warned him that he must shortly die. He pulled up the tree, and of it he made a staff, and, when he prayed, he leaned upon this staff to keep himself upright.

Solomon knew that the temple was not completed, and that if he died, and the Jinns knew of it, they would leave off building; therefore he prayed, "O Lord! grant that the event of my death be hidden from the Jinns, that they may finish this temple." God heard his prayer that the temple might be completed, and that the Jinns might be humbled. Solomon died in the temple, standing, leaning on his staff, with his head bowed in adoration. And his soul was taken from him so gently by the Angel of Death, that the body remained standing; and so it remained for a whole year, and those who saw him thought he was absorbed in prayer, and they ventured not to approach.

The Jinns worked night and day till the temple was finished. Now, God had ordered, the same day that the soul left Solomon, a little white ant, which devours wood, to come up out of the earth under the staff, and gnaw the inside of the staff. She ate a little every day; and as the staff was very strong and stout, she had not finished it till the end of the year. Then, when the temple was finished, at the same time the staff was eaten up, and it crumbled under the weight of Solomon, the body fell. Thus the Jinns knew that Solomon was dead. Now, wherever the white ant eats wood, the void is filled up with clay and water by the Jinns; and this they will continue to do till the day of Resurrection, in gratitude to the little ant which announced to them the death of him who held them in bondage. If the clay and the water are not inserted by the Jinns, whence can they come?

The sages assembled and enclosed an ant in a box, with a piece of wood, for a night and a day; then they compared the amount devoured in that time with the length of the staff, and thus they ascertained how long Solomon had been dead.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for daily use and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent cannot but neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling of the Limbs of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, Clergymen, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or attained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrown Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no solid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Ointment is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Bunion, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely sure cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. S. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. CHEPETHES, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great Institute of Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S compound still has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His Hair Vigor restores to hair its original color, and produces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is almost invariably of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

Blackwood's Magazine, (Am. rep.,) for April, contains: The Maid of Sker, Part IX.; A Century of Great Poets, from 1750 Downwards; French Home Life; A True Reformer, Part II.; New Books, and The Ministers, The Parliament and The Country. $4 per year; Leonard Scott Pub. Co., 140 Fulton Street, New York.

Our Young Folks for May, contains twelve interesting articles, and its usual variety of entertaining miscellaneous matter. The department of this magazine devoted to "young contributors," whose ages range from thirteen to fifteen years, is racy.

The Phrenological Journal has the following topics worth special commendation: The Presidential Campaign—Judge Davis,—Gov. Parker; How the Faculties Combine; History of Photography in America; Expression, finely illustrated; Choosing a Servant; Robert Chambers, the distinguished Scottish Author and Publisher; Punishment and Prison Reform; Homes of Famous Americans; The Hermitage; Small Pox and Vaccination; Irrigation in Colorado; The First Chapters in Genesis, another interpretation; Tools for our Women, etc. Terms, $3 a year. S. R. Wells, New York.

The Nursery for May, published by J. L. Shorey, sustains its reputation as an organ of the youngest folks. Its articles are short, numerous, and level to the minds of children.

Arthur's Lady's Home Magazine for May, contains among its many good things a deeply interesting chapter from "Three Years in a Man-Trap," by the author of "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room," now attracting much attention as one of the most powerful and aggressive temperance stories ever written. Terms, $2 a year. T. S. Arthur & Son, Philadelphia.

The Children's Hour for May is unusually rich in its pictorial department; and as pure, good and attractive as ever in the mental food it offers to the little ones. Published by T. S. Arthur & Son, Philadelphia, at $1.25 a year.

The May number of Home and Health is to be greatly enlarged, and will be under the editorial management of Rev. Geo. G. Lyon, a gentleman of rare acquirements. In every number there will be the most entertaining and instructive reading for parents and adults, the choicest stories and anecdotes for young people and children, wit and humor for old and young, valuable information on plants, fruits and flowers, useful hints on housekeeping and cooking, and a full summary of current events transpiring in the world, together with the most varied and elaborate articles on hygiene and medicine, and numerous practical suggestions on the art of preserving the health, on the care and food of infants, and on the home treatment of all diseases and ailments. The price is to remain the same, $1.50 per annum. Address Home Publishing House, 52 Fourth Avenue, New York.

A NATIONAL PARK.—Cities must have a Common, one or more. Such a place fitted up with convenience, taste and beauty is useful for walks, relaxation from business, for celebrations etc. A Park is similar, only larger. It is a tract kept much in its natural state, for rides in its paths, hunting, etc., in its forests. London had one as early as three hundred years ago. A National Park is not common; but there is a fitness in having one, and such is contemplated in our country.

The suggestion has been made principally by Dr. F. V. Hayden, Geologist of the Government Survey. His attention has been directed to a region in the northwest part of Wyoming Territory, and he (with others) has urged Congress to set apart a place there for a National Park. The dimensions proposed are a tract of country sixty-five by fifty-five miles. This is as large as some of the New England States.

The scenery is varied, beautiful, picturesque and wonderful. In it is the Yellowstone Lake, on an elevation a mile high, with a shore 170 miles in extent. The outlet is Yellowstone River, which runs away hundreds of miles to the Missouri. There are woodlands, hills, valleys, plains and springs of water, some of the latter wonderfully large, being 300 feet in diameter. There are fishing places and hunting grounds, with game in abundance. Nature's handiwork on a glorious and magnificent scale is exhibited. A bill is now before Congress for setting this region apart for a National Park. It has already passed the Senate, and we hope it will pass the House. J. F.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, 1872.

The News.

A despatch from Secretary Delano, dated Muskagee, the 20th, states that there is much disorder in the Indian country produced by the desperate white men, who follow working parties on the railroads. He has telegraphed to the Secretary of War, requesting him to give instructions to have these men expelled.

The Emperor and Empress of Brazil and the Duke of Saxe Coburg arrived at Rio Janeiro on the morning of March 31, amid the firing of guns and ringing of bells.

Miss Ellen F. Starbuck, confidential clerk to Governors Andrew, Bullock and Claflin of Massachusetts, and the past year chief clerk in the executive department, has tendered her resignation to Governor Washburn. Miss Starbuck went into office during the administration of Governor Andrew, and during the late rebellion proved herself of great assistance. Ill health is the cause of her resignation.

The contest for a seat in the national House of Representatives from Indiana, has been decided in favor of Mr. Wilson, the sitting member.

The Carlists are making things lively in Spain, but have done nothing of importance.

The Gladstone (British) ministry is shaky, and a resignation is considered probable.

A Madrid letter gives the details of the destruction of Cotta Bato, capitol of the Island Mindano, East Indies, by a big earthquake. The place was completely ruined. Every house was destroyed, but only one boy was killed, although a great number were injured.

Charlton F. Lewis has retired from the editorial management of the New York Evening Post, and will be succeeded by Parke Godwin.

A woman named Maher, residing in Greenbush, N. Y., was struck down and had her neck broken Monday evening in attempting to stop a fight between her two sons. Joseph, the alleged matricide, has fled.

A Salt Lake despatch states that the Mormon police threaten to kill A. S. Gould, the Associated Press agent, for sending despatches, alleged to be unfavorable to the Mormons.

Marshall S. P. Laws, the Boston Post Office clerk, recently charged with stealing money from letters, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in the jail at Northampton.

Cuban advices state that Valmaseda will leave the island for Spain about the last of May. He is exceedingly unpopular with the volunteers. The report of an attack upon him and the loss of 500 men by Vincent Garcia is made. He was on his way with a strong force to the coast where he had been informed a landing of insurgents was to be made, when a fire was opened by Garcia's men in ambush. Several cart-loads of wounded were brought in after the affray.

The sum of $225 has been reimbursed to the city of Newburyport by the British government, for board and care of the disabled seamen of the British schooner Marysville, wrecked on Plum Island in December last. The money was paid into the hands of the city treasurer last week.

Rev. George Constantine, of the Amherst College class of 1859, now missionary in Greece, has lately sent to the college a monumental slab which he thinks must be one of the oldest in the country, even as old as the stone lions at Mycenæ, heretofore supposed to be the oldest.

The Boston police donned their summer hats on Monday.

The jury summoned to look into details of the death of the woman Julia Maynes, who was found dead in bed at a Boston boarding-house, on the evening of April 18, rendered a verdict "That the said Julia Maynes came to her death from suffocation which was produced by the excessive use of intoxicating liquors." After the verdict had been read, William Maynes, the brother-in-law, who had been arrested on suspicion of murder, was discharged by order of the coroner.

Navigation on the lakes is open. Two steamers left Ogdensburg on Saturday for Cleveland, Toledo and Detroit, and boats will now run daily to Chicago.

Several bids have been opened for the site of the new Cincinnati post-office, ranging from $200,000 to $500,000. No decision has been made.

Two men named Morrison were drowned in the Merrimac river near Haverhill, Mass., on Sunday, by the sinking of a boat loaded with driftwood. The oldest was aged 25 and leaves a wife and two children; the younger was 17 years of age.

A locomotive on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad exploded on Tuesday, smashing three cars and killing the engineer, fireman and a brakeman.

Steamer Ispahan, from Bombay for London, foundered in a gale off Brest, France, Feb. 13, and fifty lives were lost.

Edward Currier of Georgetown, Mass., was torn to pieces by a train on the Boston and Maine Railroad, near Newburyport, on Monday, while drunk.

State News.

Nottingham town farm was sold by auction last week, and brought about $6000.

Manchester proposes to build a $50,000 schoolhouse this season, to accommodate Grammar Schools.

Small-pox and varioloid,—three cases of each,—have appeared at Hillsborough Bridge, and one death has occurred. The Concord Patriot says the selectmen of Antrim met the Hillsborough stage at the town line on the 20th, and refused to allow the driver to enter the place.

Solomon Sawyer of Wilton was instantly killed on Monday while repairing a water wheel, which fell upon him through the hoisting gear breaking.

Capt. John M. Flanders of New Hampton had his left hand badly mangled by a circular saw, recently.

KU-KLUX.—In the United States court at Charlestown, S. C., on Saturday, Elijah R. Sapangh was convicted of conspiracy and murder, but was recommended to clemency. Six prisoners from Spartansburg pleaded guilty of conspiracy.

"THE OFFICE-HOLDERS' CONVENTION."—Information from twenty-three States regarding the condition and progress of the true Republican party, and the extent of the so-called liberal movement, received by the New York Times, shows that up to this date seventeen States have chosen delegates, 330 in number, to the Philadelphia convention. Of these States thirteen have made returns, including 272 delegates, of whom only thirteen are federal office-holders. Of these office-holders one is a customs collector, two United States marshals, three postmasters, one treasury agent, one pension agent, one district-attorney and three deputy-marshals. The largest number of these will represent Kentucky; one goes from Connecticut, two from Pensylvannia, none from Massachusetts or other New England States, excepting Connecticut. This shows how utterly groundless is the assertion repeatedly made that the Philadelphia convention will be largely composed of office-holders.

A SENSATIONAL SKULL.—A laborer in Chelsea, Mass., while engaged on Monday in removing a heap of ashes between an engine house and a dwelling house formerly occupied by Dr. H. T. Knight, unearthed a human skull, which had apparently been buried in the ashes. It was taken to the office of the city marshal, where on examination it was found that a hole had been made in it apparently by a good-sized bullet, entering the forehead just above the right eye, and coming out at the back of the head. The affair created quite a sensation, and several stories are told of persons who have mysteriously disappeared. One of these tells of a gigantic negro named Tolliver, who about fifteen years ago lived in the vicinity, and was about six feet and a half in height and very brutal in appearance. It is said that he murdered six men in California; and a shoe-maker named Stone once mysteriously disappeared, and was last seen going into Tolliver's house. Tolliver was arrested and charged with his murder, but discharged, there being no evidence against him. About two months after, Stone's headless body was found floating in the water near Meridian-street bridge. It is thought that this may be his skull.

HONORED ABROAD.—Mr. F. D. Millet, the young artist of Boston who entered the Academy of Fine Arts at Antwerp last June, has been awarded the medal of the academy at the Concours just closed, and was decorated and crowned with laurel. He stood first in seven of the nine branches in which the class was examined—the best rank that has been taken for years. The prize was taken last year by a student who was first in only one branch. Mr. Millet is the only foreigner who has ever won the medal, and his success will be a cause of congratulation to all interested in the success of American artists.

—A cow of Grass Valley, Cal., got her back up at being struck by lightning March 30th, and has been a first class substitute for a dromedary ever since.

DEEP VOLCANIC CRATER.—Far back into the history of the globe, the volcano of Pinchincha, the only one in Equador, formed for itself a chimney, funnel shaped, which is the deepest vent hole of the kind yet discovered on this earth. Its perpendicular depth is 2,500 feet, with a diameter at the bottom of 1,500 feet, expanding gradually all the way to the top, where the diameter is three quarters of a mile.

—Atlanta, Ga., boasts of a young lady who smokes ten cigarettes of an evening.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great separate recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co, 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

THE TENACITY OF TRUTH.—When a nation as clear-headed as the American once become convinced, from long experience and observation, that an article possesses superior excellence as a medicine, not all the preposterous clamor of all the worthless nostrum venders in the universe can shake their belief in its efficiency. Truth is a very tenacious thing, as these worthies are beginning to discover. PLANTATION BITTERS has too firm a hold upon the popular esteem to be in the slightest degree effected by the cold water diatribes which the advertisers of fermented slops, "without a particle of alcohol," are so fond of launching against alcoholic preparations. The public knows very well that this peerless renovant, and tonic does contain spirits, but it also knows that they are of the purest and most wholesome description, viz: fine old St. Croix, the most active and beneficial diffuser of its remedial and invigorating properties throughout the system which could possibly be adopted.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headache and terrible mental disturbances are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly an alterative and invigorant; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength disease has left it. Salivants have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antibilious aperients and blood-purifying compounds. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contain every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which it involves. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it seems almost idle to repeat the statement.

The great tonic rallies exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently recruits the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Erysipelas and all inflammatory diseases yield to a diligent use of this powerful preparation. In the foot, hand and back, their approach should be checked at once—if suppuration ensues, danger is imminent, and the knife cannot be employed with jeopardizing life. The Ointment will remove the disorder, without cutting, pain or peril. 25 cents per box or pot.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callousities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wresting away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Laconics.

Mr. E. A. Joy has just received the silver medal—a very handsome one—awarded to him for the "Domestic" sewing machine by the New Hampshire Agricultural Society at the State Fair held in 1871. Mr. Joy is an enterprising man and a thoroughly reliable dealer to trade with, having but "one face and one tongue," and the large sewing-machine trade he has secured has been fairly deserved; he has a very large stock of machines always on hand, and a look through his store-rooms would surprise those who are not aware of the extent of his business in this line.

A man and boy from Gosport were recently unloading a whale-boat load of fish at the wharf of Harding & Doane. It being low tide at the time the boat was fifteen feet below the edge of the wharf, where the boy was stationed to catch the fish on a fish-fork as the man below threw them up to him,—a feat requiring considerable skill. In his effort to reach a fish too far off, the lad lost his balance and fell headlong into the deep water outside of the boat, retaining a firm grasp of his fork; the tines were driven deep into the clay at the bottom of the river, and not liking to remain in such a damp place he let the fork remain to mark the spot, came up and was taken into the boat, wet and cold, but otherwise none the worse for the fall. If he had struck the boat the result would probably have been fatal.

Essex and Fraternity Lodges, I. O. O. F., of Salem, Mass., will arrive in this city at 7 o'clock this (Wednesday) evening. New Hampshire Lodge, No. 17, of this city, with the Portsmouth Cornet Band, will receive them at the depot and escort them to Odd Fellows' Hall; and after Lodge is closed the visitors and their hosts will adjourn to Congress Hall and have supper, which will be followed by a social dance. A special train will leave for Salem at half-past 11 o'clock, to accommodate those who do not care to wait for the Pullman express or the morning trains. Members of New Hampshire Lodge and invited guests are requested to be at Odd Fellows's Hall promptly at half-past 8 o'clock.

The very beautiful oil painting which has been on exhibition at Mr. Burleigh's store for a short time past, was disposed of by lot at that place on Tuesday evening, there being 125 chances taken at $1 each and Mr. Calvin Davis proving the fortunate holder of the winning number. After the drawing some twenty or thirty of the ticket-holders formed a triumphal procession and conveyed the picture to Mr. Davis' house, timing their steps to the dulcet notes of the mellow drum. Mr. Davis was greatly surprised, but not so much as to neglect hospitality. He is now in possession of two of Mr. T. P. Moses' fine paintings, as he also drew the one which was exhibited in Mr. Joy's store some weeks ago.

Mr. Charles F. Hatch, who has been for many years connected with the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad, and has recently taken the general management of the Eastern Railroad has been presented by the employees of the former corporation with an elegant watch and chain as a testimonial of esteem. The watch was accompanied by some diamond ear-rings for Mrs. Hatch. The value of the presents is about $2700.

Harry Bloodgood's Minstrel and Burlesque Combination will perform at the Temple on Friday evening next. Mr. Bloodgood knows how to get up a first class entertainment in his line of amusements, and will doubtless be greeted by a large audience, as usual when he performs here.

A strong force of workmen on Monday commenced clearing away the site formerly occupied by the Catholic church, and making it ready to receive the foundation of the proposed new structure.

PARDONED.—Our attention has been particularly attracted by the following item in the current news of the week: "James O'Neil, who was sent to Rhode Island State prison for life, eight years ago, was pardoned on Friday last, his counsel having proved that he was innocent of the crime." This is a puzzler to us. If Mr. O'Neil was not guilty, why did he need pardon? Was being convicted of an offence of which he was guiltless, a crime? Or was he pardoned for not having committed any crime, or for having been wrongfully imprisoned for eight years,—or what? We should think (when so many criminals go entirely unpunished) that the mental suffering, the sense of undeserved wrong and shame endured by an innocent man in a felon's cell, would be considered punishment enough for not having committed any crime, and that he might be spared the needless insult of being "pardoned" for having been wronged. We believe two young men were "pardoned" out of the Massachusetts State prison not very long ago, under similar circumstances—they had been proved innocent of the crime for which they were imprisoned. We suppose this is all right enough, if we could only see it,—but we can't. We fancy that a more just plan of liberating an innocent convict is that which we have heard of as being employed in France, (or some other unchristian country,) where, when a convict is proved to be innocent of the crime for which he was imprisoned, he is brought into open court, the evidence regularly taken and the records of the former trial stricken out; thus repairing, as far as possible, the injustice done him by a wrongful conviction. Anything like that would be out of place in this country, certainly; but we are not any the better able to tell what James O'Neil was "pardoned" for.

WHAT NEXT?—The New York correspondent of the Boston Advertiser, under the heading "the latest outrage on the drama," gives the following account of a miserable attempt to "manufacture public indignation" against one debased and degraded criminal by holding another one equally as bad up to public admiration as a generous hero. He says: "the sensational play of 'Black Friday' is an outrageous composition. Fisk, Gould, Mansfield, Daniel Drew, Stokes and other well-known characters are introduced. Fisk is depicted as a man constantly doing generous acts, while Stokes is represented as the vilest of the vile. The play closes with the assassination of Fisk by Stokes and the appearance of Mansfield wild and crazed with grief, who throws herself frantically over the dead body of her hero. The audience, which was large, showed a proper appreciation of the show by hissing the closing scene with unmistakable emphasis."

THE LOOMS OF CASHMERE rarely produce a finer shawl than one of those exhibited by Jordan, Marsh & Co., Boston. Two thousand dollars in gold will buy this garment, while a good pattern in Camel's hair may be had for $200 and upwards, or downwards.

FRUIT FARMS.—The great profit of fruit culture can be fully recognized when we consider that a quart of good strawberries will sell for as much in Philadelphia, New York, or Boston as a bushel of corn will sell for in some places of the West. A fruit farm well laid out, cultivated and attended to, is sure to be highly remunerative. Experience proves this fact. It requires no more industry or system than ordinary farming, but it does require that much. Strawberries last spring paid at the rate of from $300 to $500 an acre. Last Autumn grapes paid as much. Twice as much will be done the present season in the fruit line as last year. An increased area of orchards and vineyards will come in bearing. New ones will be extensively set out, and the culture will receive more skillful and careful attention than hetofore, on account of the profits realized from it the past several seasons.—Vineland Monthly.

—A western paper disposes of the Cincinnati movement as follows: "History repeats itself. The forthcoming Cincinnati Convention seems destined to be but a second, enlarged, and not much improved edition of an affair which, according to the Iowa papers of that date, occurred about a year ago at Cedar Rapids. At a sociable of some sort at that place, nineteen mothers accidentally met, each bearing her youngest in unconscious imitation of the well known wife of the martyred John Rogers. By and by some indiscreet individual suggested that a vote (by ballot) be taken to decide which one among the nineteen babies was the handsomest. The mothers voted, the ballots were counted, and one was found for each of the nineteen infants in the room! Each woman gave a single, solemn, silent look at her neighbor, and in five minutes every mother among them was on her way home."

—Paint versus Paper is a point on which rival house-keepers disagree. Very beautiful results can certainly be attained by paint, but the really beautiful ones are laborious and usually expensive. Kalsomine, which is a process of water-coloring, gives extremely pretty effects, and for ceilings, cornices, or any place not exposed to much rubbing and scraping, is sufficiently permanent. The process of sanding paint and painting over the sand produces a depth and richness of color only equaled by velvet paper, and far superior to that in durability.

—An Australian paper gives a very simple remedy for all forms of sore throat, and one it asserts is certainly efficacious. It is wearing a soft, old silk hankerchief next the skin and close around the neck, especially during the night. A common sore throat is said to be relieved in an hour by this application; a serious case requires a day to be cured. Such a remedy is so simple that every one may test it without danger or difficulty.

—Railway dust is, according to a recent analysis, composed chiefly of iron. No less than fifty per cent. of a quantity that collected on a newspaper was found to consist of fine particles of this metal, which were easily separated by a magnet. The rest is chiefly finely divided fragments of cinders.

Morning Chronicle.

PROFESSOR T. C. UPHAM, of Bowdoin College, Me., died in New York City some three weeks ago. The notices of his death have been many, but strange mistakes as to the place of his nativity have occurred. The Exeter News Letter says he was born in Deerfield, in this State. Wonder how it got the information? Just then, in a sermon we heard one Sabbath, it was stated that he was born in the city of Rochester. There is but one city of Rochester in the United States, we think, and that is in western New York. Many who heard were led to think him born there. The truth is, he belonged to the New Hampshire Upham family, and was a native of Rochester in this State. This town has a considerable population, but is not a city. OUI.

A HALF-TON OF FLESH.—On Monday evening Mrs. Amelia Brooks, aged fifty-one years, died at her residence, in the alley bounded by Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Wash streets and Franklin avenue. Mrs. Brooks, whose frame was but little more than medium-sized, had accumulated flesh until she weighed between 900 and 1,000 pounds. Until very recently she had been employed as nurse in the family of a barber, on Olive street, but an irresistible tendency to plethora curtailed her sphere of usefulness, and she was accordingly retired by the barber, and another nurse of less pronounced individuality engaged in her place.

Rather than see Mrs. Brooks thrown upon the cold charities of the world, the barber gave her some money and interested himself in procuring light sewing for her. With the proceeds of her work, and the kindly aid of some Sisters of Mercy, she lived very comfortably, though the limited constitution of the portals and her superabundance of adipose matter confined her to her room and to devotional exercises exclusively. For the last few weeks she has been confined to her couch, a massive piece of architectural upholstery. Monday, though to all appearances in perfect health, she manifested signs of dissolution, and died on the evening of the same day.

There was some little difficulty experienced in placing the body in its "narrow final resting place." As no coffin could be found large enough a box was built six feet long, twenty-eight inches broad and twenty-six in depth. Even this was not sufficiently wide, and it was found necessary to compress the form nine inches, but as that was the widest box that could be get into the room without tearing out the front of the house it was thought more charitable to reduce the clay than to injure the premises. Her dimensions were five feet ten inches in height, twenty-eight inches across the shoulders and thirty-seven inches across the hips. Her arms were thirty-six inches in circumference and her thigh sixteen inches in diameter.

When she had been arrayed in burial vestments it was found impossible for seven men to lift her. Finally the box was tilted on one side and she was rolled in while the priests chanted the services for the dead. She was then placed in a large wagon, which proceeded carefully to Calvary Cemetery. The wagon was backed up to the grave and eight men and six rollers combined their exertion to lower her into her narrow bed. The earth was thrown upon her and a neat tombstone erected.—St. Louis Times.

A CURE FOR BITING.—Fanny is a pretty brown horse, invaluable to her owner and his family, for she is gentle as a kitten and free as a bird. Still, good though she was, he found, soon after he bought her, that she had one fault. She would bite, without any known provocation, in the stable or out, whenever she took the whim. It was but little time, however, before he could go into her stall, and feed and groom her without danger of a grip. How did he manage it? He had never struck her a single blow. She is driven and ridden wholly without a whip. But he did just this and no more, with the exception of always treating her gently, and caring for all her wants. When he went into the stable, he took a small bar of iron from an old grate with him, and whenever she snapped, held it near enough for her to bite it, as long as she pleased. She soon concluded, like a sensible horse that she is, that it simply was not worth while. Sometimes she forgets, and tries the old trick, but the bar sets all right, and neither master or horse has any worry about it. The master is a church member, who "shows his faith by his works," and believes the Bible doctrine that "a merciful man regardeth the life" (that is, the well-being) "of his beast."—Our Dumb Animals.

NICE DRY LAND.—A while ago Mr. S. N. Pike sold an amphibious Jersey building lot to a Dutchman. The Dutchman, in turn, sold it to a brother flat-speculating Dutchman as "nice arable land." Dutchman No. 2 went to look at it, and found it covered with salt water, eels, and leaping frogs. He came back in a great fury, and sued Dutchman No. 1 for swindling him. "Did you sell this land for dry land?" asked the judge of the sharp Dutchman. "Yah! it vasch goot land," replied the Dutchman. "But was it dry land, sir?" "Yah—yah! it vasch goot try land. Ven I sold it to mine friend it vasch low tide!"

—Ithaca, New York State, has an Epiminodas street. Small boys, lisping girls and bashful people move away from it because they can't tell where they live.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1st of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 647.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are so well known and popular, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the soreest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 755 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

CHRISTIANITY IN JAPAN.—The history of Christianity in Japan is succinctly set forth in a report made to Minister De Long about a year since by one of the native attaches of the American legation. There have been three several persecutions, each connected with, and in fact originated by, politics. In the sixteenth century even the Tycoon is said to have been a Christian, and the prevalence of the faith is denoted by an architectual peculiarity observable even now in old Japanese buildings, which have a turret or spire in imitation of a church steeple, and called "Tenshu," meaning dedicated to the Heavenly Lord. "The Christain missionaries," says the native account, "seeing their growing influence over the consciences of the people, commenced to meddle with the politics of the State;" and hence persecution number one. About the middle of the seventeenth century a civil war broke out, and upon its termination the beaten party sought to renew their resistance by bringing in upon their side the people of Nagasaki, who were mostly Christains. As a punishment for this political contumacy the Christain faith was again put under ban, though at the same time the government, which was of the Sintoo belief, imposed no restriction on the antagonistic doctrine of Buddhism. The third, and present, persecution arises from the nature of the recent revolution by which the Tycoon has been deposed and all his power concentrated in the hands of his former colleague and partaker in government, the Mikado.

One prime charge against the Tycoon was that he was an enemy of the ancient faith of Japan, and to justify his profession as the peculiar champion of this faith, the Mikado is using his victory to expirate all other creeds. Like its predecessors, this persecution is based upon politics. The Christianity it assails is doubtless one more in name than substance. Of course it is not Protestant Christianity, the native Japanese Baptists or Presbyterians being easily reckoned by the fingers of one hand; and as little is it really Catholic Christianity, though so far as it is any form of the Christian faith it approximates this. The early missionaries were exclusively Catholic, and the Japanese Chistianity of which we hear is no doubt merely some legendary observances still current among the descendants of those who were really converts and Christians in the sixteenth century.

HINTS FROM THE POSTMASTER.—When you call at the office for your mail and the postmaster hands it out, ask him if that is all.

If you ask for mail and he tells you there is none, tell him there ought to be; then go home and send the rest of the family around to ask at different times through the day.

Don't bring your mail to the office till the mail closes; then curse the postmaster for not opening the mail-bag and putting your letters in. When you want a stamp on your letter, tell the postmaster to put it on; if he don't like it lick him. In case you put it on yourself soak it in your mouth long enough to remove the mucilage; it will then stick until it is dry.

Be sure to ask the postmaster to credit you for stamps; if he has any accommodation about him he will do it.

If you have a box, stand and drum on it until the postmaster hands out your mail; it makes him feel good, especially if he is waiting on somebody else.

JENNY LIND.—Once when Jenny Lind attended services at the Seamen's Bethel, in Boston, Father Taylor, who did not know that she was present, was requested, as he entered the house, to preach on amusements. The church was crowded and the pulpit and stairs were filled. The sermon opposed card-playing, dancing, theatre-going, but approved of music. The preacher paid a glowing tribute to the power of song, and to the goodness, modesty, and charity of the sweetest of all singers, "now lighted on these shores." Jenny Lind was leaning forward, and clapping her hands with delight, when a tall person rose on the pulpit stairs, and inquired whether any one who died at one of Miss Lind's concerts would go to heaven. Disgust and contempt swept across the face of Father Taylor, as he glared at the interloper. "A Christian will go to heaven wherever he dies; and a fool will be a fool wherever he is—even if he is on the pulpit steps."

—To the terrible list of casualites from dualin, nitro-glycerine, gunpowder, tomato cans, sweet potatoes, and other terrible explosives, is now to be added the terrific tale of the town clock. The Jackson, Tenn., Plaindealer informs us that "the town clock exploded yesterday morning about 5 o'clock. It seems that our friend, E. H. Kelly, ran a gas pipe into the clock to enable it to see how to do its work. This was kind, but it has proved serious. It is supposed that one burner went out, leaving the gas escaping, and both hands of the clock being in honor bound to serve the public without the loss of a single moment, could not turn it off; so the box got full of gas, took fire, and puff—all was over—the clock's as dead as a herring. Loss $150." Tempus fugit, that time, with a vengeance.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 1872.

THE COMING JUBILEE.—Great preparations are going on for the International Jubilee. The Coliseum at Boston is to be an immense affair. Mr. George Peirce, (brother of Postmaster Peirce of this city,) and Mr. Montgomery, are constructing the trusses, twenty in number. One was raised successfully last week. The trusses have been made almost at the rate of one a day, although each is nearly 500 feet in length, of semi-circular shape, weight over thirty-five tons—and though constructed almost entirely of lumber, cost over $2500 each. They contain 38,000 feet of lumber. The Coliseum is to be 550 feet in length and 350 feet wide. The truss already erected is 142 feet high and is yet unconnected with the towers and ends of the building, which are but partially completed. With such slow progress there is much doubt of the completion of the building by June 17th, notwithstanding the fact that hundreds of workmen are employed. Should this result, the managers will find that they would have done better to have awarded the construction of the whole building to Messrs. Peirce & Montgomery, who bid $8000 higher than the present contractor, and would have had the Coliseum finished by the appointed time. One of the popular pieces to be sung at the festival will be "The Last Rose of Summer;" the first verse will be sung by five thousand sopranos; second by five thousand tenors, and the third by the full chorus.

PENSIONS. — The House committee on invalid pensions has revised the laws and proposes to increase the rates of pensions, the allowance to totally disabled soldiers being advanced from $25 to $40 a month; to those incapacitated for labor, from $20 to $30; to those whose disability is equivalent to the loss of a hand or a foot, from $15 to $20; while an intermediate grade for disabilities not otherwise provided for has been added, to which $13 monthly is allowed. The list of pensioners is to be published biennially.

SLIGHTLY PERSONAL.—In the House of Representatives, on the 23d, the subject of granting the Central Pacific Railroad Company the use of one-half of Goat Island, in the harbor of San Francisco, was under discussion.

Mr. Sargent of California supported the measure, denouncing the San Francisco Alta California as a disreputable speculating newspaper, claiming that the people of California were almost unanimous in favor of the bill, and asserting that no man except the scoundrel who edited that paper had ever dared impeach his motives as to any public or private measure.

Mr. Coglan of California advocated the bill, calling the Alta a paper which could be bought cheaper and do dirtier work than any other paper in the United States. Referring to the crowd that burned himself and colleagues in effigy in San Francisco, he said they could be hired to burn our Savior for $13 for having preached the sermon on the mount, and the Alta could be hired for $14 to applaud the deed.

The News.

Foundarymen and machinists are scarce in San Francisco owing to an increased demand for mining and mill machinery. The increased production of bullion and the advance in mining stocks stimulates business of all descriptions. Stevedores, who have been receiving $3 per day in coin, are now on a strike and demand $4.

Parties at Portland, Oregon, from Sitka, Alaska, report that great excitement exists in that region on account of the discovery of rich silver mines within half a mile of the town, and of rich gold and silver mines in other places on the adjacent coasts.

The U. S. Senate has declared Ex-Senator Jas. C. Abbott, of North Carolina, not entitled to a seat, by a vote of 10 to 42. Senators Cragin and Patterson voted "yea."

The Carlist uprising in Spain seems to be growing formidable.

Utah will not be admitted as the State of Deseret at this session of Congress. Representative elect Frank Fuller has appeared before the House committee on Territories in a long argument in favor of its admission.

The Erie Railroad Company is to lay a third tract.

The growing crops of grain in California are maturing rapidly, and a great scarcity of hands to gather the crops is anticipated.

The Senate committee on commerce has agreed to report favorably on the House bill for the appointment of shipping commissioners, with a few amendments, the principal one being a restriction of the penalty of $1000 against shipping a sailor while drunk, to cases in which the sailors were drunk when they signed the articles.

In the Supreme Court at Northamton, Mass., Judge Ames presiding, a divorce case of more than ordinary interest came up, owing to the social relations of the parties, who were Dr. A. W. Thompson, a well known physician, and his wife Mrs. Boker-Thompson, the daughter of Albert J. Anderson, a retired New York merchant, residing at Newport, R. I. Her first husband was John Boker, a son of the proprietor of the "Boker Bitters," and a brother of the Mary Ann Boker who ran away with her father's coachman in New York a few years since. Obtaining a divorce from her first husband, Mrs. Boker located at Northampton, where she attracted much attention by her display of fine equipages, etc., etc. Dr. Thompson, a young widower, became infatuated with her, and they were married. She did not relish the monotonous life of her husband, and soon deserted his home for scenes of gayety. He sued for a divorce on the ground of desertion and abusive treatment, and afterward included the charge of adultery. After much show of defence, she withdrew her opposition, and the matter terminated in a hearing before Judge Ames, instead of a jury trial. The divorce was granted.

Political.

It is said that Gen. Hawley will be elected Senator by the Connecticut Republicans and that Governor Jewell of that State will go into President Grant's Cabinet next year.

William S. Robinson, the Boston correspondent of the Springfield Republican, known as "Warrington," who has been advocating the re-election of Senator Patterson and abusing Hon. E. H. Rollins, is one of the signers of a call endorsing the liberal Cincinnati convention.

State News.

Bennington has voted five per cent. of its valuation toward building the Peterborough Railroad.

The supposed suicide of Miss Jewett at Claremont is now suspected to be an elopement.

Pittsfield has thirty Marstons.

The Democratic Congressmen of this State are endeavoring to remove the terms of the U. S. Circuit and District Courts from Exeter to Manchester and Claremont.

A BIG CLOCK.—The large clock at the England Parliament House is the largest one in the world. The four dials of this clock are twenty-two feet in diameter.. Every half minute the hand moves nearly seven inches. The clock will go eight and a half days, but it only strikes for seven and a half, thus indicating any neglect in winding it up. The mere winding up of the striking apparatus takes two hours. The pendulum is fifteen feet long; the wheels are of cast iron; the hour bell is eight feet high and nine feet in diameter, weighing nearly fifty tons, and the hammer alone weighs more than four hundred pounds. The clock strikes the quarter hours, and by its strokes the short-hand reporters in the Parliament chambers regulate their labors. At every stroke a new reporter takes the place of old one, while the first retires to write out the notes that he has taken during the previous fifteen minutes.

HOW TO DECOY A PIG.—A correspondent, speaking of the difficulty of swine driving, says it as "easy as whistling, after you know how," to wit: To the end of a strong cord tie an ear of corn; drop it in front of the pig to within five or six inches of his nose, and commence walking away slowly in the direction you wish him to propel. If his pigship shows evidence of blighted hopes or aberration of mind from the singular conduct of the corn, seduce him into the belief that it is all right by letting him have a brief nibble at it, and then resume your line of march. In this way the most obdurate pig may be decoyed any reasonable distance.

—What a beautiful arrangement it would be to have the punishment of criminals equalized once for all, so that the penalties should be proportionate to the crimes they committed. Here is James H. Henry, a deputy constable of a New Orleans court, who was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for the embezzlement of forty-eight dollars in trust funds. With our system of equal and exact justice for all we should accordingly sentence the Tammany thieves to 1,249,998 years' imprisonment for stealing twenty millions. This would be equivalent to giving twenty-five thousand men nearly fifty years' imprisonment apiece.

—Some Oriental philosopher or poet, some man at any rate, who had remarkable insight into things in general, has sagely said that water spilled upon the ground cannot be gathered up. Likewise kerosene oil spilt upon the floor of a grocery store cannot be gathered up, but it may be burnt off. A man in Kentucky tried it the other day with complete success. The floor, and in fact the entire establishment went with it, but this fact does not diminish the value of the experiment from a philosophical point of view.

COMFORTABLE.—The Cincinnati Gazette says B. Gratz Brown, of Missouri, is not a rich man, but possesses some means, being worth, perhaps, $50,000 to $80,000.

BASE BALL.—Baltimores 16, Olympics 0,

Baltimores 21, Nationals 1.

—The national debt of France is $5,500,000,000, that of England $3,964,000,000, of the United States $2,350,000,000, of Austria $1,555,000,000, of Russia $1,500,000,000, of Italy $1,425,000,000, of Spain $1,185,000,000, of Germany $850,000,000, and of Turkey $520,000,000.

—Do Chaillu says that telegraphy is wonderfully cheap in Sweden.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more family lies just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a3 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Erysipelas and all inflammatory diseases yield to a diligent use of this powerful preparation. In the foot, hand and back, their approach should be checked at once—if suppuration ensues, danger is imminent, and the knife cannot be employed with jeopardizing life. The Ointment will remove the disorder, without cutting, pain or peril. 25 cents per box or pot.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headache and terrible mental disturbances are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly an alterative and invigorant; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength disease has left it. Salivants have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antibilious aseperients and blood-purifying components. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contains every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which it involves. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it seems almost idle to repeat the statement.

The great tonic rallies exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently recruits the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

May Festival.

Laconics.

Trailing arbutus.

Capt. E. G. Adams has the May number of Harper's Magazine and the other monthlies on hand.

Barnabee had a large audience at Newburyport on the evening of the 22d. His receipts at his sixth concert this season in Lynn were $960.

Messrs. Herbert and Watkins of this city have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of carrying on the retail fish business, and will soon occupy the store on Vaughan street in the rear of Capt. Thacher's drug store.

Schooner "Julia Newell" of Camden, Maine, with corn to George Tompson & Co., made the run from Sands Point, New York, to this port in thirty-three hours, and discharged her cargo, 5000 bushels, in five hours.

The Portsmouth correspondent of the Boston Times writes that paper that "a movement is on foot among some of the absent 'sons' for celebrating the 20th anniversary of the return of the 'Sons of Portsmouth' in 1853. Col. Frank W. Miller is the leading spirit in seconding the movement among our citizens, and his name has been mentioned for the office of Mayor next year, in case Mayor Walker should decline a fifth term, that the movement may take official shape."

At the April term of the S. J. Court at Exeter, the following divorces have been decreed: Margaret McIlveen vs. Samuel McIlveen, Hampton Falls; Howard for libellant. Miriam Daniels vs. Nathaniel Daniels, Nottingham; Mellows for libellant. Ellen F. Hall vs. Robert H. Hall, Portsmouth. The suit of Rev. Mr. DeLancey of Hampton to recover on an insurance policy issued by the Rockingham Farmer's Insurance Company, was decided for plaintiff. The case will be carried up on questions of law.

The Exeter Musical Society have extended an invitation to the societies in Haverhill, Dover, Portsmouth and Stratham to meet there for a grand mass rehearsal of the Jubilee music.

Messrs. Harding & Doane have sold the "Town Wharf" in Newcastle to Mr. Prescott of New York, a wealthy descendant of the old Prescott family of Newcastle, who we learn proposes to erect a fine residence there. Messrs. Harding & Doane will hereafter transact their large fishing business in this city and at the Shoals.

Two lodges of Odd Fellows from Salem, escorted by New Hampshire Lodge of this city with the Cornet Band, made a good show as they marched through the street Wednesday evening, previous to a grand supper at Congress Hall. After the supper dancing was in order, and was kept up lively till a late hour.

A May-day Festival for the benefit of the Young Peoples' Union, to take place in Congress Hall next Wednesday afternoon and evening, is advertised in another column. The Union deserves abundant encouragement, for it has done and is doing a good work.

A Somersault.

In a recent article, the acrobatic individual who edits the local organ of the office-seekers speaks as follows:—

Our neighbors out in Seabrook are a very eccentric people. They have curious "goings on," some of which have in times past been mentioned in these columns. We get an insight into their peculiar practices when delegations of Seabrookers come up before our police court, and within the last ten months we have heard from them quite often.

He then gives an account of a disturbance created in the Advent church at Seabrook by one Wm. Thomas Felch, who swore at the preacher and congregation and undertook to drive all hands from the church with a club and a piece of hoop iron,—and closes his article as follows:

This Felch and others have been in the habit of attending the church in Seabrook presided over by Rev. Mr. Rand. They sometimes interrupt the meetings by trying to get up a discussion with Mr. Rand, and have often induced him to bandy words with them while he stood in the pulpit. This was fun for the boys. Then they would pull out their bottles and take a drink all round to the health of the pastor. Several times their bottles have been taken from them and hung up on the walls of the church. Seabrookers are peculiar, but we cannot detail all their eccentricities. The particulars might be interesting, but some of them would hardly do for these columns.

We confess to having been a little surprised on reading the article above referred to, having a distinct remembrance of being called a slanderer and a getter-up of false and malicious libels many times by the same copperhead editor, for speaking of the people—not of the whole town of Seabrook but of its worst portion, Byfield, in far less condemnatory terms than he now uses. On one occasion he observed, with that total absence of egotism which is so marked a feature of his character, that "We thought we had disposed of the cruel slanders upon the people of Seabrook, but our cotemporaries in this city have been repeating them and the people of that much-abused town request us to reiterate the facts which prove how Rev. Mr. Rand and his friends have misrepresented the condition of that people;" and the following statement concerning South Seabrook, made by a writer whom the Democratic editor styled "this well informed gentleman," he fully endorsed and held up as a proof that the CHRONICLE was false and "slanderous" to the last degree:

The same number of neat and comfortable houses, I venture to say, could not be found in the State within the same distance, outside of the large towns, and none occupied by a better or more respectable class of people.

There seems to be a discrepancy between his last year's statement that there is no "better or more respectable class of people" in the State than the South Seabrookers, and his recent account of the way in which the said very respectable class of people conduct themselves; but we think we can explain the seeming mystery. Of the voters in "Byfield," (about 160 in number, we believe,) all but about twenty regularly vote the Democratic ticket, which is amply sufficient reason for a Democratic editor to shout "liar" and "slanderer" at any one who should criticise them unfavorably in any way; but as they failed at the last election to carry the town for Bingham, Sinclair, Gove & Co., they cannot expect their editorial champion to be such a "swift witness" in their defence as formerly. If this explanation is incorrect, we must conclude that he is now trying to tell the truth by way of a change, and that his former statements were merely given as a specimen of his ability to decide authoritatively on all subjects on which he is totally ignorant.

—The story is told that once upon a time Commodore Green of Savannah, Ga., extended the hospitality of his palatial mansion to the delegates of an agricultural convention. As one of the members was aimlessly wandering about, staring at the numerous statues which adorn the house, Mr. Green, who was, it seems, everywhere and with everybody, tapped him on the shoulder and said: "Ah! Mr. ———, I see you are an admirer of the beautiful. Would you not like to inspect some of the fine arts?" "Well," said the delegate, as he deposited a well-masticated Virginia weed outside the window, "I don't care if I do, as I am a little dry."

—Prince Bismarck is averse to giving his autograph, but Mr. Beecher, his Secretary, engaged to procure it for Count Enzenberg, the new German Ambassador to Mexico, a great autograph hunter. The Prince inscribed his name on the page graved already by the autographs of MM. Guizot and Thiers. M. Guizot had written, "In my long life I have learned two principles: To forgive much, and never forget." M. Thiers had added, "A little forgetfulness does not hurt the sincerity of the pardon." Prince Bismarck improved the sentiment by writing, "I have learned to forget much and to have much forgiven me."

—These scientific men sometimes reach a very philosophical state of mind in which they are pleased with the queerest trifles. See how easily satisfied Professer Agassiz is! He says: "I am satisfied since I have examined the tomocaris peircei, that trilobites are not any more closely related to the phyllopods than to any other entromostraceæ or to the isopods." That would hardly satisfy an ordinary mortal.

—A Scotch law lord was seated one day on the hill side of Bonally with a Scotch shepherd, and observing the sheep reposing in what he thought the coldest situation, he observed to him, "John, if I were a sheep, I would lie on the other side of the hill." The shepherd answered, "Ay, my lord, but if ye had been a sheep ye wad have had mair sense."

—Janesville (Wis.) girls go to the opera house and insist upon sitting on the railing and hanging their feet over. One man in the parquette had a narrow escape from being crushed to atoms the other night, by one of the young ladies dropping her shoes upon him.

—Charcoal, if taken into the stomach in a fresh condition, tends to correct acidity, and vitalize and invigorate.

Morning Chronicle.

OLD TIME CHRONICLES, No. 50.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Quakers Publicly Whipped in New Hampshire.—It was so: it may seem incredible, at least very strange, but Quakers were persecuted and in one instance whipped by order of the Court, in order to prevent them from increase or maintaining their sentiments.

George Fox of England is considered the founder of the sect called Quakers. He was a man of great purity of life, and at the age of 19 professed to receive a divine command to forsake all and dedicate himself to the service of religion. Five years later he began to proclaim his doctrines in Manchester, England; this was in 1648. He gained followers, especially at Derby. They after a time took the name Friends, but opposers called them Quakers, from a nervous quaking among them when they spake in their meetings.

William Penn, with other Quakers, founded Philadelphia in 1682. Quakers came to Massachusetts early; the first that came to New Hampshire arrived at Dover in 1662. In 1641 New Hampshire was put under the jurisdiction of Massachusetts. In 1656, and soon after, laws were enacted against the Quakers, by which they were imprisoned, banished, or whipped, and in the case of two of them in that colony, publicly executed.

During that union of New Hampshire with Massachusetts, in what is now our State there were Quakers only in Dover. They built them a house of worship and promised to be a considerable Society, although then the active ones were but a few. The law was against them and the magistrates felt obliged to execute it. Probably they were willing to do so. In fact the people of Dover petitioned the authorities for (as they said) "relieve against the spreading of the wicked errors of the Quakers among them." At once Capt. Richard Waldern, (so it was written, but it was Waldron,) afterwards killed by the Indians, was "impowred" to act in the execution of the laws. He issued authority, dated Dec. 22, 1662, to the constables in Dover, Hampton, Salisbury and eight other towns further on to Boston and Dedham, to take these vagabond Quakers, Anna Colman, Mary Tomkins and Alice Ambrose and make them fast to the cart's tail, and drawing it through their several towns, whip them on their naked backs not exceeding ten stripes apiece on each of them in each town. Waldron's order closed thus: "As you shall answer it at your peril, and this shall be your warrant."

The law authorized the impressment of oxen and carts for use in this service. By this or some other means they were speedily obtained, and on a day in the latter part of December, 1662, the three women named in the warrant were fastened to the tail of the cart and the sentence of the magistrates began to be carried into execution. What a dark day was that in the calendar of our history! Would that it could be blotted out forever. Tender females publicly exposed and whipped on their naked backs for their conscientious religious opinions and faith. But with undaunted Christian heroism they were calm. Amid suffering, scorn and derision the loveliness of innocence shone out still, and as will be seen a little later, touched one very stout and hard heart.

All being ready the constable of Dover applied the lash. A few Quaker friends in Dover were near, and probably thought of the words of the great teacher, "Blessed are they who are persecuted for righteousness' sake." The team was driven on to Hampton, about fifteen miles. What are now towns between Dover and Hampton were not incorporated then. Is Hampton (probably where now is the business center) the constable applied the whip to these women. Hampton was then but 24 years old, and Rev. Seaborn Cotton, a good scholar and able preacher, was pastor of the church. The rustic inhabitants let whipping in their midst pass without special notice. It was past midday, and coarse refreshments might have been served here. The weather was cold. There was snow, mingled with dirt ankle deep. The females may have been allowed to ride in the cart except where they were tied to its tail and whipped. Otherwise it seems they must have become incapable of proceeding.

Some eight miles further on Salisbury was reached, and they were whipped the third time. But now one appeared for their relief. Walter Barefoot of Newcastle was on hand and proposed to take them to the next town (Newbury) to be whipped, instead of which he sent them forward beyond the jurisdiction of the Province and so they were whipped no more.

The Friends' religious faith was not whipped out of these who thus suffered, nor did others in Dover fear. The society grew and all through the years since, two hundred and ten in all, has been the largest and most influential of any of that sect in New Hampshire.

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, healing humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS, Much has been said and much written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so entirely successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases. Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most excruciating Callosities on the ties or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By ceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching Piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodial and Hygienic Institute, 889 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, have attained extensive celebrity. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its numbers. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the trifling cost it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won golden fame for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

The Chronicle.

ON RAISING CORN.—It will be great for our farming interests, when each farmer shall know the best use to which his farm, or its varying portions, may be put. After much conversation with many farmers, and calling to aid my own experience, I came to the conclusion that, in this State, we produce about one and one-third millions of corn annually, and buy another million bushels, and we pay about $1.25 per bushel, or one and a half quarter millions of dollars for the million bushels bought, and that the one and a third millions bushels raised costs no more than the one million bought. I make this as a rough estimate for the last few years, yet have taken considerable care in making it. My conclusion is decidedly in favor of producing our own corn.

Some one has said that when scientific and practical men disagree theory is usually at fault and the practical men right, but in regard to corn growing the scientific Nichols and our practical farmers are on the same side of the question. Last year was hard for corn raisers, because labor was both scarce and high, and the season unpropitious, yet I inquired of many of New Hampshire's most careful farmers, and especially of those who keep accounts, whose judgment and figures, even last year, did not make the growing corn cost over seventy-five or eighty cents to the bushel.

Col. Clough of Canterbury, and J. B. Walker, Esq., of Concord, who keep most careful accounts of all costs, estimate the cost at from seventy-five to eighty cents per bushel, and both consider their corn crop profitable. A lawyer-like appearing young man was declaring the crop unprofitable, when came along the Colonel, and declared that he knew by more than forty years' experience that corn growing was profitable; that he had, so far as property was concerned, been more successful than any of the twenty young men of his school district with whom he started in life, most of whom went into other pursuits, while he remained a farmer; and that he should clear three-hundred dollars upon his last corn crop.

Our theory is to grow grass upon grass land, and corn upon corn land. He who devotes his stiff, moist, clay soils to corn, and his sandy, dry soil to grass shows just the wisdom of those who would keep natural born poets to work on mathematics, and send Prof. Pierce to writing poetry. Different gifts by the same spirit says St. Paul. A gentleman informs me that two brothers live in Vermont, living together, have made corn growing a specialty, and have accumulated about one hundred thousand dollars by it.

Experience, observation and much inquiry convinced me that the cost of raising wheat in Iowa and corn in New Hampshire is so near the same by the bushel, that I cannot say which costs the most; while we all know that corn sells much higher here than does wheat there. Wheat costing from seventy-five to eighty cents to raise in Iowa, two years ago, was worth about fifty or sixty cents when harvested; while corn costing the same in New Hampshire, was worth about $1.25. I speak from experience on these two crops in New Hampshire and Iowa. And I believe upon her corn lands our State ought to raise a million more bushels of corn by the year, and realize a net profit of at least $300,000 upon the increase. I presume that it costs less labor now to make five pounds of raw cotton into cloth, than it formerly cost to get the seed out of one pound, and in corn growing our best farmers have made many improvements in the same time.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Sunday afternoon Mr. Harry Hyde ventured to go out in a flatboat, to secure some logs, which came into the canal running through the Water Power grounds from the river. On account of the high water the current there is very rapid, and in spite of his utmost exertions, Hyde was carried down the canal, and over a high fall, near Currier's shop. In going over, this a log struck his boat, breaking a large hole in its bottom. Fortunately just below the fall there is a bridge across the canal, and by dint of hard struggling Hyde grasped one of the stringers of the bridge and pulled himself up. It was a narrow escape from terrible death, for just below the bridge there is a large fall, and if he had been carried any further by the violent current, no mortal power could have saved him.—Biddeford Democrat.

—Joe Jefferson, the actor, has a plantation about fourteen miles from New Iberia, which he uses as a winter gunning and fishing retreat. Joe owns a whole island, called Orange Grove, but he plants only enough to keep those in his employ. The waters abound in fish and oysters, and wild geese and ducks swarm the bayous.

Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1872.

Political.

This is the way they figure up the thirty anti-Grant Senators:

Trumbull, Sumner and Schurz	3
Tipton	0
Total	30

The Democratic National Convention will probably meet at St. Louis, July 4th.

Senator Ransom of North Carolina was admitted to a seat in the U. S. Senate on the 24th, and for the first time since 1861 every State was represented and every seat filled.

A Democratic exchange refers to the Liberal Republican movement as a "crack in the ice-berg." If the Democratic canoe gets caught in that "crack," there'll be no more canoe.

The Boston Times says—"Rotation in office is a political necessity, the neglect to recognize which, in its relation to the United States Senatorship, would be fatal to the integrity of New Hampshire Republicanism."

Hon. Charles Francis Adams has written a letter concerning himself and the Cincinnati convention. He declares that he does not want the nomination for the Presidency, but says that his acceptance all depends upon the manner in which such a nomination is made. A semi-official statement is also made to the effect that if he is nominated at Cincinnati the democrats will not indorse him, but will put forward another candidate.

HALL'S ARCTIC EXPEDITION.—News received from the Arctic expedition under Captain Hall to March 1. The Polaris had been two days at Disco, Greenland, undergoing repairs and procuring a fresh supply of provisions. On the afternoon of February 3, she encountered very heavy weather and by repeated collisions with what Captain Hall termed "icy snags" sprung a leak so that she was obliged to bear up for Disco. The men and even the officers and professional attaches of the expedition sustained an unremitting working of the pumps until the harbor was reached, and then the hold was so water-logged and the men so exhausted that Captain Hall announced that another day at sea would have made them abandon the vessel. It was necessary to throw over a large quantity of provisions.

Several strange discoveries had been made, which led to the conviction that in the extreme and undiscovered North there is at times a genial atmosphere and open seas. Plants were detected in the ice which are indigenous to southern climes, and the examination of a floating stick of wood found on Saturday, January 14, proved it to be a limb of some hugh birch. Throughout the whole month of January very little ice was seen, and each night all sides glittered with meteors of the most gorgeous description, which flashed so brightly and wildly across the firmament as to dazzle the strongest eyesight.

The most important clue to the existence of a polar passage is the fact that the crew of the Polaris had seen, followed and killed a whale having in one of its fins a harpoon similar to those used in the south Pacific, and this happened in a region where, as Captain Hall says, "the sail of an American or European vessel had never been given to the wind before." In May Captain Hall hopes to make a clear passage to the undiscovered pole, and learn information concerning that region about which so much has been conjectured, and for which so many noble lives have been sacrificed.

Captain Hall asserts that if there be any habitable land in the vicinity of the north pole, it will be a ne plus ultra of salubrious climates, and his only fear is that he and his men may have to encounter before landing a new and formidable race of human beings.

After the Polaris had been thoroughly caulked and prepared for sea, which it was thought would be about Wednesday, the 6th of March last, she was to start upon the original course, and the captain proposed to carry an abundance of coal, so that he may make all possible headway during this available season. Captain Hall expects to be at home in September.

THE NEW BOUNTY BILL.—The President has signed the bill in relation to bounties. It provides that each volunteer non-commissioned officer, private, musician and artificer, who enlisted in military service of the United States prior to July 22, 1861, under the proclamation of the United States of May 3, 1861, and orders of the War department issued in pursuance thereof, and actually mustered before August 6, 1861, into any regiment, company or battery accepted by the War department under such proclamation and orders, shall be paid a full bounty of $100 under and by virtue of said proclamation and orders of the War department, in force at the time of such enlistment, and prior to July 22, 1871, provided that the same has not already been paid.

IRON SHIP-BUILDING.—The Senate committee has agreed to an important amendment to the naval appropriation bill, which receiving the approval of the Secretary of the Navy, will be reported with the bill. It virtually adopts the International Steamship Company's scheme for the construction of iron shipbuilding yards, the government advancing capital for that purpose, with the proviso that the Secretaries of War, Navy and the Treasury shall constitute a commission who shall first be satisfied that the security is ample before government aid is loaned to the enterprise.

SPAIN.—A state of siege is declared in the provinces of Navarre, Lerida and Biscay, and one account says that insurgents harass the government troops by marches and ambuscades, and another that they are retreating and closely pursued. The defeat of one band and the capture of thirty of its members is reported. General Cathelineau is in Paris, and refuses to join the movement. The latest accounts say that there are ten thousand insurgents in the field and predict a severe struggle. The French government will arrest all Carlists found on its soil.

TROUBLES OF NEWSPAPERS.—The Richmond (Va.) Christian Advocate, commenting on the newspaper business, publishes the following interesting article on the subject, which may be read with profit by others than those engaged in the arduous pursuit of publishing a newspaper:

"There are two great troubles about a newspaper—one grows out of the effort to make it live, and the other out of the effort to please everybody. The first trouble may be overcome, the second never. Every newspaper man in the world has an ideal, as he calls it—perhaps he means idol—and is always trying to reach it, and never does, which is very strange. Some people believe that there is a fortune in every newspaper in the whole world, from Nova Zembla to Victoria Land. These people are very honest, very sincere, and very innocent in this belief. If they had to try the harness on, and work it awhile, they would soon sing another tune. Note what follows: The Christian Standard, of Cincinnati, states that although its affairs are conducted with the strictest economy, and its subscribers number 12,000, it has thus far cost $20,000 more than its income. It says that The Advance, of Chicago, with a still larger subscription list, sunk about $75,000 in four years, and had not become self-sustaining when the late fire occurred; that The Interior, in less than two years, had used up a capital of nearly $50,000; and that The Standard, of Chicago, with 15,000 subscribers, was not self-sustained. But all these papers learn a lesson, and that is that credit is the death of newspapers. Hence, if you take these papers, they will let you run to the day you pay up to, and then drop you like a hot potatoe; that is, unless you renew. Cash is their life. Go to the New York Herald office—that magnificent establishment grew out of a Wall Street cellar. Do you wish to take the Herald? Down with your money. Do you wish to advertise at a dollar a line? Hand your advertisement and your money in through that pigeon-hole, take back your receipt and be gone. When the National Intelligencer suspended, there was due upon its books $400,000."

PLEASURE-TRAVELLING IN CALIFORNIA.—Certainly in no part of the continent is pleasure travelling so exquisite and unalloyed a pleasure as in California. Not only are the sights grand, wonderful, and surprising in the highest degree, but the climate is exhilarating and favorable to an active life; the weather is so certain that you need not lose a day, and may lay out your whole tour in the State without reference to rainy days, unless it is the rainy season; the roads are surprisingly good, the country inns are clean, the beds good, the food is abundant and almost always well cooked, and the charges moderate; and the journey by rail from New York to San Francisco, which costs no more than the steamer fare to London, and is shorter than a voyage across the Atlantic, is in itself delightful as well as instructive. Probably twenty Americans go to Europe for one who goes to California; yet no American who has not seen the plains, the Rocky Mountains, the Great Salt Lake, and the wonders of California, can honestly say that he has seen his own country, or that he even has an idea of its greatness.—CHARLES NORDHOFF, in Harpers Magazine for May.

—A young student who fled to Utica from Hamilton college, on account of the prevalence of the small pox, soon became dead broke, and was heard to mutter, as he walked down Genessee street: "Yes, that's it; I'll go back to college, telegraph home that I've got the small pox and want $75 to pay the doctor's bill. That's my game."

—A Missouri farmer attempted to smoke out a rabbit and burnt up half a mile of fence and over a hundred apple trees. He caught the rabbit.

The House of Representatives has ordered 21,000 copies of the American case in the Alabama claims to be printed.

Mrs. Wharton, the alleged Baltimore murderess, is in very critical health, and her second trial will be postponed until October.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Erysipelas and all inflammatory diseases yield to a dilligent use of this powerful preparation. In the foot, hand and back, their approach should be checked at once—if suppuration ensues, danger is imminent, and the knife cannot be employed with jeopardizing life. The Ointment will remove the disorder, without cutting, pain or peril. 25 cents per box or pot.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

$1000 REWARD is offered by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of Bronchitis, severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headache and terrible mental disturbances are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly an alterative and invigorant; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength disease has left it. Salivants have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antibilious aseperients and blood-purifying components. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contain every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which involve it. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it seems almost idle to repeat the statement.

The great tonic rallies exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently recruits the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

THE TENACITY OF TRUTH.—When a nation as clear-headed as the Americans once become convinced, from long experience and observation, that an article possesses superior excellence as a medicine, not all the preposterous clamor of all the worthless nostrum venders in the universe can shake their belief in its efficiency. Truth is a very tenacious thing, as these worthless are beginning to discover. PLANTATION BITTERS has too firm a hold upon the popular esteem to be in the slightest degree effected by the cold water diatribes which the advertisers of fermented slops, "without a particle of alcohol," are so fond of launching against alcoholic preparations. The public knows very well that this peerless renovant, and tonic does contain spirits, but it also knows that they are of the purest and most wholesome description, viz: fine old St. Croix, the most active and beneficial diffuser of its remedial and invigorating properties throughout the system which could possibly be adopted.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Elopement Frustrated.

Parents who leave their daughters unguarded or allow them to be out on the streets in the evening without proper escort, little realize the temptations offered them by designing villains. We give a case in point, as it is told us, suppressing names for the sake of the respectable families with which the principal parties concerned are connected. It seems that a married man doing business in Portsmouth, became enamored of a good-looking young lady who was employed in a store, several weeks since. Becoming acquainted with her, he finally prevailed on her to elope with him, and both parties made preparations to go West. The man sold his business and sent his wife and child to Strafford county, saying that he was going into business at the West and would send for them after he was well established. Preparations for the departure of the guilty couple were nearly completed, when the mother of the young woman opportunely heard that her daughter was behaving strangely, and came to this city to ascertain the truth or falsity of the stories circulated. She kept close watch on the daughter for a week and found all the accusations true.

At the commencement of the week when the loving couple had arranged to meet in Boston, the man left here. Just then the mother of the girl induced her to accompany her home, a few miles distant, to "spend a week," after much persuasion and considerable resistance. Arrived there the mother informed the daughter of her intention to keep her from further communication with the scoundrel who would ruin her, and the father and brother were acquainted with the facts. Since then the unfortunate girl's movement have been closely watched, and it is said that all her dresses are removed from her room after she retires.

It was naturally supposed that the scamp who had deserted his wife and child would endeavor to correspond with the captive, and the mails were closely scrutinized. In the meantime the injured wife had returned to Portsmouth, and hearing of the scandal went to the home of the one who had supplanted her in her husband's affections, for the purpose of relieving her mind of its pent up indignation. It also happened that the villainous husband wrote a letter to his captive beloved, and appointed the 25d inst. for her to meet him in Boston.

The indignant wife and the letter arrived at the residence of the girl about the same time. The wife immediately recognized the hand writing and perused the letter with feelings that only those placed in a similar condition can imagine. Her love gave way to anger, and she resolved to pursue the matter until both parties in the great wrong should be punished. Procuring a specimen of the girl's penmanship, she answered her husband's letter by proxy, agreeing in behalf of the destroyer of her happiness to meet him at the appointed time. The plucky little woman was seconded by the mother and both departed for Boston, where they engaged a detective and were to meet the unfaithful husband last Tuesday. The result we have not ascertained. The girl who was not allowed to elope is represented as being very obdurate, but has not yet eluded the vigilance of her watchful relatives. The occurrence may show to fathers and mothers the great need of having a watchful care over their children, who may go astray even after arriving at an age when common sense is presumed to hold sway. There are scores of girls who frequent our thoroughfares day after day and night after night, whose fathers and mothers have little fear of the consequences. As surely as the time passes do their steps tend towards ruin and remorse, and that many of them may learn of the great danger attendant on their actions we have published the foregoing sad story.

Stone Work.

We recently looked over the extensive Marble and Stone Works of Mr. John S. Treat, and propose to give a few notes concerning what we saw of his large and growing business.

At the Marble Works, corner of Vaughan and Hanover Streets, we found sixty-seven tablets, monuments and headstones, finished and ready to be put in place as soon as the frost is entirely out of the ground. These tablets and headstones are for Conway, Dover, Great Falls, Salmon Falls, Berwick, Me., Amesbury and Haverhill, Mass., Boston and other places. Among them we noticed tablets for Mr. John Fay of Dover and his wife, who died in 1871, Mr. Fay being aged 103 years and his wife 87; and a tablet with hand, inscribed with the name of Dr. Loammi B. Dame of Conway, formerly of this city.

At the Granite Works on Green Street is a large amount of stone ready to go out as soon as the ground is settled. One lot of granite, comprising a number of heavy pieces, is to surround the burial lot of Messrs. Job Souther and E. B. Spinney of South Boston, in Mount Hope cemetery. The gateposts are very heavy, square, with ornamental tops, and surmounted by very large octagonal urns; the fence-stones correspond as to weight and finish, and the border for a flower-garden at the front of the lot is similar to that of Mr. S. S. Frye's in the South Cemetery, but more ornamental. Another order filled by Mr. Treat is from Mr. E. W. Weeks of Boston, for a somewhat similar but less elaborately finished burial-lot fence to be put up in Forest Hills cemetery, and three others are waiting to be taken to Amesbury, Mass.; and the buttresses, fence-stones, steps and underpinning for the house of Mr. True M. Ball are ready to leave the yard.

Mr. Treat employs eight marble workers and twelve stone cutters, and runs a blacksmith shop for sharpening and repairing the tools used; he has also nearly completed fitting up two tenements for the accommodation of the workmen, and proposes to fit up two more the coming Autumn; this success in building up a large and extended business shows that energy and enterprise can get along and do well without emigrating from Portsmouth.

Laconics.

The wickedest man in town last week, was an individual who actually grumbled because it was raining. He don't deserve any peas.

Mr. C. Dwight Hanscom owns a horse that frequently shows his sagacity. Recently, the intelligent animal saw a runaway fellow quadruped sheering towards him as he stood unhitched in front of the store of Betton & Co. To avoid a collision the Hanscom horse gave a jump, turned short and ran across the street and stopped, allowing the runaway to pass.

We regret to learn that Mr. Charles W. Sbannon had his right hand badly lacerated while at work at the Navy Yard a few days since. He will recover its use.

Thanks to Charles Main, Esq., for late San Francisco papers.

The only names we have thus far heard in connection with the election of delegates to the Philadelphia Republican convention are those of Hon. Marcellus Bufford of this city and Col. Daniel Hall of Dover.

Our neighbor, the Journal, looks nice in its bran new suit. Long may it wave!

A meeting of the Board of Trade is called for this (Friday) evening at the Common Council room, for election of officers.

Harry Bloodgood's Minstrel and burlesque entertainment comes off at the Temple this evening. See adv't.

The Sheriff of York County is rigidly enforcing the liquor law in Kittery.

It is said that Rev. Robert Collyer of Chicago will preach in the Unitarian church in this city next week, on "The Gospel for the multitude." If true, this will give people a chance to listen to some rare eloquence and to aid one of the burnt-out societies of Chicago in rebuilding their church.

The official returns of the vote for county officers are as follows: Register of Deeds—Whole number, 11,402; Scattering, 3; Wm. H. Belknap, 5051; Geo. W. Weston, 5748. County Treasurer—Whole number, 11,400; Scattering, 40; Wm. W. Wilder, 5,184; W. Norris Dow, 6176. County Commissioner—Whole number, 11,384; Scattering, 4; Lorenzo Frost, 5,252; Frank W. Miller, 6128.

ACCIDENT AT SOUTH BERWICK.—Moses Hanscom, a carpenter, was seriously injured on Fast Day, in consequence of a shaft weighing 700 pounds falling upon him from a stage in the Portsmouth Manufacturing Company's Mills. The size of the pulley upon the shaft alone saved him from instant death. He is now doing well.—Bid. Dem.

—The keeper of an oyster saloon in the Nineteenth Ward, New York, set out a placard inscribed, "No profane language allowed." He said he did so to draw the clergy, but has succeeded only in keeping out the other kind of people.

—A woman applied to a magistate for a warrant against a neighbor, saying, "she called me a thief, your honor. Can't I make her prove it?" "Perhaps you can," quietly replied the magistrate, but if I were you, I wouldn't."

—Out of 1870 boilers examined in Hartford last year, 271 were found to be dangerously defective.

Morning Chronicle.

NEWSPAPERS.—Some people estimate the ability of a newspaper and the talent of the editor by the quantity of original matter the publication contains. The Literary Journal truthfully says:—"It is comparatively an easy task for a frothy writer to pour out daily columns of words—words upon any and all subjects. His ideas may flow in one weak, washy everlasting flood, and the command of his language may enable him to string them together like bunches of onions, and yet his paper may be a meagre and poor concern. Indeed, the mere writing part of editing a paper is but a small portion of the work. The care, the time employed in selecting, is far more important, and the tact of a good editor is better shown by his selections than anything else; and that, we all know, is half the battle. But, as we have said, an editor ought to be estimated and his labor understood and appreciated by the general conduct of his paper; its tone, its uniform consistent course, its aims, its manliness, its dignity and its propriety. To preserve these as they should be preserved is enough to occupy fully the time and attention of any man. If to this be added the general supervision of the newspaper establishment which most editors have to encounter, the wonder is how they can find time to write at all."

LAWYERS.—The lawyers are a picked lot, "first scholars," and the like, but their business is as unsympathetic as Jack Ketch's; there is nothing humanizing in their relations with their fellow creatures. They go for the side that retains them. They defend the man they know to be a rogue, and not very rarely throw suspicion on the man they know to be innocent. Mind you, I am not finding fault with them; every side of a case has a right to the best statement it admits of; but I say it does not tend to make them sympathetic. Suppose in a case of Fever vs. Patient, the doctor should side with either party according to whether the old miser or his expectant heir was his employer. Suppose the minister should side with the Lord or the Devil, according to the salary offered and the other incidental advantages, where the soul of a sinner was in question. You can see what a piece of work it would make of their sympathies. But the lawyers are quicker witted than either of the other professions, and abler men generally. They are good-natured, or, if they quarrel, their quarrels are above board. I don't think they are as accomplished as the ministers, but they have a way of cramming with special knowledge for a case which leaves a certain shallow sediment of intelligence in their memories about a good many things. They are apt to talk law in mixed company and they have a way of looking round when they make a point, as if they were addressing a jury. This is mighty aggravating, as I once had occasion to see when one of 'em and a pretty famous one, put me on the witness stand at a dinner-party once.—O. W. Holmes in May Atlantic.

STRENGTH OF GIBRALTAR.—Until you set foot on Gibraltar, you can form no idea of its impregnability.—Very properly its real strength cannot be seen from a ship in the bay; only when you land do you find that the sea wall bristles with heavy guns, and groans beneath piles of ball; only as you traverse its flank do you see how formidable breech loaders peep from every available chink and powerful mortars lurk behind every convenient embankment. And not till you penetrate the rock do you get any just notion of the marvellous piece of military engineering exhibited in its "galleries." These are tunnels excavated from the solid rock, parallel to its outer side, but some thirty feet therefrom, and large enough to drive a carriage through. They are in two tiers and comprise a total length of nearly three miles. At every thirty feet or so along them spacious embrasures are outhewn, that terminate in commanding portholes, which look to a spectator outside the rock like swallow's nestholes in a sand cliff. These embrasures contain heavy guns always standing ready for action, with powder magazine hard by. From the portholes a beautiful peep of the bay and the Spanish continent are obtained; out of these on the north side, you look down upon a half-sandy, half grassy flat, perhaps half a mile long, and as wide, connecting the rock with the main land, and separating the bay from the Mediterranean. Two lines of sentry-boxes, one at the rock end, the other at the distant end, mark the boundaries of British and Spanish land, and between these lines is the "neutral ground." The guns of the quarried embrasures and those hidden cannon that stud the western and southern slopes of the rock, cover the neighboring Spanish land, the whole of the bay and the straits; and the strengthening work is ever going on by the fortification of new points that from time to time appear vulnerable. The eastern side of the rock requires no protection; it is a forbidden wall, with a great sand slope in one place, but with no foothold for anything more than a few fisherman's hots near the water's edge.—St. James Magazine.

—Sacred concerts are now given in the Bowery Theatre. Peanuts are not prohibited.

—Mr. Tyler was upset on the Mississippi and nearly drowned. Tip a canoe and Tyler too.

—The cause of the recent explosion of the Mississippi steamer Oceanus was her striking on a bar.

—The regulation of the "social evil" in St. Louis has resulted in the diminution of the number of unfortunate women, and a revenue of $40,000 to the city during the past year.

The Singer SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Falling to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $231.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6.7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of that dire lung disease; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the agonizing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the most inveterate Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Bunion Preventive relieves and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely certain cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc. skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

The Chronicle.

HOW THE WEST IS PEOPLED.—Few of the great movements of the present age are better illustrative of the "power of the Press" than the wonderful peopling of the Western portion of our great continent, especially those regions which lay beyond the Mississippi River.

Step by step the course of civilization and settlement advanced toward the Mississippi; but for a considerable time this seemed to be a barrier to further progress. A few, however, hardy adventurers, crossed from time to time; some to remain, others to return and tell their stories, too large almost for comprehension or belief.

To most of us, all beyond was a wilderness, the "Great American Desert" then, but now it proves to be "the Garden of the West," which literally "blossome like the rose."

The census returns of the United States show that there were never in the history of the world, such marvels of rise and progress as are exhibited in the plain facts there shown concerning some of the recent towns and cities of this region, which have grown up as it were in a night, almost like that magic city of the Arabian story.

Those vast expanses of land, for centuries the hunting grounds of the Indians and the home of the buffalo, have been in a few months brought completely under the dominion of civilization and made valuable for the benefit of the entire human race.

And how has this come to pass? Those wonderful men, editors, reporters, travelers and newspaper correspondents, who see and hear of everything, who make a note of things and print them, too, have filled the land with pleasing narratives of the West in all its natural greatness.

First of all, its agricultural attractions are prominent, and thoughtful farmers at the East, who have struggled long on a few acres, with three, four, or perhaps six boys to follow them, seeing small prospect of profit, or even a living for half them, have looked with eager eyes to these larger fields and this "better land;" one and another have gone forward, found their anticipations more than realized, have written home the story of their experience, and young America has followed in their steps and so the pioneers of this great work have gone.

Shrewd business men who read the papers, were quick to see the chances for business in all its variety and extent which were sure to arise from the peopling of such a region.

Railroads are rejected and built, the great river is bridged, enterprise is ready and ever pressing on; towns, villages and cities spring up; trade and traffic follow; a school-house, church and newspaper are among the first essentials; and so the tide sweeps on.

Each day's events adds a new chapter to the marvelous story which the Press is sure to spread with lightning speed the world over; and soon there flock from "every nation and kindred and people and tongue under the whole heavens"—adventurers to "the promised land"—sturdy men and brave women who come with a purpose, pioneers in a great work which imagination fails to picture even in faintest colors.

The lands offered for sale along the various lines of railroad have naturally proved most attractive to settlers. Government has wisely aided these enterprises by granting these lands to Corporations which have had the pluck and energy to built Roads through her as yet undeveloped fields, and which have been held for generations at a mere nominal price, failing the while to find purchasers or development for lack of means of transportation. She has, in many instances, given alternate sections along the lines of these Roads, on either side, and by this seeming liberality has made the remaining portion quickly available, insuring for it also a value greater than that of the whole before the generous gift.

Doubtless there have been some unwise grants, for there is a limit to all things; but as a rule, Government and the people have been large gainers by her liberality to these transportation enterprises.

But how are these enterprises in a new land made successful? They require settlers along their lines and business over their roads, and in aid of this the printer has his full share to do. The natural resources of the region must be made known, and the waiting multitudes invited to come in and possess the the land.

A bird's-eye view shows a rich country, varying of course in natural attractions; but granting that all were equally rich and attractive, density of population is doubtless distributed very nearly in proportion to the information which has been given to the public concerning the various lines of railroad, and the region through which each passes.

Some regions are comparatively unsettled because their attractions are unknown; the Roads through them are built but slowly at great disadvantage, and with little prospect of profitable returns at present, while numerous instances demonstrate an entirely different state of affairs, as a single prominent case may illustrate.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. HIS HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

Rev. Jacob Chapman, now of Deerfield, is to be settled as pastor of the Congregational Society, in Kingston, May 1.

Mr. Bennett of Danville lost a valuable steer, a few days ago, which was choked by a strap around its neck while endeavoring to extricate its horn from beneath a board, where it had got fastened.

Miss Mary E. Perkins, daughter of Washington Perkins, of Londonderry, now a teacher in Washington, D. C., has been offered a situation to go to Japan. She is to be in the employ of Government and is to have a yearly salary of $2,500 in gold, for five years. As Miss Perkins is only about eighteen years of age, this may certainly be considered a compliment to her ability and enterprise.

John Jeronard, a Frenchman belonging in Nashua, was instantly killed at the brick-yard at Lancaster, Wednesday, by a clay bank that fell upon him. He was twenty-one years of age and a single man.

Thomas Gullen, a spinner in the mills at Suncook, was drowned in the Merrimac river Wednesday night by the upsetting of a boat. He was unmarried, and aged twenty-three years.

A cow owned by Mr. James Lloyd of Windham, brought a calf on the 10th, and another on the 17th of April.

Candia's eight or ten sawmills are running to their full capacity, cutting up, in addition to pine and hemlock, large quantities of beech, birch, maple, and ash lumber.

The official vote for county officers elects the Republican candidates. Geo. W. Weston, Register of Deeds, has 94 majority; Frank W. Miller, County Commissioner, has 874 majority; Winthrop N. Dow, County Treasurer, 952 majority.

The Exeter News Letter says that the Musical Societies of Haverhill, Georgetown, Plaistow, Exeter, Dover, Portsmouth, North Hampton and Stratham will hold a picnic and have a grand rehearsal, preliminary to the World's Peace Jubilee in Boston, in Exeter, on the 25th of May next. 'Tis expected Carl Zerrahn will be present, to conduct a portion of the choral exercises.

THE BOSTON DAILY GLOBE, the new quarto paper, has already obtained a substantial position. The verdict of the public has been most favorable, and the Globe has hosts of friends who recognize its enterprise and liberality in furnishing the news. A card in our columns gives some of its leading features. The paper may be had of all newsmen.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headache and terrible mental disturbances are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly an alterative and invigorant; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength disease has left it. Salivants have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antibilious aperients and blood-purifying components. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contain every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which it involves. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it seems almost idle to repeat the statement.

The great tonic rallies exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently recruits the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 5 BOND STREET, N.Y.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

KEEP THE HAIR UNBLEMISHED. — "I am like an old hemlock—withered at the top," said a venerable Indian Chief, pointing to his thin and bleaching locks. Thousands of men and women in civilized society, much younger than the old Sagamore, are like him, "withered at the top," simply because they have neglected to use the means of preserving and beautifying the hair which science had placed at their disposal. If LYON'S KATHAIRON be faithfully applied once or twice a day, to the fibers and the scalp, it is just as impossible that the hair should decay, wither, fall out or become harsh and fuzzy, as that a meadow, daily refreshed with nightly dews and sunlight rains, should become arid and barren of green blades. This matchless preparation not only keeps the hair alive, and the skin of the head in a healthy and clean condition, but actually multiplies the filaments and imparts to them a lustre, flexibility and wavy beauty unattainable by any other mode of treatment. It does not, like the metallic and sulphurous hair dyes, dry up the natural moisture of the scalp, but supplies nutriment to the roots of the hair and vigor to the fibers.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Turn of Life—Armed with this great antidote, the fiery ordeal is passed thorough and the sufferer once more restored to the possession of unimpaired health. These Pills are equally efficacious in all female complaints, and obstructions at the dawn of womanhood. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

MEANS WHAT HE SAYS. — Though "confirmations strong as proofs of Holy Writ" and as numerous as the sands on the sea shore, were produced to prove that Dr. Pierce, the proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, is in earnest and means what he says, when he offers $500 reward for any case of Catarrh which he can not cure, yet there would be some skeptics and fogies who would continue to shout "Humbug!" "HUMBUG!!" "It cannot be, because Dr. Homespun says Catarrh cannot be cured." Now, this Dr. Homespun is the identical good natured old fellow who honestly believes and persists in declaring that this earth is not round or spherical, but flat as a "slap-jack" and does not turn over, otherwise the water would all be spilled out of Deacon Bascom's mill pond. But astronomical science has positively demonstrated and proven that Dr. Homespun is wrong in supposing this earth to be flat and stationary, and medical science is daily proving the fact that he is no less mistaken and behind the times in regard to the curability of Catarrh. In short, it has been positively proven that this world moves and medical science is progressive—the opinion of Dr. Homespun to the contrary notwithstanding. That Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will cured Catarrh, thousands who have used it attest.

Then buy it, and use it, in doubt do not stand,
You will find it in drug stores all over the land.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

City Councils.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, leave was granted to the Eastern Railroad to encumber highway near the Creek.

Application of Charles E. Dixon for relay of sidewalk in School and High Streets, was granted.

Subject of removing growing trees in North Burying Ground was referred to Committee on Burying Grounds.

Petition of Chas. W. Martin and others for widening Newcastle Street, was referred to Committee on Streets with the Mayor added.

Petition of W. R. Preston and others for a cross walk on Middle Street, was referred to the Committee on Streets with power to act.

The offer of F. W. Rogers for furnishing stone (at 80 cents per ton) for the Stone Crusher was accepted, and it was voted that the contract be awarded to him.

Voted, That the Mayor be authorized to make a contract with the Administrator of S. L. Russell's estate, for hiring his wharf for the Stone Crusher.

Voted, That the Committee on Fire Department be directed to ascertain and report the cost of building an Engine House for Steamer Kearsarge, and also for Hook and Ladder Carriage.

Voted, That the City Treasurer be authorized to tender to the Heirs of L. Cotton the sum awarded them for land taken to widen Howard Street; and that the Committee on Streets be requested to take possession of said land and grade the highway.

The joint resolution authorizing the laying of a pipe from the North Mill Pond to Bridge street, received from the Common Council, was read and indefinitely postponed.

The joint resolution authorizing the building of a reservoir near Union Street was amended by striking out all after the word "reservoir" and inserting the words "to be located at such place as the Mayor and Committee on Fire Department may designate." The bill as amended was then passed.

Voted, That a Committee be appointed to inquire into the expediency of building a reservoir in the vicinity of the Haven School.

Ald. Marvin, Wendell and Mendum were appointed.

In Common Council the joint resolution authorizing the Mayor and Committee on Fire Department to construct two reservoirs was indefinitely postponed.

The Committee on Finance reported the annual appropriation bill, which was referred to Committee on Bills on 2d reading. It appropriates $121,055.22, as follows:

State Tax	$15,039.00
County "	24,851.62
Interest	8,000.00
Salaries	5,000.00
Streets	8,000.00
Support of Poor	7,500.00
Police	1,000.00
Fire Department	6,446.21
Street Lights	1,791.57
Repairs and Rents of School Houses	2,000.00
Watch	3,500.00
New Hose	2,000.00
Printing	700.00

Collector's Commissions	1,200.00
Sidewalks	500.00
Sewers (including deficiency for 1871)	2,023.00
Paving Market Street	1,000.00
Repairs of Almshouse	2,500.00
Horses (Street Dept.)	600.00
Deficiency for 1871 (cost of teamster's tenement)	134.82
Reservoirs	5,000.00
Total	$121,055.22

Councilman Palfrey introduced the following joint resolution:—

Resolved, the Board of Mayor and Aldermen concurring, that the Mayor and joint Committee on Fire Department be authorized to lay a pipe from some point in the North Millpond below low-water mark to the junction of Hanover and Bridge Streets, said pipe to be of sufficient capacity to furnish an adequate supply of water for extinguishing fires for at least two steam fire engines, and the Mayor and said Committee to decide as to what description of pipe is most suitable for the purpose.

After a long and earnest discussion the resolution was passed under suspension of the rules.

Councilman Emery introduced a resolution authorizing the Mayor and joint Committee on Fire Department to construct a reservoir at or near the junction of Middle and Union Streets, said reservoir to have a capacity of 70,000 gallons. The proviso as to its size was finally stricken out, leaving the question to be decided by the Mayor and Committee, and the resolution as amended was passed under suspension of the rules.

Laconics.

Another ale brewery is talked of.

The fair are making ready for the May Fair.

The Japanese embassy will visit this Naval Station.

The millinery trade is brisk—the result of advertising.

The Journal says half the churchgoers in Portsmouth are Catholics.

A Washington dispatch predicts large discharges of workmen at the various Navy Yards.

The records and clerk's office of the U. S. District Court have been removed to Manchester.

Artists will make the watering places in this vicinity their headquarters the coming summer.

Commander W. W. Low is detached from the U. S. S. Mohican and placed on waiting orders.

Ex-Mayor Joseph B. Adams is to erect a double-tenement on the lot west of his present residence on Middle road.

Mr. Henry M. Clark has manufactured and sold four tons of sausage meat the past season, and good sausage meat it was.

The Journal has news from Rev. Geo. M. Adams and family, who were on the River Nile, Feb. 6th, and enjoying good health.

Now is the time to have the sum of $500 for an alarm bell on the Cabot Street school house inserted in the annual appropriation bill.

We are requested to inform our correspondent "Oui" that the Exeter News-Letter was right in stating that Prof. T. C. Upham was born in Deerfield.

Trafton's new express team takes 'em down. It will be taken to Boston for use there and is to be replaced here by a Concord wagon now being built.

Mr. Daniel A. Drown, whose unfortunate deprivation of sight has made sympathizing friends for a score of years, has removed to Rye, residing with Mr. Joseph J. Seavy.

Rev. Carlos Martyn will deliver the second of his series of lectures on "The Family," Sunday evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock, in the North Church. Special subject, "Our Homes."

Green elder-bushes placed on and about the vines of cucumbers, squashes, &c., will prevent the ravages of bugs. Green birch-twigs are better for preventing the ravages of boys.

Applications have already been received by the Came Brothers for the sale of their property on Hanover and Deer streets, which they are to vacate. Business is looking up.

Willie, of the Lyre, seems to be under the impression that we meant him in our reference to the would-be eloper, but he's mistaken; that wasn't the case referred to. Besides, the hero(?) was more of a man!

Capt. "Bob" Shillaber has the Pest House on Pest Island in apple-pie order for the reception of any guest or guests who may apply for accommodation. The Journal says he is prepared to convey patients to the Island in a "capacious boot."

The Pullman Palace Car Company have now about ready two new cars to place on the Eastern Railroad to run between Boston and Conway, named "The Old Man of the Mountain" and the "White Mountain Notch." The Pullman cars on this new route to the White Mountains will be highly appreciated.

The Jubilee Chorus make great progress with the music before them, under the lead of Director E. A. Tilton. Rumors of the approach of Prof. Tourjee thicken, and create much fluttering among the members of the chorus. The books arrived on the 25th, with their sticky, red covers.

An elderly man recently died at the County Farm. His friends in this city sent for the body and on opening the coffin after its arrival here, were horrified to find the corpse nearly naked, having only a shirt to cover it; and knowing of no excuse for such indications of barbarity, they are justly indignant.

Cornelius Sullivan & Co. have opened a wholesale and retail fish establishment at the corner of Bow and Penhallow Streets, where they have constantly on hand fresh and pickled fish, clams and oysters. Messrs. C. Sullivan, John Dixon, Wm. H Prior, Jr., and P. H. Prior compose the firm. Give them a call.

At the annual meeting of the Mercantile Library Association, held on Friday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—President, C. C. Akerman; Vice President, Mercer Goodrich; Sec. & Librarian, C. A. Hazlett; Treasurer, A. H. Sides; Directors, F. W. Miller, D. J. Vaughan, Mercer Goodrich, Joseph Cheever, Floron Barri, T. E. O. Marvin; Trustees, Wm. H. Sise, Wm. Marvin, Jr., John H. Cheever. A liberal appropriation was made for the purchase of new books; the Association is reported to be in a good financial condition.

Don't it beat the Dutch to see the alacrity of the laborers employed in cleaning the streets?

Rev. Mr. DeNormandie will preach to-morrow (Sunday) evening upon "Henry Ward Beecher and Everlasting Punishment."

An associated press despatch from Kingston, Jamaica, says the U. S. S. Kansas arrived there from Greytown, April 24, and reported an accident to one of her boats by which Captain Crosman and several seamen were drowned. Capt. Crosman's body was not recovered.

—Next Sunday evening Rev. W. H. Alden concludes, for this season, his course of lectures at the Middle-st. Baptist church, on "Scenes and Society in the Holy Land." In this valuable and interesting series he has had among his crowded audiences many who fully appreciated his vivid descriptions, interesting narratives and apt references to the events that have rendered Palestine sacred in the eyes of the Christian world; and it is hoped that he will continue the lectures another season. On Sunday last he shared his pulpit with Rev. L. A. Dunn, President of Central University, Iowa, one of his travelling companions in the Holy Land, who preached during the day. This was the first time the two tourists had met since separating on their return from the East.

A Railroad Veteran.

The Boston Traveller says:—Thirty-five years ago, April 27, 1837, Dana Z. Smith, then a young man of seventeen, commenced work as a track-hand on the Boston and Worcester Railroad. In 1840 he went to Salem and assumed charge of the repairs on the Marblehead branch of the Eastern road; in 1842 he took charge of the Portsmouth section: in 1845 he took charge of the gravel train, and filled in the site of the machine-shop and freight-houses in East Boston: in September, 1846, he built the track to Peabody, and from January to April, 1847, ran the train as conductor; then assuming charge of the whole line of the Eastern road, under N. W. Allen, until September, when Mr. Allen resigned, and Mr. Smith took charge until the return of Mr. Allen in December, 1849, when he took the lower end,—from Ipswich to Portsmouth,—where he remained till April, 1851, when he was induced to take charge of building track on the main line between Syracuse and Rochester, N. Y., returning to the Eastern road in July, 1852, taking charge of the road and its branches between Boston and Beverly until 1865, when he again resumed the charge of the whole line, which he now holds. On the 17th some fifty or more of his friend assembled at his residence, No. 39 Endicott street, Salem, to congratulate him on this anniversary. Among his guests were Dr. Geo. B. Loring, General William Sutton, Mayor Calley and Mr. Smith's associates in the board of aldermen, Messrs. Green and Kenny, engineers, Philbrook, Dame, Dockham and others conductors, Captain Somerby from the car shop, General Peirson, and many others. About ten o'clock a most recherche banquet was served in the dining hall, comprising all the luxuries of the season.

THE IMMENSE BUSINESS transacted by the well-known dry goods house of Jordan, Marsh & Co., of Boston, is due to no fortuitous circumstances. Their reputation for energy, enterprise, and fair dealing, has been won by years of honorable toil and strict business application.

RYE.—The Methodists who have held no services here for several years have called a meeting to take action on the feasibility of disposing of their church. Many are in favor of its purchase by the town for general purposes.

BASE BALL.—Mutuals 13, Baltimores 11; eleven innings.

Mr. E. A. Joy says he has held (at different times during the past six years) the exclusive agency for the Leavitt, Wheeler & Wilson, Finkle & Lyon, Singer, Elias Howe, A. B. Howe, Weed, Florence, Grover & Baker, American Button Hole, Ætna, Davis, Home Shuttle, Wilcox & Gibbs, Common Sense, Gold Medal, and Wilson sewing machines, and has been offered the agency of many more, which he has refused. Most of the above have given very good satisfaction; but if any one of them had proved as good as the "DOMESTIC" he would not have given it up. He says the "Domestic" is the only machine he ever sold that gave entire satisfaction to all purchasers. He has sold nearly three hundred of those unrivalled sewing machines in this vicinity during the past year, to persons whose names and residences he will give to all who may wish to enquire further into the merits of the machine. Call at No. 9 Pleasant Street and try them.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from first page.

lington and Missouri River Railroad Co., whose trunk line of 470 miles extends from Burlington on the Mississippi River, across the entire State of Iowa, and through that rich portion of Southern Nebraska bordering upon the Platte River, to Fort Kearney, where it makes a junction with the Union Pacific Railroad through traffic to the Pacific Coast, have sold during the last two years 862,326 acres of land, for something over three and a half millions—nearly all of it to actual settlers, and if report be true, they have never asked a man to buy!

By a judicious system of advertising they have scattered information broadcast over the land, in the form of facts relating to the region through which the Road passes, so that a perfect tide of emigration has set toward that particular section, and farmers call for their lands as children do for milk.

Their advertisements are prominent in all the papers; their large and beautiful cards attract attention in every depot in the land; they distribute gratuitously millions of circulars, maps and other documents relating especially to their land and passenger interests, containing plain facts in which all are interested, and on which all may rely. These are published in English, German, Swedish and Norwegian, and distributed all over this country and Europe. Their mailing department alone, which is as systematically arranged as that of any newspaper establishment, affords employment to from twelve to twenty persons, and all simply to circulate facts among the people.

It is true that their lands are exceedingly beautiful and fertile, and present attractions and advantages of locality, soil and climate, which are essential in the estimation of farmers, probably unsurpassed by any region in the world; but it is mainly by the printer's art that the world has come to know it, and in addition to cultivated fields, trade, manufactures, arts, sciences, and all the attendants of refinement and luxury which enterprise can introduce and thrift maintain, are following rapidly the march of settlement.

Their lands already sold have been wonderfully improved, and the increase in value is large—in some cases almost incredible.

Much equally good land remains unsold; can be bought of the Railroad Company at low prices, on a credit of ten years, at six per cent. interest, and with equally good prospects of steady and large increase in value.

And so the West is being peopled! But even now few, comparatively, have any idea of what that country is, the lay of the land even, or its peculiar attractions. An Eastern man cannot comprehend it; he has nothing with which to compare it; maps, guides and circulars all are familiar with, but something more is wanted, and to meet this want, the Land Commissioner of the Railroad Company referred to has recently published, for gratuitous distribution, a series of truthful representations of various points along the line of that Road, which afford, probably, a better idea of the lay of the land, the general appearance and characteristics of the country, than is to be had from the most elaborate written description.

These are finely engraved, and will, doubtless, soon adorn the table of every farmer in the land, and exert an important influence in giving direction to many who are looking to the West for their future homes.

Now call it advertising or what we will, this peopling of the West, and the great business traffic of the West, is simply a legitimate result of putting facts before the people.

Doubtless the expenditure of money is large, but the sum is small compared with the results realized even now, in the infancy of the great work.

Those who live at the East, and have not actually witnessed the "tide of emigration" as it is flowing can have no possible comprehension of it.

People from all sections of the country, and indeed from all parts of the world, are literally "pouring in like a flood." And why? Because it is a "goodly land," and the story of it is abroad in all the earth.

Who can predict the future of it? If there is a prophet in the land, his pen can write nothing more marvelous than the story of these regions a century in advance.

The greatest questions pertaining to social, political, religious and business interests are involved in the progress of events inevitable to occur in the West, and the Press is the mighty agency which is now and ever must be most powerful to direct and move all.

It would be difficult to say to whom these facts appeal most strongly.

Certainly those who are thinking of the West as their future homes should read the papers, advertisements and all, and then take a look at the "promised land." And to the business man, whatever his avocation or profession, the lesson is plain. Read what other people have to say about their business, and advertise your own. Do this liberally, too, and so sure as the Scriptures are true, just so sure you will find profit in it; for we read that "The liberal soul shall be made fat," and, "There is that scattereth and yet increaseth, and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, and it tendeth to poverty."

Patronize the printer, and improve the first opportunity to look beyond the Mississippi.

—"Arms investigations" are not confined to the national capital. A precious New Haven miss thinks half her schoolmates are examining their small arms daily. Take?

—The Pi-Utes have their killed Medicine Man; the more he sang and danced and drummed, the more they had the measles, so they quietly shot him.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE GREATEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - -	104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - -	151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - -	201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - -	$7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - -	14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - -	22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6-7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of—Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulins, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained, and just application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most tenacious Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind and physicians for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 785 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

YORK COUNTY POLITICS.—We take the following clippings from the Biddeford Journal:

A correspondent of the Portland Press of Saturday demands that York shall select as a candidate for representative to Congress, not only a man, free-born, of good report and well recommended, but "a man of ability, energy, experience, and above all, of unquestioned integrity," and directly thereafter names John Lynch as such a man. As this correspondent seems to speak by authority, suppose we leave the selection to him.

A certain individual in this county is terribly exercised lest the people of the District will fail to find out the merits and demerits of all the possible and impossible persons whose names have appeared somewhere in connection with the candidacy for Congress; and he writes letters, dating them from Biddeford, Kennebunkport, Eliot, Kittery, and elsewhere, stating the anxiety of the "people," and he wonders greatly that the Republican press of the District do not get excited over the matter. It is a very gentle wonder and can do no harm.

A SAD FATE.—In crossing the plains in 1852, Tommy Dod was gobbled up by the Goshoot Indians, and for three months remained a captive among them. He says among other plunder obtained by the Indians when they took this train was a band-organ, which an adventurous Italian was bringing out to California. The organ was a big thing among the Indians after they had reached their village. The chief had a man to sit in front of his hut and grind it every night. It was set to play "Yankee Doodle" and "Yankee Doodle" it played every night, week in and week out, without "variation." One night, in fooling with the machine, the Indian grinder killed the stop, and when he resumed the crank out came "Pop Goes the Weasel." The old chief listened a moment, and supposing the machine was spoiled, seized his tomahawk, leaped from the door of his hut, and with a fierce yell brained the discoverer of the new tune upon the spot.

PECULIARITIES OF OYSTERS.—An observer of the oyster says that he is not so stupid as he looks; he can keep his mouth shut and thereby defy all our art to wile a secret from him. When spatting time with the oyster comes, it is said to be sick or milky. This appearance is due to accumulation of spat, which is, in its earlier stages of development, of a creamy consistence and color. When the spat is mature it assumes the appearance of the scrapings of a slate pencil; the parent oyster then opens its shell, and a kind of mistiness is observable in the surrounding water. This is caused by the myriads of young oysters scattered in every direction. No sooner are these tiny creatures free from their mother than they assume the most active state of life and motion, dancing and gyrating up and down in eccentric columns, as midgets play in the evening sunbeams.

Under the lens of the microscope, you will see how exquisitely these little fellows are fashioned. A pair of tiny shells, the counterpart of those of the maturer oyster, enclose the yet rudimentary organs, while affixed to the mantle is a tiny coronet, composed of minute hair-like appurtenances (cilia). The violent and ceaseless vibration of these living paddles serves to row the infant oyster rapidly from place to place. Should it be the destiny of one of these fragile beings to become a steady, well-behaved oyster, it finally settles itself upon some suitable resting place, to which it makes itself fast—no one very clearly knows how—by the under valve or shell. The bristle-like oars or cilia, no longer of any utility, disappear, and now a permanent fixture the baby oyster begins to grow. At about a fortnight old it is not much bigger than a fair-sized pin's head, and at three months about that of a split pea. Having attained a years' growth under favorable conditions, the young oyster will have become as big as an ordinary half-penny; while at four year's growth they are considered marketable.

—A writer in Scribner's Monthly does not know "why it is not just as well for school-girls to dress in uniform as for boys. There are many excellent schools in England where the girls dress in uniform; the thoughts of all the pupils are released from the consideration of dress; there is no show of wealth, and no confession of poverty. Girls from widely separated localities and classes come together, and stand or fall by scholarship, character, disposition and manners. The term of study could be lengthened by the use of the money that would thus be saved; and while a thousand considerations favor such a change, we are unable to think of one that makes against it." These reflections are suggested by the fact that in some of our schools the mere item of dress for young ladies is often over $1,000 a year.

—Mr. Atcheson Wells, while wading in the river at Brownsville, Texas, stepped into a quicksand, and vanished from sight in a second. A new way of sinking wells.

MONDAY, APRIL 29, 1872.

Boston Times vs. Senator Patterson.

Messrs. Editors:—Refering to an article in the political column of your paper of April 26th, many of your readers desire to know to what extent in the opinion of the Boston Times "Rotation in office is a political necessity?" Is it confined to "the United States Senatorship" of New Hampshire, as particularized in said article? or does it extend to other offices of greater and less importance? Does the Boston Times propose to endorse the principles of the Cincinnati Convention, and advocate the one term system? Does it propose to rotate Grant and sustain Greeley, Schurz & Co.? Does it make a distinction between the "political necessity" for rotating out of office a President and a Senator at the expiration of his first term? or does the rotation referred to by the Boston Times apply only to Senator Patterson?

Did the Boston Times advocate "rotation in office" when the two Massachusetts Senators were re-elected, each for a fourth term, or when the two Representatives from Boston were re-elected, one for his third and the other for his sixth term? Your readers would like to know why, in its relation to Senator Patterson's re-election after having served but one term, "the neglect to recognize" this new political necessity of the Boston Times, "would be fatal to the integrity of New Hampshire Republicanism?" ROMEO.

Political.

The Republican State convention of California ignores the Goat Island question, indorses Grant, and has instructed the delegates at Philadelphia to vote as a unit for him.

An Albany despatch to the New York Times says Gov. Hoffman told one of the committee of seventy their charter was the worst form of municipal government ever devised for New York city, and that every man who had been connected with it would regret it, if it should become a law, before the year was out.

Four-fifths of the delegates of Illinois announced as going to Cincinnati have already declared that the use of their names were without their consent, and denounced the movement as a fraud.

The Newburyport Herald is inclined to call President Grant "the most successful President we have ever had."

The Chicago Evening Post suggests that a couple of jackasses be sent to Cincinnati to give "tone" to the Convention. The Memphis Avalanche says that this effort of the editor of the Post to get an invitation is too thin.

Sixty-eight republican newspapers of Illinois oppose the Cincinnati movement, and only one is in favor of it.

The News.

Gen. Sickles and wife have sailed for Madrid.

Helmbold's store on Broadway, New York, with its contents, was sold by Auction April 26, at a very low price.

Seven persons were shockingly burned, six probably fatally, by a fire damp explosion which occurred April 26th in Hampton mine, near Hyde Park, Penn. The mine had been in disuse five months, during the construction of a new breaker. The men entered it to repair the track and fix the props. They carried naked lamps, and no apprehension of danger was felt, there having been but one fire-damp explosion since the mine was opened. So great was the force of the explosion that three gangway doors half a mile off were blown to pieces.

The Austrian and Hungarian governments have decided to send delegates to the international prison congress.

A shocking affair happened at New Scotland, New York, April 26. A family consisting of Mr. Volmer, his wife and five children, Volmer's mother and his wife's stepfather, occupied a two story building which took fire. Volmer, his wife and one child escaped. All the others perished in the flames.

At Selma, Alabama, on the southern Memorial Day, the fire companies, chamber of commerce and citizens en masse formed in a procession, headed by the children of different schools, and repaired to the cemetery, where they decorated with flowers equally the graves of those who had worn the blue and the grey.

Mrs. Nettie McColl was burned to death at Hartford, Conn., April 26, by the breaking of a kerosene lamp.

Rumors thicken that the claims for consequential damages in the Alabama case are to be abandoned or modified by our government, but they are probably spread for political effect. The Cincinnati movement needs "moral support," having no morals of its own.

In Spain, the government has resolved to adopt the most vigorous measures to suppress the insurrection. Serrano has gone to Navarre, and will be appointed generalissime of the government forces in the field. The officers of the new Spanish Cortes are all supporters of the government. Senor Rosas was elected president.

April 26, the fifty-third anniversary of the introduction of Odd-Fellowship into America, was observed in many of the leading cities of New England. The general order of exercises consisted of a procession, and a levee at night.

The Stokes murder case was again postponed on Friday.

State News.

The Odd-Fellows of Manchester and vicinity dedicated their splendid new hall on the evening of April 26, under the auspices of the grand lodge of New Hampshire. At eight o'clock the encampment and the three subordinate lodges of the city formed in procession, and escorted the officers of the grand encampment and the officers of the grand lodge from the railroad station. An address was delivered by Past Grand Master Joseph Kidder, followed by short addresses by members of the craft.

There is nothing for the police court at Manchester to attend to of late, and it is said that the lobby is in such a condition that the fear of being put in it keeps the rogues quiet.

The late Paran Stevens, the great hotel man, was born in Claremont in 1802. He endowed a school in his native town, after becoming wealthy.

THE BOSTON COLISEUM in course of erection for the World's Jubilee was torn to pieces and thrown down by a gale of wind on Friday night. A gentleman of the executive committee who was driving on Harrison avenue at the time of the squall says he never saw such a wind. The dust was so blinding that he told the driver to stop for a moment to see where they were. There was a perfect whirlwind, so that gravel and even small stones were blown into the carriage. Ten minutes later and there was another squall worse than the first. The horse stopped of his own accord, and before the gust was over the crash of the falling Coliseum was heard. The executive committee were in session at the St. James Hotel at the time, and at once decided, in view of the limited time at their command, to adopt the general form and construction of the building of 1869, on the scale contemplated for the Jubilee this year, to have the same interior arrangements, and to furnish the same number of seats. The only difference between the building that will now be erected and the one which was in process of construction will be, therefore, a perfectly plain frame instead of a handsome building with high towers. The committee voted that the building should be finished by June 10th, and expressed their entire confidence in the plans and skill of the architect, engineers, contractors and assistants engaged in the erection of the late building. One man was slightly injured by a falling timber, but no person was killed. Two drunken men were wandering around the building shortly before it fell, but had sense enough to clear out when warned of their danger.

A MISSOURI MASSACRE.—The following details of the murder by an armed mob of three men named Stevenson, Cline and Dutro, (one of them a county judge and another a county attorney, who had been engaged in a trial concerning the fraudulent issue of bonds of Cass County, Mo.,) are given: After the train stopped, four of the mob mounted the locomotive, guarding the engineer with drawn revolvers. The train was then surrounded and Cline and Stevenson were called out. Cline appeared, and after some words regarding his connection with the fraudulent issue of the Cass county bonds, was riddled with bullets and his body was thrown by the side of the track. Several of the crowd emptied their revolvers into the mangled body. Stevenson was in the baggage car and had barred the doors, but the mob broke in the doors and poured a volley into the body of the judge, killing him instantly. Stevenson's body was dragged out and laid beside that of Cline. Dutro was in the passenger car and was mortally wounded. The train was then allowed to start, but was immediately signalled to stop. The dying man Dutro was then dragged from the coach and thrown down near the dead bodies of Cline and Stevenson. The perpetrators of the massacre claim that they have a thousand men in their organization.

—Ossian E. Dodge bought a church at auction, at St. Paul, Minn., recently, and is now wondering what he shall do with it.

BASE BALL.—Bostons 26, Harvards 2.

—"Lobsters will be very scarce this year, probably because the long winter has killed the vines," says one whose name it is hardly necessary to mention.

—Strawberries are a drug in the San Francisco markets just now.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a3 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Turn of Life.—Armed with this great antidote, the fiery ordeal is passed thorough and the sufferer once more restored to the possession of unimpaired health. These Pills are equally efficacious in all female complaints, and obstructions at the dawn of womanhood. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headache and terrible mental disturbances are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly an alterative and invigorant; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength disease has left it. Salivants have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antibilious aperients and blood-purifying components. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contain every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which it involves. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it is needless to repeat the statement.

The great tonic rallies exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently recruits the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

MAINE ITEMS.—The matter of damages between the city of Saco and the Boston and Maine Railroad has been agreed upon. The city is to receive $2200 for damage to the common and $3000 for the school-house.

Owing to the high price of wool and the low price of woolen cloths, the Gardiner mills have shut down for the present.

The end of a long controversy has been reached in the Supreme Court of the United States at Washington. A decision was rendered which confirms the title of the Portland and Kenebec Railroad Company, to the property of the old Kennebec and Portland Railroad Company. The former company was organized by the bondholders on the foreclosure of the mortgage given by the latter. The suit was brought on the ground that the earnings of the company had been improperly diverted to the use of the bondholders by their trustees before the foreclosure of the mortgage was completed. The Portland and Kenebec Company itself has become practically extinct by consolidation with the Maine Central, the seperate organization being technically maintained to save the rights of the company under the charter.

THE METHODIST BOOK CONCERN.—Mr. Kilbreth, the expert who has been examining the accounts of the Methodist Book Concern to investigate the charges of corruption, has made a long report, which, it is said, exonerates Rev. Dr. Carleton, the senior agent, from all suspicion of wrong-doing or irregularity, exculpates Mr. Goodenough from the charges of fraud preferred against him by Dr. Lanahan, and vindicates the course of the present book committee.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING.—We have made great additions to our jobbing facilities—a mammoth Hand Press (the largest in Portsmouth,) new Display Type, Borders of various styles, &c. —and are prepared to do work within our line and dispatch, all orders for FULL SHEET POSTERS, DATE SLIPS, PAMPHLETS, SERMONS, ADDRESSES, AUCTION BILLS, CONSTITUTIONS, BY LAWS, PROGRAMMES, HANDBILLS, CIRCULARS, ORDERS DANCES, BLANKS, BILL HEADS, RECEIPTS, TICKETS, BUSINESS, MARRIAGE, ADDRESS AND VISITING CARDS, LABELS, TAGS, and in fact PRINTING OF ANY DESCRIPTION, at SATISFACTORY PRICES. Board Wanted.
Wanted—A Young Man.

Board of Trade.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade on Friday evening, the following officers were chosen for the following year. President,—J. C. Carr; Vice Presidents, Wm. H. Sise, Samuel Adams, E. M. Brown; Secretary, Jerome C. Butler; Treasurer, Henry M. Clark; Board of Directors, Frank Jones, B. F. Webster, Wm. R. Preston, George B. Came, Frank W. Miller, John T. French, Isaiah Wilson, Alfred Stavers, Horton D. Walker, Hartley W. Mason, John H. Hutchinson, Joseph P. Morse.

The committee to whom was referred the subject of the proposed purchase of Noble's Island by the Concord Railroad reported that they had conferred with the parties in the contemplated negotiation and were unable to bring about any compromise whereby the sale could be effected. Mr. Adams, the chairman of the committee, stated that the managers of the road would not listen to such an exorbitant price as that demanded by the proprietors of the island, and propose to do the best they can with their present facilities,—which, by the way, have been increased over those of last year by extending their wharf so that two more vessels may be accommodated for unloading.

The water question was then introduced by a motion from Mr. T. S. Nowell, that the committee who were appointed at a recent meeting to see about obtaining a further supply of water visit the Mayor and request him to bring the subject of a charter for a new Aqueduct Company before the Board of Aldermen, that they may take the necessary steps to obtain more water. Mr. Nowell, in supporting his motion, asserted that a source had been discovered in a certain part of the city not three miles distant, from which a population of 50,000 individuals could be furnished with water; and in addition he stated that the source alluded to was about twenty feet higher than "Fountain Head," which would give a force of water that would reach the second stories of many of our houses. He also remarked that there had existed for many years a charter for a new Aqueduct Company granted by the legislature of the State, and he thought it was about time to avail ourselves of it by reviving it, and if not found to be sufficiently comprehensive, to make it so and send it to the next General Court for approval.

Mr. Thomas H. Odion spoke in opposition to the motion of Mr. Nowell, saying that (although he had no pecuniary interest in the Portsmouth Aqueduct Company) he thought the water grievance was more imaginary than real, and asserted that a large majority of the water takers, if required to answer squarely whether they were not generally well supplied either on their first floors or in their cellars, would be obliged to give an affirmative reply. He said that better water was not found in the world; and as for a supply for the Fire Department, the Aqueduct Company stand ready to fill and keep filled free of expense every reservoir that the city will construct. We have not sufficient space for the whole of the lively discussion which ensued on this matter, but we have given the general drift of it, and will remark that from certain indications we are constrained to believe that unless the present Aqueduct Company have a legalized monopoly of the water supply here, much good to the public will result from the agitation of this question by the Board of Trade.

Mr. Jerome C. Butler wished to inquire why it was that our City Fathers had placed themselves so far behind the authorities of other towns and cities in this and other States, by restricting the term of years for which the business of new manufactories established in our midst shall be exempted from taxation, to five. Other places had made it ten; why should not we?

Mr. Nowell took sides against Mr. Butler on the grounds that the city had no right to excuse one man from taxation while his neighbor was not exempted, that the question would not stand the test of law, etc. A spirited debate arose in which several members indulged, and without taking any action upon the subject the Board adjourned.

Chicks.

Farmers and farmers' wives in this vicinity complain that the number of chickens hatched this Spring is ridiculously small when compared with the number of eggs placed under their hens. One farmer thinks himself lucky, having got fifteen chickens from seventy-five eggs; another, better still, has thirty chickens from one hundred eggs; a thrifty farmer's wife, whose flock last year numbered five hundred, this year has but fifty; and another is disgusted that three "settin' hens" presented her with only five chicks. This sad mortality among the eggs has been occasioned by the hens fooling around instead of attending to business, during the cold weather. One poultry-fancier, whose patience was exhausted by the erratic proceedings of a setting-hen which would persist in leaving her nest, chased her around the house for a half-hour one day, and pelted her with bricks until his arm was too lame to allow him to continue the exercise, in a vain attempt to make the obstinate creature attend to her duty, and then took the eggs from her nest and placed them in an old felt hat which he put up over the kitchen stove, where it became a favorite roosting-place for the old Thomas cat, being just the size for him to curl up in to have a nice sleep. After about a week the gentleman broke several of the eggs, and finding that each contained a nearly full-formed chicken he placed the remainder, seven in number, beneath a hen which was just then "broody," and in a few days she completed the hatching of five lively chickens. The owner is now at a loss which to regard as the mother of the chickens,—the hen, the cat, the old hat or the cooking stove.

The Trees in Our City.

The beautiful foliage of our summer streets reminds us, throughout the season, of the thanks we owe to those who years ago planted them for the enjoyment of posterity. The noble elms that everywhere spread their grateful shade on a summer day, swaying their branches and rustling their leafy dress, are, to us who have always enjoyed them, no longer a mere luxury—they are a part of our life, without which we should weary and faint in the summer, as their leaves do when autumn chills them. They are part of our history. The renowned old oak that has long been gradually lopping off the beauties of its youthful vigor in the garden of the Ladd estate on High street leads the van of the forest trees in the honors of hoary age. This old Pilgrim tree has stood amid the mutations of two centuries, bearing the impress of every year of the history of New England, and would tell many a tale of buried recollections if it could speak. The record of the rings on its stump is hidden until its life shall be sapped by the felling axe and the cut of the saw shall reveal them. With uncovered head should we stand before the old sentinel, while we wonder if the imprint of 1872 is yet to be deeply hidden in its binding of wood and bark. What would not the antiquary give to be able to unfold the hidden scroll and view daguerreotyped on its surfaces the scenes that have occurred around it all these years.

But its mates are long since perished and gone. The trees of the street field and forest are all young in comparison, or have been too neglected to be known and noticed. Fresh and vigorous are nearly all those that delight our daily walks. Generations of trees have passed away since men of half a century can recollect. The poplars gave place to the sycamores and the sycamores to the elms, maples and horse-chestnuts.

The Portsmouth Horticultural Society environed Market Square and Congress and Pleasant streets with the framework of trees that have now grown to mature beauty. So lives many a good deed and noble action, long after its author has passed away.

Henry L. Richards and Dr. Robert O. Treadwell planted the elms that line the Avenue on which the name of the lamented Richards was afterwards bestowed. When they have grown, and the projected improvements are made there, how happily will their grateful shade associate the name of Richards with all that is pleasant and delightful in a lovely day.

Wm. R. Preston set out those that cover State street from Pleasant to Middle; and he lives to enjoy their luxuriant growth and to deplore the march of progress that cuts some of them down. And thus one and another of our citizens have planted trees either for personal gratification, public enjoyment, or for posterity.

But of those who have done the practical hard work of digging the soil and transporting and planting trees, probably he who can show most for his labors is Mr. Joseph Fuller of Sagamore road, still vigorous and as deeply interested in his large and thriving family of trees as ever a father was in his children. His work began as early as 1812, and he now measures their growth with considerable pride. Six of them on an average girt eight feet one foot from the ground, and four feet from the root they girt seven; and in some of them he estimates there are two cords of wood.

As a matter of curiosity and interest, we give below the list of shade trees that he has planted. It does not include the fruit trees, which will number more than as many again:

4 on Lafayette Road, Langdon Farm, set in	1812.
2 on Islington Street, for John Hayes,	1824.
1 in Academy Yard,	1829.
36 in Cemetery,	1831.
2 on Summer Street for A. R. H. Fernald,	1835.
3 on State Street for Dr. Cheever,	1839.
3 on Pleasant Street for Joshua Stackpole,	1842.
2 on Auburn St. (Richards Avenue) for C. E. Leighton,	1842.
8 on Brewster Street,	1835.
100 in Cemetery,	1835.
78 on Jones Avenue, for J. Fuller,	1848.
5 on Sagamore Road, " " "	1848.
78 on Greenland Road, Col. J. W. Peirce,	1848.
840 at Col. J. W. Peirce's Farm,	1847.
4 at Greenland School House,	1848.
275 on Seavey's Island, for Purser H. Bridge,	1832.
200 on Newington, at Morrison Farm,	1848.
26 on North Road, for F. Jones,	1835.
100 at Factory in Berwick,	1834.
50 on Auburn Street, (Richards Avenue),	1837.
2 on State Street, for Col. J. W. Peirce,	1840.
150 on Middle Street, for J. J. Pickering,	1845.
50 at Ezra Young's Farm,	1836.

Besides, he has set 741 at the Cemetery within 20 years, and 17 hedges about the city within 18 years.

The tree planted in the academy yard, and quite a number of those planted by Purser Bridge at Seavey's Island, have been removed; but most of the remainder are still standing. Those on Jones Avenue have been cut down at the top five times since they were set out.—Journal.

Laconics.

The Navy Department has received no confirmation of the reported upsetting of a boat of the steamer Kansas, and the loss of Capt. Crossman and several of the crew.

Commander Robert Bradford is detached from special ordnance duty at Pittsburg and ordered as Inspector of Ordnance to this Navy Yard. Chief Engineer David Smith of Massachusetts is detached from the Bureau of Steam Engineering and ordered to the Tuscarora, now undergoing repairs.

Rev. George M. Adams and family arrived at Cairo, Egypt, March 9, from an eight weeks' trip up the Nile. They remained at Cairo March 15th, and expected to leave on the 17th for Suez, thence through the Grand Canal to Port Said, from which place they had engaged passage by steamer of March 22 to Beyroot.

Willie of the local Democratic organ still insists that we referred to him as the would-be eloper, but we assure him positively that we had never heard of his case at all. Unfortunately for Willie's peace he imagines that the world was created with especial reference to him and his personal affairs; and if any one fails to see and bow down in adoration of his mighty importance, the spirit at once moves him to belch forth adjectives a la Joshua L. Foster. If it was the custom for old ladies to run fish-stalls in this country, Willie might stand a favorable chance for securing an engagement to tend one of the two new fish-markets in this city; but unfortunately for his hopes the proprietors propose that both places of business shall be respectable.

Some kind soul has sent us "The Small Catechism of Dr. Martin Luther," and we hardly know what to do about it. If we remember correctly, we never had any regard of a severe character for Martin Luther—tho' we do have a kindly feeling for Luther Martin. The "Catechism" to which we refer is composed of nineteen pages, contains The Ten Commandments, The Creed, The Lord's Prayer, The Sacrament of Holy Baptism, The Marriage Service, et cetera, and so forth, and so on, and is said to be translated by Rev. H. Wetzel, of Woodstock, Va. We suspect that J. H. Foster has it for sale. But as to the copy before us, we are in a quandary. We have no desire to violate a commandment, just now; shall probably not forget the Lord's Prayer very soon; don't believe baptism would wash our sins away; and have no present use for the marriage service. What shall we do with it?

The hosts of friends of A. M. Hoyt, Esq., will be pained to learn that he had a severe paralytic shock, on Sunday, at the residence of Dr. Boardman, whither he had gone for medical advice. He was conveyed home and restoratives were applied. His brain was not affected and his recovery is hoped for.

A correspondent writes us as follows: Dr. Holmes suggests that lawyers sometimes defend a rogue and throw suspicion upon the man they know to be innocent. He does not quite censure them for working on the side which pays them; but by way of suggesting a contrast between the tendency of the professional conduct of lawyers and doctors, says "suppose in a case of Fever vs. Patient the doctor should side with either party," &c., as he was paid. But he seems to have omitted another contrast, viz.; that the doctor sometimes works on one side when he is paid by the other,—that he sometimes aids the "Fever," though the "Patient" pays him for working on the other side.

—The Young People's Union make announcement in these columns of their May Festival, next Wednesday, for which preparations have so long been going on. One (now) mysterious personage who will be present is worthy of special notice. Altho' making no pretension, and being extremely taciturn, she expects the attention and substantial recognition of each guest, and though so very quiet, hopes some young gent will become so enamored as to then and there make her his own. Being homeless, pity might induce some head of a family to give her a home, and she will give no trouble, being pledged to utter no complaint however long she may remain. Foremost among her attractions is her complete wardrobe. She will need no spring outfits. Such a young lady is rare indeed, and will be worth seeing. Among the contributions is a Rosary which has been "blessed" by Pope Pius IX. Of the useful articles to be disposed of are kitchen aprons, sweeping caps, etc., while the fancy articles will be quite as abundant. The unique flower pagoda will be an interesting attraction.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

Morning Chronicle.

MOUNT VESUVIUS is in a state of violent eruption. In London a rumor is current that of a party of persons who went too near, sixty were killed or wounded by a shower of lava. A despatch from Naples says the eruptions are increasing and becoming more serious. Two hundred persons have been burned by lava. The flames burst from the earth under the feet of the inhabitants. A fresh crater has opened. Ashes and lava threaten the villages on the mountain side, and the inhabitants are removing their household goods. Thousands are encamped in the fields. The scene is grand and terrible beyond description. The flames at times shoot up to a great height and masses of rock are ejected with earthquake shocks which are distinctly felt in Naples.

PISTOL PRACTICE.—Three men were riddled with pistol bullets near Holden, Mo., on the 24th of April, by a mob; James Rice was shot and killed at Evansville, Ind., April 25th, by Frank Wright, keeper of the marine hospital; and Bennett Jones was shot and instantly killed in Memphis, Tenn., April 26th, by Dr. William Dameron.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the serious great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of pushing their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

JOHN TAGGART."

By a New Method of Life Assurance, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 23,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase a yearly income of - - - - - - $173.30.
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - $7,740.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

Persons attending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the pleading, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. They guarantee the healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns. Infused into a Bunion, it will cure the worst instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. HACKER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TRETHEWEY, Kittery; E. S. SAYFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., willfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 785 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

TOUGH YARN.—The following yarn is current on the street and we give it for what it is worth. The story goes that the late Saturday night train brought down a man with two barrels of ale from Boston. The ale was stored in a shed near the P. S. & P. depot and on Sunday morning the ale was tapped and sold to about forty thirsty individuals. It being Sunday a warrant could not issue and when the sheriff went round Monday morning the man had returned to Boston by the early train and nothing was left but the two barrels, which the Sheriff seized. Now a man comes forward saying that the ale was his, and was stored for private use and not for sale or to give away, and that the sheriff by seizing the barrels is responsible for the contents and prosecutes him for the value of the property.—Portland Advertiser.

DOLLY VARDEN.—Our readers may have heard of this new article of wearing apparel, which is displayed in the windows of many dry goods establishments in Boston. If they have not, the following accurate description will enable them to recognize it: "The starboard sleeve bore a yellow hop vine in full leaf, on a red gound, with numbers of gray birds, badly multilated by the seams, flying hither and yon in mild dismay at the approach of a green and black hunter. Calvary Mission infant class was depicted on the back, the making of the garments catteling truant scholars up and down the sides and on the skirt, while a country poultry fair and a group of American hunting dogs, badly demoralized by the gathers, gave the front a remarkable appearance. The left sleeve had on it the alphabet in five different languages."

"THE END OF THE WORLD," by Edward Egglestone, now being published in "Hearth and Home," bids fair to be as successful as the "Hoosier Schoolmaster" by the same author. There is humor—and something more—in the following sketch of the manner in which Samuel Anderson and his wife viewed the predicted end of the world:

His life had always been not so much a bad one as a cowardly one, and to get into heaven by a six months' repentance, seemed to him a good transaction. Besides, he remembered that there men were never married, and that there, at least, Abigail would no longer have any peculiar right to torture him. Hankins could not have ciphered him into Millerism if his wife had not driven him into it as the easiest means of getting a divorce. No doom in the next world could have alarmed him much, unless it had been the prospect of continuing lord and master of Mrs. Abigail. And as for that oppressed woman, she was simply scared. She was quite unwilling to admit the coming of the world's end so soon. Having some ugly accounts to settle, she would fain having postponed the pay-day. Mrs. Anderson might truly have been called a woman who feared God—she had reason to.

BE BRIEF.—Long speeches, long letters, long communications are out of place in these stirring times. We have a whole world's news to look after, and put in order for our readers over night. Remember that, kind correspondents and contributors! Avoid parentheses! Drop the semi-colons as much as possible, and the colons altogether. Make the spaces between your periods as brief as possible. Shake out these adjectives without remorse. Sacrifice the pet metaphors. Be not led astray by love of antithesis, or alliteration. The substantives-and-six, that Brother Choate drove, brilliant phæton that he was, often made sad wrecks of his sentences. Be clear, and crisp and pertinent, alike in your invectives, eulogies, and recommendations. Think of the Lord's Prayer, and then of the awkward substitute served up by sensation-mongers in too many pulpits. What flights of tawdry rhetoric, what volleys of expletives, what endless repetition of tedious details, weary and disgust the hearer! It is frightful to think of the time wasted by these self-parading petitioners, and long-winded inditers of many-headed sermons. Life is too short, too full of cares and duties, to be thrown away thus. The best advice, the brightest wit, the deepest wisdom come ever in small packages. We have no time now for the page-long passages of dear old Jeremy Taylor, or the richly embroidered ones of Hooker, slow and stately as minuets. Give us, instead, the Delphic utterances of Emerson, condensed as pemmican, and the sharp, short sentences of Bartol, that ring like rifle shots.—Boston Globe.

—There's a captain of one of the Cunarders who has crossed the Atlantic so often that he knows all the waves by sight.

—A gentleman the other evening objected to playing cards with a lady, because he said she had such a winning way about her.

—Heavily laden coal barges on the Monongahela go over the dams, a descent of fifteen feet, and are rather improved by it than otherwise.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Family Physic,
CURING
Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,
Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

TUESDAY, APRIL 30, 1872.

The News.

The reports regarding the abandonment of the consequential claims are denied by authority at Washington.

Vesuvius is still piping hot; but the flowing lava has slackened its speed and begun to cool. Two villages have been nearly destroyed and the devastation has been great. Only twelve persons, it is now said, have been killed, and an equal number injured by the lava.

In Davenport, Iowa, on Friday, the wife of H. Malekan drowned her baby, aged fourteen months, in a barrel of water, and then drowned herself. Insanity was probably the cause.

The Carlist insurrection in Spain does not appear to gain strength. The insurgents hold the mountains.

Lakes Champlain and Superior are open to navigation.

President Grant was 50 years old on the 27th.

The Rhode Island general assembly has adjourned after a session lasting seventeen weeks.

Workmen commenced rebuilding the Coliseum at Boston on Monday, simultaneously at both ends and the middle. Two gangs of workmen are employed, one to begin work at four o'clock in the morning and continue until noon, when they will be relieved by a force who will work until eight o'clock in the evening. By this means the contractors feel confident of their ability to complete the work before the 10th of June.

The Webster place, in Marshfield Mass., is advertised for sale by auction for non-payment of taxes.

Mails received by the Japanese embassy to March 26 show that the reports of the persecution of Christians in Japan are untrue, and grew out of the conviction of counterfeiters.

A suit for damages for loss of a trunk, against the Hudson River Railroad, which was defended by the company on the ground that the trunk held other than personal baggage, has been decided against the company. The decision, although not involving much money, is regarded as important.

State News.

Edward Willis, a lad ten years of age, fell upon a circular saw at East Alstead on Thursday afternoon, in such a manner as to nearly sever both legs above the knee. Both limbs were amputated on Friday, but his recovery is doubtful.

Several cases of small pox are reported at South Newmarket.

Sixty-seven boys and fifty-three girls have come into the world at Dover since April 1, 1871. One of these has eleven brothers and sisters.

A young man by the name of George Ham was drowned Friday, in Powow river, near Trickling Falls, in East Kingston. He was fishing, and his boat tipped over. He was unmarried, about twenty-five years old and son of the hotel keeper at East Kingston.

Political.

The Cincinnati Convention meets on Wednesday.

Says the Boston Transcript:—They are for Adams now because he is so self-contained, in fact the self-contained-est man since he of the hatchet. Mr. Adams certainly contains himself well, and does not slop over, but it will be hard to defeat the sphynx of Appomattox on that precise platform.

The Claremont Advocate favors the re-election of Senator Patterson, and declares that it has "too much confidence in the patriotism and general intelligence of the Republican members of our Legislature to believe for a moment that they will hesitate to give our distinguished Senator another term in a position he has so acceptably filled for the last six years."

The Coos Republican goes for "rotation," which, it says "has always been a popular principle in New Hampshire." It says Senator Patterson cannot "reasonably complain if some one of several able gentleman, who have many years labored with great constancy and effect in a political field where every campaign is a pitched battle, were chosen his successor." And it very truly says that "no possible detriment to the public service can come if a new Senator enter, in March, 1873, upon the labors of the present incumbent of that office."

MOVING A CHIMNEY.—The Cabot Company, of Brunswick, Maine, in order to enlarge their cotton mill, moved their large smoke-stack chimney—78 feet high, 7 feet 6 inches square at base, and 5 feet square at top, containing more than 40,000 bricks, and weighing more than 100 tons—twenty feet, without rollers or balls or guys or braces to steady it—one of the greatest feats ever performed in the State. It was planned and carried out by the Company's Superintentendent, not one of those engaged having ever witnessed the moving of such a body. It was accomplished by building such ways as are used in launching ships, surfaces planed, greased, chimney wedged up, and moved by two jack-screws in four and a half hours. The flues were disconnected from the boiler at 1 o'clock P. M., and at half past 9 the same evening the flues were again connected, fires going, and steam up.

CUSTOM AND SEX.—What, it is said, will happen when the clerks in an office marry, or the politicians on opposite benches flirt? and again, but somewhat inconsistently, what is to become of the world if women, instead of flirting and marrying, do nothing but make laws and railways? The first inquiry is almost frivolous, for it admits of only one answer—the clerks will marry, and the politicians will flirt.

No doubt it would be thought a joke if a young lady were dismissed from her office for gross carelessness, which was soon afterwards explained by her marriage to the occupant of the next desk. No doubt it would be thought a scandal if the sudden conversion of a member of the House could be ascribed to the bright eyes of his wife, or some other lady opposite.

But jokes and scandal are not unknown in society now; the former ought to be restrained within the rules of good breeding, and the latter prescribed by those rules; but this is a matter to be looked to by public opinion, which is now far less powerful than it ought to be, or than, in a thoroughly healthy state of society, it would be.

The next suggestion is not, at first sight, much more serious, for since men and women marry in spite of vice and folly, only confirmed misogamists would maintain that they will be deferred by wisdom and virtue. But the assumption that emancipated or strong-minded women will be less affectionate than their predecessors, is meant to tell in two directions; if less affectionate, it is implied less amiable, and if less amiable less womanly, and so the social changes would be made answerable for a definite loss of society of one of the elements which made its charm.

At the risk of repetition, we must revert to what has been said before as to the distinction between qualities of race and of sex. The attraction of an attractive woman is partly physical, partly the result of a subtle impression that all she says, and does, and thinks is but an adequate representation or reflection or what she essentially is. It may be that this is one of the compensatory balances by which democratic nature preserves the level of equality amongst her children, so that, though women on the whole are capable of doing less than men, what they do produces as much effect, and adds as much to the general satisfaction.

SOUTHERN REFUGEES IN SOUTH AMERICA.—A correspondent of the New York World writes from Lima that, with very few exceptions, the rebels who left the South for South America at the end of the war, are heartily sick of their change of abode, but are generally too poor and miserable to get to their old homes again. He says:

"Many of the colonists, it is true, still manage to keep up a respectable appearance; but after all, it is a sort of out-at-the-elbows, down-at-the-heel respectability, while, sadder still, the vast majority are to be met with whose appearance most surely indicates that they are making the spiteful effort to drown their miseries in potent libations of the most poisonous, villanous and the vilest decoctions that human ingenuity—or rather devilry—ever devised. In an out-of-the lowest way quarter in Valparaiso, in one of the lowest precints of the city, known to the maritime community as 'the maintop,' whose brothels and drinking booths are the resort of foreign sailors, and the lowest class of the native population, part Congo, part Indian, part Spaniard, and not a small portion of Chinese, stands a building that could scarcely be dignified with the name of dwelling.

This miserable, rickety old hovel presents a more filthy and repulsive appearance than the most abject den of purlieus of the Five Points in days gone by. Above the door is conspicuously emblazoned the legend, 'In Dixie's land we make our stand,' which without a doubt, proclaims the nationality of the proprietor, while a sign in glaring capitals just below it, whereupon is inscribed 'The Alabama Free and Easy,' indicates with equal certainty the character of the establishment in question. At the bar of that Chilean brothel, surrounded by the most depraved of both sexes, and dispensing the vile native drinks to as a vile a set of scoundrels as ever went unhung, is what is left of a man who was not a dozen years ago a power in the land—a man who was once a delegate in Congress, as well as a prominent officer in the Confederate army.

His story is not dissimilar from that of others of his rank in South America. Having lost almost all his worldly goods by the war, he was tempted by visions of hastily-acquired wealth, and freedom from hard labor, to emigrate to Ecuador. Thence he went to Peru and finally to Chili, sinking lower and lower in the social scale at each migration. His bright dreams dispelled, honor and memory of what he once was proved insufficient impulse to deter him from falling to the lowest depths of a miserable and depraved existence. The above is far from being an exaggerated picture: it is only one instance of the result of North American emigration to the Southern continent."

—The National Iron Company have been making extensive purchases of land, and propose to erect an extensive rolling-mill, which will employ a large number of hands in addition to their present force. The company have recently gone into the manufacture of steel, and probably contemplate the manufacture of steel rails for railroads.

—A clergyman said recently that modern young ladies were not the daughters of Shem and Ham, but the daughters of Hem and Sham.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

KEEP THE HAIR UNBLEMISHED. — "I am like an old hemlock—withered at the top," said a venerable Indian Chief, pointing to his thin and bleaching locks. Thousands of men and women in civilized society, much younger than the old Sagamore, are like him, "withered at the top," simply because they have neglected to use the means of preserving and beautifying the hair which science had placed at their disposal. If LYON'S KATHAIRON be faithfully applied once or twice a day, to the fibres and the scalp, it is just as impossible that the hair should decay, wither, fall out or become harsh and fuzzy, as that a meadow, duly refreshed with nightly dews and sunlight rains, should become arid and barren of green blades. This matchless preparation not only keeps the hair alive, and the skin of the head in a healthy and clean condition, but actually multiplies the filaments and imparts to them a lustre, flexibility and wavy beauty unattainable by any other mode of treatment. It does not, like the metallic and sulphurous hair dyes, dry up the natural moisture of the scalp, but supplies nutriment to the roots of the hair and vigor to the fibers.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

THE CAUSE OF TEMPERANCE sids some of its most insidious and dangerous foes in the many so-called "tonics" and "appetizers," made of cheap whisky and refuse liquors, finished up to suit depraved appetites, under the name of bitters. DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS are none of these. They are not a beverage, but a genuine medicine, purely vegetable, prepared from California herbs by a regular physician. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, skin and blood, they are an infallible and unrivalled remedy. ap29 4w

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Turn of Life.—Armed with this great antidote, the fiery ordeal is passed thorough and the sufferer once more restored to the possession of unimpaired health. These Pills are equally efficacious in all female complaints, and obstructions at the dawn of womanhood. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Infection in the Air.

At this season the vegetable world takes a new lease of life; but to the sensitive and delicate members of the human family it is a time of danger and often of great suffering. The moisture which rises from the earth and hangs suspended over it in the form of morning and evening mists and fogs, holds in solution, so to speak, the mephitic elements, which produce fever and ague, remittent fevers, rheumatism, and many painful nervous disturbances, and which aggravate dyspepsia, biliousness and all minor affections of the stomach and the bowels. This, therefore, is a critical period of the year, a season when the renovating, refreshing and purifying operation of the mightiest of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is salvation to the weak, and the best security for the continuance of the health and vigor of the strong. Now is the time not only to protect the system against the common ailments of the season, but to prevent the disorders incident to a more unpleasant temperature. Let not the exhausting heats of the summer months find you unprepared to meet them. A course of Hostetter's Bitters, commenced now, will put all the physical energies in fighting trim, double the capacity of the internal organs to repel the causes of disease, refresh the brain and clear it of all hypochondrical cobwebs, and place the whole physique in an attitude of defence, with every available point fortified and guarded and as nearly invulnerable to unwholesome influences as it is possible for the human structure to be.

Laconics.

Rev. C. M. Dinsmore left this city on Monday to attend the Methodist General Conference at Brooklyn, N. Y., and will be absent during the month of May. His pulpit will be supplied by Rev. C. Jasper, Rev. Elisha Adams and others.

Mr. Haskell Brown was prostrated by a paralytic shock on Market street, Monday forenoon. He was taken into the Union Store and thence home. His condition is critical.

Henry B. Remick, of Kittery, who was recently sentenced to the State Prison at Thomastown for a term of ten years, died in Alfred jail last Friday night. Mr. Remick had been so ill since his sentence last December as to prevent his removal from jail to prison.

Three boys, aged 17, 11 and 7 years respectively, sons of Mr. Rufus Emery of York, Me., left their home on Saturday to draw trawls and it is feared they were drowned, as the wind was blowing heavily on Saturday afternoon and their boat was a small dory, incapable of withstanding a rough sea. When last seen they were endeavoring to right their sail, which had become disabled in some way, and the only hope of their safety remaining is that they may have succeeded in boarding some passing coasting vessel. The parents are half distracted over the probable loss of three promising sons. Since the foregoing was in type, we have been informed that the boys have returned, safe and sound. Finding it impossible to make the main land against the strong head wind, they bore up for Boon Island, got ashore in safety and were hospitably entertained by the light keepers until the gale abated.

At the annual meeting of the South (Unitarian) Parish, on Monday afternoon, the Wardens of last year were unanimously re-elected: John S. Pray, A. M. Hoyt, J. T. French, J. A. Grace, W. W. Cotton. The meeting adjourned to the first Monday in June, to hear the report of a conference committee, and make the appropriations for the year.

The rehearsals of the Jubilee music, with Harlow's orchestra and piano accompaniment, are highly enjoyed by the Portsmouth Society, on Wednesday and Sunday evenings. We are desired to state that a few more members will be admitted, if immediate application be made. Mr. Tilton as conductor, and Miss Aggie E. Plumer, pianist, give the best satisfaction. There is no room in Mr. Tilton's hall for spectators, but the public will probably have opportunity bye-and-bye to hear the Society in concert.

Trafton's express will run a fast freight line between Portsmouth and Boston on and after May 6th, so that goods ordered at 11 A. M. may be delivered here early next day. They will also run two express trips daily, leaving here at 6 and 11 o'clock A. M., returning at 2.30 and 7 P. M.

Willie, of the Lyre, calls our attention to the 9th commandment—for what purpose, we fail to observe. By reference to Martin Luther's Catechism we find that Luther numbered the commandments differently from the Episcopal style, and his 9th commandment reads—"Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house." We certainly know of no "neighbor's house" that we covet. We are at a loss therefore to account for the reference—so we proceed to the examination of the 10th commandment and have no desire to break that, coveting neither any neighbor's wife, nor his man servant, nor his maid servant, nor his ox, nor the editor of the Lyre, nor anything that is his—if there is anything that is his.

In the course of a discussion of the water-supply question by the Board of Trade, on Friday evening, Mr. Thomas H. Odion stated that the Aqueduct Company stand ready to fill and keep filled free of expense every reservoir the city will construct. This sounds well, but can the Aqueduct Company carry their promise—for we presume Mr. Odion spoke advisedly—into effect? When the Catholic church was burned one steam fire engine pumped water from the Austin Street reservoir, and though that reservoir holds but 13,000 gallons, it was a week or more before it was refilled, the water being kept running into it every hour it was possible to do so. Had another fire occurred in that vicinity, during the week after the church was burned, the supply of water would have been shorter than it was at the first one. It is not enough that the reservoirs be filled; it is necessary that they be filled promptly, for fires may not always have the courtesy to wait a week after the reservoirs are emptied, before breaking out.

At about 11 o'clock, Monday night, policeman Henry Wallace was attracted by screams to a point on the railroad near Green Street, where he found a woman and several men. An attempt at arrest was resisted, when the officer shot and captured one man, and put him and the woman in the lockup, Dr. Parsons afterward removing a bullet from the man's arm. Mr. Wallac then followed to Kittery and arrested two marines, who had also been engaged in the disturbance.

—The highest office in the gift of the nation is that of surveyor on Mount Washington.

—Somebody at Albany selected another man's yard as a suitable place for a dead cat. The man thought that his next neighbor was responsible, and the consequence is that Grimalkin travels across the fence about seven times a day.

—A painter, being asked to estimate the cost of painting a certain house, drew forth pencil and paper, and made the following calculation: "A naught is a naught; three into five twice you can't; "I'll paint your house for fifty dollars."

—Said a tipsy husband to his wife, "You need-needn't bl-l-ame me. 'Twas woman that first tem-tempted man to eat forbidden things." "That won't do," retorted the indignant wife. "Woman may have first tempted man to eat forbidden things, but he took to drinking of his own accord."

—A negro who was suspicted of surreptitiously meddling with his neighbor's fruit, being caught in a garden by moonlight, nonplused his detectors by raising his eyes, clasping his hands, and piously exclaiming: "Good Lord! dis yere darkey can't go nowhere to pray any more widout bein' 'sturbed."

—The season of spring house-cleaning is upon us, and those time-honored items about the women who throw away bonds and bank notes in their energetic sweeping and scrubbing, again make their appearance. The last is about a New York lady who threw away a $1000 bond recently, because it was in a dirty envelope. Her husband found it in an ash barrel.

—A party of men animatedly engaged in discussing politics before a country store, attracted the attention of an aged agriculturist. "There's sumthin' the matter here," he observed to his wife; and, drawing up his team, he lightly shouted to a consumptive individual on the outskirts, "What's a-foot?" "Twelve inches," was the sardonic reply. The aged agriculturist swore some and drove on.

—At a recent trial the counsel for the prosecution, after severely cross-examining a witness, suddenly put on a look of severity and exclaimed: "Now sir, was not an effort made to induce you to tell a different story?" "A different story from what I have told, do you mean?" "That's what I mean." "Yes, sir; several persons have tried to get me to tell a different story from what I have told, but they couldn't." "Now, sir, upon your oath, I wish to know who those persons are." "Well, you've tried about as hard as any of them."

—Henry Barlow, Greenville, Mississippi, wanted to know what the future had in store for him, and went to a fortune-teller for information. The seer said that one Louis Harris was destined to kill Henry. Whereupon the latter undertook to thwart destiny, and announced that he would kill Louis Harris; then Louis Harris lay for Henry Barlow, and fetched him with a load of buckshot. Proof of these facts being made at trial, Louis was held to be justified, and was accordingly acquitted. But that fortune-teller is not as popular as he was.

—After long years of persistent persecution, the editor of the Indianapolis Evening Journal thus gives vent to his pent-up feelings: "Nothing so infuriates an editor, we speak from experience, as to have a great, loose-jointed galoot stride noislessly into his sanctum, pick up a newspaper, rustle it for a moment, and then slam it down, creating an atmospheric concussion which scatters two hundred and seventy of his small clippings, the gleanings from seven hundred and forty exchanges, into the spittoon and waste basket. The editor who can keep his brows from corrugating, and repress the convulsive contraction of his biceps, at such a time, is a spiritless milksop, whom it were base flattery to call a sheep."

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

SOME SNAKES. — The Lynchburg Republican publishes the following "snake stories," and says they can be substantiated by indisputable testimony. They are only some of the trifling experiences of the mountaineers with the rattlesnakes:—

There are in the Blue Ridge two distinct species—the yellow and the black. The yellow was formerly supposed to be the male and the black the female; but the fallacy of that opinion is demonstrated by the fact that in many localities only one of these kinds is ever seen, and also by the great difference in size and form—the yellow being very thick and short, and the black long and slender. But both of these species are beautifully ornamented with flowers, which in the sunlight partake of all the colors of the rainbow. The yellow snake is much less liable to rattle than the black, and therefore most to be dreaded, though no dependence need be placed in either, as it depends altogether upon the caprice of the moment when they retreat, advance, rattle, or 'play possum.' The partiality of this snake for the company of children has been frequently noticed among the mountaineers, an instance of which is familiar to some of our Bedford readers. A few years ago a farmer, whose cabin stood in one of the wildest localities about the mountains, on coming into the house, one day, discovered his little daughter, two years old, sitting up in bed, where she had been laid when asleep by her mother. The child was laughing immoderately, and showing by its every action and expression of countenance that it was greatly pleased. The father approached, and to his horror he discovered that an enormous yellow rattlesnake, the largest he had ever seen, was in bed with the child, and actually coiled around her body. His presence instantly wrought a change in the conduct of the snake, which dexterously uncoiled itself from around the child and assumed an attitude of battle. The mountaineer's gun hung upon a rack over the door; he grasped it in his hand with feelings that cannot be described, and awaited an opportunity to shoot.

He had no sooner done so than the snake commenced caressing the child by rubbing his head fondly against her cheek and darting its tongue almost into her eyes. Then he would raise his tail and rattle so rapidly as to make one continued sound, at which the child was greatly delighted. But upon the least movement on the part of the almost distracted parent, the snake would entirely change the tone of his rattling, and swell to almost twice its natural size. During all this time the child tightly grasped the snake with its chubby little hands, and jerked and twisted him about in a very unceremonious manner, laughing and talking to her horrid plaything in a perfect ecstacy of delight. This state of things was finally ended by a movement of the parent, which so enraged the snake that he drew himself up into a tight coil, logged out of bed, and would have buried his fangs in the farmer's face had he not quickly dodged to one side. As it was, the serpent went over his shoulder out of the door, where he renewed the signal for battle, but was quickly stretched out stiff in death by a shot from the rifle. The child cried immoderately for her pretty plaything, and, if set down in any part of the yard, would immediately toddle toward the dead reptile.

A party of young men in the same neighborhood, only a few years ago, had a very interesting adventure with rattlesnakes, which may be very briefly stated. Early in the fall of the year, and before the snakes had housed up for the winter, this party went out one night on a raccoon hunt. About midnight the dogs 'treed' a family of coons in one of the largest trees in the neighborhood. It was decided to, wait until daylight to capture them, with the hope that the cutting down of the tree could be dispensed with. The young men lay down upon the ground, and were amusing themselves with telling stories, when one of the party, who was thoroughly acquainted with the habits and peculiarities of the rattlesnake, suddenly called out, 'Lie still, boys; don't move, for anything. There's rattlesnakes here; I heard one's rattle hit the rock.' He had scarcely spoken when an enormous rattlesnake came crawling over his foot, and following the leg to the body, crossed over his breast, striking his next neighbor's face, and crawling over his mouth. The third party was not touched by the snake, except that his rattle tapped lightly against his cap brim as he passed. The fourth huntsman heard the rattle, sprang to his feet and ascended a tree with remarkable agility. This snake was immediately followed by another, not quite so large, and then by four very small ones, all of which travelled precisely the same path. When daylight came the raccoons were shot and then the search for the snakes commenced. They were found in a hollow stump, but a few steps off, and were all killed."

—During the trial of a case, a witness persisted in testifying to what his wife told him. To this, of course, the attorney objected. He would proceed again to tell shut how it was, when the attorney would sing out: How do you know that? My wife told me, was the answer. This was repeated several times. Presently the judge, becoming unable to contain himself longer, interrupted: Suppose your wife should tell you that the heavens had fallen, what would you think? Well, I dink dey was down!

—Fifteen dollars would have got you a pound of nice tea if you had been living in England when that article was first introduced there.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase a yearly income of - - - - - - $173.30.
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6-7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lapulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test this remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have capped from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will prove effectual in a short time. Sore Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most exposed callosities on the soles or backs of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, soothing, and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and all diseases of the feet; Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 705 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

Brighton Cattle Market

FOR THE WEEK ENDING WEDNESDAY, APR. 24.
[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 2812; Sheep and Lambs 3471; Swine 8200; number of Western Cattle 2657; Eastern Cattle 30; Northern Cattle and Milch Cows 225. Cattle left over from last week.—

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $7 25 @ $ 7 75; first quality $6 25 @ $7 00; second quality $5 25 @ $6 00; third quality $4 50 @ $5 00; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $3 50 @ $4 00 ℔ cwt. (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Brighton Hides 8½c ℔ ℔ lb; Country Hides 8¼ @ 9c ℔ lb.

Brighton Tallow 6@6½c per lb; Country Tallow 5 @ 5½c ℔ lb.

Sheep and Lamb Skins $3 25 @ 4 00 each; Calf Skins 16 @ 18c ℔ lb.

The supply of Cattle from the West is larger this week than has been brought in any one week before this season, and, as a lot, the best; there were but a few poor Cattle among them. Prices have fallen off ½ @ 1c ℔ lb from our last quotations. A better quality of Beeves are selling at prices obtained for poorest grades one week ago. The trade opened active and a large number of Beeves were disposed of yesterday. There were but a few Eastern or Northern Cattle in market. Several lots of Beef Cattle were bought for Maine markets.

Working Oxen—The supply at market for the week has been lighter than for several weeks past. We quote sales of 1 pair, gth 7 ft. 6 in., $280; 1 do., 7 ft., $170; 1 do., 6 ft., $285; 1 do., 6 ft. 10 in., $185; 1 do., 6 ft. 10 in., $160; 1 do., 6 ft 6 in., $140; 1 do., 6 ft. 6 in., $125; 1 do., 6 ft. 8 in., $135. On account of the Fall weather, trade for Working Oxen has been dull.

Store Cattle—None in market except Working Oxen and Milch Cows. Nearly all the small Cattle that are in fair condition are bought up for Beef.

Milch Cows—Extra $55 @ $90; ordinary $20 @ $99; Store Cows $16 @ 55 ℔ head. Nearly all of the Cows offered in market for sale are of a common grade.

Sheep and Lambs—We quote extra and select lots $8 00 @ $12 00; ordinary $4 50 @ $7 00 ℔ head, or from 4 @ 10c ℔ lb.

Store Pigs—Wholesale 6½ @ 7c ℔ lb; retail 7 @ 8c ℔ lb. Fat Hogs 5½ @ 5½; Columbia County Pigs 60 @ 60c ℔ lb.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 1, 1872.

The Senatorship and Rotation.

Messrs. Editors:—I see that your correspondent "Romeo" appears anxious on account of "the political necessity" of rotation in the office of United State Senator from New Hampshire, and, with your permission, I will do my small endeavor to enlighten him a little on that subject as it touches existing circumstances.

"Romeo" will not surely deny that six years ago, when Hon. Daniel Clark was precisely in the same position before the people of New Hampshire as Senator Patterson now is, the latter gentleman, for the sake of the governing rule of rotation, and for his own sake, very strenuously upheld the doctrine that ten years' service in the United States Congress was as large a period as any reasonable man could ask for. He attained to the Senatorship because of the reasonableness and necessity that the rotary principle should govern. Surely what was sauce for the Clark goose ought to be a palatable accompaniment to the Patterson gander; and surely there is nothing in Mr. Patterson's relation to the State, or to public affairs, which makes the rule so earnestly upheld by himself six years ago inapplicable to his own position, or imprudent to act upon at present.

Breaches of the rotation rule have always been dangerous. Senators Dixon and Foster of Connecticut were not rotated when they should have been, and both went over to the enemy. Trumbull of Illinois and Doolittle of Wisconsin are also samples of the danger of neglecting the rotation principle. All these men attained too high notions of themselves—became spoiled through too much faith being put in them by the people—got proud-fleshy and turned their backs on their principles and their friends; so "Romeo" will see that their is danger in ignoring rotation. The people of Connecticut are not going to suffer longer from this sort of risk, for they are going to send Joe Hawley to the United State Senate in place of Ferry, who has just served one term, but has grown bigger than his boots, and threatens disregard of the sentiments of his constituents. Not a few hold the opinion—and not without reason either, that New Hampshire is in a similar situation.

But, locally, we have had experience of the danger of neglecting rotation. Even "Romeo" will not surely doubt that the act which gave Senator Cragin a sixteen years' term of Congressional office had a sadly discouraging effect on Republican party interests in this State. It caused the loss of that party's power in New Hampshire and gave the Representatives in Congress into the hands of the Democrats; and if we do not look sharply after our affairs, such another act of disregard of the rotation principle will give the State to the Cincinnati Dromedary-Humped party in November, and again to the Democrats in March, 1873.

There is huge risk in ignoring the services of any of the men who are co-contestants of the Senatorial office and preferring Senator Patterson, and even "Romeo," I think, with his experience of the recent past will acknowledge this as a fact. The Senatorial office is a very honorable one and all honor and wealth should not be the permanent privilege of men who have, neither at home or in Congress, fought Republican battles with energy or skill, but should be transferable in favor of those who have done both, as sundry among the Senatorial candidates have certainly done.

Messrs. Editors, there is danger in ignoring rotation in the Senatorial office from New Hampshire, whether I have been successful in proving it or not, and there are special dangers which ought to be avoided under all circumstances.

Manchester, April 29. CAPULET.

THE CINCINNATI GATHERING of sore heads and fossil politicians will open to-day. New Hampshire will be represented by Col. Henry O. Kent, who has shown his reliability as a Republican by voting the Democratic ticket at different times; by William H. Gove, whom the Labor Reformers and Democrats rewarded last year by elevating him to the Speakership of the House of Representatives; and by E. D. Baker, who like the others says:

"My grief, my burden long has been,
Because I'm out and can't get in."

Nearly every State has a candidate to present to the Convention, including Charles Francis Adams, Horace Greeley, Andrew G. Curtin, Salmon P. Chase, Judge Davis, B. Gratz Brown, Gov. Palmer of Illinois, Col. McClure, of Pennsylvania, Lyman Trumbull, Jacob D. Cox and others. As only one can be selected, a smash-up may be in order. The pure patriots may, however, unite for the sake of expected political spoils. Just now, it is difficult say whether the Democracy are to fly this new kite or the kite is to fly them. If they tail on to the ticket nominated it is very probable that the tail will eventually waggle the other end.

The News.

Two hundred and fifty workmen have been discharged from the Charlestown Navy Yard, leaving the present working force at 600.

The Mexican revolutionists before Matamoras fly the black flag and threaten an attack.

Don Carlos of Spain has appeared in Madrid, calls upon the people to rise in arms, and declares that he will deliver Spain or die. The King insists upon taking command of the army in person.

The car-house of the Worcester and Nashua Railroad, in Nashua, was discovered to be on fire on Tuesday morning at 3 o'clock. The car-house, three first-class passenger cars, and several freight cars were destroyed—loss about $26,000; insured. The Iron and Steel Company's rolling mill and machine shop, with all their patterns, were also burned; loss $50,000; insurance $25,000. The supply of water was very insufficient. The fire is supposed to have been incendiary.

At Newburyport, on Tuesday, John Talbot, one of the workmen on the new depot building for the city railroad, stepped upon the end of a short plank, which tilted up and struck him in the face. The force of the blow caused him to recoil, and as he fell backward he struck with such force as to break his neck, killing him instantly. Mr. Talbot was a worthy citizen, about fifty-eight years of age, and leaves a widow and five children.

State News.

The new hotel at Dixville Notch, built and occupied by Frank P. Walker, was burned on Saturday morning. Loss $3000; insured $2000.

The Boston, Concord and Montreal railroad consumed only eleven days in building their temporary bridge at Concord. It is fourteen hundred feet long, and contains two hundred and twenty-five thousand feet of timber, all of which was in the round log when the old bridge was swept away, and was sawed on this line of this road, and run over its rail, to the bridge.

The country adjoining the European and North American Railway for forty miles on the provincial side is under water, the trees standing up out of a lake.

The carpet-bag which was started from St. John for San Francisco, April 11th, arrived back on 30th, making the tour in 19 days and 12 hours.

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.—This road is being built. The project of it is already giving us an idea of the great northwest of our country. When it shall be completed we shall not only know of its extent, but its immense resources. From Duluth in Minnesota, at the west end of Lake Superior, it is now nearly completed for 256 miles; some 1500 more are to be built. Duluth has a population of 4000, and is rapidly increasing; settlers are filling in along the route of the road far westward, and in all these are some 20,000. The road will give great importance to the State of Minnesota, as it will become an amazing gate-way to the northwest. That State is a most productive wheat country; Dacotah has fine grain lands and the best pasturage; on through Idaho and Montana there are rich ravines and fertile valley; Washington and Oregon are good for agriculture and have valuable timber forests. On the whole route of this road there is said to be but very little poor land, which can be said of but few, if any long roads in our country. J. F.

THE EARTHQUAKE IN SYRIA.—Particulars of the late earthquake in Syria show that fatalities were not the greatest at Antioch, but heavier in the country in the vicinity. A letter from Antioch, April 4, says:—The American Protestant Church was severely injured, and four Americans were killed. All the members of the families of missionaries are safe. The number of persons killed in Antioch is less than three hundred, but sixteen hundred people in the surrounding towns and country, where the shocks were as severe if not greater than here, were killed, and this number may be increased. The distress of the people will be only temporary, as the crop prospects are good. The supply of provisions on hands is moderate. Correspondents of London papers praise Rev. Mr. Powers, the American missionary, assiduity in administering to the relief of the afflicted people.

BASE BALL.—At Philadelphia on Monday, the Bostons defeated the amateur Olympics, 15 to 8.

Atlantics 37, Olympics 6.

Baltimores 22, Nationals 5.

LEMON BUTTER.—One pound of white sugar, one quarter pound fresh butter, six eggs, juice and grated rind of three lemons, taking out all the seeds. Boil all together a few minutes, till thick as honey, stirring constantly; put in small jars, or tumblers, covered with paper dipped in white of egg. One teaspoonful is enough for a tart or cheese-take. This will keep a long time in a cool, dry place.—Jour. Chemistry.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Fletcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

THE CAUSE OF TEMPERANCE finds some of its most insidious and dangerous foes in the many so-called "tonics" and "appetizers," made of cheap whisky and refuse liquors, fashed up to suit depraved appetites, under the name of medicines. DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS are none of these. They are not a beverage, but a genuine medicine, purely vegetable, prepared from California herbs by a regular physician. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, skin and blood, they are an infallible and unrivalled remedy. ap29 4w

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who feel this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Turn of Life.—Armed with this great antidote, the fiery ordeal is passed thorough and the sufferer once more restored to the possession of unimpaired health. These Pills are equally efficacious in all female complaints, and obstructions at the dawn of womanhood. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Infection in the Air.

At this season the vegetable world takes a new lease of life; but to the sensitive and delicate members of the human family it is a time of danger and often of great suffering. The moisture which rises from the earth and hangs suspended over it in the form of morning and evening mists and fogs, holds in solution, so to speak, the miasmatic elements, which produce fever and ague, remittent fevers, rheumatism, and many painful nervous disturbances, and which aggravate dyspepsia, biliousness and all minor affections of the stomach and the bowels. This, therefore, is a critical period of the year, a season when the renovating, refreshing and purifying operation of the mightiest of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is salvation to the weak, and the best security for the continuance of the health and vigor of the strong. Now is the time not only to protect the system against the common ailments of the season, but to prevent the disorders incident to a warmer temperature. Let not the exhausting heats of the summer months find you unprepared to meet them. A course of Hostetter's Bitters, commenced now, will put all the physical energies in fighting trim, double the capacity of the internal organs to repel the causes of disease, refresh the brain and clear it of all hypochondriacal cobwebs, and place the whole physique in an attitude of defence, with every available point fortified and guarded and as nearly invulnerable to unwholesome influences as it is possible for the human structure to be.

The Nashua Telegraph say Barnabee was terrifically encored at that place.

A subscriber asks if the streets are to be sprinkled and the disagreeable odors from the sewers are to be suppressed this year.

The pupils of Brackett Academy, Greenland, will give an entertainment consisting of charades, dialogues, recitations, tableaux, songs, etc., on Friday evening, May 3d.

A paper is being circulated about town to obtain signatures for the sake of having the streets sprinkled. Mr. Plaisted will not take charge of the work this season, but two responsible men have decided to do so and promise to do the work thoroughly and well. We hope our citizens will subscribe liberally.

The Newburyport Herald says that Schooner Jessie Williamson, J. C. Hoyt master, made a trip from Portsmouth to Rondout and back to Newburyport, in thirteen days, discharging 262 tons of coal, and stocking $825.50.

Rev. Robert Collyer of Chicago will preach in the Unitarian church in this city on Thursday evening, May 2, at half past 7 o'clock. Subject, "The Gospel for the Multitude." Mr. Collyer's society in Chicago was burnt out in the great fire, and contributions to assist them in rebuilding their church will be thankfully received.

We are glad to meet again, Mr. Horace Moses, who has for months been suffering from the poison partaken through galvanized iron pipe. Mr. John Woodman Moses, his father, is also recovering, but Mrs. Moses and her sister, Mrs. Stocking, are suffering severely, being in poor health before the poison was added to other complaints. The family remain in Boston under treatment.

Mr. Pullen, of the Portland Press, was in town on Tuesday, and made a brief visit to the Navy Yard in company with that irrepressible of all irrepressibles, Bro. Butler of the Biddeford Journal.

The New York Circus (Lent's) will exhibit in this city on Wednesday next, May 8, afternoon and evening, at the old circus ground on Middle Street. Those who are familiar with circus amusements, will recognize in Mr. Lent's advertisement the names of many of the best performers engaged in this peculiar vocation; and, from variety of the talent indentified with his circus, we may expect exhibitions of unusual merit and excellence. Mr. Lent claims to give the most novel and diverting circus entertainments in America, and asserts that his single tent is the largest and best constructed circus pavilion in use, with ample seating capacity for 3000 persons, who can freely witness every act in the ring, as no more tickets are sold than the tent will conveniently accommodate.

Three hundred and twenty-seven of the 597 workmen in the Construction Department at the Navy Yard were discharged on Tuesday, leaving 270 employed. Of those discharged, 95 are ship wrights, 89 laborers, 43 joiners, 32 smiths, 31 fasteners, 18 iron platers, 5 spar makers, 4 plumbers, 4 calkers, 3 sawyers, and three boat builders. The Navy Yard force will not be increased before the commencement of the fiscal year in July.

W. W. Henderson announces a grand re-opening on Daniel Street with great bargains for the ladies. His enterprise in enlarging and refitting the two stores now under his charge will tell. Go to Henderson's if you want to be civilly treated and be satisfied.

'Twas a Dover Street burning chimney that brought out the Fire Department last Saturday night.

"Frost's Allegory" will be presented at the Temple on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week, under the auspices of the young people of the Free Will Baptist Society. The Lawrence Eagle says:—The City Hall was crowded on Wednesday evening to witness the last representation of "Joseph and his Brethren," by Mr. Frost. Those who have witnessed this exhibition will fully endorse all the press has said in regard to its beauty and design. It must cost a fortune to put upon the stage the expensive lot of costumes and scenery that has been prepared for this exhibition, but Mr. Frost being a man of energy and taste has surmounted this article, and we are glad he is receiving the encouragement and success he deserves.

Mr. George W. Plummer has sold his bake house on State Street, and is to build a new one in rear of his shop on Congress Street.

A house belonging to Mr. Ambrose Wiggin, situated near the Diman Cottage in Stratham, was burned on Tuesday morning at about 4 o'clock. Some persons from Durham, who were on the main road, discovered the fire on the roof, where it apparently caught, and aroused the sleeping inmates. A few articles of furniture from a front room were saved. Loss about $3000. Cause of fire unknown.

A Sensation.

About ten o'clock on Monday evening a woman named Henrietta C. Morrill, said to be a stranger in the city, went into the saloon of George Scott on Market Street and inquired the way to Mrs. Wilson's, where she said she had been boarding. While stopping in Scott's bar-room, some one unknown to her asked her to have a drink of beer, which she accepted, and then left the place in company with a one-armed man who volunteered to show her the way to her boarding place. On reaching the railroad near Green street, a man named Dennis McCarthy, who, in company with two or three others, had followed the man and woman, rushed upon the latter, seized her by the neck, threw her down and attempted violence her. The woman claims to have made a desperate resistance, crying "murder," "help," "police," &c. This statement is corroborated by the testimony of policeman Henry Wallace, who says that hearing cries of "murder" near Green Street he proceeded to the spot and found a man struggling with a woman on the ground, and two or three individuals standing near by. Wallace called upon the man — who proved to be the Dennis McCarthy above mentioned—and ordered him to desist. McCarthy at once sprang for the policeman, asserting that "he would take care of his case," etc., when Mr. Wallace, probably thinking that being alone he would get the worst of a hand to hand encounter with such a man, backed by three or more companions, at once drew a pistol and shot him. McCarthy came down as suddenly as David Crockett's coon, and stated that he was dying, being as he thought fatally wounded. The policeman failed to secure the parties who accompanied McCarthy in his interview with the woman, but took the wounded man to the Police Station and had his injury, which proved to be an ugly bullet wound in the left arm, properly attended to.

McCarthy was brought before Judge Page on Tuesday morning, charged with having committed rape on the person of Henrietta C. Morrill. This complaint was not sustained, the woman testifying that the prisoner failed to accomplish his designs. Another warrant was then issued against McCarthy for a felonious assault with intent to commit rape. In order to give the respondent a fair hearing, Judge Page continued the case until ten o'clock on Wednesday morning, requiring the prisoner to recognize in the sum of one thousand dollars. Without wishing to anticipate the decision of His Honor, Judge Page, we regard the evidence sufficiently strong to hold McCarthy on the latter indictment. The woman is said to be not strictly correct in her habits, and probably had been drinking on the evening of the above mentioned affair, but her statements were plain and straight-forward, and seemed fully corroborated by the testimony of Mr. Wallace. McCarthy is said to have a bad reputation, and is known as a hanger-on around low groggeries,—in short, as a drinking loafer, one of the worst pests of society.

—Every woman has such a strong repugnance to being ill dressed, that a mother should never gratuitously wound this natural feeling, associated, as it is, with a fear of ridicule, which is in some degree, connected with modesty. Take care, therefore, that your daughter be well dressed; and allow her to follow the fashion, when this is neither improper nor extravagant. The more she feels she is dressed like others, the less will she think about the matter.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

— OF —

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices —and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

GAS.—The Boston Globe occasionally fires a shot at the Boston Gas Company, alleging that the gas they furnish does not stand nearly so high as their bills. In a late issue it says: "As to the real, honest cost of manufacturing gas—and we mean good, pure gas—the city government of Boston have fully proven that it need not exceed $1.20 per thousand feet, while prosecuting the experiment upon a small scale and without the advantages to be realized in wholesale purchases. In other cities a good and pure articles of from sixteen to eighteen candles in capacity is manufactured for even much less cost, while in Boston we pay $2.75 per thousand feet for an article, the quality of which compels an extravagant consumption in quantity in order to obtain the necessary illuminating power."

MOUNT VESUVIUS is still making a nuisance of itself to the Neapolitans. A despatch from Naples, dated April 29, says "a sound as of thunder accompanies the discharges from Mount Vesuvius. The wind is blowing in this direction to-day, carrying dense clouds of smoke and ashes over the city. The ashes are falling in the streets like snow, and have already reached the depth of two or three inches. The rumbling inside the volcano continues, but no fresh craters have opened, and the lava has ceased flowing." A later despatch adds: "Showers of sand have succeeded the rain of ashes which was falling this morning. The eruption is now accompanied by fearful electric phenomena. Lightning darts incessantly from the summit of the volcano, and the quakings are more violent and frequent. The thunder is continuous. Burning cinders, stones and scoriæ are falling fast and thick in the town of Massa di Somma, which is entirely deserted."

THE OTHER SIDE.—Col. Johnson, President of the New England Bureau of Emigration, informs us that the discontented colonists at Detroit Lake, Minn., number exactly four, who turned back after they had reached the location of the colony, because they found snow on the ground. Of the Boston colony, ninety-six families were located in the townships around Detroit Lake, and are much pleased with their new homes.

The editor of the St. Paul Press (which published the letter of the Lawrence discontents) who is personally familiar with the Detroit Lake region, says "no finer soil exists than that which covers the beautiful landscapes around Detriot Lake," that nothing could be further from the truth than the assertion of the discontented four, that a large portion of the country is water, and the balance marsh, or that the soil is of a sandy, poor nature, and he adds that "not one of the Boston colony who had the wisdom to remain will ever regret their choice of a selection." Boston Herald.

INSTRUCTION TO A JURY.—If the jury believe, from the evidence, that the plantiff and defendant were partners in the grocery, and that the plantiff bought out the defendant and gave his note for the interest, and the defendant paid for the note by delivering to the plantiff a cow, which he warranted "not breachy," and the warranty was broke by reason of the breachiness of the cow, and he drove the cow back and tendered her to receive her, and the plantiff took her home again, and put a heavy yoke or poke upon her to prevent her jumping the fence, and by reason of the yoke or poke she broke her neck and died; and if the jury further believe that the defendant's interest in the grocery was worth anything, the plantiff's note was worthless, and the cow good for nothing, either for milk or beef, then the jury must find out themselves how they will decide the case; for the Court, if it understands itself, and it thinks it does, don't know how such a case should be decided.

—Dolly Varden garters are spoken of. We would like to see them—on.

—In a quiet California village like San Mateo, assassination is the penalty for refusing to trust a man.

—A monster fish resembling in all respects an elephant, but covered with scales, has been washed ashore at Cape Hatteras, where, we presume, it had its trunk checked.

—A suit has been entered in the court of common pleas at Louisville, Ky., by John Odell, aged seven years, against Conrad Kalb, for $50,000 damages, for murdering the boy's father.

—A Minnesota horse-thief having proved himself innocent, has been voted $1,600 by the Legislature to retrieve his reputation. Innocent horse thieves should make a note of this.

—The Danbury News says a philosopher has observed that a pail of water going up stairs requires the help of but one boy, while the same pail passing into a circus seems to demand the united exertions of from five to eight boys.

—It is popularly supposed that a wide-spread epidemic has a marked effect upon the general morality, but statistics prove that the great tide which carries away the generations of men is but slightly rippled in its flow by any such cause, and no "rush" on the life insurance offices is likely to be the result.

By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase a yearly income of - - - - - $173.30.
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6.7.80.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lapulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator should only possess more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Bunions, and Ulcerated Bunions, the most intense, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unexcelled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. TRACHER, WM. E. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TRETHEWEY, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully and safely cured by the only Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 755 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

DR. THORNTON'S CASE.

"It is so strange that you do not marry, Paul!" said Harry Needham to his friend Dr. Thornton, when the tea things had been carried out, and they sat pleasantly talking by the bright fire of Pennsylvania anthracite that lit up the cozy back parlor of his pleasant New York home.

The remark was a most natural one, since the cozy back parlor was so suggestive of all home comforts. There were marks of somebody's tasteful fingers everywhere, and Harry's eyes dwelt lovingly on the closed door, whence his household fairy had disappeared, with the year old baby asleep in her arms.

Dr. Thornton looked around with a slow, sweeping glance, which took in all the graceful appointments of the room, from the pretty Fayal workstand, whose tremulous shadow quaintly interlaced the fire-light cast upon the floor, to the looping of the snowy curtains, and the training of the parlor ivy on the wall. He had the face and manner of a master; and looking at him you would not wonder that, though still young, he had already an assured position among men of his profession who could count twice his years of practice.

"It is strange, Harry; I wish I could."

"Why not?" asked Needham, in surprise at his friend's earnest tone.

There was no answer for a moment. Thornton bent forward and looked musingly into the coals.

"The witchery of the fire-light must be on me to-night," he said at last with a smile. "It is not often that I am in a mood for confidences. Why not, did you say? Because I believe I am hopelessly in love—with a memory. You would scarcely suspect me of such romantic impressibility, that the face of a girl whom I saw only once, and that years ago, should have power to come between me and every other woman whom I might have loved; yet looking back to-night, I know it is true. Having once seen my ideal, I cannot be content with less.

It was my first year at the German University. I had been miserably ill, and my physician positively insisted upon out-door air and active exercise. So I set out, although I could ill afford either time or money, in company with two or three others, with staff and wallet, to visit on foot various places of interest.

We stopped for a week in Dresden. One day—how well I remember it!—I had been strolling along the Elbe, through the public gardens, watching the group of quaintly dressed people sipping their coffee in the shade and chattering gayly to each other. My walk ended, as usual, in the Art gallery, for pictures were my enthusiasm then as now. Going into the hall where hung the Sistine Madonna, I saw a party of tourists standing before the painting. My first glance assured me that they must be Americans, and this of itself would have attracted me—a home face is so dear in a strange land—had not the centre figure of the group attracted my attention in a moment. The others were engaged in conversation, pointing out the various features of the pictures, and indulging in the familiar rhapsodies; but this girl, a slender creature of not more than fifteen, stood motionless and silent, her lips parted, a faint flush on her cheek, and the whiteness of her finger tips showing the firm pressure of her hands clasped together. You want me to tell of her face; but it is useless to try, I cannot describe it. It was beautiful; but no mere beauty could have held me with an undiminished charm at this distance of place and time. Her expression indicated not so much simple admiration of the picture, as the complete merging of her own personality into the sublime emotions which the theme inspired. The wonderful mingling of tender adoration with dimly foreshadowed sufferings on the face of Madonna, seemed to have reproduced itself in her own until the canvass might have been a mirror, where the image of the dark-eyed, coral-faced girl who stood there was portrayed.

'We must be going,' said a lady whom I judged to be the mother; 'the train leaves at six, you know, and there is the packing to be finished. Come, Annie!' Why, the child would stay here a whole day?'—touching the girl, who had not moved. She started, looked about her with a deep breath, and still without speaking, turned to follow the company from the room.

As she passed me at the door a knot of leaves disengaged itself from the brooch at her throat and fell to the floor; I stooped quickly and returned it; and to this day I cannot breath the spicy fragrance of the geranium without feeling again the thrill with which her smile repaid me."

Dr. Thornton might have said more, but little Mrs. Needham came in at that moment.

"What! the gas not yet lighted!" she said, in surprise. "You gentlemen must have been asleep, or telling secrets. Shall I break the spell?"

"I wish it was always as pleasantly broken," answered Dr. Thornton, gallantly, while Needham rose to light a taper at the grate.

"Your new croquet table is finished, I see, Mrs. Needham—cannot we have a game? Harry shall take two balls, and you and I will play against him." Then in an aside, "It is but fair, Harry; I have played my game of life alone so long."

Later, when the strife had been triumphantly concluded by Mrs. Needham, who compassed two arches and the stake at her final stroke, and they were quietly seated again, Needham said:

"You will hardly thank me, Paul, for sending you another case when you are quite overcrowded already. Our house has just lost the services of a young lady, one of the very best designers we have ever engaged. You have seen our last edition of the 'Christmas Hymns?' The illuminations are mostly hers—some splendid work there, which you know how to appreciate. Our last order had not been filled, so I looked up her address, and called to-day. I found her sitting with bandaged eyes in a darkened room, and suffering much pain. Knowing that you made diseases of the eye a specialty, I recommended her to you. I had still another reason for doing so, which I will explain. She lives alone with her widowed mother, who has been an invalid for years, and they are poor. I suspected as much before, but now I am sure of it. Their room was small and scarcely comfortable, but several articles of furniture indicated former luxuries. A piano stood in one corner, and I learned incidentally that she had given music lessons in addition to her work. I doubt if they have any other resources beyond their hands, which must now be idle. Both mother and daughter are evidently refined and sensitive; and although I felt great sympathy, I could think of no other way of making an effort of substantial assistance. But I thought I would ask you, in case of her application to you, to make your terms as nearly nominal as possible without offending her sense of propriety."

"I should do so most gladly; what is the lady's name?"

Concluded to-morrow.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1872.

The Senatorship.

There is more truth than poetry in the following extract, which we clip from a Concord letter to the Boston Globe:—

"Were it not that two years ago, Hon. A. H. Cragin was re-elected, Mr. Rollins would encounter no serious opposition; but it is understood that Mr. Patterson, who was very active in behalf of Mr. Cragin's election to a second term, is not only desirous that the mischievous precedent be repeated in his own behalf, but is employing all the influence of his position to bring about that result. Were the matter submitted to the suffrages of the Republican party, Mr. Rollins would be chosen by at least a two-thirds vote; and as it is, there ought to be no doubt whatever of his success. The State never had a more energetic and useful Representative in Congress than he. He was there during the war, and no man performed more valuable and intrepid service in behalf of soldiers and their families. As a member of the Republican party, his labors have been of protracted, ardent and self-sacrificing character, and to him, more than to any other man, is to be attributed the prospective restoration of the Republican party to power. Mr. Rollins, moreover, is a steadfast supporter of the present national administration—a circumstance of the utmost importance in a period of public affairs when treachery is abroad, and when, therefore, it behooves the Republican party to see to it that none but true men are sent into the Senate.

The situation of the Republican party of New Hampshire is such as to require the utmost circumspection. It cannot, except at its peril, confer special and long-continued favors upon a few of its members. It abounds with ambitious men, who, if the door be closed against them, and the most honorable and lucrative positions are monopolized by men no better than themselves, and no more fit for the public service, will become weary of working for the promotion of this favored few, and, without abandoning their principles, become lukewarm, if not indifferent to the fate of the party. New Hampshire is every year carried by precisely this class of voters, and Hon. Edward H. Rollins is their peculiar representative. His election to the Senate of the United States would be a suitable tribute to the working forces of the State who make the back-bone of the Republican party, and give to it that solid and stable character for which it is known throughout the Union. In short, it may with perfect correctness be said, that while the re-election of Senator Patterson would be neither an administration triumph nor an occurrence by which the State would derive any additional advantage, the defeat of Mr. Rollins would be a blow aimed at a class of men to whom we owe all our triumphs in the battles of the last seventeen years, and to whom we must look for success in the future, or fail altogether. The Republicans of New Hampshire cannot, but at their peril, ignore the rotation principle."

Political.

The Missouri Democrat says that the Cincinnati convention carries its constituency in its shoes.

The democratic candidate for governor of Texas is named Hobby.

The Republican State Convention of Louisiana has endorsed President Grant.

THE CINCINNATI CONVENTION organized on Wednesday. Judge Stanley Matthews of Cincinnati was chosen temporary Chairman. "Perley" telegraphs that the contest is to be decided by the Greeley men, who can nominate either Trumbull or Adams, and they incline toward Trumbull. A non-committal tariff resolution gotten up to harmonize the protectionists and free traders was repudiated by Horace Greeley. Mr. Curtis's friends are talking of withdrawing his name. In this event the vote of Pennsylvania will be divided between Davis and Greeley. The Southern delegates are divided between Adams and Trumbull. The New England delegation will support Adams. The convention had but one hour's session, and adjourned to Thursday at 10 A. M. Greeley's chances for the nomination are said to be good.

QUITE SO.—The Albany Journal says: The Blairs are all hot for the Cincinnati movement. If that doesn't make all honest and sensible people very cool towards it, the law of repulsion must have ceased its operation.

BASE BALL.—Bostons 26, Washington Nationals 3.

PLANT LIFE IN TOWN.—The health of towns has become a hackneyed subject, but we seldom hear about the health of plants in towns. Yet the two are not only nearly correlated, but well-nigh identical. Were plants healthy, the inhabitants would probably be so likewise, and the obverse is true. Towns in or near to which plants refuse to thrive are also those most fatal to man. The primary foundations of health in both are heat, light, food, cleanliness, pure air and suitable weather. With the single exception of heat, which in open air may be assumed to be nearly equal in town and country, it must be admitted that large towns imperil the purity, lessen the quantity, and interrupt the constancy of most if not all the other essentials of health. In many large towns the light of the sun is obscured for more than one-half its shining hours. Therefore, who can wonder at the pale faces which one finds among men, women and children, and the shabby aspect of plants in towns? Heat is the great quickener, light the chief strengthener of plants. The reason why so many die in dwelling-houses is that they have so little light. They linger, pine, and refuse to grow in many towns for the same reason. The pestilence that kills plants by thousands is bred of that semi-darkness which hangs as a death-pall over so many of our smoke-capped cities. When that darkness flies before the rigid enforcement of a smoke-prevention act applied to every fire, then indeed will plants in towns rejoice, be clothed with new strength and adorned with fresh beauty.—The Garden.

—A New Haven woman gave the key of her house to an expressman, with orders to move her furniture to another dwelling. He obeyed in everything, save the one particular that he cleared out the wrong house, but fortunately did not get away with the goods before the rightful owner appeared.

—A letter enclosing a bill for advertising brought back the following editying reply:—"Your account was forwarded to War department for audit, March 15, 72, and has not yet been heard from. It will come around, however, in due time; they never fail. The bill will be paid, but when God only knows. I have just paid one of $2.50 which was 18 months old; red tape, you know."

—George Alfred Townsend announces that Havana did not fascinate him. Despotism must be French to tickle worth a cent. Spanish despotism is represented by a priest, a soldier and a flea. You carry one in your eye, another in your appreciation, and the last in your breeches. For so much religion, it is a very godless place; for so much soldiery and music, moody; and for so many fleas, not a bit nimble.

—Henry Clews, the well known bald-headed banker, who always prides himself on being a self-made man, during a recent talk with Mr. Travers, had occasion to remark that he was an architect of his own destiny—that he was a self-made man. "W-w-what d-did you s-say, Mr. Clews?" asked Travers. "I say, with pride, Mr. Travers, that I am self made—that I made myself—" "Hold, H-Henry," interrupted Mr. Travers, as he dropped his Partagas, "w-while you were m-making y-yourself, why d-did-didn't you p-put some more h-hair on top of y-your h-head?" Mr. Clews has since invested seventy-five cents in a wig.

—The editor of the Dayton Journal recollects that a distinguished statesman once told him that Greeley was "as false as the devil." But, says another Western newspaper, he should not allow any statesman, however eminent, to work off his prejudice against the devil by comparing him in public prints to Horace Greeley. That personage has committed a great many sins, but he never yelled "on to Richmond, went to a Niagara peace convention, bailed Jeff. Davis, wrote a book on farming, or signed the call for the Cincinnati Convention." In all these respects he is ahead of Greeley.

—A Chicago girl hearing that her lover had been stricken with small-pox, insisted upon flying to his bedside and becoming his nurse. It was a severe case, but she was unceasing in her devotion, and principally through her care and skill the patient recovered. And now she herself fell a victim to the complexion-destroying monster, and although she survived the attack, at its close the beautiful pink and white of her fair face had flown forever, and from being the prettiest girl in Chicago, she became one of the plainest. Her lover had attended through her illness, but when he saw how fearfully she was changed, his love for her departed, and when the marriage-day drew near, he refused to fulfill his part of the contract. She took his refusal very calmly; no reproaches came from the once pretty mouth which had lost its prettiness in saving the ungrateful one from death; her cheek, which the tell-tale blood used so often to tinge with rosy red, retained its color, and she married an octogenarian worth $500,000.

SPAIN.—A battle has been fought at Tudela, in Nevarre, between the government troops and insurgents. The latter were defeated with the loss of 500 killed and wounded.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

KEEP THE HAIR UNBLEMISHED. — "I am like an old hemlock—withered at the top," said a venerable Indian Chief, pointing to his thin and bleaching locks. Thousands of men and women in civilized society, much younger than the old Sagamore, are like him, "withered at the top," simply because they have neglected to use the means of preserving and beautifying the hair which science had placed at their disposal. If LYON'S KATHAIRON be faithfully applied once or twice a day, to the fibers and the scalp, it is just as impossible that the hair should decay, wither, fall out or become harsh and fuzzy, as that a meadow, daly refreshed with nightly dews and sunlight rains, should become arid and barren of green blades. This matchless preparation not only keeps the hair alive, and the skin of the head in a healthy and clean condition, but actually multiplies the filaments and imparts to them a lustre, flexibility and wavy beauty unattainable by any other mode of treatment. It does not, like the metallic and sulphurous hair dyes, dry up the natural moisture of the scalp, but supplies nutriment to the roots of the hair and vigor to the fibers.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

THE CAUSE OF TEMPERANCE finds some of its most insidious and dangerous foes in the many so-called "tonics" and "appetizers," made of cheap whisky and refuse liquors, finished up to suit depraved appetites, under the name of medicines. DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS are none of these. They are not a beverage, but a genuine medicine, purely vegetable, prepared from California herbs by a regular physician. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, skin and blood, they are an infallible and unrivalled remedy. ap29 4w

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Turn of Life.—Armed with this great antidote, the fiery ordeal is passed thorough and the sufferer once more restored to the possession of unimpaired health. These Pills are equally efficacious in all female complaints, and obstructions at the dawn of womanhood. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Infection in the Air.

At this season the vegetable world takes a new lease of life; but to the sensitive and delicate members of the human family it is a time of danger and often of great suffering. The moisture which rises from the earth and hangs suspended over it in the form of morning and evening mists and fogs, holds in solution, so to speak, the miasmatic elements, which produce fever and ague, remittent fevers, rheumatism, and many painful nervous disturbances, and which aggravate dyspepsia, biliousness and all minor affections of the stomach and the bowels. This, therefore, is a critical period of the year, a season when the renovating, refreshing and purifying operation of the mighty tonic of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is salvation to the weak, and the best security for the continuance of the health and vigor of the strong. Now is the time not only to protect the system against the common ailments of the season, but to prevent the disorders incident to a warmer temperature. Let not the exhausting heats of the summer months find you unprepared to meet them. A course of Hostetter's Bitters, commenced now, will put all the physical energies in fighting trim, double the capacity of the internal organs to repel the causes of disease, refresh the brain and clear it of all hypochondriacal cobwebs, and place the whole physique in an attitude of defence, with every available point fortified and guarded and as nearly invulnerable to unwholesome influences as it is possible for the human structure to be.

From the Hippotheatron Iron Building, 14th St., opposite the Academy of Music, New York,
L. B. LENT, - - - - - DIRECTOR.

Performance—Afternoon at 2 1-2. Evening at 7 o'clock.

It should be distinctly understood that this establishment is the only

FIRST-CLASS CIRCUS

in America, permanently established in a large city, conducted in metropolitan style, and which has acquired a metropolitan reputation. With the New York Circus will be found the

in one company, a combination which cannot be equalled in any Equestrian Troupe on the Globe. With a full and efficient Corps of Acrobats.

THREE GREAT CLOWNS!

20 Lilliputian Ponies,

The Smallest and Handsomest in the World.

The Afternoon entertainment will conclude with the Famous Fairy Spectacular Pantomime of

which will be produced with a faithful adherence to the traditional characteristics of this popular and enchanting legend.

The EVENING performance will conclude with the Gorgeous, Romantic and Extravagant

Pantomimic Harlequinade of

The Miser of Bagdad!

A production replete with COMICAL INCIDENTS, UPROARIOUS FUN, GROTESQUE TRICKS and MAGIC CHANGES, which are amusing to a degree not equalled by any PANTOMIME ever performed in this country.

One of the greatest features of the New York Circus is

PROF. CHARLES BOSWOLD'S REED AND BRASS BAND.

This Band is THREE TIMES AS LARGE as any Band ever attached to any other Circus, and will parade the principal Streets about 10 A. M., in the LARGEST, most massive and elaborately carved and decorated GOLDEN CHARIOT ever constructed, and drawn by

THE HANDSOMEST TEAM OF 24 HORSES

That the world can produce. The Uniform of this Band is gorgeous beyond description.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Laconics.

Messrs. John Stokell & Co., have a fine lot of wild pigeons from the West now on hand, and are selling them at low prices.

The watchmen at the Navy Yard recently originated a new pattern of uniform caps, but were obliged to doff them as they were not of "regulation" style.

The man who deserted his wife and endeavored to elope with a young girl from this city a few days ago, was in Montreal at last accounts, being but thirty minutes out of Boston ahead of his indignant wife.

The local Democratic organ of Tuesday contained a very full account indeed of the disgraceful affair which led to McCarthy being shot, and made a number of statements concerning the "important facts" in the case. As no such "facts" were brought out in evidence before the court, people naturally query how the Democratic editor came to know so much more about the woman and her acts than all the witnesses put together could tell the Judge.

Mr. Wm. H. Allen has put on the streets a new hack, the handsomest one we have yet seen. The sides and front are largely composed of glass, and the interior is lined with a rich, dark cloth; and the carriage is furnished with all "modern conveniences," including a signal-bell for the driver, to be sounded from the inside. This fine vehicle will offer an additional inducement to travellers to "have a hack," and gives presumptive evidence that Mr. Allen is prospering in business. We are informed that Messrs. A. J. Sides and Wm. H. Dennett also have new hacks in course of construction.

Somebody has sent us a plan of the proposed new railroad along the beaches, from Hampton and Greenland. The plan may be seen at this office by all interested persons.

After a lengthy examination, Wednesday, Dennis McCarthy, who assaulted Henrietta C. Morrill, Monday night, was held by Judge Page in the sum of $500 to appear at the October term of the S. J. Court.

Mr. William C. Ham amputated the top of a finger with a pair of tinners shears, at the Navy Yard, a few days since. The operation was a decided success.

Four new passenger cars have been added to the Eastern Railroad rolling stock, the last being numbered 115.

We are glad to chronicle the fact that Dr. Perry is convalescent and rides out.

Mr. George Brownell, a native of Portsmouth, died of heart disease at Lowell, Mass., on the 27th ult., aged 78 years.

The Richfield (N. Y.) Springs Mercury says the grand Allegory and Tableaux representing scenes connected with Joseph and his brethren, was the best entertainment ever given there. The costumes were very fine, and the representations show much study and forethought in Mr. Frost.

—One hundred trains every day now pass over the Union Pacific bridge between Council Bluffs and Omaha.

—If the killing of 10,000 men by Sampson with the jaw-bone of an ass is a case of consequential damages, how that old ass will suffer in the next world.

—About two-thirds of the citizens of Poquonoc, Conn., pass Sunday fishing for muskrats with shot-guns. This is the way the other third know when Sunday comes.

—A Hartford three-year-old consoled his mother, who was watching at the death-bed of his little sister, with the remark, "Mamma, don't cry! If Nellie wants to die, let her die."

—The question, "Where do all the pins go to?" which has been a long-mooted one, bids fair to find a solution. There is a woman in the city of Biddeford, who has been married twenty-eight years, and during that time has not purchased a single pin.

—In Columbus, Ohio, the advanced women have a new way of making money. The husband gets drunk, and the wife straightway demands of the liquor seller the payment of so much money, on peril of a suit for damages. Both husband and wife like that.

—A Connecticut man displayed his lack of caution by visiting a theatrical performance with a "sweetheart," and unwittingly seating himself directly in front of his wife, who, not relishing the situation, proceeded to take down the young lady's back hair and remove sundry articles of jewelry and wearing apparel from her person, without the formality of an introduction.

—The Louisville Courier is philological. It says: The coming dictionary will be a more complete affair than the present book. For instance, it will contain definitions like this: "Greeley. 1. A great editor, who flourished A. D. 1872. 2. To bolt, as in politics; the use of "to Greeley" in connection with fastening doors is a vulgar corruption. 3. To utter a profane oath; to swear horribly; to execrate. 4. To till the soil, as a farmer."

State News.

On the 29th ult., in Great Falls, a Rochester girl named Addie Jenness fell down an elevator in one of the mills from the fourth story. She brought up with her left leg broken and some bruises, but will recover.

Manchester's water works are contracted for at $300,000, the water coming from Massabesic.

Deacon Joseph Chase, who recently died in Hampstead, had given to the First Congregational church of that town $4000 during the past year, and at his death left, $1000, the interest of which he desired to be applied to the warming of the church.

Miss Ann Perkins of Dalton has been appointed liquor agent at that town.

The Nashua Telegraph says it is reported on good authority that by the death of an uncle in England, Dr. William Thornton, formerly of that city, has fallen heir to $1,700,000, which he comes in possession of on his 28th birthday.

The wife of Jedediah Witham of Moultonborough, seventy years old, went out to search for her husband on the 26th ult., and fell into a brook and was drowned.

Messrs. B. H. Plaisted & Co. have sold the Waumbeck property in Jefferson, to William Merrill of Portland, for $38,000.

The New Hampshire Scythe Company at Littleton has begun to manufacture scythes at its new factory. The company was organized last year and a factory building erected in the fall on one of the finest powers of the Ammonoosuc.

The house of Mr. Daniel Flanders in Londonderry was burned on the 28th ult. Loss about $1200; insured for $900.

A farm-house owned by J. & B. Cate in Northfield, was destroyed by fire on the 28th ult. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary, as the house was unoccupied. The house was only a few rods from J. R. Woodbury's, which was burned the day before. Mr. Woodbury lost six head of cattle and one horse, which he saved from the fire on Saturday. Cate Brothers lost about $3000, insured in the Watertown Company for $1000.

A Danville steer got one horn under a board in its barn and successfully strangled itself with its chain.

Mr. Jeremiah Carroll, of Littleton, about sixty years of age, was killed on the 29th ult., by a fall from the hay loft in his barn.

The house and outbuildings of John W. Johnson, three miles from Littleton, were burned on the 30th ult. The fire caught from the smoke-house. Loss between $2000 and $3000.

The steam saw mill in Berlin, owned by R. H. & J. W. Wheeler, was burned on the 27th ult. Loss $5000; no insurance.

The new Phillips Academy building at Exeter is completed, and will be formally opened on the 19th inst.

The matter of a better supply of water in Nashua is getting to be a very serious consideration, so much so that the city government has authorized a new survey and estimates to be made.

The house, barn and outbuildings belonging to the heirs of the late John E. Stranyan, and all the farm buildings belonging to George S. Norris in Pembroke, were burned on the 29th ult. Insured.

— Bittesnosoff was an enterprising young Russian established in business in San Francisco. Discovering that honey bees were unknown in California, he opened his eyes unusually wide one morning and thought he saw a large fortune in immediate prospect. He imported bees largely. They throve well. Without allusion to the anserine dependency, it was safe to say that things were lovely. But, who would have thought it, the bees had too much instinct by half for Bittesnosoff. They found the winters so mild and the flowers so perennial that they laid up in the summer no store for winter sweets, and ate as they went, making no honey for Bittesnosoff.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

— OF —

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and required but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

—A man a hundred years old, went to have a pair of shoes made. The shopkeeper suggested that he might not live to wear them out, when the old man retorted that he commenced this hundred years a good deal stronger than he did the last one.

—The Morristown Herald is in the receipt of a perfumed note asking: "Why does Mr. Byron, who used to write such nice, sweet poetry, keep so quiet of late?" The editor replies that one reason is he is dead—he died before the burning of Chicago.

—Ashbury, the "man who never laughed again" after he lost that yacht race among the blasted New Yorkers, yo' kno,' has actually gone into politics, and revenges himself by condemning Americans and the American political system in unmeasured terms.

—An Arkansas husband pursued his runaway wife nearly two hundred miles, and when he finally overtook the terrified fugitive, it was found that he only wanted to hand her a set of false teeth, which, in the excitement of her flight, she had forgotten to take with her.

—A Franklin farmer while ploughing recently, discovered a number of potato bugs at the bottom of the furrow. They were apparently frozen stiff, but on being exposed to the sun they revived and immediately inquired the way to the nearest potato patch.

—An insane man named Pyphagnus Galbrath was arrested in a Western city the other day. Pyphagnus was found driving a sewing-machine wagon furiously around the streets, and excused himself upon the plea that the Almighty told him to. It is supposed that his first name hath made him mad.

—Judge.—I fine Tim Leary five dollars for assault and battery on Pat Moloy. Pat Moloy.—But your honor, I want more damages. He blacked me eye, and if I had been invited to a tay party I couldn't have gone. Judge. The court knows nothing about consequential damages. You must carry your own case to Geneva. Adjourned.

—Dundreary got against a snag while in Boston. Said he, "They want to cut down the houses in order to widen the streets, because there are so many people. But if they cut the houses down there will not be so many people. The people can't live in the houses after they are cut down; and if there aru't so many people, why cut them down to make the streets wider?" The poor fellow had to give it up.

DR. THORNTON'S CASE.

"Miss Brayton—Annie Brayton," answered Needham; "there is her last work, a part of the unfinished order of which I spoke." He rose and took three or four sketches from a portfolio, margin al designs for a book of poems. "See here!" he said, holding one of them in the light, "did you ever see anything drawn with greater spirit than that cliff with its bold lines and apparently inaccessible approach, yet the bit of irregular wall at the summit shows human presence and effort, and so appeals to the universal sympathy of the race. One who could sketch that must know what it is to be at home among the mountains."

"I like this one particularly," Thornton said, after a pause, "although it is the simplest of all—this tuft of moss so shot through by a spray of scarlet partridge-berries; I like it because of the faithfulness with which it is finished, the evidence of a touch so tender and delicate as to be almost a caress. I am anxious to see my patient."

"Perhaps there is a charm about the name she bears," said Needham, playfully, while Thornton drew out his watch and rose to take his leave.

Among the visitors in the ante-room, when the physician's office door was thrown open next day, sat a young lady dressed in deep black. She awaited patiently her turn for examination, then rose and went into the inner apartment.

"Dr. Thornton, I believe?" she said in a voice singularly clear and musical. "I am Miss Brayton. Will you please look at my eyes?"

As she spoke she threw back the heavy vail, whose double folds had protected her from the light, and lifted toward him—the face of the Dresden Gallery! The same, yet not the same! By the influence of years of trial, patient endurance, and earnest, hopeful effort, ungrouped capabilities of the girl had been crystalized into a many-sided character. She stood before him, the perfection of his dreams, his own out of all the world, he thought—yet he must school himself to the utterance of professional common-places, while not the tremor of a nerve should betray his long constancy.

"Is it only a temporary difficulty, Dr. Thornton?" she said, with trembling eagerness.

"That depends upon the care you shall take of yourself," he answered gravely; "as yet there is no organic disease. You must have strained your whole nervous system by some kind of overwork. Only rest and careful obedience to prescribed treatment can give you back your eyes."

"For how long?"

"I cannot tell; for six months at least."

The poor girl uttered an involuntary exclamation of dismay, and her lips quivered for a moment, but she controlled herself by a strong effort.

"I ought to be thankful for the hope of being well at all," she said wearily; "but it seems very long to wait."

The autumn and winter wore on. Miss Brayton's eyes improved but slowly. It was true that she needed utter rest of body and mind; the former she took of necessity, but the latter was beyond her power. To find her way through the street was a task so trying, Dr. Thornton forbade it, visiting her at her home instead. Her heart sank at the thought of the long bill of charges to come in by and by, even while she could not repress a thrill of pleasure at the sound of his familiar step. There was the piano as a last resort, she thought; her jewels, her father's gift, had been sold already to meet the emergencies of the present.

Mrs. Brayton's watchful and tender eyes could not fail to detect the brightness which Dr. Thornton's lingering calls brought to her daughter's face, and a secret grew at her heart which she would not for the world put into words. Must a greater grief still be in store for the young heart that had labored so patiently and suffered so nobly?

One day the doctor brought a basket of rare fruit; again it was a bunch of flowers, fragrant with geranium and heliotrope; or a magazine, with passages marked for Mrs. Brayton to read aloud. Indeed he succeeded in weaving himself with all her few pleasures, so that it was no wonder if poor Annie said a dozen times a day, "How kind of him, mamma!" with her pale cheek in a glow.

The time came at last when the bright sunshine might find its way unchecked through the windows. Annie's eyes were not yet strong enough for her painting, but the days of idle darkness were past, and she could at least look forward to the speedy resumption of her music lessons.

"You will not need me much longer, Miss Annie," said Dr. Thornton, finding her alone one day; "shall you be glad?"

She did not reply, but he went on as if he had not noticed her silence: "I have brought something quite in your line," unrolling an engraving.

"You have seen the original, Miss Annie."

"Yes, how did you know?"

"The poor student who picked up your bouquet in the Dresden Gallery has remembered you too well to be mistaken."

A sudden illumination broke over her face.

"Can it be possible?" she cried. "Now I understand the strange consciousness I have often had of having seen you somewhere long ago! Here is the lost thread that has eluded me so long!"

"Annie," said Dr. Thornton, softly, "since that day your face has been with me always. It has helped me to subject the baseness of my nature and lift me toward all things noble and true. When I saw it again in my room that day, I dared to hope that God had given you to me. These few months of your darkness seem to have concentrated all the light of my life. Annie, have I presumed too much?"

Dr. Thornton's house is rich in painting and statuary. Connoisseurs go there to study and admire.

"Mrs. Thornton," said Harry Needham, as he went from wall to wall the other day, "your husband has mistaken his vocation,—with his taste he should have been a great artist."

"No, Annie; tell him no!" said Thornton, coming to his wife's side, and drawing her within the shelter of his arms; "no immortality on canvass or marble could have made up to me for the case which I have often blessed him for sending me, by merit of my plain profession."

The Daily Chronicle,

FRIDAY, MAY 3, 1872.

The Boston Times Replies.

Our correspondent "Romeo" has waked up a lively discussion, The Boston Times says:—

A correspondent of the Portsmouth (New Hampshire) Chronicle of April 29th takes us to task for stating that rotation in office, in reference to the United States Senatorship from that State, is "a political necessity;" and puts a series of questions to us which only shows his ignorance of our opinions on great political questions, and which are not, therefore, worthy answers.

We recently stated, deliberately, and with full understanding and appreciation of the reasons leading to the opinion, that rotation in the Senatorial office from New Hampshire was a political necessity. The principal of rotation, after filling two terms, has always been the rule in New Hampshire, and has been observed by all parties. Two years ago this rule was ignored through the use of certain influences which begot disappointment and heart-burnings within the Republican party, and a consequent disregard of its vital interests which favored a Democratic triumph last year. The re-election of Senator Cragin for a third term, instead of the selection of one of the many who had for fifteen years previously stood in front of the party battle, discouraged many of the most influential Republicans in the State, who believed that the triumphs which only exalted mediocrity were hardly worth the efforts made to effect them; and hence the indifference and non-action which handed over the State to the Democrats and sent a Democratic delegation to the House of Representatives in Congress.

Now the same state of circumstances which preceded Cragin's election in 1870 exists in New Hampshire in 1872. Senator Patterson has had six years in the United States Senate and four in the House—as had his predecessor. He has made no practical figure in either body worth speaking of. There are a great many better men than he up for the senatorial office—better because they have a livelier appreciation of the wants of the State, and because they are of more active habits than he; and one of that sort the people really want. They admire scholarship, but have a greater appreciation of statesmanship as a senatorial qualification, and they desire to have a statesman instead of Mr. Patterson.

Senator Patterson has been very handsomely treated by the New Hampshire Republicans in being allowed to hold his honorable and lucrative Congressional office for ten years. They have given him all the patronage they think him worth (many of them say); they do not again desire to lose the influence of the State in the lower branch of Congress simply to please Senator Patterson's unreasonable personal ambition; and these are good reasons why they should insist on rotation — even were it not an established principle of political management.

But there is a reason, too, as we are well informed, of a moral nature, why Senator Patterson should not be re-elected. This reason is not one of rumor but of fact; and "Romeo" can hardly be unacquainted with some of its prominent features, or with the real substantiality of its details in public court. How many of these rich details will Senator Patterson or his friends deny? Or will he or they challenge the effect said details ought to have—and will have—against Senator Patterson's claim to a re-election?

The Coming Senatorial Contest.

Messrs. Editors:—I am glad to see that some of our papers are inclined to discuss the merits of the Senatorial candidates, as from such light as will be shed upon the question by this process, the State will be the gainer in the selection. From the prevailing tone of correspondence from different parts of the State one would be led to suppose that rotation at the June election was a settled fact. Senator Patterson has the misfortune to be encumbered with a set of effete politicians who have long held office and whose places ought to be vacated. They shout loudly for him and as a consideration will demand retention in their offices. This is a source of weakness to Mr. Patterson.

Again, there are many persons in the State who do not believe that New Hampshire, like Massachusetts, has but two men in the State capable of filling the office of Senator. This may be true, but despite all these obstacles I hope to see Senator Patterson re-elected upon his own merits, for notwithstanding the charges of corruption hurled at him by his political opponents, I believe that he will court investigation of the alleged irregularities. He said in his speech here, that the Republican party dared to investigate the N. Y. custom-house frauds, and I doubt if he will hesitate when charges are made against his integrity.

It is true that many who claim to be for Mr. Patterson are not to be too firmly relied upon, and that his want of political experience, or rather ability as a politician, may cost him his election; still it must be admitted that his claims as a Senator of experience, an orator of acknowledged power, and a statesman of enlarged views should outweigh considerations based on mere success in the distribution of offices, or skill in making the administration's patronage subservient to the wishes of his personal friends. CASSIUS.

Political.

The Vermont Republican State convention adopted resolutions in favor of the re-election of Grant and Colfax, and denouncing the Cincinnati Convention movement.

The Concord Patriot has twice published an article charging Senator Patterson with using his position for enriching himself. The Monitor indignantly denies the truth of these charges and offers to bet that the initials signed to the article are not the initials of the name of the writer of it. The Patriot accepts the offer and proposes that the two editors "shall each deposit $100, in the State Capital Bank; if we prove that the initials published at the bottom of the letter are 'the initials of the writer,' then the Monitor's $100 goes to the Orphan's Home at Millville; if we do not so prove, then our $100 goes there." The Patriot also says that Hon. E. H. Rollins knew nothing of the article before its publication.

CHARLES FRANCIS.—Gath says of Adams, in a somewhat satirical vein: He was sired by Sam. Bowles out of Old Respectability, and is a national concession to Boston Common, where he would rather be an orthodox frog than to dwell in the tents of the wicked. Mr. Adams is one of the original characters in "Guy Livingstone," and he punctually collects his rents and serves his country. He passes the Sabbath in contemplating the tombs of his ancestry, and reading over their grave old love-letters. He has not secured a patent, whatever advice you may have received to the contrary, for that fine Boston curl of the upper lip. This convention is a "crowd," and the Adams family are to be solicited. The fellow in the "Arabian Nights" who constructed a Principality upon six glass jars, and then kicked them to pieces in a dream of self esteem, was one of the Adamses.

—A storm on Lake Winnebago, recently, drove a vast mass of ice, twenty-five miles long, twelve miles wide and three feet thick, ashore with such force that trees two feet thick were uprooted and large rocks carried rods from the lake. The ice was piled up forty feet high in many places.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. ROSS & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

THE CAUSE OF TEMPERANCE finds some of its most insidious and dangerous foes in the many so-called "tonics" and "appetizers," made of cheap whisky and refuse liquors, finished up to suit depraved appetites, under the name of medicines. DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS are none of these. They are not a beverage, but a genuine medicine, purely vegetable, prepared from California herbs by a regular physician. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, skin and blood, they are an infallible and unrivalled remedy. ap29 4w

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Turn of Life—Armed with this great antidote, the fiery ordeal is passed thorough and the sufferer once more restored to the possession of unimpaired health. These Pills are equally efficacious in all female complaints, and obstructions at the dawn of womanhood. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Infection in the Air.

At this season the vegetable world takes a new lease of life; but to the sensitive and delicate members of the human family it is a time of danger and often of great suffering. The moisture which rises from the earth and hangs suspended over it in the form of morning and evening mists and fogs, holds in solution, so to speak, the mephitic elements, which produce fever and ague, remittent fevers, rheumatism, and many painful nervous disturbances, and which aggravate dyspepsia, biliousness and all minor affections of the stomach and the bowels. This, therefore, is a critical period of the year, a season when the renovating, refreshing and purifying operation of the mightiest of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is salvation to the weak, and the best security for the continuance of the health and vigor of the strong. Now is the time not only to protect the system against the common ailments of the season, but to prevent the disorders incident to a warmer temperature. Let not the exhausting heats of the summer months find you unprepared to meet them. A course of Hostetter's Bitters, commenced now, will put all the physical energies in fighting trim, double the capacity of the internal organs to repel the causes of disease, refresh the brain and clear it of all hypochondriacal cobwebs, and place the whole physique in an attitude of defence, with every available point fortified and guarded and as nearly invulnerable to unwholesome influences as it is possible for the human structure to be.

OLD TIME CHRONICLES, No. 51.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Religious Difficulties in Stratham in 1746. — Stratham is a very pleasant township some twelve miles from Portsmouth and eight from the ocean. It is very free from hills and excellent for farming. It never had a lawyer in town till within a few years. One of its natives, however, became eminent in the profession, was a Senator in Congress and is at present Judge of the District Court of New Hampshire. This is Hon. Daniel Clark of Manchester. The population was 1137 in 1775, nearly 100 years ago,—greater than it has been at any time since. Now it is 769, 90 less than at the census of 1860.

Stratham was a part of the grant made to Edward Hilton (with Newmarket) in 1652. It was at first called Winnicut from the Indian name of one of its streams. In 1695 there were thirty-five families in the place, who petitioned for incorporation, but the town was not incorporated till 1716. A meeting-house was erected, a Congregational church formed, and in 1718 Rev. Henry Rust was ordained. This pastorate lasted 31 years, ending with Mr. Rust's death in 1749.

There is no record to show what the success of Mr. Rust was; but there is an account of a disagreeable commotion and division, after 1740, which continued through all the last years of Mr. Rust's ministry. About 1740, Rev. George Whitefield came first to New England. He preached in Hampton, Londonderry, Portsmouth, and York, Me. There was what was called a "great awakening." Mr. Rust did not sympathize with it, but many of his people did, and by 1742 there was quite a division. The party opposed to Mr. Rust attempted to have a meeting called to procure a minister to preach half of each Sabbath. They soon obtained a Mr. Leavitt to preach some, and as early as 1742 obtained Mr. Joseph Adams, just then a graduate of Harvard College. The meetings were held in private houses. Mr. Adams was a Congregationalist, but of the class in that day called "New Lights."

The party which supported Mr. Adams proposed his ordination; Mr. Rust and his people protested against it; a petition was sent to the Governor, Council and Provincial Assembly, setting forth the difficulties and praying the authorities to interpose and redress the grievances. The petition was ably drawn, probably by some one of the legal profession at Exeter or Portsmouth, and aside from the too free use of capital letters it was strictly grammatical. It was signed by Wm. French and sixty-four others. Some of the family names have continued in Stratham ever since, and among them may be mentioned Wiggin, Piper, Jewell, (spelt then Jewill) and Rollins (spelt Wrollings.) The document was dated August 12, 1746. August 22, the same year, it was read in the lower House of the Legislature, and it was voted that the petitioners be heard Sept. 15. We have not the record of the decision of the Government, but it is understood that the civil power did not see fit to interfere; and on March 20, 1747, Mr. Adams was ordained. Two years later, that is, in 1749, Mr. Rust died and then the two parties settled their difficulties, came together and Mr. Adams was installed pastor over all. He died Feb. 24, 1785.

Some time during his pastorate there was an attempt to do away with the practice of lining the hymns; that is, of a deacon reading a line or two and then the singers singing them. There was a division about it and it was settled by the deacon's lining half of the time. Next, a bass viol was introduced. The deacon said, "They had got a fiddle into the church as large as a hogstrough." Mr. Adams was calm amid whatever contentions came, and had the reputation of being a good man.

During the pastorate of Rev. J. Cummings, much later, the contention about a bass viol was renewed. Room in the orchestra for a double bass viol was required; one of the old members said they had let in Dagon. Dagon was an idol god of the Philistines, the body shaped like a woman, the lower part like a fish.

BOSTON AS A SUGAR MARKET.—The increase of the sugar trade in Boston in 1871 was forty per cent. over that of the year previous, while New York's increase was about twenty-five per cent. during the same time. Baltimore, with its great Porto Rico and Demerara trade, imports more hogsheads of sugar than Boston, but of East India sugars the latter city takes the lead, importing nearly three-quarters of a million bags per year. As an instance of this, nearly 19,000 bags of sugar have arrived at this port during the past three days, from Probolingo. Something like one hundred thousand tons of sugar will be brought into this port this year.—Globe.

TONGUES.—Nothing but the proboscis of an elephant compares in muscular flexibility with the tongue. It varies in length and size in reptiles, birds, and mammalia, according to the peculiar organic circumstance of each. A giraffe's tongue has the functions of a finger. It is hooked over a high branch, its strength being equal to breaking off large, strong branches of trees, from which tender leaves are then stripped.

An ant-bear's tongue is long and round, like a whip lash. The animal tears open dry, clay walls of ant-hills, thrusts in its tongue, which sweeps round the apartments, and by its adhesive saliva brings out a yard of ants at a swoop. The mechanism by which it is protruded so far is both complicated and beautiful. A dog's tongue in lapping water takes a form by mere act of volition that cannot be imitated by any ingenious mechanism.

The human tongue in use of language surpasses in variety of motions the wildest imagination of a poet. Even in swallowing food its office is so extraordinary that physiologists cannot explain the phenomena of deglutition without employing the aid of several sciences.—Hall's Journal of Health.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
— OF —
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

THE FARMER'S GARDEN.—Next to the apple orchard, the most important thing to have on a farm is a good vegetable and fruit garden. It would seem to require little arrangement to establish this proposition; and yet, the fact that a good, well kept and productive garden, with farmers in general, is an exception rather than the rule, is, perhaps, sufficient excuse for mentioning some of the more important reasons why every farmer should have one.

First: Because he owes it to the comfort and health of his family. All of the small fruits and most kinds of vegetables are in their season wholesome and palatable in the highest degree; they afford an agreeable variety to the farmer's daily fare, and, according to high medical authority, serve in a measure to counteract the putrefactive tendencies of animal and other nitrogenous food. This alone would seem to be sufficient reason why they should be constantly found upon our tables in one form or another.

Second: The care and cultivation of a garden brings rest and relaxation to the over-worked farmer and his family. This may seem paradoxical; but it is a fact, that after a hard day's work in the fields a man may rest himself by a half hour's work in the garden. Of course I do not mean by hard work, but by doing a little here and a little there—now pulling a few weeds, tying up a grape vine, or pinching a superfluous shoot; anon pruning dwarf apple and pear trees, thinning out the fruit when too thickly set, and attending to other little matters, all necessary to be done, but requiring little actual labor. All this gives to the farmer exactly what he needs—a change of muscular action and a new and pleasanter channel for his thoughts. I seldom get so tired, even in the busiest season, but that I take my evening "run" in the garden, and am satisfied that I sleep and rest better for it.

To the farmer's family the garden offers the readiest and I believe the pleasantest relaxation to be found in rural life. To the mistress it gives an ever present opportunity for out-door exercise, combining both pleasure and profit. And to children who are well taught, the neatly arranged and carefully tilled garden is at once a source of instruction and means of usefulness; and if allowed a corner by themselves or a stated share of the proceeds, they will generally be found quite willing to do a reasonable share of the work. For myself, I know no more sensible accomplishment, or one promising greater usefulness in after life, than for "our girls" to be able to take care of a well stocked fruit and vegetable garden.

Third: The garden, properly managed, is the most profitable part of the farm. Not always in dollars and cents, but it will produce comforts and luxuries which, if the farmer had them to buy at market prices, would cost many times the value of his time and labor expended in their production; and if near a market, a surplus can always be turned to good account in actual cash proceeds. Indeed, I believe that, on many small places near villages and large towns, the cultivation of such small fruits as strawberries, &c., and of such vegetables as cabbages, onions, tomatoes, and perhaps some others, will in many instances prove a far easier and pleasanter way of "getting a living," than the raising of regular farm crops. This is one of the branches of farming yet to be learned for the most part in this State.—Cor. Maine Farmer.

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skilful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

TWINES & NETTING,

MANUFACTURED BY

WM. E. HOOPER & SONS,

☞ Send for Price-List.] Baltimore, Md.

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequaled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, chilblains, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and sorest Blister, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the care of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and to prevention their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching Piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 795 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase a yearly income of - - - - $373.30.
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6-7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the Richard O'Keefe fatally stabbed his brother-in-law, Peter Kenney, in a vile den kept by the pair in South Boston, May 2. The habits and character of both men are of the worst, and both were drunk at the time of the murder.

Fourteen of the South Carolina Ku-Klux prisoners have been sentenced to imprisonment for terms ranging from two to ten years, and to pay fines ranging from $100 to $1000.

A despatch has been received from Bombay announcing the safety of Dr. Livingstone. The steamer Abydos, which carried the English Livingstone-search expeditiou to Zanzibar, had arrived at Bombay from that place with the intelligence that he was with the American, Stanley.

Two highwaymen robbed the stage from Volcano to Jackson, Amador Co., Cal., on May 1st, getting $10,000 from Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express box.

The Eastern Railroad Company is completing the Essex (Mass.) Branch Railroad, which was abandoned by contractors last fall. The company will build a fine depot at Essex, and propose erecting another at Woodbury's Crossing, in East Hamilton, near the Essex and Hamilton lakes.

Marshal Bazaine is to be court martialed.

Advices from Zanzibar of the 15th of April state that the island has been visited by a terrible hurricane, and one hundred and fifty vessels of all classes have been sunk or stranded on the coast. The town of Zanzibar was very badly damaged, and the loss is estimated at $10,000,000.

The case of W. T. Harwood and wife against the Grand Trunk Railroad, tried at Portland, Me., resulted in a verdict for plantiffs of $5500.

An unknown man about 25 years of age threw himself in front of a train on the Rutland (Vt.) Railroad, two miles below that city, and was instantly killed.

A young girl was sentenced to jail for sixty days at Burlington, Vt., for appearing in the street in boy's clothes.

It has been decided to hold the New England fair for the current year in Lowell, Mass., during the first week in September.

The Greeks and Jews in Symrna have had a religious riot in which several persons were killed.

The Franconia Iron Company's works at Wareham, Mass., were entirely burned May 2. Loss about $100,000. Insured in different companies for nearly $50,000. This fire throws 150 men out of employment, who were turning out 150 tons of manufactured iron per week. The works were owned by William F. Coffin of Boston.

Advices from San Antonio, Texas, say that six wagons, seventy-five mules, nine men and two women were attacked by Indians at Howard Well, above Fort Clarke, and the train and all hands captured and burned, except one woman, who escaped. She says the Indians numbered 150. General Merritt sent Lieutenant Vincent with a force of cavalry in pursuit, who overtook and whipped them. Lieutenant Vincent was killed.

CUBA.—Cuban advices fully confirm the reported defeat of the Spaniards under Valmeseda on the River Conto, on the morning of April 9th. Valmaseda arrived at Santiago from Mansanillo on a steamer with over 350 wounded. The statement now received is that Valmaseda, in command of over 2500 regulars, was attacked by General Vincente Garcia near the north bank of the Conto, whither he had been drawn by a false report circulated by Cubans of an intended landing of arms and ammunition for the "patriots" on the coast beyond. The Cubans, it is said, fell upon the Spaniards in a defile where retreat was impossible, and the slaughter was terrific. Those who were not killed or wounded fled in dire confusion, throwing away their arms, knapsacks, hats and shoes. The panic in Santiago is reported as extreme. Valmaseda stated on his arrival that if Spain hoped to reconquer the island she must send 100,000 men in a body. Two other steamers had arrived with wounded. All who could were leaving Santiago.

JURUBEBA.

Long and successfully used in its native country, as a Powerful Tonic, and Potent Purifier of the Blood, it is found even to exceed the anticipations founded on its great reputation. According to the Medical and Scientific periodicals of London and Paris, it possesses the MOST POWERFUL TONIC properties known to MATERIA MEDICA.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

is a perfect remedy for all diseases of the BLOOD, ORGANIC WEAKNESS, GLANDULOUS TUMORS, DROPSY, SCROFULA, INTERNAL ABSCESSES, and will remove all obstructions of the LIVER, SPLEEN, INTESTINES, UTERINE and URINARY ORGANS.

It is strengthening and nourishing. Like nutritious food taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation, giving vigor and health.

It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and by its powerful TONIC and restoring effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system.

SATURDAY, MAY 4, 1872.

The Senatorial Question.

The writer in the Boston Times, in reply to "Romeo" shows himself either wilfully or stupidly ignorant as to Senatorial affairs in New Hampshire when he says, "Two years ago the principle of rotation after two terms was ignored through the use of certain influences which begat disappointment and heartburnings within the Republican party, and a consequent disregard of its vital interests, which favored a Democratic triumph last year. The re-election of Senator Cragin for a third term, instead of one of the many who had for fifteen years previously stood in front of the party battle, discouraged many of the most influential Republicans in the State, who believed that the triumphs which only exalted mediocrity were hardly worth the efforts made to effect them; and hence the indifference and non-action which handed over the State to the Democrats and sent a Democratic delegation to the House of Representatives in Congress."

He goes on to say that the same state of circumstances which preceded Senator Cragin's election in 1870 exists in New Hampshire in 1872. Now what are the facts? Senator Cragin, when re-elected, had served but one term in the U. S. Senate, and does not expect to overstep the rule of rotation after his second term expires. Senator Patterson's position as to the rotation principle I am free to admit is similar to that of Senator Cragin's in 1870. The re-election of Mr. Cragin doubtless disappointed one of the many, and the disappointment of that one must have been very great when he found so few friends to vote for him, after so much loud talk on the part of himself and his interested friends. Perhaps that may account for that one's lukewarmness in 1871. How is it in 1872? The same one comes forward very prominently, urging his claim to the Senate again, because of his activity during the campaign of 1872, and his very active friends assist in urging his case because of his superior ability to fill Senator Patterson's place. The would-be Senator's ambition is very far ahead of his ability and common sense. The Republican voters of New Hampshire are generally intelligent, and know that Mr. Patterson has been a true and faithful servant to his State.

The members elect of the Legislature are in all probability able to settle the Senatorial question without consulting such a writer as the one who attempted to reply to "Romeo," in the Boston Times.

The effort to blind any one by connecting the two terms in the House of Representatives in Congress with, the Senate, can be very easily understood, and is doubtless fully appreciated by all who read such articles.

The attempt to strike a blow at the moral standing of Senator Patterson is of too mean a character to call for a reply. E. H. Rollins, knowing Senator Patterson, does not believe it,—any more than he believes in the one term rule providing he is elected Senator.

RIGHT.

The Senatorship.

Messrs. Editors:—The article of "Capulet," in your paper of May 1, approaches the Senatorial question more closely, and in a more truthful manner, than does any of the series of articles which have been advertised in a Boston paper, furnished to the members elect of the General Court of New Hampshire and studiously quoted from by many of our papers. "Capulet" has touched the key note of the present cry for rotation, and in so doing has inadvertently disclosed to your readers the true cause of our defeat last year. Senator Cragin's reëlection, he tells us, "caused the loss of that [Republican] party's power in New Hampshire, and gave the Representatives in Congress into the hands of the Democrats." Now what is the explanation of this; how did Senator Cragin's re-election cause this result? Plainly, thus: some disappointed aspirants for Senator Cragin's place, by inactivity and personal influence caused, or, we will say, permitted, the defeat of the Republican candidates. Super-extra exertions were made by the Democrats—inactivity was displayed by some of the Republican ex-contestants for Senatorial honors. Leading men, who by a little exertion could easily have carried the election, being soured by not obtaining what they had sought, preferred party defeat to a hearty support of the more successful Senator. In this State, where the parties are so evenly divided, yet where with ordinary exertion the Republicans are sure of victory, this course was certainly condemnatory; yet "Capulet" threatens a repetition of these "tactics" should Senator Patterson be re-elected. He says "there is huge risk in ignoring the services of any of the men who are co-contestants of the Senatorial office." The services of those who, by inaction, caused the defeat of the party last year, surely should not be ignored, neither should they be rewarded by conferring on them the highest honor in the gift of the State.

COM.

THE CINCINNATI CONVENTION.—The second day of the "liberal republican" convention in Cincinnati resulted in accomplishing only a permanent organization. Three sessions were held. In the morning, committees on credentials platform, organization and rules were appointed, and a minority of the New York delegation, opposed to the nomination of Horace Greeley for President, entered a protest against the manner in which their representatives in convention had been chosen. In the afternoon the committee on organization submitted the name of Carl Schurz as presiding officer, with the usual lot of vice-presidents and secretaries, and the Missouri Senator accepted the chair. The other committees, with exception of that on platform, reported, and the protest of the New York minority was disallowed. In the evening it was expected that the platform would be submitted, but the committee were not ready and so the session was given up to offering resolutions, and wrangling over the tariff question, etc., all of which amounting to nothing.

On Friday, the convention was called to order shortly after 10 o'clock, and without much time being wasted a ballot was taken, resulting as follows:

Adams	203
Trumbull	108
Davis	92 1-2
Greeley	147
Brown	98
Curtin	62
Chase	2 1-2
Sumner	1

On the second ballot Adams went up to 243, Trumbull to 148, Greeley to 245; Davis went down to 75, Brown to 2, Curtin was left out in the cold, Chase lost three-fifths of his supporters and Sumner's vote was one less than it was on the first ballot.

At the end of the third call the vote footed:

Greeley	258
Trumbull	156
Adams	264
Davis	44
Brown	2

At the close of the fourth ballot:

Adams	279
Greeley	231
Trumbull	141
Davis	51
Brown	2

At the end of the call on the fifth ballot, the vote stood:

Adams	309
Greeley	258
Trumbull	81
Davis	30
Brown	2
Chase	24

The sixth ballot was ordered amid great confusion, with the following result:

Adams	324
Greeley	332
Trumbull	19
Davis	6
Chase	32
Parker	1

Before the vote was formally announced a stampede of changes occurred, amid great confusion, and the chair finally announced:

Whole vote	714
Necessary to choice	358
Adams has	187
Greeley	432

And Horace Greeley was selected as one of the men to be defeated by Grant in November next.

For Vice President, the convention nominated B. Gratz Brown of Missouri.

Political.

The Democratic State convention of North Carolina denounced the liberal Republicans, and adopted resolutions declaring for the unity of all patriots, without distinction of party, in the cause of civil liberty and in faithfully abiding by the Constitution of the United States as it is, with all its amendments, including emancipation, and equality before law which confers equal civil and political rights upon all who are citizens of this federal republic.

The New York assembly has adopted the report recommending the impeachment of the Tammany Judge Barnard. Judge McCunn will be similarly dealt with.

—Instead of flying kites, bringing lightning from heaven, and making philosophical axioms, Mr. Benjamin Franklin of New Orleans spends a major portion of his time in stealing ducks.

—A Cleveland paper discourseth sweetly: The gay and festive June bug bloweth his horn in sunny places; the melancholy bullfrog singeth in the dusk of eve; the luxurious snail walketh with his house on his back, and the reverend mud turtle swimmeth to the surface of the lake. These are signs of the setting in of spring weather.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

KEEP THE HAIR UNBLEMISHED. — "I am like an old hemlock—withered at the top," said a venerable Indian Chief, pointing to his thin and bleaching locks. Thousands of men and women in civilized society, much younger than the old Sagamore, are like him, "withered at the top," simply because they have neglected to use the means of preserving and beautifying the hair which science had placed at their disposal. If LYON'S KATHAIRON be faithfully applied once or twice a day, to the fibers and the scalp, it is just as impossible that the hair should decay, wither, fall out or become harsh and fuzzy, as that a meadow, duly refreshed with nightly dews and sunlight rains, should become arid and barren of green blades. This matchless preparation not only keeps the hair alive, and the skin of the head in a healthy and clean condition, but actually multiplies the filaments and imparts to them a lustre, flexibility and wavy beauty unattainable by any other mode of treatment. It does not, like the metallic and sulphurous hair dyes, dry up the natural moisture of the scalp, but supplies nutriment to the roots of the hair and vigor to the fibers.

THE CAUSE OF TEMPERANCE finds some of its most insidious and dangerous foes in the many so-called "tonics" and "appetizers," made of cheap whisky and refuse liquors, finished up to suit depraved appetites, under the name of medicines. DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS are none of these. They are not a beverage, but a genuine medicine, purely vegetable, prepared from California herbs by a regular physician. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, skin and blood, they are an infallible and unrivalled remedy. ap29 4w

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Turn of Life—Armed with this great antidote, the fiery ordeal is passed thorough and the sufferer once more restored to the possession of unimpaired health. These Pills are equally efficacious in all female complaints, and constructions at the dawn of womanhood. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Infection in the Air.

At this season the vegetable world takes a new lease of life; but to the sensitive and delicate members of the human family it is a time of danger and often of great suffering. The moisture which rises from the earth and hangs suspended over it in the form of morning and evening mists and fogs, holds in solution, so to speak, the mephitic elements, which produce fever and ague, remittent fevers, rheumatism, and many painful nervous disturbances, and which aggravate dyspepsia, biliousness and all minor affections of the stomach and the bowels. This, therefore, is a critical period of the year, a season when the renovating, refreshing and purifying operation of the mightiest of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is salvation to the weak, and the best security for the continuance of the health and vigor of the strong. Now is the time not only to protect the system against the common ailments of the season, but to prevent the disorders incident to a warmer temperature. Let not the exhausting heats of the summer months find you unprepared to meet them. A course of Hostetter's Bitters, commenced now, will put all the physical energies in fighting trim, double the capacity of the internal organs to repel the causes of disease, refresh the brain and clear it of all hypochondriacal cobwebs, and place the whole physique in an attitude of defence, with every available point fortified and guarded and as nearly invulnerable to unwholesome influences as it is possible for the human structure to be.

L. B. LENT, - - - - - DIRECTOR.

Performance—Afternoon at 2 1-2. Evening at 7 o'clock.

It should be distinctly understood that this establishment is the only

FIRST-CLASS CIRCUS

in America, permanently established in a large city, conducted in metropolitan style, and which has acquired a metropolitan reputation. With the New York Circus will be found the

5 Best Riders in America,

in one company, a combination which cannot be equalled in any Equestrian Troupe on the Globe. With a full and efficient Corps of Acrobats.

THREE GREAT CLOWNS!

20 Lilliputian Ponies,

The Smallest and Handsomest in the World.

The Afternoon entertainment will conclude with the Famous Fairy Spectacular Pantomime of

which will be produced with a faithful adherence to the traditional characteristics of this popular and enchanting legend.

The EVENING performance will conclude with the Gorgeous, Romantic and Extravagant

Pantomimic Harlequinade of

The Miser of Bagdad!

A production replete with COMICAL INCIDENTS, UPROARIOUS FUN, GROTESQUE TRICKS and MAGIC CHANGES, which are amusing to a degree not equalled by any PANTOMIME ever performed in this country.

One of the greatest features of the New York Circus is

PROF. CHARLES ROSWOLD'S REED AND BRASS BAND.

This Band is THREE TIMES AS LARGE as any Band ever attached to any other Circus, and will parade the principal Streets about 10 A. M., in the LARGEST, most massive and elaborately carved and decorated GOLDEN CHARIOT ever constructed, and drawn by

THE HANDSOMEST TEAM OF 24 HORSES

That the world can produce. The Uniform of this Band is gorgeous beyond description.

City Council.

In Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening, May 2, a communication from "William McCaubrey, U. S. Marine Corps," complaining of his arrest in the State of Maine by Portsmouth police officers, and asking for himself and comrade immunity from illegal acts, was referred to Committee on Police.

The Committee on Streets, to whom was referred the petition for widening Newcastle Street, reported that the public good required that the Street should be widened. The subject was recommitted, and it was ordered that the petition be allowed a hearing on May 23, at 8 o'clock P. M., at the Aldermen's Room.

Samuel A. Horton was appointed Special Police without pay.

Leave was granted Wm. S. Hadley to encumber Warren and Church Streets for building.

Committee on Streets reported in favor of granting a cross-walk from north side of Court Street to Miss Sise's house on Middle Street, and of extending the walk from Dr. Pierce's corner to join the first named crossing. The Street Commissioner was directed to act.

Communication from William H. Sise relative to a celebration of the 250th anniversary of the settlement of the town, and an invitation to the Sons of Portsmouth abroad to join in the same, on July 4th, 1873, was accepted.

The returns of Births, Deaths, Enrolment, etc., were referred to Committee on Enrolment, with power.

The Common Council gave notice that they had nonconcurred in the Aldermen's amendment to joint vote authorizing the construction of a reservoir. Voted, to adhere to the amendment, and to ask for a Committee of Conference. Ald. Mendum and Hatch were appointed on the part of the Board.

The Committee on Fire Department reported that the stone building near corner of State and Pleasant Streets could be hired for a term of years for the Hook and Ladder Truck, and the Mayor and Committee on Fire Department were authorized to ascertain on what terms said building could be procured.

The Committee on Police, who were directed to settle the accounts of Ex-City Marshal Kent, reported that Mr. Kent claimed to have an account against the city. The Committee were requested to report the character and amount of Mr. Kent's claims.

The Committee on Fire Department, to whom was referred the claim of J. E. Rider for half year's service as fireman, reported; and it was voted that Mr. Rider's claim be not allowed.

In Common Council, notice was received that the Board of Aldermen had indefinitely postponed the resolution authorizing the laying of a pipe from the North Millpond to Bridge Street.

Notice was received that the Board of Aldermen had amended the resolution authorizing the construction of a reservoir near Union Street, leaving the choice of location entirely with the Committee on Fire Department, with Mayor added. The Council unanimously refused to concur in the amendment.

The Caucuses.

At the Republican caucuses, Friday evening, the following named gentlemen were chosen as delegates to the State Convention:

Ward One, — Ichabod Goodwin, William H. Y. Hackett, George W. Pendexter, Joseph H. Thacher, George Annable, George Tompson, William F. Ham, Samuel A. Spinney.

Ward Two, — Jonothan Dearborn, William Simes, Aaron H. Hill, Samuel H. Goodall, Henry A. Yeaton, James B. Pray, Lewis G. Davis, Frank W. Miller.

Ward Three,—Wm. H. Rollins, Samuel Adams, Gardner M. Goodrich, Wm. A. Vaughan, Jr.

Laconics.

Rev. Moses How, of New Bedford, Mass., now in his eighty-third year, left home on Tuesday, April 30, spent that night with his brother in Haverhill, Mass., on Wednesday went to Newburyport and performed his eighteen hundred and fifty-fifth marriage ceremony, then came to this city and attended a prayer meeting in the evening, on Thursday made some twenty or more friendly calls,—all being glad to greet and take him by the hand once more,—and then took the cars for Manchester and Lowell to spend a day with his two sons, on his way home. The brisk and genial old gentleman has never ran any risk of "rusting out," and his intense activity has not yet been able to make any very great show towards wearing out his vigorous frame. A centennial celebration with him as the central figure would not greatly surprise the many friends who would be more than pleased to participate in it.

Frost's Allegory and Tableaux drew a large audience to the Temple, Friday evening, and pleased them greatly after they were there. The costumes were rich and costly, and appropriate to the characters represented; and the tableaux are beautiful. The entertainment is to be repeated this evening, when the house should and probably will be completely filled.

Mr. Frank Rodrick, having furnished his Hair Dressing Saloon at No. 9 Water Street with conveniences for bathing, is now ready to furnish the public with Hot and Cold Baths on application. Mr. Rodrick's enterprisee in supplying a want long felt in the quarter in which his saloon is situated, should be recognized by liberal patronage, as we do not doubt it will be. His advertisement may be found in another column.

Copies of the Jubilee music, for those not members of the Jubilee chorus, may be had at Mr. Joy's music store.

The explosion of a pane of glass in the store of Terhune and Berry, size 42x54, on Thursday, by means of a crooked throw, deprived the base ballers on Congress Street of further opportunity of "passing the ball."

The Republican caucus at Kittery, on the evening of May 2, unanimously appointed Robert Briard, Hiram Toby, John J. Lambert, Warrington Paul, W. H. Sanborn, Charles E. Hayes and W. Hancock as delegates to the convention to be held at Biddeford, Me., on the 9th inst., to nominate a candidate for Congress as successor to Mr. Lynch. The gentlemen named are all for Gen. Wentworth.

Herbert & Watkins have neatly fitted up the "Central Market" on Vaughan Street, in rear of Thacher's drug store, and offer all kinds of fresh and pickled Fish for sale at reasonable prices. We see no reason why a well kept fish market in this central situation should not be a source of much profit to its projectors, as it certainly will be a great convenience to caterers for families, especially when said caterers are of the better half of humanity.

The steamship Clotilde, which went ashore on Wells Beach some time ago and was got off after months of labor, taken to Portland, thence to Boston and there repaired, was seized on Thursday when leaving Boston for Liverpool, on a claim for salvage made by the parties who floated her off Wells Beach. She still sails under the British flag.

Evening Service will be held to-morrow in St. John's Church, (it being the first Sunday of the month,) commencing at quarter past 7 o'clock.

Don't forget the grand opening at the new store of W. W. Henderson & Co., Daniel Street, to-day. Their advertisement in another column is not hard to find.

WATER FOR FIRES.—The better protection of our city against the ravages of fire is being thoroughly discussed both publicly and privately, and we are beginning to believe that after all perhaps we shall not be obliged to suffer a Chicago experience to prompt us to action in this matter. Still we cannot reconcile this reflection with the recent singular action of the Board of Aldermen in indefinitely postponing the bill sent from the Common Council, and recommending that a supply pipe be laid from the lowest point of tide water in the North mill pond to the corner of Hanover and Bridge streets. The honorable board may however, have good and sufficient reasons for thus disposing of the matter, but we confess that after giving the subject considerable thought we are unable to discern them. It certainly cannot be that no supply of water is needed in that locality. Many portions of our city are equally exposed to a disastrous fire, we grant. But from the fact that there is in that part of the city a large area of wooden buildings with no water of any account nearer than the river (save when it is high water in the mill pond which might not happen simultaneous with the breaking out of a fire), it would not seem amiss to place a hydrant there as an initiatory step to a general supply throughout the city.—Journal.

—A man in Darby, Penn., bought a dog to guard his shop from burglars, and the next morning when he opened the store the creature very nearly devoured him. He shut the beast in, took a week's vacation, and spent it in firing at that dog through the windows, and down the chimney, and up through the cellar ceiling with a shot gun, trying to exterminate him. And that mercantile establishment did not open for trade until the man had paid twice the first cost of the dog to the dog's former owner to come and take it home; and then, when he got in he found that, during the bombardment, holes had been shot through mackerel barrels and molasses cans and coal-oil kegs, so that there was misery and ruin every where. Dogs have no more charms for this man; and if you allude in his presence to the noble work that is being done by the woman's branch of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, that merchant is always observed to rise up and swear.

Clippings.

The following items are from the Journal:

—Rev. C. P. Smith has resigned the pastorate of the Court St. Christian Baptist Church.

—Referring to the item on Pest Island, published last week, Capt. "Bob" potests against the dangerous business of using his 'capacious boots' for conveying patients to that point, on the score that they are not 'water tight.'

—The month of April was on the whole nearly a degree and a half colder than usual, and of the nine quarters of a month since the 2nd of February only one quarter (the 2nd of April) has been above the average temperature.

—It is stated as a fixed fact that the "Sons and Daughters of Portsmouth" are to be publicly welcomed home on the 20th anniversary of the return of 1843. Circulars containing full particulars will be sent out at an early day.

— The Steamer Enterprise will not be ready to be placed on the route between Biddeford, this port and Boston until the latter part of this month. A new boiler is to be placed on board and some general repairs made before beginning her summer freighting business.

— A tasteful uniform is now being made for the Marine Band, consisting of navy blue cloth with three rows of gilt buttons on the coat, and gilt cord, and a "garde nationale," hat with white and red plume. The uniform will be ready in a few weeks — when it is, probably the band will have a parade.

—The Eastern Railroad have underadvisement the deserving case of Mr. Jeff. C. Rowe, who was severely and permanently injured at the Revere disaster. Such a heroic case at a time when so many lives were at stake deserves a generous return from the corporation in whose employ he was at the time he lost an arm, and received such painful injuries which must go with him through life.

— Lent's New York Circus, the fine appearance and excellent music of whose band attracted so much attention here last season, will performed on Middle Street next week. This company do not rely upon the attraction of a street parade to fill their exhibition tent, but the wide reputation of the management and the various performers is enough to insured a large attendance at both their entertainments.

A NEEDED REFORM.—There is an opportunity for Social Science to do a good work in reforming the literary taste of the masses in our cities and large towns. The proprietor of a circulating library in an inland city, recently said that it was impossible to get books trashy enough to please his customers. "They wholly neglect Scott, Cooper, and Dickens," he said; "they turn up their noses at Thackeray; Mrs. Southworth has been their standard, though they are beginning to have a vague belief that there are still lower deeps, and to long to fathom them." An observant person passing along our streets will see dozens of boys, in moments snatched from the duties of the shop, improving their minds with a vicious weekly paper, and half-grown girls, custodians of sidewalk emporiums, lost to all thought of traffic in the exciting pages of a dime novel. The lessons thus learned are too often ruinous; "Paul Clifford" and "Jack Sheppard" have made many burglars; and the police reports of the daily papers record frequent crimes as the direct results of vicious literature. We are glad to see that some dealers have refused to sell the flash periodicals which afflict the land. If the great News Companies would follow this example, the evil might be in great part repressed; but we suppose their profits from such wares are too great to be abandoned.—Literary World.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING.—We have made great additions to our jobbing facilities—a mammoth Hand Press (the largest in Portsmouth), new Display Type, Borders of various styles, &c.—and are prepared to execute with neatness and dispatch, all orders for FULL SHEET POSTERS, DATE SLIPS, PAMPHLETS, SERMONS, ADDRESSES, AUCTION BILLS, CONSTITUTIONS, BY LAWS, PROGRAMMES, HANDBILLS, CIRCULARS, ORDERS DANCES, BLANKS, BILL HEADS, RECEIPTS, TICKETS, BUSINESS, MARRIAGE, ADDRESS AND VISITING CARDS, LABELS, TAGS, and in fact PRINTING OF ANY DESCRIPTION, at SATISFACTORY PRICES. The Singer

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices —and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

ACQUITTED.—"Glees" Connors, the keeper of a low rum-hole in Chelsea, Mass., has been tried in the supreme court of Massachusetts for the murder of police officer Wilbur, and the Boston Advertiser says the jury "surprised the public" by acquitting him. The news of the acquittal was at first received in Chelsea with incredulity, but on the confirmation of the intelligence, excitement scarcely less intense than at the time of the murder prevailed, and indignation at the result was freely expressed on every hand among the native population, but the disorderly element received the intelligence with extravagant demonstrations of delight, and when Conners arrived in the boat from Boston, he was greeted with an ovation. The drinking saloons were crowded with roughs and much bad whiskey was put out of sight. Conners intends re-opening his old drinking saloon.

SYSTEM IN BUSINESS produces the most satisfactory results. Great houses like that of Jordan, Marsh & Co., of Boston, could not exist without a nearly perfect system. Their distinct departments are found of the greatest convenience to their patrons, as well as a necessity to the firm.

$1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the worst instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the foot, and prevents all the pain of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for Internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated on the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

The two finest looking girls in Gorham, are credited with six feet of perpendicularity apiece.

Lebanon's hotel is under way. It is to be of brick, four stories, with French roof. The front will be 362 feet, and trimmed with granite.

Agents from manufacturing companies have gobbled up and carried away to other places the operatives thrown out of employment by the late fire in Milford.

The dwelling-houses and out-buildings of Mr. Quimby and Amos Eaton, of Barrington, were entirely consumed by fire on Thursday morning.

The house and barn of Mr. Pickering, in Gilmanton Corner, were burned on Wednesday. Loss about $1500, no insurance.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

MONDAY, MAY 6, 1872.

The Odds and Ends.

The result of the farce at Cincinnati seems to have put everybody in the best of humor. A most noticeable fact is the manner in which the nomination of Horace Greeley for President has been received by all parties. A burst of laughter is heard from every group of men who discuss the nomination. The warmest friend of President Grant, the most bitter opponent of the so-called Liberal movement, could not have asked for a more absurd conclusion of the balloting for a candidate. For months have men who enjoyed the confidence of the Republican party in times past, concocted schemes to defeat it. For months have ambitious candidates sought to advance themselves by joining in the grand scramble for the Presidency. No means have been spared to endeavor to make of the gathering at Cincinnati a dignified and imposing assemblage. The names of the "shining lights" whose unsatisfied ambition has led them astray from the people who conferred honor upon them, have been paraded before the public gaze to show what a wonderfully powerful movement was on foot and what sagacity and shrewdness was engaged in it.

Distrustful of each other, suspicious of every action, the selfishness of these politicians who thought themselves statesmen quickly showed itself. From the general rallying cry, "Anybody to beat Grant," the grand tussle ended in most disgraceful combinations to beat each other. Senator Fenton of New York leaves the convention and straightway an emulous rival telegraphs that his departure "is considered fortunate" and "leaves the result of the convention free from suspicion." Charles Francis Adams, scenting the unsavory clashing of the elements to compose the convention, instinctively gasps "draw me out of that crowd"—and most emphatically has he been drawn out. The unimpeachable New Yorkers, finding trouble in their ranks and opposition to Greeley by a large minority, boldly expel the fellows who will not agree to a unanimous vote for the Chappaqua gull and substitute others who will, among them "Rocky Moore," of prize fighting notoriety. Horace languishes for the Irish vote and will no doubt receive the votes of the members of the prize ring. Judge Davis, whom "liberal" opponents charge with the futile expenditure of $50,000 to obtain the nomination, succeeds only in dividing the vote of Illinois, his native State, with Trumbull, the disgruntled Senator from that State.

So the entanglement becomes general and the fury of the contestants increases. The first ballot wings Judge Davis and wounds the ambitions of Curtin, Trumbull, et als. The second shot disposes of all but Horace and Charles Francis. Then the peculiar electioneering talents of Senator Fenton and "Rocky" Moore are developed. Gratz Brown with his howling Missourians, whose trade with the New Yorkers disgusted that enormous mischief maker, Carl Schurz, appeals to his friends to aid "Rocky," and Horace, for Fenton's hand is shown and the result does not leave the convention free from suspicion. Away up, nearly, quite to, above the necessary majority rises Greeley's vote—and the thing is done. The principal work of the convention is over. It has made a nomination. It has nominated Horace Greeley! Away over the wires flashes the news, to the sanctum of the editor of the New York Tribune, to the thousands of towns in Uncle Sam's dominions.

And the nation laughs! Not a grin, not a malicious simper, not a tortured smile, but a hearty "Ha! Ha!" echoes back to the startled "Liberals" from the pine forests of Maine and the mighty hills of the great West. Straightway the convention proceeds to the completion of the work carved out for it by Senator Fenton and his fellow conspirators and fills its cup to overflowing by the nomination of Benjamin Gratz Brown of Missouri, for Vice President, a man who was beaten off the track for the nomination which was accorded Horace, on the ground that he had made but recently a tour of conviviality in a neighboring State, which was unfortunate in many respects, as the tourist it is alleged, became unable to walk straight.

And that is the best our friends of the convention of odds and ends could do for their constituency, the Germans, the Irish, the French, the political tricksters, the fossil ex-office holders, the pugilists, the free traders, the protectionists et id omne genus. Greeley and Brown are placed before the people to receive their suffrages. The latter desires their votes on the ground that he originated this grand hullaballoo. The former hopes for the votes of the revenue reformers because "Rocky" and Gratz train thereabouts; he expects the ballots of the protectionists because of his past record in behalf of pig iron; he counts readily on the suffrages of the strikers and foreigners because they are his especial champions; and for the largest part of the vote he hopes to receive he blandly submits to Democrats the fact that seven short years ago he went bail for Jeff Davis.

The Press on the Nomination of Horace Greeley.

The Boston Post says: "The remarkable assembly that was convened at Cincinnati to initiate the work of reform in the administration of the Goverement allowed the spirit of combination to obscure its clear vision in respect to the pressing needs of the country, and wrecked a noble opportunity by the most strangely unfortunate misdirection of its aims. * * * * Few persons in their sober senses will deny that the selection of Horace Greeley as a candidate for President, is a disappointment for which they were not prepared."

The Boston Globe thinks the "nomination of Mr. Greeley was one eminently fit for such a body to make, for there never was such a persevering old office-seeker as he, and never did such a hungry set of office-seekers get together to fix upon a candidate. * * * * We opine that if his life be spared, the sage of Chappaqua will have ample opportunity in the time to come to raise mammoth squashes, and tell the hardy tillers of the soil what he knows about farming."

The Boston Advertiser is of the opinion that the "liberal reform goose is cooked. * * * * The new party has appointed for a leader the veteran hero of many a desperate defeat, one who is, if we may so to speak, hallowed by the prestige of disaster. * * * * The one work for them was to put in nomination for the presidency a man distinguished above General Grant in the qualities of purity, ability, patriotism and wisdom in practical statesmanship, if they could find him. This we do not hesitate to say they have signally failed to do."

The New York Evening Post heads the news thus: "The Grand Failure. The cause of revenue reform betrayed at Cincinnati. The politicians triumphant." The Post says of the reception of the news:—"There was no enthusiasm, and the men who looked to Cincinnati for means of rectifying the abuses in the government, and of giving definite expression to their feelings on the subject of revenue oppression, as embodied in the original call for the convention, confess their defeat."

The Express says:—"The nomination of Greeley excites surprise and something of amazement in this quarter."

The N. Y. Sun observes that "never has such honor been paid the newspaper press as in the nomination of two editors at Cincinnati."

The New York Tribune has the following, written by Dr. Greeley:—"We make no comments on the ticket presented yesterday at Cincinnati. The people, without distinction of party, are considering it, and will in due time indicate their judgment thereon. The platform has been to us throughout an object of much greater solicitude than the nominations, and our interest has centered in what should be said bearing on protection and free-trade. There is an honest and serious difference among republicans and reformers on this question. Our convictions are strong on our side; others equally patriotic and intelligent hold opinions antagonistic to ours. We do not wish the convention to say that we are right. We do not see with what propriety, or what profit, it could pronounce us in the wrong. To declare either for protection or free trade would repel some, perhaps many, from the support of the liberal movement, while it would win over no opponent to that movement. We therefore urged the convention simply to remit this question to the people as one on which we are not agreed, asking them to pronounce judgment thereon in the choice of members of Congress, by whom, and not by the executive, it must be discussed and decided. This view, we are rejoiced to say, prevailed, but its prevalence is no triumph over free trade, much less over "revenue reform," be that what it may. It is simply a reference of the whole subject to the decision of the people, unprejudiced by any dictum of the convention. If the majority are for free trade or against it, they are in no wise precluded by the liberal platform from making their judgment known and respected. On the contrary they are exhorted to do so, with an assurance that their wish, thus authentically expressed, shall not be over-borne by executive power. This is as we think it should be, and we do not see why any who have faith in the people should be alienated or offended by such a reference of the subject."

The New York World repudiates the nomination.

The Boston Times says "the verdict of to-day is that the nomination has disappointed public expectation, falling entirely flat, awakening no enthusiasm among Democrats or Republicans, and occasioning ridicule where other names would have created respect and enthusiasm."

From a Looker-On.

The Biddeford Journal in referring to the Senatorial struggle in this State says:—"The public have each year noticed with surprise the extraordinary accuracy of the New Hampshire canvass made by the Republican State Committee, the chairman of which has been and is our old friend, Hon. E. H. Rollins of Concord, a man of wonderful executive ability and an unflinching Republican; and to his earnestness, unwearied attention and skill is due more than to any other ten men the efficiency of the party in that State. These facts present themselves to us by seeing Mr. Rollins mentioned as a candidate for United States Senator, and it would be not only a very graceful, but a well earned compliment for the Republicans of New Hampshire to send him to the Senate, who has aided them as no other one man has done, especially since of his qualification for the position and of his devotion to Republican principles, there never has been the shadow of a doubt. This is the way it looks to an outsider."

The Rotation Question.

Editors of the Chronicle:—Your correspondent "Capulet," whose letter you published in your paper of the 1st instant, has stated some reasons why there ought to be rotation in holding the office of United States Senator from this State, now filled by Hon. Jas. W. Patterson; and so far as his specifications go they have force. But there are other, and associate considerations which, to my apprehension, appear equally strong; and, with your kind permission, now that the subject has been opened up, I will them present to your readers.

The general question of rotation is a most important one; and, looking at it in every aspect, I think it a very grave one, with the most sober results contingent. I believe it is considered as a general rule that, in all instances when a United States Senatorial vacancy is to be filled by a legislature, the question of the candidacy mingles among those made prominent during the campaign which preceeds the choice of the members of such legislature. There was such understanding, certainly, during the last March campaign; and, although our State Republican papers said little or nothing on the subject, their managers all understood that there was to be a struggle between Messrs. Patterson and Rollins for the Senatorial office. Opposition papers spoke out very freely concerning this subject, and expressed themselves orac-ularly respecting Mr. Rollins' determination to succeed Mr. Patterson. When the latter gentleman left Washington to stump the State, he was assured in many quarters that he was about to handle a stick which would surely break his own head; and moreover, it was asserted with equal positiveness that the efforts of Mr. Straw and of Mr. Rollins were combined so as to assure the one the Governorship and the other the Senatorial succession. This arrangement was denied—but never by authority; and it was my impression, as a Republican, that it existed, and that it was quite proper. At all events I can find none among my party friends who will say that they were not aware before election that Mr. Rollins was a candidate for the Senatorship, and that fact fortifies my own impression regarding the matter. I think, then, that so far as custom has governed, and does regulate preliminaries, Mr. Rollins has been as fairly before the people as a Senatorial candidate as has been Mr. Patterson. The names of other candidates were broached, but none of them had the public prominence of the two gentlemen named.

I can also assert it as a fact that, from the very inception of the campaign which ended in March last, and until its close, the working leaders of the Republican party in this State—scenting danger from any repetition of the anti-rotation principle which succeeded in the case of Senator Cragin, in 1870—acted unitedly in the understanding that some one of the candidates whose names are before the legislature elect was to succeed Mr. Patterson as United States Senator. They, very justly, I think, required such recognition of their most indefatigable and wonderfully successful labors during seventeen years; and I have not the slightest doubt that the decision of the coming Senatorial caucus will show that such requirement will be granted. It would be a major ingratitude if the result should be otherwise, and a most fatal tampering with a patience which has been drawn to a very tenuous fragility, and which would certainly break through the operation of such ungenerous treatment. As "Capulet" has said, we have had one warning from this direction, and we must not disregard the second. Mr. Patterson, it appears to me, must stand aside. I have a high respect for him and for his talents; but I think New Hampshire may dispense with both, in the way of statesmanship, without doing him either dishonor or injustice. It would be wise in him to acknowledge this truth without any active controversy. At least such is a common opinion here.

PRO-ROTATION.

DOVER, May 2, 1872.

THE CINCINNATI CONVENTION balloted twice for a candidate for the Vice-Presidency, there being at first no choice. The balloting was as follows:

Mr. Brown was declared the nominee.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Infection in the Air.

At this season the vegetable world takes a new lease of life; but to the sensitive and delicate members of the human family it is a time of danger and often of great suffering. The moisture which rises from the earth and hangs suspended over it in the form of morning and evening mists and fogs, holds in solution, so to speak, the mephitic elements, which produce fever and ague, remittent fevers, rheumatism, and many painful nervous disturbances, and which aggravate dyspepsia, biliousness and all minor affections of the stomach and the bowels. This, therefore, is a critical period of the year, a season when the renovating, refreshing and purifying operation of the mightiest of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is salvation to the weak, and the best security for the continuance of the health and vigor of the strong. Now is the time not only to protect the system against the common ailments of the season, but to prevent the disorders incident to a warmer temperature. Let not the exhausting heats of the summer months find you unprepared to meet them. A course of Hostetter's Bitters, commenced now, will put all the physical energies in fighting trim, double the capacity of the internal organs to repel the causes of disease, refresh the brain and clear it of all hypochondriacal cobwebs, and place the whole physique in an attitude of defence, with every available point fortified and guarded and as nearly invulnerable to unwholesome influences as it is possible for the human structure to be.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

THE CAUSE OF TEMPERANCE finds some of its most insidious and dangerous foes in the many so-called "tonics" and "appetizers," made of cheap whisky and refuse liquors, finished up to suit depraved appetites, under the name of medicines. DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS are none of these. They are not a beverage, but a genuine medicine, purely vegetable, prepared from California herbs by a regular physician. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, skin and blood, they are an infallible and unrivalled remedy. ap29 4w

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Turn of Life—Armed with this great antidote, the fiery ordeal is passed thorough and the sufferer once more restored to the possession of unimpaired health. These Pills are equally efficacious in all female complaints, and obstructions at the dawn of womanhood. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

A Card.

Messrs. Editors of the Chronicle:—Please do me the justice to correct a statement I was surprised to notice in your paper of May 3d; as it stands, it operates not as a credit, but an injury, to the Strafford Academy and to me. I have not "donated" (given) to it ten thousand dollars. DANIEL AUSTIN.

WILLOW BANK, KITTERY, May 4th.

Police-phobia.

The editor of the local Democratic paper has recently been struggling with an attack of acute police-phobia, a complaint which in a somewhat milder form is chronic with him and is greatly aggravated by any sharp collision between the police and the "dangerous classes," particularly if the latter come to grief thereby. The manner in which officer Henry Wallace prevented the commission of a felony is a cause of great disquietude to our contemporary, and in a recent issue of his paper he says, "in too many instances where there has been brawl and tumult the police done more to create it than the foolish or tipsy persons whom they arrested;" and concerning the shooting of McCarthy he publishes a paragraph sent him by "a citizen," from which we take the following:

"It is said that this man Wallace is a person of no discretion whatever, and being armed with a little brief authority endeavors to show it at every opportunity. If McCarthy had been killed instead of wounded, I see no reason why the policeman would not have been punished the same as any other murderer."

We notice that "a citizen" uses the same expression in speaking of the police officer who shot McCarthy, that the Democratic editor uses when he mentions any distasteful person,—"this man" Wallace; we mention this merely as a singular coincidence, and not to imply that the editor and the "citizen" always board at the same place. We agree with "a citizen" that "this man Wallace" is not over-stocked with discretion; had he been he would not have offered to cope single-handed with a lot of low-lived roughs engaged in a felonious act in a lonely place late at night; but as the police are the paid agents for protecting honest and decent people from being preyed upon by law-breakers, we think the determination and courage which sent Mr. Wallace so promptly to the assistance of a shrieking woman, notwithstanding the heavy odds against him, much more commendable than the "discretion" which would have made him run the other way.

"A citizen" is irate because the officer shot the criminal, and thinks a fatal result would have made him "the same as any other murderer." This "citizen" writes powerfully—just like the Democratic editor—but we fail to see things in the light he does. We know nothing of this case save what was brought out by the evidence offered in court, but from that evidence we consider the officer fully justified in his action. He was entirely alone, the night was dark, the hour late, the spot retired and lonely, not a few of the worst-famed dens in the city were near by, he had disturbed at least three degraded brutes in the shape of men, (who were at the moment engaged in committing a crime,) and he was threatened by one or more of the roughs he had disturbed. "Discretion," possibly, should have made the officer wait until the rough had been given a chance to prove his intentions by smashing the officer's head with a slung-shot or disturbing his digestion with a knife; but common sense would have prompted any one possessing it to assume that a man detected in the commission of a crime and threatening to use violence towards his detector, meant it—and the same common sense would prompt him to protect himself by every means in his power, even though a felon did suffer in consequence. A "citizen" protests against "this using of fire-arms by irresponsible parties"—which means by police officers when tussling with criminals—and urges an investigation. The "citizen" is right; an investigation should be held, and we are of opinion the officer should be reprimanded for his second-rate marksmanship.

Willie's sympathies are on one side, ours on the other. If there is a drunken row or other disturbance, and any of the participants get hurt, Willie instantly shouts "the police done it," and says that if the police had kept away there would have been no trouble. Willie throws all his weight on the side of the oppressed law-breakers and against the police. We are entirely on the other side,—our sympathies go with the men whose duty it is to stand between us and the "dangerous classes," in the execution of their duty; and when it is a question of police officers enforcing laws for the protection of society, on the one side, and of criminals engaged in breaking those laws, on the other, we are fain to support and encourage the police until they are shown to be in the wrong.

Laconics.

By request, the Allegory and Tableaux of scenes in the lives of Joseph and his brethren will be repeated at the Temple this evening. The Tableaux are well worth giving up an hour to see, for adults; and every child who is not taken to this entertainment is swindled out of a rich treat.

Lent's New York Circus will exhibit in Portsmouth Wednesday afternoon and evening. The entertainments offered will be very attractive, and varied with novelties introduced for the first time in this city. In the company of performers are Mdlle. Caroline Rolland, William Dutton, John Henry Cooke and Charles W. Fish, all bareback riders, who are said to be unequalled in their peculiar style of equestrianism. The Jee Brothers, who are new in this country, also appear in their astonishing performances with the "musical rocks" and dancing hats. It is unnecessary to enumerate all the attractions offered for the delectation of his patrons by Manager Lent, who promises this season arenic performances of unprecedented variety and attractiveness, agreeably diversified by charming pantomimes and gorgeous spectacular displays. A parade will be made in the morning with the excellent band, mammoth golden chariot and fine horses and pretty ponies of the Circus.

The former patrons of Mr. John E. Roberts will find that favorite tonsorial artist at Mr. Frank Rodrick's hair-dressing saloon on Water Street, where he will be happy to wait upon them.

Mr. Israel Marden has on exhibition at his saloon on Bow Street two curious specimens of nature's work. One is an immense wen, 3 1-2 feet in circumference and weighing nearly sixty pounds, which was grown on a branch of yellow oak, 4 inches in diameter. It was found on what is called the White Mountain in Wolfeborough. The other is a branch of white pine with one end in a perfect knot. It was found in the woods at Nottingham.

Mr. Nathaniel F. Pinder, of the North End Provision Store, last week put on the street a fine team for the delivery of goods at the houses of his patrons. We are pleased to hear that Mr. Pinder is prospering in his enterprise and securing a liberal share of patronage,—as he should, for he furnishes good articles at reasonable rates, and his neatly-kept store is a great convenience to quite a large district.

Mr. Robert H. Green is building twelve boats which he intends to take up to the Pavilion House, Wolfeborough, for letting purposes. The models are all different, and will be finished with black walnut trimmings and fancifully painted in high colors. They will be finished about the first of June and will then be placed on exhibition in the vicinity of South Mill Bridge, making a line of about 200 feet. If Mr. Green succeeds in this enterprise he will extend his business by building and sending others to Charlestown, Mass., and other places.

A fine specimen of Photography by Davis Bros. can be seen in the window of Mr. J. H. Thacher's store on Market Square. It embraces a view of the corner from the insurance office of Mr. John Sise to the clothing establishment of Mr. John Woodman Moses. It shows to what perfection this art can be brought in the hands of skillful artists.

The Eastern Railroad will soon build a new passenger station in East Boston, near Mr. Cudworth's new church, and it is also proposed to re-lay the double track from East Boston to Revere.

The new ale depot for the sale of Jones' ale is the best fitted, neatest and most orderly place of the kind at Boston. It is located at 35 Devonshire St., where Mr. William Chandler, formerly of this city, may be found by his old friends. Notwithstanding the decreased demand for ale in Maine, consequent on the enforcement of the new liquor law in that State, Mr. Jones cannot fill his orders, his brewery being taxed to its utmost capacity.

Two brothers named Parks had a fight on Hunking Street, Sunday, and one of them put his fist through a pane of glass, the broken edge of which severed two arteries in his arm. The surgeon by whom the wound was dressed is of opinion that a secondary hemorrhage, should it take place, will prove fatal.

—A geological lecturer has made Rhode Island people laugh by soberly declaring that there are one hundred square miles of anthracite coil in that State. People that walk across the State every day to and from work, say they never noticed it.

RESIDENCE 28 Washington St., Portsmouth.

Morning Chronicle.

The News.

The Boston, Lowell and Nashua R. R. have ordered two new locomotives, four passengers cars and one hundred freight cars to be constructed forthwith for their road.

The eruption of Vesuvius has entirely ceased. A hurricane of terrible violence swept over the devastated country, greatly damaging the villages and remaining crops.

ANOTHER HITCH.—In reply to a despatch sent to General Schenck conveying the position the United States have assumed concerning consequential damages, he has informed the State department that England has agreed to accept our intimation that the proposition from her would be accepted based on 'the proposition that we did not desire to collect money, but only have the principle involved settled, and settled against us. Following this came the text of the English proposition, but it turns out to be of such a character that in present shape it cannot be accepted by our government, and shows, moreover, that England does not understand the position we assumed as it was intended here. The result is an unexpected obstacle in the way of the speedy arrangement of the pending difficulties. It has been decided, in view of the present situation of the matter, to submit the entire correspondence to the members of the House committee on foreign affairs and the Senate foreign relations committee.

A PROPHET.—The discerning editor of the Biddeford Journal deserves recognition from the agricultural candidate for President. On Friday he published the following sentence:—"Agricultural Horace is hoeing a very successful row." Was it a presentiment?

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 26½ per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 261 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 16 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase a yearly income of - - - - - - $172.30.
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6.7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. Dr. AYER's consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER's HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cures of a series of complaints which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

LOT AND HIS WIFE.—As I approached a pond, a few days ago, where some negroes were cutting ice, I chanced to hear the conclusion of a conversation between two of the hands on the subject of religion.

"What you know 'bout 'ligion? You don't know nuthin 'tall 'bout 'ligion."

"I know heap 'bout 'ligion; ain't I bin done read the Bible?"

"What you read in de Bible? I lay you carn't tell me nuthin' what you read in de Bible."

"But I kin, dough (though.) I read 'bout 'Morrow."

"What sort 'o 'Morrow—to-morrow?"

"No, Go-Morrow."

"Well, whar he go, and what he go fur?"

"Shoh, man! He didn' go nowhar, 'coz he was a town."

"Dar! didn't I tell you you didn' know nuthin' 'bout nuthin'? You read de Bible! Hoccum (how come) de town name 'Morro, and how de town gwine go anywhar? Town ain't got no legs."

"Man, you's a born fool, sho'. De town named Go-Morrow; but they call it Morro coz dey didn't have no time to stay dar talkin' long talk."

"Debbil dey didn't! Ef dey stay dar to-day, why carn't dey stay dar to-morrow? 'Splain me dat."

"But dey all gone, and de town to. All done b'un up."

"Ef dere ain't no pepul, den dere ain't no town name 'Morro? G'long, nigger! Didn't I know you didn't know nuthin' 'tall 'bout 'ligion? But, (sarcastically) tole me some mo' what you read in de Bible."

"Well, 'Morrow was a big town—'bout mighty nigh's big as Washin'ton City. And de pepul dat live dar was the meanes' pepul in de whole worl'. Dey was dat mean dat de Lord he couldn' abear 'em, and he make up his min' dat he gwine bu'n de town clean up. But dar was one good man dar—member uv de church, a p'sidin' elder—named Lot."

"Yaas, I know'd him."

"War you know'd him?"

"On de cannel (canal). He owned a batto, and dro'd it hiss'f."

"Heist, man! I talkin' sense, now. Den de Lord he came to Lot, and he say, 'Lot, I gwine bu'n dis town. You and wife get up and gether your little alls, and put out 'fo de crack o' day, 'cos I cert'n'y gwine bu'n dis town and de pepul to-morrow.' Den Lot he and his wife riz, and snatched up their little alls, and traveled soon in de mornin'. And the Lord he tak two light'ud (lightwood) knots and some shavin's, and he set fire to dat ar town uv 'Morro, and he bu'n it spang up, clear down to de groun'."

"What 'came o' Lot?"

"He and he wife, dey went, and dey went, and dey went, twell pres'n'ly he wife say, 'Lot! ef I aint gone and lef' de meal-sifter and de rollin'-pin I wish I may die! And she turn roun', and—and—she dar now!"

"What she doin' dar?"

"Nuthin'."

"Must be mons'us lazy 'ooman."

"No, she ain't. De Lord he tu'n her to pillow uv salt, 'cos she too' quisitive."

"Dar! ev'ry body know 'bout sack o' salt: who ever hear 'bout pillow uv salt? But what 'come o' Lot?"

"Lot, he weren't keerin' nuthin' 'tall 'bout no rollin-pin and no meal-sifter; se he kep' straight 'long, 'thout turnin' uv he head, neither to the right, neither to the lef'."

"And lef' de ole 'ooman dar?"

"Yaas."

"Must keer'd mighty little fur her—want to get married to seck'n wife, I spec'. But de fus' man come 'long, and want to git some salt to bake ash-cake, he gwine bust a piece out'n Lot's wife, and 'stroy her; and what you think o' dat? Call dat 'ligion? And de ole man done lef' her? And you read dat—"

Here a peremptory order from the foreman to "go to work" broke short the conversation.

—An English woman recently met with an accident which caused two of the fingers of her hand to be bent over her palm. She had frequently declared that she would rather lose her hand altogether than be thus crippled, and a surgeon having refused to amputate it, she went to the railways and laid her arm on the rails. An advancing train, more complaisant than the surgeon, cut off the hand very cleanly at the wrist. The woman took a cab to the infirmary and had her wound bound.

—Two men having arranged to fight a duel in Rhode Island, the Governer issued a proclamation forbidding it, whereupon one of the parties sent him a note saying that one of them would stand in Connecticut and the other in Massachusetts, and shoot over his miserable little State.

—A pound of cheese is said to be as nutritious as two pounds and a half of beef. A pound of cheese will make a comfortable meal for anybody of frail constitution, with the trifling addition of three tooth picks.

—Two Norwegian editors in Minnesota are hurling epithets, affidavits and legal instruments at each other because one of them was so wanting in national pride and reverence for art as to dun Ole Bull.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running of needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase a yearly income of - - - - - - $173.30.
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 657.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. TUESDAY, MAY 7, 1872.

Campaign Notes.

"Eli Perkins" joined the Cincinnati "crowd" and here is a specimen of his "campaign" talk: "Grant has only three principles in view—to have peace, contentment and pay the National debt; while we have eight principles—five loaves, two fishes and a place in the Custom House."

Theodore Tilton was anxious to have Greeley nominated at Cincinnati, because "it would impart an element of fun and frolic to the canvass." T. T. is happy now—and there is to be no end to the fun and frolic, if H. G. accepts the nomination.

A correspondent says: "H. G. has a good white hat, and should not put his head into a cap-at-all (capitol)." Well, he won't—not as President of the United States.

The Brooklyn Eagle (democratic) warmly indorses the Cincinnati nominations.

Some of the Democrats propose to nominate Hendricks and Hancock for President and Vice President.

The Grant Republicans in New York rejoice greatly over the Cincinnati nominations. It seems to be the universal feeling that no man could be set against Grant who could the easier be set aside, and so they hurrah with the few personal admirers of the eccentric Tribune editor as over a signal victory gained. The revenue reformers openly declare their cause lost, and the Cincinnati movement a song and a mortifying failure.

Greeley thinks he will be elected President, and so thinking says that his sleep of Saturday night was "the sweetest of his life." Poor Horace!

John Morrissey, retired prize fighter, announces that he is prepared to bet $5000 that Greeley will carry New York, $5000 that he will carry Pennsylvania, and $5000 that he will be elected President, providing that the democratic party make no nomination.

Judge Hoadley, a disappointed Ohio delegate to the Cincinnati Convention says, "Tammany has triumphed." He said he would defeat Greeley and Brown if he had to vote for Grant to do it. He was no office seeker, but was after men to punch them before they get their hands in the public treasury.

The conservative press of South Carolina heartily endorse the Cincinnati ticket and platform as eminently acceptable to the South.

General Butler is reported to have said that the nomination of Greeley was the weakest that could possibly have been made. "Greeley has at last got a nomination," he said, "on the same principle that an auctioneer up in my district accepted the bid of a man who was always bidding one cent, in order to get rid of him."

Greeley's grandfather was an Irishman.

Mrs. Manning Gumbo of South Carolina is announced as ambitious of being placed second on the ticket with Grant. This would alliterate the battle cry by making it Grant and Gumbo.

The Eastern Argus, a Democratic paper at Portland, came out for Greeley on Saturday.

Horace weighs 215 pounds.

On hearing of his nomination for the Presidency, Mr. Greeley said he would like to see the lies circulated by Samuel Bowles about Senator Fenton corrected. Whereat Samuel replies that he told no lies and says "with his usual perversity of temper and openness to flattery, Mr. Greeley will probably continue to give his faith and attribute his success to those who fawn upon him and who use him, and slander and abuse those braver and truer friends who dare to expose them to him and the world, and tell him the truth that he needs to learn, even if he does not like it."

SPAIN.—An engagement took place on Sunday between the government troops and the Carlists in Navarre, which resulted, after nine hours' fighting, in the capture of the entire insurgent centre. Don Carlos, with a remnant of his followers, is retreating into France, and the insurrection is said to be at an end.

DANA IN DISGRACE.—Charles A. Dana of the New York Sun, on trial for libel failed to appear in court at Philadelphia, Saturday morning, but Bartlett, his counsel, appeared and requested a continuance of the postponement of the trial. He insinuated that the evidence before the grand jury was perjured. Judge Allison denied the postponement, and it was ordered that Dana's bail of $5000 be declared forfeited. District Attorney Mann said Dana might be in town waiting the result of the experiment in court. Bartlett began to criticise the decision of the court, when the judge peremptorily ordered him to sit down. The case was then adjourned one hour, in order to try to find Dana, but it being impossible to him, the court ordered that his bail be declared forfeited, and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. Officers, however, after diligent search, reported that they could not find Dana.

The News.

The southern part of Marshalltown, Iowa, was destroyed by fire on Saturday. The loss was $300,000.

The impeachment trial of Governor Reed of Florida resulted in his acquittal. He has taken possession of the executive office, and Mr. Day has resumed the duties of lieutenant-governor.

John M. B. Wilkinson, a wood turner, aged twenty-seven, killed his wife, aged twenty-three, in Baltimore on Saturday night, cutting her head open with a cleaver. He then took strychnine, but will recover. He was committed to prison.

Neal Dow and John B. Cummings, bondsmen of B. D. Peck, defaulting State treasurer, have each paid into the Maine Treasurer $5026.11 charged from their bond.

Niblo's theatre and the Metropolitan Hotel, New York, were burned on Monday. Jewett & Palmer's loss is over $200,000. Loss to Tweed's Metropolitan, $300,000. Helmbold's building is ruined.

State News.

Gov. Weston has appointed Hon. Geo. T. Sawyer of Nashua Attorney General. Lewis W. Clark, Esq., declined the nomination. Mr. Sawyer has been a Republican.

The store of Hon. William M. Weed, in Sandwich, occupied by him for the Carroll county clerk's office, and Arvin Blanchard, was burned on Wednesday night.

BASE BALL.—Mutuals 11, Baltimores 9. Ten innings.

At Philadelphia, on Saturday, the Boston Red Stockings were defeated by the Athletics, 10 to 6. The Boston club were ahead up to the sixth inning. On the seventh inning the Athletics made six runs, which virtually decided the game.

PROMOTIONS.—The Senate Naval Committee has reported a bill as follows:—

1. No promotion should be made out of the regular course, except for extraordinary and successful heroism, leading to valuable results, and then only on the recommendation of the President of the United States.

2. No officer dismissed the service by sentence of court-martial should be restored except on the ground that the sentence was unjust, and on the recommendation of the President of the United States.

3. No officer dismissed the service or placed on the retired list on account of the habitual abuse of spirituous liquors should be restored to a position where he would be responsible for the property of the government, the lives of officers and seamen, and the honor of the American flag.

4. The law allowing the advancement of an officer thirty numbers in his own grade for extraordinary heroism during the war for the suppression of the rebellion should be repealed.

A COW POISONED BY WHITE LEAD PAINT.—A few days since, I lost a valuable cow. I have no doubt the cause was eating white lead paint. A painter was painting my barn and set his bucket down for a few moments, when this cow put her nose in it and then licked a part of it off her nose. The painter was going for the bucket at the time, so he is confident she did not take any beside what she licked from her nose. This was on Friday, P. M. On Sunday she began to show a little illness. Monday morning we commenced doctoring her, giving her before Wednesday night one quart and a half of linseed oil, one pound and a half of epsom salts, and nine injections, but could not produce an operation. On Friday night she died. She did not swell in the least, and seemed to suffer but little. It seemed the lead produced a stoppage, and that induced mortification.

If there is any remedy for lead poison, I think it important that it be published, and we should be very careful that our creatures do not get at fresh white lead paint.—E. B. Philbrick, in Exeter News Letter.

—The N. Y. Mail's poet thus bewailed the first of May:

DIES IRÆ.

I move, thou movest, he moves,
Pity as this woful day!
We move, ye move, they move,
Dies ire! first of May.

I groan, thou groan'st, he groans,
Cold meat, stale bread, hominy.
We groan, ye groan, they groan,
Miserere, Domine!

—The population of London is 3,254,260.

—When Mr. Greeley said "Go West," he meant to Cincinnati.

—Berlin, Prussia, has consented unto a genuine American base-ball club.

—A Philadelphia woman who was so indiscreet as to break her leg, but too modest to have a doctor set it, has died from mortification.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

If you desire rosy cheeks and a complexion fair and free from Pimples, Blotches and Eruptions, purify your blood by taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It has no equal for this purpose.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emollient, soothing effect, it stimulates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

HUMANS SHARE WITH HORSES the benefits derivable from the world-renowned MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. The most irrefragable testimony establishes the fact that this wondrous balm exerts the same soothing and healing influence when applied to the human cuticle, that it does in cases of spavin, founders, ringbone, pollevil, scratches, wind gall, and other ailments of the horse which require outward treatment. It is, in fact, the most effectual of all external remedies for rheumatism, gout, stiffness of the neck, sore throat, swellings, cuts and bruises of all kinds.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—For scurvy, leprosy, and cutaneous diseases they are unrivalled. In places where these maladies are prevalent, the cures are marvellous; for the expulsion of pimples, blotches, etc., they are unparalleled, and as a cosmetic the Ointment stands unequalled. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wresting away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BIGGS' PIPE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the Bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

SPECIAL NOTICES.

False Theories Overthrown.

We live under a new medical dispensation, very different from that under which so many of our forefathers died. The sick are no longer bled till they faint, nor gorged with mercury, nor prostrated with violent cathartics, nor blistered on their shaven heads. Ever since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, twenty years ago, renovation and restoration, not depletion and prostration, have been the watchwords of the judicious portion of the profession. The remarkable success of this famous vegetable preventive, invigorant and corrective has rendered a complete revolution in the general treatment of disease. At first the dogmatic members of the faculty would not believe in it. "What!" they exclaimed, "cure liver complaint without mercury, chronic rheumatism without colchicum, fever and ague without quinine! Impossible!" But the most obstinate incredulity must yield in the end to practical demonstration. From that time to the present, dyspepsia, biliousness, intermittent fevers, muscular diseases, nervous complaints and constipation have vanished under the operation of the great specific, in at least ninety per cent. of the cases in which it has been used as a remedy for those ailments, while as a preventive of all maladies generated by change of climate, sudden revulsions of temperature, epidemic poison in the atmosphere, and unwholesome water, its beneficial effects have been so obvious and uniform as to secure the most perfect confidence in its properties as an antidote, safeguard and cure.

Water for Fires.

The placid current of the pellucid stream from which our fire engines draw water—or from which they would draw water if it was there—to squirt on fires, has been disturbed and muddied by the two Boards composing the City Council, the Aldermen having slapped two reservoirs into it and the Common Council having stirred up things with a salt-water pipe. [The foregoing is in too poetical a strain for us to continue, and besides, we don't know exactly what it means; so we take a new departure.] The Journal (in an article which we copied) recently announced its belief that "after all perhaps we shall not be obliged to suffer a Chicago experience to prompt us to action" in the matter of a better water-supply for the Fire Department, though it "cannot reconcile this reflection with the recent singular action of the Board of Aldermen in indefinitely postponing the bill sent from the Common Council and recommending that a supply pipe be laid from the lowest point of tide-water in the North Millpond to the corner of Bridge and Hanover Streets;" adding that "the honorable Board may, however, have good and sufficient reasons for thus disposing of the matter, but we confess that after giving the subject considerable thought we are unable to discern them." So are we.

The possible reason for the summary action of the Board of Aldermen certainly cannot be that a better supply of water is not needed in that locality, or that the Aldermen are not alive to that need; for the Board of last year (and there is but a single new member in the present one) directed a committee to report the probable cost of a reservoir "near the Concord depot," and said committee did report the estimated cost of a reservoir to hold 70,000 gallons, and to be filled with salt water by a conduit from the Millpond. And further, a joint resolution sent down from the present Board to the Common Council for concurrence and which authorized the construction of two reservoirs, provided that one of them should be located on Bridge Street. The action of the upper Board, last year and this, having thus practically acknowledged the necessity for a better water supply in the vicinity of the Concord depot and the feasibility of obtaining such water supply from the Millpond, the Common Councilmen seem to think that it would have required no very astounding stretch of courtesy on the part of the Aldermen to have at least made a show of considering the scheme embodied in the resolution submitted for their approval, instead of giving it so decidedly cavalier a kick-out without even the customary reference to a committee. We have heard suggested that the Aldermen were actuated by indignation at the presumption of the lower Board in offering a substitute for a resolution sent down to them from above, but that idea is too ridiculous to be entertained; and the statement that if the Common Council had agreed to the remodelling of the City Building the salt-water pipe would have met no opposition, is little better. The latter opinion, however, we have heard freely expressed; but we cannot possibly see what the repairing of an ancient building can have to do with furnishing water for the Fire Department.

But the water pipe vs. reservoir hitch is not the only one which has to be disposed of by the City Government. The Council passed a joint resolution authorizing the construction of a reservoir at or near the junction of Union and Middle Streets, and sent it to the Aldermen for concurrence, and the latter amended it so as to leave the building committee at liberty to place the reservoir where they pleased. The Councilmen, believing that though other places in the city may be as badly off there is none any worse provided with water than the locality they designated, and that to pass a vote giving the building committee power to put a reservoir exactly where the Council unanimously voted to put a hydrant would be to stultify themselves, rejected the Aldermen's amendment, and a committee of conference has been requested. We think a reservoir should be at once made somewhere near Union Street, and if there are other neighborhoods equally defenceless against fire, reservoirs should be built in those neighborhoods also. But there is no reason that we can see why the Common Council may not designate where a reservoir shall be placed, as well as the Aldermen, nor why the former should meekly bow to the dictation of the latter, when no reason for their so doing is vouchsafed.

Laconics.

Lieut. C. M. Anthony, now on duty at this Naval Station, is ordered to U. S. S. Tuscarora.

Thanks to Frank. W. Miller, Esq., for a revised copy of his article on the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE from 1756 to 1872, which we intend to republish, with the author's consent.

Hon. Marcellus Bufford declines being considered a candidate for delegate to the Philadelphia Convention.

Stephen H. Hill of Kittery Foreside, the fat and jolly fireman on the steamer Emerald, dislocated his shoulder on Sunday while endeavoring to secure a refractory horse that was kicking about loosely in his stall near the Navy Yard Landing. After the accident Mr. Hill was immediately taken to a surgeon, who after trying some time failed to reset the dislocated limb, tho' a fee was exacted for the attempt, and he was obliged to seek the skill of one of his townsmen. The shoulder was soon set, but by some careless movement on the part of Mr. Hill it was again put out of place, and now he will have a long job of it, and it is very doubtful if he ever fully recovers the use of his right arm.

We hear the opinion expressed that the cause of the partial water famine, is the rotten condition of the old logs on Islington Street, much water being wasted in transit. The supply at Fountain Head seems to be ample for the use of all water takers.

Mr. Josiah T. Brown, having purchased the entire stock of the late firm of Cheever & Brown, will continue the custom clothing and gentlemen's furnishing business of the late firm at their old stand No. 40 Market Street, and asks a continuance of the liberal patronage bestowed in the past. His advertisement may be found elsewhere.

To-morrow, Lent's well known circus will give two of its popular exhibitions, on Middle Street. The great popularity of this metropolitan circus is due to its A 1 performances, and to the unexceptionable manner in which they are conducted. Nothing objectionable is seen or heard in the exhibitions of Mr. Lent's circus, and this fact adds materially to their attractiveness, and causes them to be patronized by the best classes of society. During his summer tour, Mr. Lent retains the same artists who have excited the admiration of the press and the public of New York and made the Hippotheatron one of the most fashionable places of amusement there. Those who patronize the New York circus know that its performances are first class in every particular.

Hon. Frank Fuller's argument before the House Committee on Territories for the admission of Utah as a State is able and worthy of perusal. The Territory is increasing rapidly in population and before many years the State of Deseret will be added to the Union.

Coal is beginning to arrive in large quantities. Much of it comes from Philadelphia, freighted in three masted schooners, of which class three of large tonnage are at the Concord Railroad wharves. They are of about the same size as the large ships of a few years ago would measure. The coal is all discharged by steam, and vessels are dispatched in their unloading as speedily as at any port in the country.

A high pressure, silk Dolly Varden made its appearance on Pleasant Street, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Martyn have decided to commence their summer series of concerts in Portsmouth and vicinity, at the Temple on the 28th inst. They will be assisted by some of the best Boston talent, (perhaps by the Temple Quartet), and will bring an elegant new McPhail piano with them. Mr. Martyn's summer series includes regular weekly concerts at the different watering places in this vicinity.

Messrs. Chas. H. Mendum & Co. call the attention of the public to their large and varied stock of seasonable dry goods, carpets, oil cloths and housekeeping goods. The reputation of the firm for dealing only in the best articles is established, and they advertise to sell at the lowest cash prices,—and give a few samples of their rates in their advertisement. Read it.

Our advertisers crowd us so greatly that we are obliged to give a column less of reading matter than usual. Forbearance is a great virtue, and we hope our patrons will exercise it for the sake of our advertisers and ourselves, until such time as we can give them more reading matter.

REMEDY FOR DANDRUFF. — John L. Davis, in the Journal of Pharmacy, gives the following:

The belief that dandruff arises from a disease of the skin, although physicians do not seem to agree on this point, and the knowledge that the use of sulphur is frequently attended with very happy results in such diseases, induced me to try it in my own case. A preparation of one ounce flour of sulphur and one quart of water was made. The clear liquid was poured off, after the mixture had been repeatedly agitated during intervals of a few hours, and the head was saturated with this every morning. In a few weeks every trace of dandruff had disappeared, the hair became soft and glossy, and now, after a discontinuance of the treatment for eighteen months, there is no indication of the return of the disease. I do not pretend to explain the modus operandi of the treatment, for it is well known that sublimed sulphur is almost or wholly insoluble, and the liquid used is destitute of taste, color or smell. The effect speaks for itself. Other persons, to whom it has been recommended, have had the same results, and I communicate the results of my experiments in the belief that it may be valuable and acceptable to many who have suffered the same manner.

VAUABLE REMEDIES.—Freckles indicate an excess of iron the blood, we are told, the sun acting in on the particles in the skin as it does on indelible ink, bringing out the color. A very simple way of removing them is said to be as follows: Take finely powdered nitre (saltpetre), and apply it to the freckles by the finger moistened in water and dipped in the powder. When perfectly done and judiciously repeated, it will remove them effectually and without trouble.

An English prescription for the skin is to take half a pint of skim-milk—so poor as to be blue—slice into it as much cucumber as it will cover, and let it stand an hour; then bathe the face and hands, washing them off with fair water when the cucumber extract is dry. The latter is said to stimulate the growth of hair where it is lacking, if well and frequently rubbed in. It would be worth while to apply it to high foreheads and bald crowns.

Rough skin, arising from exposure to the winds in riding, rowing or yachting, troubles many ladies, who will be glad to know that an application of cold cream or glycerine at night, washed off with fine carbolic soap in the morning, will render them presentable at the breakfast-table, without looking like women who follow the hounds, blowzy and burned. The simplest way to obviate the bad effects of too free sun and wind, which are apt on occasions to revenge themselves for the neglect shown them by the fair sex too oftop, is rub the face, throat, and arms well with cold cream or pure almond oil before going out. With this precaution, one may come home from a barry party or a sail without a trace of that gingerbread effect too apt to follow these pleasures. Cold cream made from almond oil, with no lard or tallow about it, will answer every end proposed by the use of buttermilk, which young ladies can hardly prefer as a cosmetic on account of its odor.

A very delicate effective preparation for rough skins, eruptive diseases, cuts, ulcers, is found in a mixture of one ounce of glycerine half an ounce of rosemary, and twenty drops of carbolic acid. In those dreaded irritations of the skin occuring in sum suchmer, as hives or prickly heat, this wash gives soothing relief. The carbolic acid at once neutralizes the poison of the blood which causes the sore, purifies and disinfects the wound or blotch, and heals rapidly. A solution of this acid in glycerine made much stronger, say fifty drops to an ounce of glycerine, forms a protection from misquetoes if applied at night. Though many people consider the remedy equal to the disease, constant use very soon reconciles one to the creosotic odor of carbolic acid, especially if the pure crystalized form is used, which is far less overpowering in its fragrance than that commonly put up. Those who dislike it too much to use it at night will find the sting of the bites almost miraculously cured and the blotches removed by touching them with the mixture in the morning. Babies and children should be touched with it to relieve the pain they feel from insect bites, and know not how to express except by worrying. Two or three drops of otto of roses in the preparation disguises the smell so as to render it tolerable to human beings, though not to mosquitoes.—Harper's Bazar.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is highest speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 1872.

Campaign Notes.

The ex-rebel general John B.Gordon, of Georgia, the commander, at the time of the fall of the rebellion, of the left wing of Lee's army, urges the democratic indorsement of Greeley, asserting that he is believed in at the South, on account of his bailing Jeff. Davis and his demands for amnesty.

There is some ground for the belief that Greeley, unless he gets the democratic indorsement, will withdraw after they have placed a candidate in the field.

Song of the New England members of the Cincinnati convention :—

In Adams' fall
We fizzled all.

The New York labor reform league denounced Greeley at their annual convention this week.

The Mississippi democratic press is outspoken for cooperation with the liberal republicans.

John Mitchell's Irish Citizen, the Irish Democrat and the Irish People, all democratic papers of New York, strongly indorse the Cincinnati nominations.

President Grant thinks that if the democrats should take up Mr. Greeley, the contest between the candidates of the Cincinnati and the Philadelphia conventions would be close and evenly balanced, but that the latter would be likely to take far more votes from the the democrats than Mr. Greeley possible could from the Republicans.

Senator Sumner will not make a declaration of his position till after the Philadelphia convention, since he still affects a belief in what he wishes—the withdrawal of Grant—in which event there is scarcely a doubt of his support of the Philadelphia candidate.

The feelings of disgust among the real movers of the Cincinnati convention, the revenue reformers, is even more intense than when the news of Greeley's nomination was first received. Some of them propose to call another "liberal" convention.

Hon. Jacob Thompson, Secretary of the Interior under Buchanan, has declared himself for Greeley.

The London Times says: The nomination of Greeley is farcical and his election hopeless. The Telegraph says that the nomination of Greeley directly concerns England, because he is hostile to the treaty of Washington and is a bigoted protectionist. The News praises Greeley, but doubts his fitness for the position of chief magistrate of the great nation.

The Missouri Democrat says: "It is difficult to speak of Mr. Greeley as a candidate for the presidency with gravity. Before his nomination the Chicago Times stated that one of the greatest objections to him was the fact that no two gentlemen could look each other in the face and mention his name without laughing. This may be a source of weakness or strength to the ticket. Our people may be so thoroughly alive to fun and mischief as to commit the interests of the nation to the hands of a political harlequin, but we shall be slow to believe it. The conceded honesty of Mr. Greeley will not compensate for the conspicuous lack of sagacity and stability of purpose for which he is notorious. An honest but misguided and obstinate man makes the worst sort of an executive. It is poor consolation to be told, when the nation is involved in commercial ruin, and its peaceful relations with foreign countries impaired, that the statesmen who brought it about were conscientious men. The honest man in error is a very devil of mischief."

The free-traders, the authors of the Cincinnati convention, are very earnest in their complaints of the bad faith exhibited toward them by the protection and Greeley men in the convention, and say openly and bitterly that they were sold out and betrayed.

Edward Atkinson, the free trade delegate to the Greeley Convention from Boston, has a sharp letter addressed to him in the columns of the Commercial Bulletin, from a Pittsburg protectionist who claims that Mr. Atkinson is not sound in relation to his facts.

Rumors are circulating of the President having stated his intention not to accept a second nomination, but that he will not now withdraw in order to secure for his administration the endorsement such a nomination would afford; when made, he will decline to run.

And now they call it "Dolly Greeley."

Long John Wentworth spent a hundred dollars telegraphing disappointments to Judge Davis.

It is telegraphed from New York that Ben Wood, the editor of the New York Sunday News, will support Mr. Greeley for the Presidency. He is the same Mr. Wood whose paper was suppressed two or three times during the war for giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

Miss Ida Greeley, whose father is somewhat known as the auther of a book on farming, was educated in a convent.

Cincinnatus' front name is Horace.

The Republican party to Volly Dreeley, "Good-bye, sweetheart, good-bye."

The Washington Republican talks of "Breeley and Grows."

Another circular singumstance, the initials of the Cincinnati nominees read sidewise and downward alike, viz :—

H. G.
G. B.
See ?

What I know about candidates, by Dr. G——y! In May plant your candy, and in November look out for your dates.

State News.

Rochester voted last Saturday to exempt from taxation for ten years any manufacturing establishment which may be put in operation hereafter.

The New Hampshire Hotel, at Dover, formerly kept by Conductor Tucker of the Boston and Maine Railroad, was sold Monday morning for $15,000 to A. H. Rowe, late master of transportation on the D. and W. Railroad, and will be opened next week.

The Republican State Convention for the choice of delegates to the National Convention at Philadelphia, June 5th, meets at Concord, to-day.

SOMETHING TO THINK OF.—In the House of Representatives, on Monday, Mr. Poland of Vermont introduced the following:

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, two thirds of both branches concurring, that the following article be proposed to the legislatures of the several States, as an amendment to the Constitution, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said legislatures, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of said Constitution, namely:

Article 16. No Senator or Representative shall during the time for which he was elected be chosen President or Vice-President, nor shall any judge of any court of the United States be chosen President or Vice-President within two years after the termination of his judicial office.

ONE HUNDRED SEWING MACHINES, run by steam, are in constant use in the dressmaking department of Jordan, Marsh, & Co., Boston.

The News.

Signor Lorenzo Papanti, the famous dancing-master of Boston, died in that city May 7.

The U. S. Senate has passed a bill granting the Pacific Mail Steamship Company a subsidy of one million dollars per annum.

Advices from Australia state that heavy floods have occurred in Melbourne and vicinity. Four hundred persons were drowned. The corps are also greatly damaged.

New Publications.

The New England Historical and Genealogical Register (Quarterly) for April has four illustrations, and the following list of contents: Commodore Samuel Tucker, by John H. Sheppard, A. M.; Edward Oxnard's Journal, (continued); Atkinson Academy, N. H., by William C. Todd; Rutland County Insurrection, by Rev. F. W. Holland, A. M; The New Hampshire Gazette—the oldest newspaper in America, by F. W. Miller; The Bromfield Family (concluded,) by Prof. D. Slade, M. D; The New Masonic Temple (Boston, Mass.,) by John H. Shepard, A. M; The Fight at Diamond Island (Lake George), by Rev. B. F. De Costa; Record Book of First Church, Charlestown, Mass., (continued,) by James F. Hunnewell; Correspondence Relative to the "History of Massachusetts Bay," between its author, Gov. Thomas Hutchinson, and Rev. Ezra Stiles, by Hon. William A. Saunders; Address of Hon. Marshall P. Wilder, and other Proceedings of the N. E. Historic Genealogical Society, at the annual meeting, Jan. 3, 1872; The Family of Ralph Smyth, of Hingham, Mass., by Thomas Smyth; Notes and Queries; New England Historic Genealogic Society; Book Notices. $3 per annum. The Boston Globe says: We have been particularly impressed by the article on the "Rutland County Insurrection of 1786," by Rev. F. W. Holland, and a valuable and interesting contribution to American, "The New Hampshire Gazette." This paper, now in its one hundred and sixteenth volume, is still published at Portsmouth, N. H. Mr. Miller's article, which is exhaustive as to the annals of the Gazette, must specially interest journalists. The facsimile of the first number, published on Oct. 7, 1756, is very instructive. We cannot refrain from giving a portion of the address of "the printer to the public," as it shows the tendency of the craft to promise everything, whatever may be the shortcomings in fact. This little sheet, which does not contain matter enough to fill a third of the space of our daily telegraphic dispatches, assumes to be the censor, moralist, instructor, newsbringer, entertainer, of the province. No modern prospectus could be more lavish of promises than that of this journal, which was about the size of a sheet of letter paper, measuring seventeen inches by ten. Dr. Peabody may well have called the preface, "a masterpiece of its kind."

The Radical for May contains the third of the series of papers by O. B. Frothingham, on "The Religion of Humanity," which treats of "Its Christ," "Our Birthright," a poem by George S. Burleigh; "Sincerity," an address before the Essex conference, by C. A. Bartol; "Ideal and Historical Christianity," by A. W. Stevens; and a continuation of the stories by C. H. Dall and Francis Gerry Fairfield, a poem by John W Chadwick, with "Notes" and "Literary Notices" as usual.

The publisher of Merry's Museum offers a handsome fine steel engraving entitled "First Love," to every subscriber who pays the regular subscription price of $1.50 in advance, and ten cents for postage. Horace B. Fuller, 14 Bromfield Street, Boston, publisher. Send for a specimen number.

Hub-Budget, the new comic serial of Boston shows a marked improvement in the second number over the first. The full-page cartoon Homeopathy vs. Allopathy is capital.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emolient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency Croup, and kills Worms. Make your druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—For scurvy, leprosy, and cutaneous diseases they are unrivalled. In places where these maladies are prevalent, the cures are marvellous; for the expulsion of pimples, blotches, etc., they are unparalleled, and as a cosmetic the Ointment stands unequalled. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

SPECIAL NOTICES.

False Theories Overthrown.

We live under a new medical dispensation, very different from that under which we were of our forefathers died. The sick are no longer bled till they faint, nor gorged with mercury, nor prostrated with violent cathartics, nor blistered on their shaven heads. Ever since the introduction of HOSFETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, twenty years ago, renovation and restoration, not depletion and prostration, have been the watchwords of the judicious portion of the profession. The remarkable success of this famous vegetable preventive, invigorant and corrective has worked a complete revolution in the general treatment of diseases. At first the dogmatic members of the faculty would not believe in it. "What!" they exclaimed, "cure liver complaint without mercury, chronic rheumatism without colchicum, fever and ague without quinine! Impossible!" But the most obstinate incredulity must yield in the end to practical demonstration. From that time to the present, dyspepsia, billousness, intermittent fevers, muscular diseases, nervous complaints and constipation have vanished under the operation of the great specific, in at least ninety per cent. of the cases in which it has been used as a remedy for those ailments, while as a preventive of all maladies generated by change of climate, sudden revulsions of temperature, epidemic poison in the atmosphere, and unwholesome water, its beneficial effects have been so obvious and uniform as to secure the most perfect confidence in its properties as an antidote, safeguard and cure.

Laconics.

Persons who have not yet been made happy by a sight of a genuine Dolly Varden, will be able to see some of the very loudest styles at the circus this afternoon and evening. Some of the leading performers wear them.

"Alphonse Adhemar predicts another deluge, A. D., 7253." We don't believe the celebrated scientist, whom we never heard of before, has prophesied anything of the kind. The spreading of such a report is merely a trick, designed to make Congress hurry up and take off the import duties on ship-building materials.

The several churches at Kittery united in a union praise meeting at the Universalist Church, Sunday evening. Mr. H. J. Weeks, of the Divinity School of Tufts College, directed the services, assisted by Rev. Mr. Van Cise of Portsmouth, and Rev. S. A. Hutchinson of the Second Christian Society of Kittery. The church was filled to its utmost capacity. The services were of a most interesting character, and the singing was impressive and interspersed with happy remarks by the clergymen in turn, by Mr. Lovell and Mr. M. V. B. Stimson. In closing the services Mr. Weeks expressed his gratitude for the privileges of the hour, and expressed his conviction of the great importance to the interests of the church and the cause of Christianity in general, of sustaining these union praise meetings, where every sect and people can meet in union of spirit in rendering praise to God.

Rev. Austin Fowler Van Cise commenced his duties as pastor of the Universalist Church in this city on Sunday. He preached a preparatory discourse in the morning defining the duties of pastor and people. He has been settled in Auburn, Me., about two years, where his ministry commenced. Rev. Mr. Van Cise is a young man of 22 years and his talents bid fair to place him among the promising lights in the Universalist denomination. The desk was tastefully dressed with flowers in greeting of the commencement of his pastoral charges. His call was unanimous.

A private despatch from New York says Rev. Mr. DeNormandie of this city preached at the Church of the Messiah on Sunday, very acceptably, to a large audience.

Lent's New York Circus will be here to-day, and aside from its being the first entertainment of the kind this season, the well established reputation it has acquired will guarantee a very large patronage. Many novel features will be introduced in the performances, and Mr. Lent promises to give the most elegant, diversified and exciting circus exhibition ever offered in this country. The bareback riders of this circus, Mlle. Rolland, Wm. Dutton, Chas. W. Fish, and the great John Henry Cooke, are widely celebrated for their skill and daring, and the same completeness exists in every other department of the arena. The Jee Brothers, who appear here for the first time, will introduce the musical rocks, which, under their wonderful manipulation send forth a "concord of sweet sounds," exceedingly pleasing. The parade this morning of the circus band chariot and horses will present many interesting features for all who like to behold novel scenes and processional displays.

A poor old lady of 81 years of age, widow of an 1812 soldier who served during all the war of 1812-15, walked from Eliot to this city on Tuesday to learn why she is not entitled to a pension as is the widow of a fellow soldier of her husband, in better pecuniary circumstances. The reason is that she, having married a short time after the war, is debarred from the benefit of the recent act giving the widows pensions.

Dr. Folsom desires us to say in regard to the reduction of the dislocated shoulder of Mr. Hill of Kittery on Sunday last, that he did put the shoulder in place, and Mr. Hill "seemed to consider it so, as did the friend who came with him, and Mr. Joseph W. White, Dr. Goodall's assistant, both of whom assisted me, considered that it was in place; but whilst I was getting a bandage to secure it, he moved the arm to see how the shoulder felt, and when I got back to him it was out, and he would not allow me to do anything more for him. Of the numerous cases of dislocated shoulder that I have had, I have never failed to reduce a single case, not even the 'fat fireman's.'"

THE WASHINGTON TREATY.—Information is given from reliable authority that the President dictated the despatch to Minister Schenck, which propably affords the only honorable position we can now assume. By its term it is understood Mr. Schenck is directed to ask Earl Granville for a direct statement as to what the course of Great Britain will be with regard to the Geneva Arbitration, as the American case now stands. To this request it is expected a direct reply of withdrawal will be made. In such case Mr. Schenck is instructed to state that the United States, having offered all concession of harmonious relations within her power to the verge consistent with national honor and self-respect, accepts the action of Great Britain as conclusive, throws upon her the onus of such decision and retires with her from the conference. This is the President's decision, and in it he hopes to be sustained by the country.

NEW BOOKS.—"A Lady's Life Among the Mormons," is a record written by Mrs. T. B. H. Stenhouse, as one of the wives of a Mormon elder during a period of more than twenty years, with an appendix containing the "Revelation on Celestial Marriage," given to Joseph Smith, and choice extracts from the writings and sermons of the Modern Apostle. It is a book of 240 pages, written by a lady who herself suffered all that she describes, and her name alone is a guarantee for the good sense, truthfulness, vivacity, and purity of the volume. It is illustrated by a popular American artist, and depicts to the eye telling scenes of polygamous life. Published by the American News Company, and for sale at the book stores.

We have received from the American Unitarian Association a handsome volume entitled "Christianity and Modern Thought." It is from the press of John Wilson & Son of Boston, and consists of a series of discourses, which were delivered last winter, on Sunday evenings at the Hollis St. Church, and repeated on Monday afternoons at King's Chapel. These discourses were by some of the ablest scholars and most profound thinkers of the country, and are a valuable contribution to theological literature.

"Good Bye, Sweetheart," by the author of "Cometh Up as a Flower" and "Red As a Rose is She," is received from the publishers, D. Appleton & Co., New York. It is written in a style of brilliancy and shows vigor of thought which will fascinate the reader. The dialogues are vivacious and the story is painfully interesting. For sale at the book stores.

"Our Digestion; or, My Jolly Friend's secret," is the title of Dio Lewis' latest and most important work. It is well calculated to do good service in promoting the health of the people, and deserves a wide circulation. The very reading of the book will tend to make one wiser and jollier, for the doctor writes with great directness and vivacity, and a due infusion of humor, playfulness, and anecdote, which are sure to render the work attractive and universally popular. It ought to supersede Buchan's and every other "Domestic Medicine," as a household book; for it shows how medicine may be dispensed with, to a considerable extent, in a majority of cases. We confidently believe this book will save thousands of doctors' bills, if its wisdom is heeded. It solves the problem of cheap living, and will thus "if read by the many bless the million." It teaches us how to live so that we need never be troubled with "the blues," or suffer with billiousness or dyspepsia. It tells how to manage so that you shall have white teeth, sweet breath, strong muscles, good spirits, refreshing sleep and long life. Buy it, and study its invaluable information and receipts. The book is to be sold entirely by agents. We advise persons seeking profitable employment to write to the publisher, Geo. McLean, 3 School St., Boston, Mass.

Morning Chronicle.

INTEMPERANCE AND RUIN.—Hon. F. C. Whipple died in Howell, Mich., lately, and was buried with Masonic ceremonies. Connected with his life is a sad history, which is thus briefly related: Twelve years ago not a man in Michigan could seemingly look forward with brighter prospects, being in affluent circumstances and a lawyer by profession who stood among the first in the State. But by intemperance, and exposure therefrom, he was attacked with fits, from the effects of which he never recovered, his mind constantly fading until he became helpless, and he was for the past two or three years supported by public charity. His wife, a beautiful and accomplished lady, became insane about the same time of Mr. Whipple's sickness, and was sent to the asylum at Kalamazoo, where she still remains with no hopes of recovery. Four beautiful, bright, and thus unhappy children, are penniless and scattered here and there, no two living together. It is seldom a family is thus overtaken and completely wrecked by misfortune.

—The marine losses for the year 1871, including all vessels belonging to or trading to ports in the United States, reported totally lost and missing, amount to four hundred and forty-five vessels, worth $11,985,010, which was four vessels less than the previous year, and $1,168,010 more in value.—Nautical Gazette.

—If an icicle forty-five miles in diameter were thrust toward the sun with the velocity of light, say twelve million miles a minute, it could never touch the sun, but it would melt as fast as it came. If this is true, the experiment might as well be abandoned first as last.

—An Iowa minister preached a sermon composed of words of one syllable.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disease. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

Brighton Cattle Market

FOR THE WEEK ENDING WEDNESDAY, MAY 1.
[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 2006; Sheep and Lambs 8200; Swine 10,800; number of Western Cattle 1831; Eastern Cattle —; Northern Cattle and Working Oxen 175. Cattle left over from last week.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $7 50 @ $ 7 75; first quality $6 50 @ $7 25; second quality $5 50 @ $6 25; third quality $4 50 @ $5 25; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $3 75 @ $4 50 ℔ cwt. (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Brighton Hides 9½ ℔ lb; Country Hides 9c. ℔ lb.

Brighton Tallow 6@6½c per lb; Country Tallow 5 @ 5½c ℔ lb.

Calf skins 20c ℔ lb.; Dairy Skins $1 00 @ $1 25. Wool Sheep Skins $2 00 @ $4 25 each. Sheared Sheep Skins 25c each.

The supply of Beeves in market this week was lighter by several hundred than that of one week ago. There were not so many good Beeves, according to the number. The trains got in early and the trade opened active. Nearly all the Western Cattle were closed out early yesterday. There are quite a number of cars of Western Cattle shipped to arrive to-day. Buyers were in market this week from Maine, and some of the best Beeves were bought for the Portland markets. Prices upon all grades were full ½c ℔ lb. higher than those of last week. There were but a few Northern Cattle, and none from Maine this week.

Working Oxen—We quote sales 1 pair, gth. 7ft. 3in., 3700lbs., $310; 1 do., 7ft. 3in., 3500lbs., $282; 1 do., 7ft. 3in., $280; 1 do., 7ft., $260; 1 do., 6ft. 2in., $210; 1 do., 6ft. 8in., $155; 1 do., 6ft. 10in., $210; 1 do., 7ft. 8in., $240. There was a light supply in market; at this season of the year a few pairs each week is all the market requires.

Store Cattle—None in market except Working Oxen and Milch Cows. Nearly all the small Cattle that are in fair condition are bought up for Beef.

Milch Cows—Extra $55 @ $90; ordinary $20 @ $50; Store Cows $16 @ 55 ℔ head. Nearly all of the Cows offered in market for sale are of a common grade.

Sheep and Lambs—We quote extra and select lots $8 00 @ $12 00; ordinary $4 25 @ $12 00 ℔ head, or from 7½ @ 8½c ℔ lb.

Store Pigs—Wholesale 6¾ @ 7½c ℔ lb; retail 7 @ 8c ℔ lb. Fat Hogs 8½ @ 5½c; Columbia County Pigs 00 @ 00c ℔ lb.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

THURSDAY, MAY 9, 1872.

The Rotation Question.

Editors of the Chronicle:—Your correspondent "Romeo" seems to have "waked snakes" in earnest, and among them, if I am not very much mistaken, "Right," whose communication appeared in your last Saturday's Chronicle. If I am correct in my conjecture he, having once given away the State through his bolting the Republican party nomination and running on an opposition ticket for the State Senatorship in the first district, does not seem very unwilling to sacrifice his old party a second time by advising its legislative representatives to ignore the United States Senatorial rotation system, but advice from such a quarter surely cannot have much force, and it is about as certain as anything can be that there are not many Grant Republicans who will take it from him. Neither will they heed the slur "Right" attempts to cast upon E. H. Rollins on the score of "lukewarmness" towards his party, in which unjust charge another of your correspondents, "Com," joins him with unaccountable injustice and unrighteous animus—though both do their work in a half covert manner. Of all men in the State it least becomes those of Portsmouth to under-value Mr. Rollins. Their consciences will inform them why.

Both "Right" and "Com," have manifestly written in ignorance of facts; for no one who knows anything concerning Mr. Rollins' position during the campaign of 1871 would dare to assert or endorse the insinuations made by both. Mr. Rollins was not in any sense "lukewarm" concerning the results of that campaign; and as this is not the first time such charge has been made against him and his associates, I have authority to say that they court every privilege to answer and triumphantly refute it. In a word it is utterly false, and "Right" and "Com" know it is so. When they apply the words used by "Capulet" to Mr. Rollins and the members of the Republican State Central Committee of 1871, they twist them to a base purpose, in order to manufacture a groundless argument against Mr. Rollins' party loyalty, and stupidly argue, for their base personal object, that there are no men of influence among the New Hampshire Republicans but such as are of said committee. The attempt and purpose are equally contemptible in matter and in manner. This is the plain unvarnished truth. When the State Central Committee held its first meeting in 1871 Mr. Rollins declined its Chairmanship for the reason that he had formed a business connection with the Pacific Railroad Company, whose duties would compel his absence from the State during the period of the campaign about to be inaugurated. The interests of his employers demanded that this should be the case; for they required constant, assiduous attention. Under these circumstances Mr. Rollins said he could not possibly take charge of campaign affairs, as he could not do them anything like justice as he was situated. The committee insisted on his taking hold of the chairmanship, and adjourned to give him time to reconsider his declination, but on re-assembling and finding that his business obligations were imperative, his associate members consented to relieve him of active responsibilities, but urged that he should allow his name to remain as Chairman of the Committee, "as that alone would be good for a thousand votes in the State." It was with this condition and understanding that Mr. Rollins' name was so used; and it cannot be charged against him that he did not do all in his power for the benefit of party interests during the campaign which followed, nor can it be denied that he did more than any one else, under the compulsory absence from the State, could have done. There was defeat for the Republican party; but his presence at home during the campaign could not have avoided it. Thousands had seen what "Capulet" calls the exaltation of mediocrity to high congressional office as the result of the severe struggle of the previous year, and they believed the game not to be worthy the shot—and that was the whole secret of the failure; for they were influential men who reasoned thus, and who became careless concerning efforts which had such a pitiful out-come. But Mr. Rollins had no share in this inaction; and no one who dare charge him to the contrary will find a corporal's guard of adherents.

Surely "Right," when he twits Mr. Rollins about being unduly ambitious, must have been wilfully forgetful that he has been a tried and true man in Congress; and that his practical record there set alongside that of Mr. Patterson, who has been several years longer in Congressional office, would show a heavy balance of usefulness in his favor. He is emphatically a working man, exactly what New Hampshire wants, not a vapid and non-practical talker whom the State neither appreciates nor cares for. It is no sin or indiscretion for such a man to be ambitious of office at any time when his claim can be seasonably made—and that time is now, and many, very many, believe so. "Right" speaks at hap-hazard when he says that Mr. Rollins does not believe in the rotation rule his friends uphold. I speak from personal knowledge, after enquiry, when I say that he does; and, moreover, I believe that he will not repudiate the theory thus endorsed, as Senator Patterson has surely done; although he commended the process in the case of Dr. Willard, postmaster of this city (Concord,) who was as good a Republican as Mr. Patterson himself, and who had not served half his term, and as he also did in the case of Mr. B. P. Cilley, postmaster of Manchester, whose removal was arranged with the cogsizance of that Senator, and with his approval, although why Mr. Cilley should not have served out the customary tenure of office was a wonder to a great many. The sauce for the gander ought to be sauce for the goose, surely, even where it not a customary thing.

I believe that "Capulet's" warning respecting the ignoring of the rotation principle is sensible and just; and that if heed is not given to it in making choice of a U. S. Senator, party disaster will follow as a sure thing.

RUMFORD.

CONCORD, May 6, 1872.

The State Convention.

The Republican State Convention at Concord organized with Hon. Mason W. Tappan of Bradford as President, and a Vice President from each county. Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett was Vice President from Rockingham county.

The convention balloted for four delegates at large to the National Convention, with the following result:—

Whole No. Votes	464
Necessary for choice	233
Ossian Ray	464
Wm. H. Y. Hackett	462
Frederick Smyth	452
James W. Johnson	291
Thomas M. Edwards	177
Scattering	13

and Messrs. Ray, Hackett, Smyth and Johnson were declared elected.

On motion of Hon. Jacob Benton, Messrs. Samuel Upton of Manchester, Geo. W. Marston of Portsmouth, Chas. W. Rand, of Littleton, and Samuel D. Quarles, of Ossipee, were elected alternates by acclamation. The Convention passed resolutions endorsing Grant, Colfax and Wilson.

After the adjournment of the State Convention, the First District Convention organized by the choice of Hon. Horton D. Walker of Portsmouth as President, and Chas. W. Hoitt of Dover as Secretary. Messrs. Charles S. Whitehouse, of Rochester, and Albert G. Folsom, of Laconia, were elected delegates, with Samuel C. Fisber, of Dover, and Martin A. Hayes, of Gilford, as alternates—by acclamation.

In the Second District, Messrs. O. C. Moore, of Nashua, and Daniel Barnard, of Franklin, were chosen delegates.

In the Third District, Messrs. Dexter Richards, of Newport, and Albert B. Twitchell, were elected.

The News.

The government has obtained a verdict of $50,000 against Williams, Goodhue & Sherman of New York, as the value of jute bags incorrectly invoiced.

The small-pox is increasing in New York. Thirty-three new cases were reported May 7.

Fourteen of the fifty prisoners sought to be released, because of the illegality of the old New York court of special sessions, were re-sentenced by the new court.

There is considerable excitement in Copenhagen over the arrest of the president and treasurer of the International Society in Copenhagen. Some demonstrations of violence have been made, but were suppressed. The public buildings are under guard. The leading members of the society will be prosecuted for high treason.

The fourth annual reunion of the army of the Potomac took place in Cleveland, Ohio, on the 7th. General Hooker presided, and Gen. Stewart L. Woodford delivered the oration. Phil Sheridan was present.

W. P. Schell was nominated for governor of Pennsylvania by the State labor reform convention, May 7th.

The Massachusetts legislature was prorogued on the 7th, having during the session passed 360 bills and 60 resolutions, all which were signed by the Governor. The session was the shortest since 1863.

The body of a colored woman was found by the side of the Hartford and New Haven Railroad track, near Enfield, the head crushed and the body badly disfigured. A short distance from her was found her baby, alive and uninjured. A little further on her husband was found insensible. It is probable that they were struck by the night express train. A coroner's jury is investigating the matter. The place where they were found is in the midst of a colored settlement.

The House of Representatives has passed a supplementary apportionment bill, which leaves this State with three Representatives in Congress as heretofore.

The reported flood disastrous at Melbourne, Australia, is an error. A fearful flood has occurred in the Madras Presidency, British India, and 1000 lives were lost.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emollient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—For scurvy, leprosy, and cutaneous diseases they are unrivalled. In places where these maladies are prevalent, the cures are marvellous; for the expulsion of pimples, blotches, etc., they are unparalleled, and as a cosmetic the Ointment stands unequalled. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

HUMANS SHARE WITH HORSES the benefits derivable from the world-renowned MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. The most irrefragable testimony establishes the fact that this wondrous balm exerts the same soothing and healing influence when applied to the human cuticle, that it does in cases of spavin, founders, ringbone, poll evil, scratches, wind gall, and other ailments of the horse which require outward treatment. It is, in fact, the most effectual of all external remedies for rheumatism, gout, stiffness of the neck, sore throat, swellings, cuts and bruises of all kinds.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

SPECIAL NOTICES.

False Theories Overthrown.

We live under a new medical dispensation, very different from that under which so many of our fore'athers died. The sick are no longer bled till they faint, nor gorged with mercury, nor prostrated with violent cathartics, nor blistered on their shaven heads. Ever since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, twenty years ago, renovation and restoration, not depletion and prostration, have been the watchwords of the judicious portion of the profession. The remarkable success of this famous vegetable preventive, invigorant and corrective has worked a complete revolution in the general treatment of disease. At first the dogmatic members of the faculty would not believe in it. "What!" they exclaimed, "cure liver complaint without mercury, chronic rheumatism without colchicum, fever and ague without quinine! Impossible!" But the most obstinate incredulity must yield in the end to practical demonstration. From that time to the present, dyspepsia, biliousness, intermittent fevers, muscular diseases, nervous complaints and constipation have vanished under the operation of the great specific, in at least ninety per cent. of the cases in which it has been used as a remedy for those ailments, while as a preventive of all maladies generated by change of climate, sudden revulsions of temperature, epidemic poison in the atmosphere, and unwholesome water, its beneficial effects have been so obvious and uniform as to secure the most perfect confidence in its properties as an antidote, safeguard and cure.

The City Barn.

Many citizens express regret at the action of the Common Council some weeks since, in indefinitely postponing the question of remodelling and beautifying the City Building. It is urged that as it stands at present it is an ill-looking old barn,—which no one will deny,—and if left as it is it will do the city little credit when viewed by the absent "Sons of Portsmouth" on their return home next year, and by the thousands of visitors who will be here from other cities and from the country on that occasion. It is also claimed that making the structure presentable will in nowise interfere with any possible prospective scheme for building a City Hall, as the lot on which the present ark stands is too small for a city hall site; and that as it is a strong, solid old concern and bids fair to last a century yet unless torn or burned down, a few thousand dollars expended in improving its appearance would be well laid out.

Injustice.

Under the heading "Injustice," our local Democratic contemporary says:—"The proprietor of one of our principal hotels has been arrested for selling ale, cigars, &c., on the Sabbath. Of course there was no escape from the judgment of the court, for it is a plain violation of the law for a hotel keeper to sell one of his guests any such luxuries on the Sabbath, or at any other time. Hence the landlord was compelled to pay fine and costs amounting to $18.04. * * * Marshal Johnson says that he only obeys orders and is not responsible for this unjust proceeding. This of course throws the responsibility upon Mayor Walker. * * * Very many good citizens and leading Republicans deprecate this sudden flurry and pretence of enforcing the Sunday laws. During the last two years, our city has has been as orderly and quiet on the Sabbath as any Puritan could desire. No saloons are kept open, none of the saloon keepers desiring to do so." We were not aware that "it is a plain violation of the law for a hotel keeper to sell one of his guests" cigars during the week; but then we do not pretend to be learned in the law. The hotel keeper was fined for keeping his bar open on the Sabbath, in direct violation of a city ordinance forbidding it. We do not believe Marshal Johnson says he "is not responsible for this unjust proceeding," or that he has said anything which can be construed to mean anything like it; he has for some time past been actively engaged in enforcing the closing of saloons at 11 o'clock at night, has given liquor retailers notice that their liquor traffic must cease on Sunday, and now proposes to appeal to the court to enforce the statute in all cases where the warning is disregarded. As to our city having been as orderly and quiet on the Sabbath during the past two years as any Puritan could desire, several petitions largely signed by the most respectable residents of the city, male and female, have been presented to the city authorities within that period, praying a rigid enforcement of the law against Sunday rumselling; and there were at least three drunken fights in the city last Sunday. And if no saloon keepers desire to keep their bars open on Sunday, the law compelling their closing cannot be very oppressive. Somebody sells liquor on Sunday, however, for drunken men are sometimes seen on our streets on that day; not so many or so often as in other places, certainly, but sufficiently often to outrage and annoy decent and temperate people. If those who desire free trade in intoxicating liquors on the Sabbath will urge the repeal of the Sunday closing ordinance, it may possibly be done; but while it stands on the statute book it should be enforced against open violators, as we understand is being done. The "sly" sellers, who only admit "regular customers" through back entrances, are of course much more difficult to restrain; but even their traffic can be seriously checked.

Laconics.

To-day, Thursday, May 9th, is called "Holy Thursday" in the Church, and is kept in joyful commemoration of the Ascension of our Lord, forty days after His resurrection, at Easter. Ascension-Day is one of the four greater festivals in the Christian year, not counting the weekly Lord's day—Christmas, the feast of the Nativity; Easter, of the Resurrection; and Whitsunday, of the gift of the Holy Spirit, being the others. They are equally of the highest estimation and observance in the Church, though two of them, Easter and Whitsunday, occurring always on Sunday, of course, uniting also the sacredness of that day with themselves, attract more general attention in the world, and commonly greater numbers in their observance. Appropriate services will be held, this morning, in St. John's church, at quarter past 10 o'clock.

The number of inmates at the County House at present is 121, rather more than the average. Superintendent Pollard has been very sick with inflammatory rheumatism for several days, but is convalescent. Much trouble has been occasioned during the past winter, by the freezing of water pipes; but a new and capacious well having been sunk in front of the house, and the pipes relaid deeper, it is thought this will be obviated in the future. The recent statement of a deceased pauper being laid out without proper clothing, is denied.

A great many folks don't believe it—but the general adoption of concrete sidewalks and crosswalks, and a liberal use of the stone-crusher, in Portsmouth, would be great improvements. If you don't think so, look at the streets where the crushed stone was used last year; and as to concrete walks, look at that so hardly used and roundly abused on Bridge Street. The crossing at Hill Street is the best in the city, after hard wear these many years; and the whole walk, although not well laid at first, and without the needed plank or other curb, is to-day well worth repairing. Concrete walks are the best of all, and especially for street crossings they are incomparably superior. The great mistake about them is, to imagine they should never need repairs, as all other roads and walks do.

A citizen who often rides Sagamore way, wants to know whether it is on account of the many and deep cuts or ruts in Richards Avenue, that it is proposed to change the name to Cutts Avenue? He says that if somebody don't repair that road soon, the city will be liable to indictment.

JUBILEE. — For the benefit of our country cousins and those living in the provincial cities of New York and Chicago, who desire to know how we are going to put through Gilmore's great musical jubilee, we would say as follows:

Everything will be done on a big scale; the chromatic scale will be nothing to the weigh this will be managed.

Gunpowder and nitro-glycerine will be employed to blow the organs, and a trumpet blast may be expected from the same agency.

All the leading bakers are preparing rolls for the drums.

Skilled navigators have been sent out to bring Cape Horn, and George Francis Train has been engaged to blow it.

An amateur who plays upon words, will perform a duet with another who blows a cloud.

There will be overtures by dry-goods drummers.

New York judges will not be admitted to the orchestra as instruments of the Tammany Ring.

Sixteen locomotives will whistle Yankee Doodle with bell accompaniment.

The Heidelberg tunnel has been contracted for the bass drum, and four elephants' skins are now being tanned for the head of it, and, instead of sticks, two steam pile drivers will be used.

The Chinese national Hymn will be performed by the band of the Emperor of China, who are expected in junks. In their absence three hundred cats and sixty saw filers have been secured to prevent disappointment.

There will be a number of celebrated airs—the contesting heir to the Tichborne estate is anxious to be present if he can get beyond a few bars.

Finally Mr. Gilmore will give a new version of the march of Progress with full orchestral and vocal accompaniment.—Bulletin.

MAY WORK.—Most of the farm crops are committed to the soil during the month of May. If they are not put in at the proper time, or if sowed or planted in a hurried and imperfect manner, the neglect will become sadly evident at harvest time. May, then, to us, is one of the most important months in the twelve. We do not urge haste, but by all means avoid delay. There is a possibility, even, of being too hasty. That error is frequently made in ploughing land that has not been fitted by nature's grand operations of wind and sun and shower. No art of man can do this work. Until it is done, it is far better that the soil should remain untouched. If disturbed by the plough, it is either pressed down into the form of cakes of clay, or turned over into lumps which dry in that form, and are quite likely to remain so through the summer. It is best to postpone ploughing until the soil will crack and fall over in minute particles when turned up to the air. Again, seed sown in a cold, clammy soil, not only refuse to sprout and grow, but in many instances actually rot, so that the whole operation of ploughing, or at least of harrowing, levelling and reseeding, has to be gone over with again.—N. E. Farmer.

THE DANGERS OF STEAMSHIP COLLISIONS TO BE AVOIDED.—Captain Codman, of New York, and Captain McMickan, of the Cunard steamship Calabria, waited upon the President and called his attention to their project of ocean steamship tracks, the importance of which they have urged upon the public of their respective countries. When the increasing number of steamships, all passing both ways on the same track is considered, the imminence of collision becomes every day more apparent, and the danger to which fishermen on the Banks are exposed is equally evident.

The plan suggested is that all outward bound steamers shall diverge from their port of departure until they gain a distance of thirty or forty miles from the route of those homeward bound. In order that the latter may avoid the fishermen, their track is to be shaped so as to cross the "tail" of the Banks of Newfoundland, which is further south than the ground usually fished upon. In this way, also, the risk of ice will be lessened. The length of the voyage would not be materially increased, while the safety of the passengers would be insured to a degree that those ignorant of the danger to which they are exposed, may not appreciate until they are taught it by some fearful catastrophe. The President received the nautical gentleman very courteously, with the greatest interest. He deplored the absence of American ships from the ocean steam fleet, but said that inasmuch as American life and property are so much affected, he would certainly bring it to the notice of our Ministers abroad, in order that some concerted national action may be taken.

MIND AND WILL.—A very clear illustration of the distinction between strength of will and strength of mind was once given by a gay young fellow, who probably had never read a page of metaphysics in his life. This young gentleman, whose friend called him Bob, for shortness, was of an exceedingly nervous temperament, and any unusual indulgence in wine was sure to leave him in a shaky and unhappy condition. Bob had a consequential acquaintance named Waffles, who was gifted with the absorbing qualities of a sponge, and who, although in the habit of drinking much more freely than Bob, was never known to exhibit any signs of inebriety.

One morning Waffles called upon his friend, whom he found seated on the stool of repentance, with a wet towel bound round his head, and several empty soda bottles by his side; and, shocked at the sight, he began to moralize.

"So you were tight again last night, eh?" said Waffles. "Now, why don't you do as I do? When I have drank enough I stop. You should have more strength of mind, and imitate me."

"Strength of mind," snarled Bob, who, nervous and irritable, had very little disposition to submit to a temperance lecture from such a source; "what the dence has strength of mind to do with it? Strength of will, you mean?"

"Well," quoth Waffles, "what is the difference?"

"I'll tell you the difference," retorted Bob, vindictively; "brutes have no mind at all, but a jackass has more strength of will than any being that breathes."

—It will cost $80,000 to run Biddeford next year.

—One of the "Innocents at home"—Mark Twain's baby daughter.

—The latest argument for the narrow gauge is that the road to Heaven is built on the same principle.

—A newspaper in Jacksonville, Illinois, has lost thirty-five cents in three libel suits brought against it.

—Why would Venus descending from Olympus be like a liberal husband? Because she would come down handsome.

—No smoking is allowed in the Jubilee building, but the organ builders will be permitted to take their pipes in.

—A lady, in instructing her daughter in the use of the needle, said: "As I tell you to sew, so sew; but do not merely sew so so."

—The jolly local of a paper says: "Come where my love lies dreaming—and see how she looks without any paint on her face."

—The New York Standard styles Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage "a pious gabber and devout barbarian," because of his nonsensical book just published.

—At a Masonic parade in San Francisco lately, a little girl called out, "Oh, mother, see how many waiters there are in the parade!" The child is presumed to be the daughter of an Odd Fellow.

—A Vincennes photographer advertises, "Babies taken in and finished in fifteen minutes," which may be rather hard on the babies, but will be nice for their big sisters who are obliged to take them to sit for their pictures.

—"Get out of my way, what are you good for?" said a man to a bright-eyed urchin who happened to stand in the way. The little fellow, as he hopped one side, replied very gently, "They make men out of such things as we are."

—The latest thing in spring hats for young ladies is to have the rim so bent and crumpled as to be strongly suggestive of a late supper, an overpotion of champagne, and a lively little tussle in the carriage the night before. Jaunty, but not judicious.

—"Fred," said a father to his son, "I hear that you and your wife quarrel and wrangle every day. Let me warn you against such a fatal practice." "Who ever told you that, father, was totally mistaken; my wife and I haven't spoken to one another for a month."

—A man in LaGrange, O., says that he has been entirely cured of catarrh of fifteen years' standing by the use of pulverized borax as a snuff. Only five cents' worth of borax was used. We hope this announcement will not result in a material advance in the price of borax.

—In the leading bank in Stockholm all the clerkships have for some years past been satisfactorily filled by females. This is what might have been expected, says a slanderous old bachelor. Every one who has ever intrusted a secret to women knows that they make first-rate tellers.

—The prominent clothing-houses in North Adams, Mass., which have been in sharp competition for some time, reached the climax on Saturday, April 27, when clothing was sold for less than half the cost of manufacture, and silk hats for 25 cents apiece. Extra clerks had to be hired to wait upon the crowds that thronged the stores until a late hour.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in number of needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Searches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of greatness of ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

FRIDAY, MAY 10, 1872.

Campaign Notes.

The National Democratic Executive Committee met in New York May 8th, and issued a call for a national convention to be held in Baltimore on Tuesday, July 9.

The Richmond Despatch wants it understood that the South is tired of fighting hopeless battles, and will in no case go with the Democrats should they be so wayward and impracticable as to nominate a presidential ticket.

The Westliche Volksblatt, German organ of northwest Missouri, has come out in opposition to Greeley.

London papers generally assert that the re-election of President Grant is doubtful, if he persists in keeping the claims for indirect damages before the Geneva tribunal. What disinterested creatures these British editors are.

The Democratic editors of Illinois have had a caucus, and resolved to support the nominees of the Baltimore convention, whether Greeley and Brown or straight-out Demos.

The supplementary apportionment bill gives all the States having a fraction above the regular number of population, an additional representative in Congress. Vermont, New Hampshire, New York, Pennsylvania, Alabama, Indiana, Tennessee and Florida come within this category. This makes 292 members.

Mr. Rollins' Speech at the State Convention.

Gentlemen of the Convention :—Since the Republican State Convention held in this hall in January last, we have had an election, and I take this opportunity to offer you my heartiest congratulations on the victory achieved, which restores New Hampshire to its former proud position at the head of the long column of Republican States. The result of this election sent a thrill of delight to millions of Republican hearts throughout the country. It was a triumph complete in itself and far-reaching in its consequences. Its infinite value to us, to the national administration, and to the Republicans of the country, is already obvious, and will be more apparent if we contemplate for a moment the condition in which the party would be placed, with the Presidential election close at hand, if we had failed to redeem our State. But, thanks to the efforts of the idomitable Republicans of New Hampshire, we triumphed. Connecticut and Rhode Island followed our good example, and it needs no prophet to foretell a national triumph next November.

The State Convention which assembled here in January not only endorsed the National Administration, but boldly and most emphatically declared for the renomination of President Grant. The issue was thus squarely made; and I take it that two things, at least, were decided by the recent election, namely: that the majority of the people of this State are opposed to free trade, and that they are in favor of the re-election of President Grant.

No Administration since the foundation of the Government has done more to secure permanent peace, to promote the honor of the country and the welfare of the whole people, than that now in power. We have heard much of Congressional investigations, and committees almost innumerable—some say as many as fourteen were at one time in full blast—all prompted by the enemy, or some sore-headed malcontent in our own ranks. But through all these investigations President Grant comes forth unscathed and without a stain. Where were these men who now dare assail the greatest soldier of modern times, when he was facing the bullets of the enemy at Donelson, Vicksburg, the Wilderness, before Richmond, at Appomattox, saving the life of the nation and the government under which they live? One of them, Horace Greeley, having advised us to allow the rebel States to depart in peace, was negotiating with rebels at Niagara Falls; and again hurrying off in hot haste to sign Jeff. Davis' bail-bond, as soon as Grant's armies had hewn their way to the capital of the Southern Confederacy and overthrown that eminent traitor. Another, Carl Schurz, was simply the most magnificent of all the military "dead beats" produced by the Rebellion. Most of the instigators of these proceedings have recently assembled, with other kindred spirits, in convention at Cincinnati, and made nominations for President and Vice-President. It is possible that some of these conspirators still linger among our camp-followers, without the courage to depart, or the manliness to avow their real sentiments and recieve their merited dismissal. Those who have gone over to the host of rebels and copperheads, we will fight and overwhelm at the polls; and those who treacherously linger, can never regain our confidence.

The result of the Cincinnati Convention is before us. Probably there never was such a gathering of sore-headed, disappointed, intriguing, disgruntled, and corrupt politicians assembled at one time in the country. The only assembly that at all approaches it in these respects is the famous "Bread-and-Butter Convention" of Andrew Johnson. That convention did not interfere with the election of President Grant; and the Cincinnati lunatics will not materially affect the question of his re-election.

The Cincinnati nominations are ridiculed by the Republicans, and will be scorned by the Democrats, who will put in the field men of their own stamp, while the glorious army of Republicans, with Grant as their standard-bearer, will march on to victory.

We have realized, through the experience of the last campaign, what can be accomplished by the energy, vigilance, and zeal of the working Republicans of New Hampshire, when we are thoroughly organized and go at the task all together and with one mind and purpose. Our gallant workers never labored with more devotion than during this last desperate struggle, and never won a more brilliant or important victory. All honor to them! They are entitled, not only to your gratitude, but to the thanks of the Republicans of the nation.

The News.

The trustees of the Church of the Disciples (Hepworth's) of New York, have refused to accept $60,000 from the late Church of the Puritans, on condition that they would change the name to that of the latter.

Cortinas, the Mexican general and cattle thief, has been removed from his command.

The Bostons beat the Mutuals badly on Wednesday, scoring nine runs to two for the Mutuals, both of which they got in the first inning. At return game will be played on the Boston grounds, to-morrow.

A fire occurred in San Francisco on Tuesday evening, in which three Chinamen, one Chinese woman and a child were burned to death. Squier's opera-house building and Squier's stone flouring mill, at Grand Rapids, Michigan, were burned Wednesday morning; loss $75,000. Forest fires have been raging in the vicinity of Colville, N. J., for several days; three dwellings have been destroyed; the total loss is $30,000. The business part of the town of Ingersoll, Canada, has been burned; loss $500,000.

The steamer Concordia, ashore on Cape Breton, will probably go to pieces. She was owned by Messrs. Joseph Nickerson and F. Nickerson & Co., and cost them about $150,000, on which they have an insurance of $50,000. The cargo of cotton and oil cake is mostly insured abroad.

The Minnesota State Convention endorsed President Grant for re-election.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION.—People not connected in any way with the management of the government or the newspapers here, have been wondering why certain things known to exist in violation of common decency as well as law, are not suppressed and put out of the way. But everybody has been waiting for somebody else to move in the matter. And in this much waiting, vice and immorality have taken courage and, instead of skulking around in back alleys and by-ways, they have put on boots and spurs and travel in open day the public streets. No great, shocking, and outrageous crimes have been committed, that is to say, no murders, arson, highway robberies and grand larcenies are reported, but the grand orignator and parent of the worst crimes of the world is here amongst us, flourishing with impunity. We allude to the creature of man's special creation that makes people drunk and sends them reeling through the streets, disgracing mankind and libelling the works of God. That unmitigated curse is still here and no day passes that his haggard and blear-eyed customers may not be seen marking their snake-paths through thoroughfares designed for the exclusive use of sober and decent manhood. It is high time the public authorities began to more for the unmistakable correction of the drunkenness so prevalent in this community. * * * In

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Illness of Mayor Walker.

Our citizens were startled, Thursday, by the announcement that Hon. Horton D. Walker had been prostrated with apoplexy. Mr. Walker attended the Republican State Convention the day before, and presided over the 1st District Convention. He appeared in good health and seemed more lively than usual. Thursday morning he was about his business as usual but was taken sick. Entering his residence, he told Mrs. Walker that he had a severe head-ache, and laid down on a lounge, becoming insensible. Medical aid was sought but he remained in a comatose condition through the day. A consultation by five physicians was held and the case was deemed a nearly hopeless one, yet a faint hope of his recovery was maintained. The afflicted family have the warmest sympathies of all classes of citizens. A gloom pervades the whole community; every one, young and old, has learned to love and respect the man so frequently called by his friends to positions of honor. We join with thousands of friends in the wish that this friend so honorable, so good in all things, so eminently a Christian, may be spared to his family.

Shocking Accident.

A baby, six months old, daughter of Mr. Charles B. Barlow, living on Union Street, while seated at a table, on Wednesday, pulled over a cup of hot tea and was terribly scalded on the breast and stomach. On Thursday, the little sufferer died of its injuries.

Laconics.

The two Boards of the City Council assembled at the usual hour on Thursday evening, but in view of the sudden and alarming illness of His Honor the Mayor, adjourned without other action.

An earnest appeal for the enforcement of the State laws against the liquor traffic, from the pen of Mr. Joshua L. Foster, formerly of this city and now editor of the Dover "Democrat," we publish in another column; it will be read with interest by many persons in this city.

The establishment of a retail fish market by Herbert & Watkins at No. 1 Vaughan Street affords our citizens great accommodation. The new firm deliver their goods promptly and we can recommend them for gentlemanly dealing, and their market as neat in every particular, having the freshest fish obtainable.

We are glad to learn that Dr. Wm. H. Smart, of Newcastle, who has had a severe attack of diphtheria, has recovered.

In the case of Bettis against the Eastern Railroad Company, to recover for personal injuries at the Revere accident, tried in the supreme court at Salem, the jury found for the plaintiff in the sum of $23,000.

BEER.—The Massachusetts prohibitory law submits the question of beer selling to the popular vote of each town or city, and on the 7th many places voted on it. So far as heard from, more than two-thirds of the towns voting have decided "No Beer;" and in towns where no vote is taken the law prohibits its sale. The vote in Salem showed that the action of the authorities in repressing the liquor traffic is appreciated and supported by a majority of the voters in the city. A large vote was polled, and there was considerable excitement in the various wards, the advocates of free beer being especially active to bring their voters to the polls, —the result being 1063 for beer, and 1221 against it. The beer men in Springfield began to run their backs for the collection of voters as soon as the polls were opened, and in several cases unloaded their contents at saloons before carrying them to the polls. It early became evident that the beer men were to be beaten, but they continued the struggle desperately after they were plainly distanced. Last year the vote stood 726 yeas against 296 nays; but this year the verdict is reversed, beer having but 932 votes in its favor, with 1178 against its sale. Holyoke voted "No," by 143 majority. Amesbury gave 227 majority, Salisbury 258 majority, Peabody voted 106 to 310, Westborough 82 to 208, Lynn 1200 to 1952, Norwood 41 to 158, Hull 9 to 18, Weymouth gave 199 majority, and Andover voted 77 to 77—all "no beer." Gloucester voted 211 to 637, 426 majority against beer.

—There were thirteen births on the Scandinavian on her last trip from Liverpool to Quebec. The steamer brought eleven hundred steerage passengers, equivalent to the population of a small village.

—It is recorded of a venson-and-turtle-fed alderman of London that, on being importuned for alms by a starving woman in the street, he exclaimed, "Go away, my good woman, you don't know how you distress me. I'd give ten pounds to have your appetite."

—This is a good time to plant cats. The cat should be prepared with a bootjack, revolver or some other utensil, and then planted under a plum tree. If you have not got any plum tree, plant anywhere. Plant all you can and plant deep. This branch of agriculture is too much neglected.—Rutland Herald.

—This is the way the Western papers go on about D. V. Their brains are evidently affected: She wore a Dolly Varden, the night when first we met; her chip hat, like a garden, with posies gay was set. A thumping big blonde waterfall, when next we met, she wore; her skirts spread out from wall to wall, and dusted off the floor.

—Kinderhook, Illinois, possesses the champion preacher. A few Sundays since he had preached an eloquent sermon, and at the conclusion exhorted his hearers to embrace the opportunity presented. None came forward, and after waiting some time, the minister, raising his voice to the highest pitch, exclaimed, "Well, sit there, and be damned!" On the same Sunday he called out to the janitor, "Open that window; I don't like to preach in a barrel with the bung drove in!"

—Early and late there stands a crowd opposite the Transcript office, in Boston, gazing at a piece of mechanism which has almost accomplished perpetual motion. A ball rolls in a groove down the inclined side of a platform, in a zigzag way like a Jacob's ladder, and having reached the bottom strikes a spring which tips the platform on its axis, bringing the ball of metal to the top again, and down it goes slowly over its well-worn track to the bottom, which is to become the top again.

CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES.—We are sorry to report the history of a misunderstanding which lately arose in the west of England between two naturalists of local celebrity, and which was referred to arbitrators, with a prospect of speedy settlement, when the amicable negotiations in progress were unexpectedly interrupted by one of the parties claiming consequential damages of a character which the other considered entirely inadmissible.

Dr. Dace was the owner of two fine old English black rats, which escaped and took refuge in the grounds of his neighbor, Mr. Spokes. The latter was an enthusiastic breeder of bantam chickens. The rats killed a number of bantams, and in turn were killed by a celebrated rat-catcher. Mr. Spokes claimed damages from Dr. Dace for the loss of the bantams; and the doctor claimed damages from Spokes for the destruction of his cherished rats. The matter was left to arbitration, and everything looked promising for a peaceful termination of the difficulty when Spokes made matters worse than ever by presenting a bill for consequential damages. The number of bantams killed was thirteen, for which the sum of £13 was originally claimed. When the arbitrators met, Mr. Spokes had increased his claim to £55 11s. by presenting a bill with the following items:

Thirteen sittings of eggs that would have been hatched,	13	13	0
Value of prizes that would have been gained at the poultry shows at Bath, Bristol, and Sarum,	9	9	0
Hire of Bill Ferret, the rat catcher—six days, at 5s. a day,	1	10	0
Beer and refreshments for B. F., loss of time in looking after B. F., six days,	0	18	0
Four patent rat traps, at 3s. 6d.,	3	0	0
Damage to a pair of trousers during the hunt,	0	14	0
New roof to outhouse,	12	0	0

The consideration of this claim was stoutly resisted, and after a great deal of wrangling the bill for consequential damages was withdrawn, arbitrators finally awarding Mr. Spokes payment for the fowls actually destroyed. But the English authority which relates this history fails to say whether Mr. Spokes insisted on Dr. Dace uniting with him in a note pronouncing his claim preposterous as a condition precedent to its withdrawal.—N. Y. Paper.

THE CINCINNATI NOMINATIONS.—The Cincinnati nominations are the principal subjects of political discussion. All agree that the originators of the Cincinnati movement suffered a substantial defeat in the failure of the specific plans for which the convention was called. Political speculations here are chiefly embodied in answers to the following questions: Will the Democratic Convention endorse Greeley and Brown? What will be the effect upon the Philadelphia Convention? Democrats are very reserved in answer to the first, but the average intelligent opinion is expressed adversely to the acceptance of the ticket by the Democratic party. However, leading Democrats in great measure hold their opinions in abeyance until the meeting of the convention of their party.

A considerable number of Republicans in answer to the second question, do not hesitate to declare that the nomination of Mr. Greeley gives him the control of the balance of power at Philadelphia, and is likely to have as a consequence the nomination of some candidate by the regular Republican ticket other than President Grant. Such Republicans state that any ticket nominated at Cincinnati which would have been accepted by the Democrats could not have been withdrawn, whereas the present ticket, in the event of a different nomination at Philadelphia from the one generally contemplated, they maintain, can well be withdrawn, and harmony between the two wings of the Republican party be thereby restored. Such Republicans are already actively engaged in speculations concerning the possible combinations at Philadelphia.

The following are a few individual opinions concerning the Cincinnati ticket. Henry Wilson says it cannot secure one electoral vote or obtain a popular vote of a hundred and fifty thousand. Senator Logan states that it is a radical defeat of the free-traders who began the movement. Mr. Sumner is understood to have said that he designs to maintain a reserve until the possibility of a change in the Philadelphia nominations becomes more plainly apparent. Judge Davis has stated that the convention has proved itself to be a gigantic farce. Mr. Trumbull appears somewhat nervous and dejected.—Washington telegram to N. Y. Post.

TIME'S CHANGES.—Some people remember what Greeley said about Gen. Grant in the Presidential campaign of 1868. "We are led," remarked Mr. Greeley, "by him who first taught our armies to conquer in the West, and subsequently in the East also. Richmond would not come to us until we sent Grant after it, and then it had to come. (Cheers.) He has never been defeated, and he never will be. He will be as great and successful on the field of politics as on that of arms." Under what peculiar circumstances a man's word will sometimes come back to him.

—A lantern jaw—Dispute between two lamp-lighters.

—The Philadelphia Ledger is noted for its columns of notices of deaths. It seems that the proprietors keep a stock of ready-made obituary poetry on hand, from which the bereaved person selects such verse or verses as he deems fitting. Thus it sometimes happens that a sad stanza is used more than once in the same issue. The following touching lines did duty twice on Saturday:—

A dear father and husband kind,
Has gone and left us all behind;
Cease to weep, for tears are vain.
Husband and father is out of pain.

HINTS FOR MAY. — This is the great corn-planting month throughout the larger portion of our great and growing country. Our advice is to plant largely, manure as well as you can, and cultivate thoroughly. We are promised a "seedtime and harvest." It we do not make proper use of seedtime, we cannot look for much of a harvest. Many experiments have been made on the proper depths to plant corn, and the conclusion arrived at is from one to one and a half inches. If the soil is rather clayey, one inch is deep enough; if rather sandy, cover one and a half inches. Don't trouble yourself about how deep the roots should go; trust that to them, they understand it. See that the soil has been well pulverized before planting, and the roots will attend to their own business.

Give your orchard another reviewing and if you find any cocoons on the branches, gather and burn them. An hour thus spent will be well rewarded. Look out for the curculia. Many plans have been suggested to out-general him, some of which have succeeded; the jarring seems to have been the most successful. One of the latest, however, is burning gunpowder. This is done by loading a gun or pistol and firing it off, in, or under, the head of the tree, jarring the atmosphere and making an unpleasant odor, which it is said the olfactory nerves of the little "Turk" do not relish.

Turning stock on to pasture in the Spring, as well as taking it off in the Autumn, requires some attention on the part of the owner. The change from dry hay to immature grass, full of sap, requires some grain to sustain the system and keep it in good working condition. If work is required of horses, mules, or oxen; or milk, butter, or cheese of cows; it will pay to give these hints proper attention. As a standing hint, applicable at all times and seasons—never let live stock become low in flesh. It is said that overfatness is a disease, but over-leanness is a worse one.

The Poultry Yard:—This has always been a paying institution. The better it is attended to, the better it will pay. Keep all young chicks out of the wet grass. Supply clean water every morning, and once or twice a week dissolve a teaspoonful of copperas in two quarts of water for their drink. Add a little flower of sulphur to their wet feed once or twice a week, and they will not be troubled with vermin; if this fails, anoint with coal oil. As a general thing feed on cracked grain, dry, unless it is steamed.

Wheat screenings are excellent for young chickens; they may be fed on this at the very first, but they require no food for twenty-four hours after they are out of the shell.

Plant largely of potatoes—do this at once; if the market runs low, feed them to your stock; they are always worth growing for that purpose; when you can make more out of them by selling—do so. Early Rose and Peerless are leading varieties, for the table, at present.—Am. Stock Jour.

TRUE.—The Washington correspondent of the Boston Globe writes that paper as follows:—

It is curious to notice how the Blair family come in as Marplots and Catalines. It was the presence of Montgomery Blair in Mr. Lincoln's Cabinet that brought about the revolt of Wade and Winter Davis, as well as the Cleveland Convention with the Fremont nomination. The removal of that Blair was the price paid by Mr. Lincoln for the withdrawal of Gen. Fremont as a Presidential candidate. John D. Defrees, now so active against President Grant, and Senator Chandler of Michigan, and Judge Edmunds, then Commissioner of the General Land Office, were the negotiators. It was the Blairs who played Mephistophiles to Andrew Johnson. After his drunken fiasco on inauguration day he retired to Silver Springs, and there passed entirely under the Blair influence. Montgomery was his chief kitchen cabinet adviser; the effect of such advice has since become history. Now they appear again, this time to break up the party both Montgomery and Frank P. helped to make and mould, and which they have ever since been seeking to betray.

—There was a sound of mourning in Oshkosh. A widow wept for her departed, and provided a magnificent funeral to soothe her grief. In the church, just before the coffin was closed, a last opportunity was given to see the corpse. As the widow was nerving herself for the painful joy, she became aware of a procession of women, some twenty in number, who advanced to the coffin, and, one after another kissed the corpse. Not one of the intruders was known to the weeping relict. The sound of mourning ceased. The congregation was electrified as follows: "Until within a few moments I had supposed that the cold form in this coffin was once my husband; but the kisses of the, to me, strangers who have just paraded before the audience, have convinced me that he belonged to others a good deal more than he did to me. My part in this funeral is finished." She departed forthwith, and when the procession marched from the church to the cemetery, the chief mourner's carriage was empty.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of invention and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Much valuable proof of great talent and ability on the part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

The Rotation Question.

There have been men whose brains were at times so affected as to imagine they could see "waked snakes" all about them, and have sooner or later found they were much mistaken.

If your correspondent "Rumford" is at all desirous of making a correct statement regarding what he is pleased to say was the cause of the State being lost to the Republican party last year,—the bolting of "Right"—he could, by applying to the right source, come much nearer the truth than now, unless, when convinced, he willfully maintains the same opinion as before. As to "Right's" knowledge of the political situation of the State, and the men who have filled its prominent offices for more than thirty years, and his own movements politically, he is possibly as well posted as "Rumford." As to what "Rumford" is pleased to style "Right's" "attempt to slur Mr. Rollins on the score of lukewarmness," it will of course pass for what it is worth. Men are judged mainly by their acts for a series of years, and, to be correctly valued, their moral, intellectual and political worth must be combined. It is the only true estimate, and however much men may denounce it openly, secretly they cannot help acknowledging it. Whatever may be said in favor of, or against either Mr. Patterson or Mr. Rollins, and however men may act toward them, their true value will be estimated by the intelligent and right-minded men of the party, who are determined to act without dictation, and from a sense of what is right. If, as is sometimes the case, men are put forward by rings and cliques and receive the nominations for certain offices, who are destitute of self-respect, it cannot be presumed they will receive that full support from the people that would be given to a suitable man. The writer would not have it understood that he is applying these remarks to either Mr. Patterson or Mr. Rollins, but simply to say that in his judgment many such unwise nominations for various offices were made throughout the State in 1871. This was the sole cause of our defeat. Such being the case in 1871, the mass of the Republican party in 1872 aroused and determined to have a better state of things,—which has been accomplished, and the Republican party by so doing has come out of the campaign with success.

No party can ever maintain the ascendancy for a long period unless it puts forward its best men for office—men who are possessed of high moral worth as well as political acquirements. Political intrigue and party expediency under the management of unscrupulous and ambitious politicians has injured the Republican party throughout the country, and sooner or later, if allowed to continue, will ruin it. Whenever and wherever tried, true and good men have held offices in the State or nation, no loss has ever arisen by allowing them to have their full share of service. The ambitious desires of one man or any set of men for office, ought never to be any reason for setting aside an incumbent until the usual term has expired.

In the U. S. Senate Mr. Patterson has filled his position with credit to himself and the State—this none can deny with any good reason—and asks a re-election, and has a right to ask and expect it, having been a faithful servant, and desiring no more at the hands of the people than is usually awarded to a good and true Republican. Attempts have been made and are continuing to be made to break down Mr. Patterson's influence with the people of his State, even by attacks upon his moral standing, which are false in every instance, and are known to be so by the very men who put them forth. Mr. Patterson challenges any man or set of men to the examination. All such proclaimers are liars of the basest sort, unfit to be trusted among honorable men.

As to Mr. Rollins' record in Congress during three terms, (one more than is usually accorded, but of which Mr. R. never complained,) probably "Right" would be as ready to give his approval as others. No complaint is made on that score, but it is the very great desire and ambition of Mr. Rollins to occupy Mr. Patterson's place before the usual time, and with no good reason except the cry of rotation, which, to the writer of this seems very ill timed. There has been no time, probably, when Mr. Patterson's services in the Senate will be of more value than in the next six years.

If he has done well the past six years, and no one can deny that he has, why just at this time start a new order and raise the cry of rotation? It seems to me this new departure can be seen through very easily, and neither the people at large or the members elect of the Legislature can be so easily deceived. That both gentlemen are working men we admit, and one strong reason why Mr. Patterson ought to be sustained is that by the use of his brains and hard work he has raised himself from a bare-footed farmer's boy to his present position, and is free from "rapid and nonpractical talk, which the people of this State neither appreciate nor care for."

If only by endorsing the rotation rule Mr. Rollins can secure his election, of course he will believe in it. Whether he would repudiate it after six years, the expiration of that period would determine. It would certainly be a modern miracle if "Rumford" did not fully agree with "Capulet" in his warning respecting the ignoring of the rotation principle,—truly a marvel of modern times.

The great danger in making the choice of a U. S. Senator lies in taking the wrong man. No fears need ever be entertained when the people do right, and certainly no wrong can be done in returning a man to the Senate possessing Mr. Patterson's qualities.

The business relations of Mr. Rollins with the Pacific Railroad, to which "Rumford" refers, it seems to me afford strong reasons for not selecting him at the present time. JUSTICE.

Hon. E. H. Rollins.

Messrs. Editors. Your correspondent "Rumford," in his article on the Senatorial Rotation question, in your issue of the 9th inst., does a pertinent and a truthful thing in defending Hon. E. H. Rollins from the implication of apathy regarding state political affairs during the campaign of 1871, when the Democrats had such an unexpected success. I can endorse every word of "Rumford's" letter, as it touches Mr. Rollins' conduct during that period, for I was in communication with him very frequently, and am no stranger to the great solicitude he felt that all should go well with the party in the State; nor am I unaware of the many valuable suggestions he found time, amid his engrossing business duties, to forward to his associates on the State Central Committee: I say "associates" in the same relation as that described by "Rumford;" for Mr. Rollins had only what may be called an honorary position on the Committee for the reasons that writer so clearly and truthfully describes.

Now I wish to relate an incident which has stood very high to the credit of Mr. Rollins in my estimation, and I do so in the belief that it is due to that gentleman in the face of the unjust attacks of men who are his enemies, and at the same time uncertain friends to the Republican party: Three days before the day of election in 1871 Mr. Rollins came home to Concord, and at a meeting of those who had had charge of the campaign he was assured that everything was promising, and that no effort had been left unperformed in order to secure a certain and sweeping Republican victory. He was solicitous to learn every detail of management—about what had been done,—especially on the matter of rallying absent voters—and what had been imperfectly done or neglected. In answer to all his enquiries he was assured that everything had been carefully attended to. "Now, gentlemen," said he, "do not relax in your efforts from now until Tuesday next; and do not let want of money be a bar to your proceeding. I have a couple of thousands on hand which you can use to make the presence of absent voters sure, and I will take the chance of being paid, or of losing the amount." The offer was declined, as the assurance was repeated that nothing tending to Republican success had been overlooked.

Now, Sirs, does this fact show anything like "lukewarmness" on the part of Mr. Rollins? And it is only one of hundreds of proofs which I could quote of his entire devotion, throughout the campaign of 1871, to the interests of his party in the State.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

Concord, May 10, 1872.

The News.

Five United States marshals were killed and eight wounded on Saturday in a fight with a band of outlaws in the Cherokee district. Six of the desperadoes were killed.

In the United States Senate, Thursday, the general amnesty bill was taken up, and Mr. Sumner's civil rights bill, offered as a substitute, was rejected by a vote of 27 to 28. Mr. Sumner then offered it as an amendment, and it was adopted, 29 to 28, the Vice President giving the casting vote, but when the question was taken upon the amnesty bill as amended it was lost, two-thirds not voting in the affirmative.

It is said that Minister Sickles will soon be withdrawn from Madrid, and that no successor will be appointed until Spain adopts a different course in regard to her obligations from that which she is now persuing. The case of Dr. Houard may cause further irritation and give occasion for a more determined policy toward Spain.

The New York Times has documents showing that the great city frauds began when Hoffman was mayor, and that he signed warrants then and pursued the same suspicious course that Mayor Hall took. It as yet simply states the fact, but it promises to produce the proof at an early hour.

Trouble with Spain is imminent. Orders have been issued to prepare all iron-clads for immediate service.

BASE BALL.—The New York Clipper says of the Boston nine, "They are by all odds the best trained and heaviest nine in the country, and the two brothers, Harry and George Wright, appear to have been brought into the world for the sole purpose of playing ball." They have just returned from a tour, having lost but one game. The professional games played are as follows:—

Bostons 8,	Olympics	1.
Bostons 5,	Baltimores	4.
Bostons 7,	Athletics	10.
Bostons 23,	Atlantics	3.
Bostons 9,	Mutuals	2.
Bostons 20,	Eckfords	0.
Total 72		20

A return game with the Mutuals will be played at the Union Grounds, today.

"FUSS AND FEATHERS" means something still; we noticed an elegant Polonaise at the great store of Jordan, Marsh & Co., Boston, recently, with unique feather trimming, for which $250, in greenbacks, was the price.

At Concord, on the 8th, Montgomery, son of Hon. E. H. Rollins, was hit by a base ball knocked by another boy, and had one collar bone broken.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

SPECIAL NOTICES.

False Theories Overthrown.

We live under a new medical dispensation, very different from that under which so many of our forefathers died. The sick are no longer bled till they faint, nor gorged with mercury, nor prostrated with violent cathartics, nor blistered on their shaven heads. Ever since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, twenty years ago, renovation and restoration, not depletion and prostration, have been the watchwords of the judicious portion of the profession. The remarkable success of this famous vegetable preventive, invigorant and corrective has wrought a complete revolution in the general treatment of disease. At first the dogmatic members of the faculty would not believe in it. "What!" they exclaimed, "cure liver complaint without mercury, chronic rheumatism without colchicum, fever and ague without quinine! Impossible!" But the most obstinate incredulity must yield in the end to practical demonstration. From that time to the present, dyspepsia, biliousness, intermittent fevers, muscular diseases, nervous complaints and constipation have vanished under the operation of the great specific, in at least ninety per cent. of the cases in which it has been used as a remedy for those ailments, while as a preventive of all maladies generated by change of climate, sudden revulsions of temperature, epidemic poison in the atmosphere, and unwholesome water, its beneficial effects have been so obvious and uniform as to secure the most perfect confidence in its properties as an antidote, safeguard and cure.

HAIR RENEWER.

ITS EFFECT IS

MIRACULOUS.

It is a perfect and wonderful article. Cures baldness. Makes hair grow. A better dressing than any "oil" or "pomatum." Soften brash, dry and wiry hair into Beautiful Silken Tresses. But, above all, the great wonder is the rapidity with which it restores GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR.

The whitest and worst looking hair resumes its youthful beauty by its use. It does not dye the hair, but strikes at the root and fills it with new life and coloring matter.

The first application will do good; you will see the NATURAL COLOR returning every day, and the old, gray, discolored appearance of the hair will be gone, giving place to lustrous, shining and beautiful locks.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase a yearly income of - - - - - $173.30.
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6-7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Death of Mayor Walker.

Resolutions of the City Councils.

Resolved, by the Aldermen and Common Council of the City of Portsmouth:

That the City Councils announce with great regret the decease of His Honor HORTON D. WALKER, the Mayor of the City; and that we take this occasion to express our appreciation of his excellent qualities as a citizen and an officer, and our recognition of his valuable services, the loss of which fills the hearts of the people with sorrow and makes his death a public calamity.

Resolved, that tendering our sympathy to his family, the Aldermen and Common Council will be present at his funeral; and we recommend the people on that occasion to lay aside all public business, and to join in the expression of honor to his memory and of the general feeling of common bereavement.

May 10, 1872.

In Board of Aldermen: Passed.
T. E. O. MARVIN, Chairman.

In Common Council: Passed.
I. P. MILLER, President.

We are pained this morning to record the death of Hon. HORTON D. WALKER, Mayor of this city, which took place at his residence, Friday, at half past 12 o'clock.

Mr. Walker was born at Chesterfield in this State, and would have been sixty-one years old had he lived till June. In early life he resided for several years at Salem, Mass. He came to this city about thirty-five years ago, then a young man with good business ability and liberal means, and soon after formed a connection in business with Hon. Samuel Cleaves, and either alone or as a partner continued that business until his death. He was also engaged as a ship owner and merchant during the whole time of his residence here, and was the successful manager of them for the owners. He had however sold the last ship in which he was interested a few months before his death.

Soon after he became a citizen of this town, his activity, energy, good habits and genial disposition brought him into notice, and he was elected to various public offices. He was several years a member of the Board of Selectmen, and was distinguished for his good sense and executive ability in that office. He also served several years as Moderator. He was chosen Representative to General Court at the last town election, in 1849, and was afterward chosen for six years from the ward in which he lived, being a member elect of the next legislature.

For two years he was a member of the Executive Council of the State. He was chosen Mayor of the City in 1853, '54 and '55, and again in the fall of 1871, holding that office at the time of his death. At the organization of the State Reform School in 1855, he was appointed a trustee of that institution, and became President of the Board of Trustees during successive appointments for fifteen years; he took a very deep interest in the school and its inmates, often visiting it, and devoting to it much time which was wrested from a very exacting business. He formed the acquaintance, so far as was possible, of the boys who were sent there, and often and earnestly urged them to a better course of life.

In all the offices held by Mr. Walker, he gained the respect and esteem of everybody by his honest and conscientious regard for his duties and the public welfare. It may be said of him that he tried to do all things to the best of his ability, and his ability being large, he did more than most men all things well. He was a faithful and profitable public servant.

He was a member of the Republican party from its formation, and strenuously sustained and upheld its measures; he enjoyed the confidence of the party to an extraordinary degree; but he was no politician in that sense in which a man pushes himself for office; many of his friends were desirous of making him Governor of this State, and his name was brought before the State Convention last fall; he failed however to receive the nomination.

Mr. Walker has been for many years a prominent and influential member of the Baptist Church and Society here, and towards its prosperity he unhesitatingly and freely contributed his money, his time, his personal efforts, and his bright example. Perhaps to him more than to any or all other men may be attributed the high position of prosperity and usefulness enjoyed by that society. It will be very hard to fill the place made vacant by his death.

Mr. Walker was three times married. His first wife, a young lady of Salem, Mass., died young. He afterwards married Miss Ellen Cleaves, who was the mother of his children. After her death he married the estimable lady who survives him. He leaves two children, Henry C., a partner in his father's business, and Susie B., wife of William B. Trask, Esq.

In Mr. Walker's death this city has lost in all her interests a very excellent and valuable man. He was a good citizen, a warm friend, an earnest Christian. He had a very strong perception of right and wrong, a very large share of what is known as good judgment, an energy which kept him always and earnestly at work, combined with an agreeable disposition, easy manners and a happy temperament. It was his faculty to make hosts of friends and to retain them.

Words fail to express the great sorrow that is felt by all who have known Mr. Walker in his business career, as a public officer, as a friend, as a true man in whom was no guile. Every person feels the loss as that of a dear friend and the sympathy for the bereaved widow and children is heartfelt and outspoken. No better man ever walked the streets of Portsmouth, and as friend meets friend, the silent pressure of the hand evinces the deep emotions of grief in every heart, that no language can portray. Mr. Walker has left an ennobling record which can never be forgotten by those who have known and loved him, and an example that none are too good or too wise to follow. His words and deeds die not with him, but are ever present inspirations to all men to do unto each other as they would be done by. It is not the privilege of any man to live more consistently and honorably and die more universally respected and loved than did HORTON D. WALKER.

City Council.

FRIDAY EVE'G, May 10.—A special meeting was held, on account of the death of His Honor the Mayor. Ald. Marvin was chosen chairman of the Board of Aldermen, and a series of resolutions (which we publish in another column) were passed, and Aldermen Marvin and Hatch were appointed a committee, to act in conjunction with such Common Councilmen as should be appointed, as a Committee of Arrangements concerning the funeral, so far as it should accord with the wishes of the family of the deceased.

In Common Council, Messrs. Donnell and Hanscom were appointed to act with the Aldermanic committee, the President being added by the Council.

Laconics.

John Sise, Esq., well known as an insurance agent and expert, has been tendered the position of manager of the National Board of Underwriters, with headquarters at New York, but has not decided whether to accept or not.

The warm weather seems to annoy horses. A runaway on Congress Street, Friday, was stopped by Mr. Lewis E. Smith, High School teacher. Shortly after, the horse of John Stokell & Co. became frightened while standing in front of Sheldon Bros.' furniture establishment on State Street, and ran towards Water Street, throwing out Mr. Joseph Paul, who was badly bruised. Dr. Parsons reports no bones broken.

In the case of Pierce vs. The Eastern Railroad, in which the jury found for the plaintiff in the sum of $1500, the judge has set aside the verdict.

In an appropriation bill now before Congress, the following amounts are named for the Navy Yard at this station. For repairs of all kinds, $75,000; for repairs of floating docks, $80,000; for permanent improvements, viz: for bridge connecting Seavey's Island, $4000; in all, $159,000.

Miss Cornelia Stetson of Newtonville, Mass., whose singing at the Unitarian Church in this city will be remembered, and who made her debut in Boston a few months ago, has been engaged to sing at Grace Church, New York, on a salary of $1200 per annum.

The Exeter News Letter says that all the societies invited to join the rehearsal on the 25th inst., have accepted. Delegations from Newburyport and Lawrence are also expected. About 700 will thus join in united voice in rendering the grand oratorio choruses and other selections to be performed at the World's Peace Jubilee in Boston, next month. Carl Zerrahn has been engaged for the day. Dr. Tourjee and others are also expected to be present. The Exeter members now number about 90.

The flag on the City Building is floating at half mast, draped in mourning, out of respect to the late Hon. Horton D. Walker.

The members of the Middle Street Baptist Society met at the regular prayer meeting, Friday evening, and held a mournful consultation. Mr. Walker had been a very punctual attendant and was always first in opening the services. His sorrowful associates had a sad meeting.

We are desired to state that on account of the death of the Mayor, Rev. Mr. Martyn and the officers of the Music Society have decided not to hold the praise meeting announced at the North Church for Sunday evening.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING.—We have made great additions to our jobbing facilities—a mammoth Hand Press (the largest in Portsmouth,) new Display Type, Borders of various styles, &c. —and are prepared to execute with neatness and dispatch, all orders for FULL SHEET POSTERS, DATE SLIPS, PAMPHLETS, SERMONS, ADDRESSES, AUCTION BILLS, CONSTITUTIONS, BY LAWS, PROGRAMMES, HANDBILLS, CIRCULARS, ORDERS DANCES, BLANKS, BILL HEADS, RECEIPTS, TICKETS, BUSINESS, MARRIAGE, ADDRESS AND VISITING CARDS, LABELS, TAGS, and in fact PRINTING OF ANY DESCRIPTION, at SATISFACTORY PRICES. Orders received by mail, express, or at the CHRONICLE OFFICE will be promptly filled.

Dried Apples.
WE have just received another lot of those SPLENDID APPLES, put up by the Pneumatic Process. Just as good as green apples. Try them and be convinced.

Peaches.
Put up in the same way. One pound equal to half a peck, or three two-pound cans. They retain all the taste and flavor of fresh fruit, and are splendid as well as cheap.

DIALOGUE.
Stranger. Where is the best place in this city to buy Confectionery or Fruit?
Citizen. At GILBERT'S, 27 Daniel Street, corner Peahallow Street.
St. Does he keep a bar in back?
Ct. He sells neither rum, ale, cider, tobacco or cigars.
St. Does he buy old bankrupt stock of Confectionery and damaged fruit, and sell it 15 per cent. cheaper than the regular trade sell pure articles?
Ct. No sir. He makes his candies of pure refined sugar, and his purchases are made from the purest, freshest and best goods in the market, and he sells at a fair profit.
St. Will he sell at wholesale, or less than half a pound?
Ct. Any amount from one ounce to a ton. Call and see him. m13

Campaign Notes.

Gen. Butler goes to the Philadelphia Convention as a delegate from the 5th Massachusetts district.

Two editors, Messrs. Stanley T. Pullen, of the Portland Press, and John E. Butler, of the Biddeford Journal, have been chosen delegates to the Philadelphia Convention, by the Republicans of the 1st Maine district.

The Tennessee democratic State Convention has nominated Governor John C. Brown for re-election, and adopted resolutions indorsing the Cincinnati nominations.

The republicans of the Connecticut legislature have nominated General J. R. Hawley for United States Senator. The democrats also met and nominated Ex-Governor English, with the understanding that they will vote for Senator Ferry if there is a sufficient republican bolt to insure his re-election.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil. Pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emollient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Pireus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Thesion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

O! THAT I WERE BEAUTIFUL! is the unspoken wish of thousands of women to whom nature has denied the charm of a pure, fresh, transparent complexion. To gratify this wish HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM was introduced. The cosmetics of the day had been pronounced poisonous by the most distinguished chemists, and it was also found that their ultimate effect was to wither the skin as well as to paralize the external nerves. The ladies hailed with delight the advent of a healthful, herbal and floral preparation capable of imparting to their faces, necks and arms a porcelain smoothness and a tinge like that of the finest oriental pearl. They soon discovered that it was a "new thing under the sun," incomparable and unapproachable. Unquestionably the MAGNOLIA BALM has been the great toilet success of the present century.

PINTS AND QUARTS of filthy Catarrhal discharges. Where does it all come from? The mucous membrane lining the chambers of the nose, and its little glands, are diseased so that they draw from the blood its liquid, and exposure to the air changes it into corruption. This life-liquid was to build up the system, but it is extricated and the system is weakened by the loss. To cure, gain flesh and strength by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which also acts directly upon these glands, correcting them, and apply Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, the only method of reaching the upper cavities where the discharge accumulates and comes from. The instrument and two medicines sold for $2 by all druggists. 589.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The most powerful existing medicine for the cure of female complaints. Fifty years experience, incontestably prove these remedies unrivalled for the disorders incidental to the softer sex. No family should be without them. They may be taken by young and old, as they will restore health when every other means prove unsuccessful. 25 cents per box or pot.
